

Rutherford B. Hayes

ELECTORAL TICKET.

- Electoral ticket list including names like Benjamin H. Brewster, John W. Chalfant, etc.

NATIONAL TICKET.

FOR PRESIDENT RUTHERFORD B. HAYES. FOR VICE PRESIDENT WILLIAM A. WHEELER.

REPUBLICAN STATE TICKET.

CONGRESS, JACOB M. CAMPBELL. SENATOR, E. D. YUTZY.

COUNTY TICKET!

ASSEMBLY, E. J. MEYERS, ALLEN S. WILL. ASSOCIATE JUDGE, C. C. MUSSELMAN, DANIEL STUFF.

POOR HOUSE DIRECTOR, SAM. SNYDER.

JURY COMMISSIONER, CHARLES T. HUNTER.

CLOSE UP THE RANKS REPUBLICANS.

Remember that every vote that is cast for Tilden or for Reilly is a vote to increase your taxes to pay rebel war claims and rebel pensions.

Let us have a full turnout of Republican voters on the 7th of November. Every man can afford to give time enough to go to the polls to his country.

The glorious old Republican party that has gone through so many battles, is ready for the present contest. Vote for its candidates, so that you may help swell the hosts of victory.

Voters of Somerset county, do you wish to pay taxes to reimburse the men who brought the war and all the debt upon us? If not, vote for Hayes and Wheeler, and see that your neighbor does the same thing.

If you have a neighbor who is old or sick, or has no way to get to the polls, hitch up your team and take him with you. Remember every vote for Hayes and Wheeler is a vote against paying rebel claims.

Our Republican friends should vote unhesitatingly on the close of the polls on November 7th. Let every man labor as though the fate of the Nation depended on a single vote, and to secure that one vote should be his end and aim.

Gen. JACOB M. CAMPBELL, candidate for Congress in this District, has been circulating through our county for the past week. Old Mother Somerset will not forget her mountain boy on the 7th of November.

The Democrats have thrown off the mask and now openly proclaim on the street corners that a man who served in the Rebel Army has a good right to a pension as a crippled Union soldier. Think of this when you vote on the 7th of November.

Let every man be at his post; no apathy; no sick list; no leaves of absence; forward on the march. We shall not deserve the victory that surely awaits us unless we do our whole duty. Let there be no skulkers. The enemy know that it is an absolute fact. We need every solid man. Do not let us deceive ourselves in believing that a victory at the skirmish line decides the battle. Who has the advantage, and it will be our own fault if we do not pick victory.

The Democrats are making their usual effort to defraud some of our people. They have had tickets printed with the names of all the Republican candidates, with the exception of one, thereon. They hope to deceive people into voting them in the presence that they are Republican tickets.

Voters of Somerset County will do well to remember that Hon. John R. Lilly is an officer of the Pennsylvania Railroad, and backed by the influence of that corporation, Somerset County owes that company a grudge for leasing the charter from the Connetquot Railroad and thus retarding the progress of our county for twenty years. Now is the time to pay of old scores. Vote for Campbell.

TILDEN has confessed himself again, and proved himself a liar. He has written a letter in which he says that he will veto any bill for the payment of Rebel claims. Two weeks ago he said that it would be impossible for a President to go contrary to the wishes of the party that elected him.

ONLY A WEEK. Only a week from Tuesday until occurs the Presidential election. Do our Republican friends fully realize the overwhelming importance of the issues involved, and the shortness of time in which to make the necessary preparations to insure success?

FOR PRESIDENT RUTHERFORD B. HAYES. FOR VICE PRESIDENT WILLIAM A. WHEELER. Our Democratic friends, for many months, have been openly and secretly working with an energy they have not displayed for a dozen years.

CONGRESS, JACOB M. CAMPBELL. SENATOR, E. D. YUTZY. COUNTY TICKET! ASSEMBLY, E. J. MEYERS, ALLEN S. WILL.

ASSOCIATE JUDGE, C. C. MUSSELMAN, DANIEL STUFF. POOR HOUSE DIRECTOR, SAM. SNYDER. JURY COMMISSIONER, CHARLES T. HUNTER.

Close up the ranks Republicans and let us have a solid volley at the hosts of Democracy. Remember that every vote that is cast for Tilden or for Reilly is a vote to increase your taxes to pay rebel war claims and rebel pensions.

