TION.

Come, all ye true friends of the nation,

Come, now for the struggle prepare. And holet the Republican tenner.

On it we'll inseribe Haves and Wheeler.

And round it we'll marshal our host. And lead on in triumph to victory, In spins of Democracy's boast,

Our leaders are both true and trusty, And in them the people confide,

We'll bear them-our glory and pride. We'll land them quite safe in November, Let the sailing be storing or fair, At the White House in Washington Cl y,

And what can we say for Snor Tilden, And Hendricks, now loyal and true But who in the days of reletion

Loyed gray so much better than blue, No good words had they for Ahe Lincoln,

And while we were striving against trease

They fought quite as torn in the rear

But now, like old Judas of Serioture.

While rebeated reformers are landing Their virtues and deeds to the skies

Poor Tilden and Honoricks and Davis,

And a houst of references beside.

And send them a trip up Salt River,

Where the pulmetts flags, although traffing,

man who gave his name as Laban and child.

They're comitty to tik in disguise,

Gh, yes, we will charter a vessel;

And to it we'll safely confide

No enerr for our boys used so lit At the vile rebel prises at Richmond.

Libby, and Andersonville.

To save the old Tuton so dear, and fought in the front by the Johnster,

And on to the head of the column

Alex "Highly the Bow."

And keep it affeat on the uir.