Let us have a full turnout of Republican voters on the 7th of November. Every man can afford to give time enough to go to the polls to his country. The glorious old Republican party that has gone through so many battles, is ready for the present contest.

Voters of Somerset county, do you wish to pay taxes to reimburse the men who brought the war and all the debt upon us? If not, vote for Hayes and Wheeler, and see that your neighbor does the same thing.

If you have a neighbor who is old or sick, or has no way to get to the polls, hitch up your team and take him with you. Remember every vote for Hayes and Wheeler is a vote against paying rebel claims.

Our Republican friends should vote unhesitatingly on the close of the polls on November 7th. Let every man labor as though the fate of the Nation depended on a single vote, and to secure that one vote should be his end and aim.

Gen. JACOB M. CAMPBELL, candidate for Congress in this District, has been circulating through our county for the past week. Old Mother Somerset will not forget her mountain boy on the 7th of November.

The Democrats have thrown off the mask and now openly proclaim on the street corners that a man who served in the Rebel Army has a good right to a pension as a crippled Union soldier. Think of this when you vote on the 7th of November.

Let every man be at his post; no apathy; no sick list; no leaves of absence; forward on the march. We shall not deserve the victory that surely awaits us unless we do our whole duty. Let there be no skulkers.

The enemy know that it is an absolute fact. We need every solid man. Do not let us deceive ourselves in believing that a victory at the skirmish line decides the battle.

whishes of the party that elected him. One would have thought that S. J. T.'s passion had been satisfied; but not so; there were yet other treats in store for a much-suffering public, and now Mr. S. J. T. is out on another letter. The style is not so flowery as formerly. "Unfortunates" has been overlooked, and he did not care a continental whether it followed Lindley Murray or not; it was expected to astonish the American people. The potent sentence of the payment of rebel claims. So far, so good; but he had forgotten the other letter; he forgot that he had written "It would be impossible for a President to go contrary to the wishes of the party that elected him."

TILDEN has confessed himself again, and proved himself a liar. He has written a letter in which he says that he will veto any bill for the payment of Rebel claims. Two weeks ago he said that it would be impossible for a President to go contrary to the wishes of the party that elected him.

ONLY A WEEK. Only a week from Tuesday until occurs the Presidential election. Do our Republican friends fully realize the overwhelming importance of the issues involved, and the shortness of time in which to make the necessary preparations to insure success?

FOR PRESIDENT RUTHERFORD B. HAYES. FOR VICE PRESIDENT WILLIAM A. WHEELER. Our Democratic friends, for many months, have been openly and secretly working with an energy they have not displayed for a dozen years.

CONGRESS, JACOB M. CAMPBELL. SENATOR, E. D. YUTZY. COUNTY TICKET! ASSEMBLY, E. J. MEYERS, ALLEN S. WILL.

ASSOCIATE JUDGE, C. C. MUSSELMAN, DANIEL STUFF. POOR HOUSE DIRECTOR, SAM. SNYDER. JURY COMMISSIONER, CHARLES T. HUNTER.

Close up the ranks Republicans and let us have a solid volley at the hosts of Democracy. Remember that every vote that is cast for Tilden or for Reilly is a vote to increase your taxes to pay rebel war claims and rebel pensions.

Let us have a full turnout of Republican voters on the 7th of November. Every man can afford to give time enough to go to the polls to his country. The glorious old Republican party that has gone through so many battles, is ready for the present contest.

Voters of Somerset county, do you wish to pay taxes to reimburse the men who brought the war and all the debt upon us? If not, vote for Hayes and Wheeler, and see that your neighbor does the same thing.

If you have a neighbor who is old or sick, or has no way to get to the polls, hitch up your team and take him with you. Remember every vote for Hayes and Wheeler is a vote against paying rebel claims.

Our Republican friends should vote unhesitatingly on the close of the polls on November 7th. Let every man labor as though the fate of the Nation depended on a single vote, and to secure that one vote should be his end and aim.

Gen. JACOB M. CAMPBELL, candidate for Congress in this District, has been circulating through our county for the past week. Old Mother Somerset will not forget her mountain boy on the 7th of November.

The Democrats have thrown off the mask and now openly proclaim on the street corners that a man who served in the Rebel Army has a good right to a pension as a crippled Union soldier. Think of this when you vote on the 7th of November.

Let every man be at his post; no apathy; no sick list; no leaves of absence; forward on the march. We shall not deserve the victory that surely awaits us unless we do our whole duty. Let there be no skulkers.

[R. B. Hayes in 1861.] I would prefer to go into this war if I knew I was to die or be killed in the course of it, rather than live through it without it without taking any part in it.

[Samuel J. Tilden in 1861.] I for one will resist under any circumstances the use of force to coerce the South into the Union.

It is not considered proper for Mohammedan women to dance in public, but dancing before a paying business like opera singers in Christian countries. If you are a young gentleman in Turkey you may marry at sixteen, or a young lady at eleven, or in a hurry at nine.

But one week yet remains until the election, and that one week cannot be better employed than in quiet argument, earnest talk, and quiet neighbors. Brass bands and big parades are good in their way; but the sure work can best be done by the people themselves. "Crooked" Republicans can be straightened more certainly and more effectively by a little quiet, earnest talk than by columns of disingenuous, sneering, and white-washing candidates.

Gov. HAYES' "lack of records," which has stirred the course of some of the Democrats, seems to have made a favorable impression abroad. Commenting upon the skeleton biography of the Republican candidate given in Mr. Lanman's "Annals of Civil Governments," the London Academy says: "Now, to anyone who thoughtfully understands American and American politics, this appears to be a capital record."

Jeff Davis recently said of Tilden and Hendricks: "I know Tilden and Hendricks well. While the Southern people were bravely contending in the field, for long years of cruel war, your nominees, both in the forum and as private citizens, were giving up the ghost, and coming to an untimely end. I think that they will gain all we lost by the war between the States in the election of those glorious champions of State sovereignty and the Constitution as it was."

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER. WASHINGTON, D. C. Oct. 25, 1876. TOO LATE FOR PROMISES TO OPPOSE PAYMENT OF REBEL CLAIMS—THE EVE OF A POLITICAL STRUGGLE TO DETERMINE THE FUTURE OF THIS COUNTRY—PENNSYLVANIA AVENUE REPAVED—FIRST-CLASS VILLAINY.

During and since the late session of Congress, the country has been convulsed by the determination of the President to demand payment for damages sustained by them during the war of the rebellion. The presentation and reference of over twelve hundred bills in the House of Representatives, providing for reimbursing them for losses sustained during the war, is a sufficient proof of the design to take from the public Treasury the full amount, to repay them for injuries resulting from the conflict with the North.

WASHINGTON, D. C. Oct. 25, 1876. TOO LATE FOR PROMISES TO OPPOSE PAYMENT OF REBEL CLAIMS—THE EVE OF A POLITICAL STRUGGLE TO DETERMINE THE FUTURE OF THIS COUNTRY—PENNSYLVANIA AVENUE REPAVED—FIRST-CLASS VILLAINY.

During and since the late session of Congress, the country has been convulsed by the determination of the President to demand payment for damages sustained by them during the war of the rebellion. The presentation and reference of over twelve hundred bills in the House of Representatives, providing for reimbursing them for losses sustained during the war, is a sufficient proof of the design to take from the public Treasury the full amount, to repay them for injuries resulting from the conflict with the North.

WASHINGTON, D. C. Oct. 25, 1876. TOO LATE FOR PROMISES TO OPPOSE PAYMENT OF REBEL CLAIMS—THE EVE OF A POLITICAL STRUGGLE TO DETERMINE THE FUTURE OF THIS COUNTRY—PENNSYLVANIA AVENUE REPAVED—FIRST-CLASS VILLAINY.

During and since the late session of Congress, the country has been convulsed by the determination of the President to demand payment for damages sustained by them during the war of the rebellion. The presentation and reference of over twelve hundred bills in the House of Representatives, providing for reimbursing them for losses sustained during the war, is a sufficient proof of the design to take from the public Treasury the full amount, to repay them for injuries resulting from the conflict with the North.

WASHINGTON, D. C. Oct. 25, 1876. TOO LATE FOR PROMISES TO OPPOSE PAYMENT OF REBEL CLAIMS—THE EVE OF A POLITICAL STRUGGLE TO DETERMINE THE FUTURE OF THIS COUNTRY—PENNSYLVANIA AVENUE REPAVED—FIRST-CLASS VILLAINY.

of the party which carried the country successfully through the war for liberty and Union will be gratified by some disastrous consequences which will be followed by the defeat of our armies in the field. The Secessionist and the Copperhead will join in the loud exultation; the Stars and Stripes will be trampled in the dust; human slavery will be re-established under the guise of Hayes and Wheeler.

Every citizen of the United States, with the least spark of pride in his bosom, will rejoice in the prosperity of the city of Washington, and feel honored in every successful endeavor to beautify and ornament its public parks and buildings; or by laying out and constructing a new street, or by embellishing its magnificent streets and avenues.

Every citizen of the United States, with the least spark of pride in his bosom, will rejoice in the prosperity of the city of Washington, and feel honored in every successful endeavor to beautify and ornament its public parks and buildings; or by laying out and constructing a new street, or by embellishing its magnificent streets and avenues.

Every citizen of the United States, with the least spark of pride in his bosom, will rejoice in the prosperity of the city of Washington, and feel honored in every successful endeavor to beautify and ornament its public parks and buildings; or by laying out and constructing a new street, or by embellishing its magnificent streets and avenues.

Every citizen of the United States, with the least spark of pride in his bosom, will rejoice in the prosperity of the city of Washington, and feel honored in every successful endeavor to beautify and ornament its public parks and buildings; or by laying out and constructing a new street, or by embellishing its magnificent streets and avenues.

Every citizen of the United States, with the least spark of pride in his bosom, will rejoice in the prosperity of the city of Washington, and feel honored in every successful endeavor to beautify and ornament its public parks and buildings; or by laying out and constructing a new street, or by embellishing its magnificent streets and avenues.

Every citizen of the United States, with the least spark of pride in his bosom, will rejoice in the prosperity of the city of Washington, and feel honored in every successful endeavor to beautify and ornament its public parks and buildings; or by laying out and constructing a new street, or by embellishing its magnificent streets and avenues.

Every citizen of the United States, with the least spark of pride in his bosom, will rejoice in the prosperity of the city of Washington, and feel honored in every successful endeavor to beautify and ornament its public parks and buildings; or by laying out and constructing a new street, or by embellishing its magnificent streets and avenues.

Every citizen of the United States, with the least spark of pride in his bosom, will rejoice in the prosperity of the city of Washington, and feel honored in every successful endeavor to beautify and ornament its public parks and buildings; or by laying out and constructing a new street, or by embellishing its magnificent streets and avenues.

Every citizen of the United States, with the least spark of pride in his bosom, will rejoice in the prosperity of the city of Washington, and feel honored in every successful endeavor to beautify and ornament its public parks and buildings; or by laying out and constructing a new street, or by embellishing its magnificent streets and avenues.

Every citizen of the United States, with the least spark of pride in his bosom, will rejoice in the prosperity of the city of Washington, and feel honored in every successful endeavor to beautify and ornament its public parks and buildings; or by laying out and constructing a new street, or by embellishing its magnificent streets and avenues.

Every citizen of the United States, with the least spark of pride in his bosom, will rejoice in the prosperity of the city of Washington, and feel honored in every successful endeavor to beautify and ornament its public parks and buildings; or by laying out and constructing a new street, or by embellishing its magnificent streets and avenues.

Every citizen of the United States, with the least spark of pride in his bosom, will rejoice in the prosperity of the city of Washington, and feel honored in every successful endeavor to beautify and ornament its public parks and buildings; or by laying out and constructing a new street, or by embellishing its magnificent streets and avenues.

of the party which carried the country successfully through the war for liberty and Union will be gratified by some disastrous consequences which will be followed by the defeat of our armies in the field. The Secessionist and the Copperhead will join in the loud exultation; the Stars and Stripes will be trampled in the dust; human slavery will be re-established under the guise of Hayes and Wheeler.

Every citizen of the United States, with the least spark of pride in his bosom, will rejoice in the prosperity of the city of Washington, and feel honored in every successful endeavor to beautify and ornament its public parks and buildings; or by laying out and constructing a new street, or by embellishing its magnificent streets and avenues.

Every citizen of the United States, with the least spark of pride in his bosom, will rejoice in the prosperity of the city of Washington, and feel honored in every successful endeavor to beautify and ornament its public parks and buildings; or by laying out and constructing a new street, or by embellishing its magnificent streets and avenues.

Every citizen of the United States, with the least spark of pride in his bosom, will rejoice in the prosperity of the city of Washington, and feel honored in every successful endeavor to beautify and ornament its public parks and buildings; or by laying out and constructing a new street, or by embellishing its magnificent streets and avenues.

Every citizen of the United States, with the least spark of pride in his bosom, will rejoice in the prosperity of the city of Washington, and feel honored in every successful endeavor to beautify and ornament its public parks and buildings; or by laying out and constructing a new street, or by embellishing its magnificent streets and avenues.

Every citizen of the United States, with the least spark of pride in his bosom, will rejoice in the prosperity of the city of Washington, and feel honored in every successful endeavor to beautify and ornament its public parks and buildings; or by laying out and constructing a new street, or by embellishing its magnificent streets and avenues.

Every citizen of the United States, with the least spark of pride in his bosom, will rejoice in the prosperity of the city of Washington, and feel honored in every successful endeavor to beautify and ornament its public parks and buildings; or by laying out and constructing a new street, or by embellishing its magnificent streets and avenues.

Every citizen of the United States, with the least spark of pride in his bosom, will rejoice in the prosperity of the city of Washington, and feel honored in every successful endeavor to beautify and ornament its public parks and buildings; or by laying out and constructing a new street, or by embellishing its magnificent streets and avenues.

Every citizen of the United States, with the least spark of pride in his bosom, will rejoice in the prosperity of the city of Washington, and feel honored in every successful endeavor to beautify and ornament its public parks and buildings; or by laying out and constructing a new street, or by embellishing its magnificent streets and avenues.

Every citizen of the United States, with the least spark of pride in his bosom, will rejoice in the prosperity of the city of Washington, and feel honored in every successful endeavor to beautify and ornament its public parks and buildings; or by laying out and constructing a new street, or by embellishing its magnificent streets and avenues.

Every citizen of the United States, with the least spark of pride in his bosom, will rejoice in the prosperity of the city of Washington, and feel honored in every successful endeavor to beautify and ornament its public parks and buildings; or by laying out and constructing a new street, or by embellishing its magnificent streets and avenues.

Every citizen of the United States, with the least spark of pride in his bosom, will rejoice in the prosperity of the city of Washington, and feel honored in every successful endeavor to beautify and ornament its public parks and buildings; or by laying out and constructing a new street, or by embellishing its magnificent streets and avenues.

Every citizen of the United States, with the least spark of pride in his bosom, will rejoice in the prosperity of the city of Washington, and feel honored in every successful endeavor to beautify and ornament its public parks and buildings; or by laying out and constructing a new street, or by embellishing its magnificent streets and avenues.

of the party which carried the country successfully through the war for liberty and Union will be gratified by some disastrous consequences which will be followed by the defeat of our armies in the field. The Secessionist and the Copperhead will join in the loud exultation; the Stars and Stripes will be trampled in the dust; human slavery will be re-established under the guise of Hayes and Wheeler.

Every citizen of the United States, with the least spark of pride in his bosom, will rejoice in the prosperity of the city of Washington, and feel honored in every successful endeavor to beautify and ornament its public parks and buildings; or by laying out and constructing a new street, or by embellishing its magnificent streets and avenues.

Every citizen of the United States, with the least spark of pride in his bosom, will rejoice in the prosperity of the city of Washington, and feel honored in every successful endeavor to beautify and ornament its public parks and buildings; or by laying out and constructing a new street, or by embellishing its magnificent streets and avenues.

Every citizen of the United States, with the least spark of pride in his bosom, will rejoice in the prosperity of the city of Washington, and feel honored in every successful endeavor to beautify and ornament its public parks and buildings; or by laying out and constructing a new street, or by embellishing its magnificent streets and avenues.

Every citizen of the United States, with the least spark of pride in his bosom, will rejoice in the prosperity of the city of Washington, and feel honored in every successful endeavor to beautify and ornament its public parks and buildings; or by laying out and constructing a new street, or by embellishing its magnificent streets and avenues.

Every citizen of the United States, with the least spark of pride in his bosom, will rejoice in the prosperity of the city of Washington, and feel honored in every successful endeavor to beautify and ornament its public parks and buildings; or by laying out and constructing a new street, or by embellishing its magnificent streets and avenues.

Every citizen of the United States, with the least spark of pride in his bosom, will rejoice in the prosperity of the city of Washington, and feel honored in every successful endeavor to beautify and ornament its public parks and buildings; or by laying out and constructing a new street, or by embellishing its magnificent streets and avenues.

Every citizen of the United States, with the least spark of pride in his bosom, will rejoice in the prosperity of the city of Washington, and feel honored in every successful endeavor to beautify and ornament its public parks and buildings; or by laying out and constructing a new street, or by embellishing its magnificent streets and avenues.

Every citizen of the United States, with the least spark of pride in his bosom, will rejoice in the prosperity of the city of Washington, and feel honored in every successful endeavor to beautify and ornament its public parks and buildings; or by laying out and constructing a new street, or by embellishing its magnificent streets and avenues.

Every citizen of the United States, with the least spark of pride in his bosom, will rejoice in the prosperity of the city of Washington, and feel honored in every successful endeavor to beautify and ornament its public parks and buildings; or by laying out and constructing a new street, or by embellishing its magnificent streets and avenues.

Every citizen of the United States, with the least spark of pride in his bosom, will rejoice in the prosperity of the city of Washington, and feel honored in every successful endeavor to beautify and ornament its public parks and buildings; or by laying out and constructing a new street, or by embellishing its magnificent streets and avenues.

Every citizen of the United States, with the least spark of pride in his bosom, will rejoice in the prosperity of the city of Washington, and feel honored in every successful endeavor to beautify and ornament its public parks and buildings; or by laying out and constructing a new street, or by embellishing its magnificent streets and avenues.

Every citizen of the United States, with the least spark of pride in his bosom, will rejoice in the prosperity of the city of Washington, and feel honored in every successful endeavor to beautify and ornament its public parks and buildings; or by laying out and constructing a new street, or by embellishing its magnificent streets and avenues.

of the party which carried the country successfully through the war for liberty and Union will be gratified by some disastrous consequences which will be followed by the defeat of our armies in the field. The Secessionist and the Copperhead will join in the loud exultation; the Stars and Stripes will be trampled in the dust; human slavery will be re-established under the guise of Hayes and Wheeler.

Every citizen of the United States, with the least spark of pride in his bosom, will rejoice in the prosperity of the city of Washington, and feel honored in every successful endeavor to beautify and ornament its public parks and buildings; or by laying out and constructing a new street, or by embellishing its magnificent streets and avenues.

Every citizen of the United States, with the least spark of pride in his bosom, will rejoice in the prosperity of the city of Washington, and feel honored in every successful endeavor to beautify and ornament its public parks and buildings; or by laying out and constructing a new street, or by embellishing its magnificent streets and avenues.

Every citizen of the United States, with the least spark of pride in his bosom, will rejoice in the prosperity of the city of Washington, and feel honored in every successful endeavor to beautify and ornament its public parks and buildings; or by laying out and constructing a new street, or by embellishing its magnificent streets and avenues.

Every citizen of the United States, with the least spark of pride in his bosom, will rejoice in the prosperity of the city of Washington, and feel honored in every successful endeavor to beautify and ornament its public parks and buildings; or by laying out and constructing a new street, or by embellishing its magnificent streets and avenues.

Every citizen of the United States, with the least spark of pride in his bosom, will rejoice in the prosperity of the city of Washington, and feel honored in every successful endeavor to beautify and ornament its public parks and buildings; or by laying out and constructing a new street, or by embellishing its magnificent streets and avenues.

Every citizen of the United States, with the least spark of pride in his bosom, will rejoice in the prosperity of the city of Washington, and feel honored in every successful endeavor to beautify and ornament its public parks and buildings; or by laying out and constructing a new street, or by embellishing its magnificent streets and avenues.

Every citizen of the United States, with the least spark of pride in his bosom, will rejoice in the prosperity of the city of Washington, and feel honored in every successful endeavor to beautify and ornament its public parks and buildings; or by laying out and constructing a new street, or by embellishing its magnificent streets and avenues.

Every citizen of the United States, with the least spark of pride in his bosom, will rejoice in the prosperity of the city of Washington, and feel honored in every successful endeavor to beautify and ornament its public parks and buildings; or by laying out and constructing a new street, or by embellishing its magnificent streets and avenues.

Every citizen of the United States, with the least spark of pride in his bosom, will rejoice in the prosperity of the city of Washington, and feel honored in every successful endeavor to beautify and ornament its public parks and buildings; or by laying out and constructing a new street, or by embellishing its magnificent streets and avenues.

Every citizen of the United States, with the least spark of pride in his bosom, will rejoice in the prosperity of the city of Washington, and feel honored in every successful endeavor to beautify and ornament its public parks and buildings; or by laying out and constructing a new street, or by embellishing its magnificent streets and avenues.

Every citizen of the United States, with the least spark of pride in his bosom, will rejoice in the prosperity of the city of Washington, and feel honored in every successful endeavor to beautify and ornament its public parks and buildings; or by laying out and constructing a new street, or by embellishing its magnificent streets and avenues.

Every citizen of the United States, with the least spark of pride in his bosom, will rejoice in the prosperity of the city of Washington, and feel honored in every successful endeavor to beautify and ornament its public parks and buildings; or by laying out and constructing a new street, or by embellishing its magnificent streets and avenues.

of the party which carried the country successfully through the war for liberty and Union will be gratified by some disastrous consequences which will be followed by the defeat of our armies in the field. The Secessionist and the Copperhead will join in the loud exultation; the Stars and Stripes will be trampled in the dust; human slavery will be re-established under the guise of Hayes and Wheeler.

Every citizen of the United States, with the least spark of pride in his bosom, will rejoice in the prosperity of the city of Washington, and feel honored in every successful endeavor to beautify and ornament its public parks and buildings; or by laying out and constructing a new street, or by embellishing its magnificent streets and avenues.

Every citizen of the United States, with the least spark of pride in his bosom, will rejoice in the prosperity of the city of Washington, and feel honored in every successful endeavor to beautify and ornament its public parks and buildings; or by laying out and constructing a new street, or by embellishing its magnificent streets and avenues.

Every citizen of the United States, with the least spark of pride in his bosom, will rejoice in the prosperity of the city of Washington, and feel honored in every successful endeavor to beautify and ornament its public parks and buildings; or by laying out and constructing a new street, or by embellishing its magnificent streets and avenues.

Every citizen of the United States, with the least spark of pride in his bosom, will rejoice in the prosperity of the city of Washington, and feel honored in every successful endeavor to beautify and ornament its public parks and buildings; or by laying out and constructing a new street, or by embellishing its magnificent streets and avenues.

Every citizen of the United States, with the least spark of pride in his bosom, will rejoice in the prosperity of the city of Washington, and feel honored in every successful endeavor to beautify and ornament its public parks and buildings; or by laying out and constructing a new street, or by embellishing its magnificent streets and avenues.

Every citizen of the United States, with the least spark of pride in his bosom, will rejoice in the prosperity of the city of Washington, and feel honored in every successful endeavor to beautify and ornament its public parks and buildings; or by laying out and constructing a new street, or by embellishing its magnificent streets and avenues.

Every citizen of the United States, with the least spark of pride in his bosom, will rejoice in the prosperity of the city of Washington, and feel honored in every successful endeavor to beautify and ornament its public parks and buildings; or by laying out and constructing a new street, or by embellishing its magnificent streets and avenues.

Every citizen of the United States, with the least spark of pride in his bosom, will rejoice in the prosperity of the city of Washington, and feel honored in every successful endeavor to beautify and ornament its public parks and buildings; or by laying out and constructing a new street, or by embellishing its magnificent streets and avenues.

Every citizen of the United States, with the least spark of pride in his bosom, will rejoice in the prosperity of the city of Washington, and feel honored in every successful endeavor to beautify and ornament its public parks and buildings; or by laying out and constructing a new street, or by embellishing its magnificent streets and avenues.

Every citizen of the United States, with the least spark of pride in his bosom, will rejoice in the prosperity of the city of Washington, and feel honored in every successful endeavor to beautify and ornament its public parks and buildings; or by laying out and constructing a new street, or by embellishing its magnificent streets and avenues.

Every citizen of the United States, with the least spark of pride in his bosom, will rejoice in the prosperity of the city of Washington, and feel honored in every successful endeavor to beautify and ornament its public parks and buildings; or by laying out and constructing a new street, or by embellishing its magnificent streets and avenues.

Every citizen of the United States, with the least spark of pride in his bosom, will rejoice in the prosperity of the city of Washington, and feel honored in every successful endeavor to beautify and ornament its public parks and buildings; or by laying out and constructing a new street, or by embellishing its magnificent streets and avenues.