SHE was only a school girl, but she sat down suddenly in front of the court house and the language she used when she got up would have been more becoming to a Nevada mule driver than a school girl in her teens.

WE don't like to gauge our neighbors' goods, but if any people in the State of Pennsylvania make a better milky paper than that which Tom Swank furnishes the people of Cambria county we would like to hear of it and get a copy of the same. Certainly, lively and always in the van with its regular issue.

A bold youth asked of a city contraband, "What have you got?" "Almost every thing," was the reply. "Almost every thing?" Well, give me a part of that." "Certainly. Hush!" answered the waiter.

Address
W. W. HARTZELL,
Somerset, Pa.

MASTER IRA KIMMEL had the misfortune to shoot himself through the hand on Thursday last. He had picked up a pistol belonging to one of his fellow clerks, and while playing with the lock, the pistol was discharged, the ball passing through the little finger of his right hand. This is another of the ever recurring warnings against the careless handling of fire-arms. Ira was fortunate to get off with a ball through his finger, it might as readily have been through his heart. It is a lesson that the young man will not be apt to forget soon.

False Impression.

It is generally supposed by a certain class of citizens, who are not practical or experienced, that Dyspepsia can not invariably be cured, but we are pleased to say that GREEN'S AUGUST FLOWER has never, to our knowledge, failed to cure Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint in all its forms, such as Sour Stomach, Costiveness, Sick Headache, palpitation of the Heart, low spirits, &c., &c. Out of 30 000 dozen bottles sold last year, not a single failure was reported, but thousands of complimentary letters received from Druggists of wonderful cures. Three doses will relieve any case. Try it. Sample Bottles 10 cents. Regular Size 75 cents. For sale by G. W. BENFORD.

SUDDEN DEATH.—Mr. John Smouse, one of the oldest and most respected citizens of Snake Springs, dropped dead on Tuesday evening, from, it is supposed, heart disease. On Tuesday he called at our office and got his paper to which he had been a subscriber for many years. Peace to his ashes!—Bedford Gazette.

Died the same day he got the Gazette did he; Well we always thought the politics of that paper were enough to kill any man.

WE are told that a number of the teachers of the county cannot be in attendance at the coming institute because of the refusal of the School Directors of their districts to give them the time. We are sorry to hear of this and think a great mistake is being made. Directors will find that the amount of instruction that each teacher obtains by an interchange of thoughts and ideas with his fellow teachers and which he will be enabled to give to his scholars will more than repay for such a slight loss of time.

A SIMPLE and inexpensive appliances to prevent horses from falling in winter consists simply of one or more steel studs, set into the horse's shoe. One in front is sufficient, but for heavy work two more at the sides are recommended. The stud is a square bit of steel nearly an inch long, pointed at one end and tapering slightly from about the middle of the other that enters the shoe. No filing or fitting is necessary, and any blacksmith can make a large number in a very short time out of an old rasp. The stud must not project through the shoe.

AN OLD "DUNKER" PREACHER DEAD. The Harrisburg Patriot records the death of Mr. Christian Wenger, an old and highly respected preacher of the "Dunker" persuasion, who died on Monday near Jonestown, Lebanon county, in the 70th year of his age. Father W. was well known to the Dunkers of Dauphin and adjoining counties and stood high in the community. He led a blameless life, and his death has created universal regret among the people of his faith. The funeral took place on Friday last.

THE lockup in Chester, Delaware county consists of a room eleven by fifteen feet square. A few nights ago forty-four tramps received the benefit of its accommodations, passing the night within its prison walls! As the room contains only 165 feet of floor surface, giving to each one of the forty-four occupants only three feet and nine inches of space in which to sport around, the scene in that lockup during the hours of that eventful night may be imagined, but cannot be described.

Sale—Speedy—Sure.

It should not be overlooked for a palliative, since it not only affords immediate relief, but also removes all traces of the malady. It is especially adapted to the wants of children. MRS. J. B. TREDWELL.

A letter was received by a gentleman of this place from a citizen of Confluence stating that the family of Daniel Carns was in an almost destitute condition, caused by the entire destruction, by fire, of all their property built perpetual and real Mr. Carns is well known in the entire community and we know that our charitable readers will not hesitate to come to the relief of his family of helpless children who are in need of both food and raiment. The fire spread rapidly, the night was bitter cold and some of them escaped so poorly clad that their feet and hands were severely frozen before they gained shelter. Please send your contributions to Confluence.

LITTELL'S LIVING AGE FOR 1877.

This standard periodical, now over thirty-three years old, during all this time unrivalled in its comprehensiveness and, all things considered, the cheapest means of keeping well informed in the best literature of the day. To this fact, more generally recognized every year, may be attributed its continuous and increasing success.

The ablest living writers in science, fiction, history, biography, philosophy, poetry, theology, politics, criticism and art, are represented in its pages. A few of some of them will be found in the prospectus published in another column, affording a sufficient guidance of the quality of the magazine, while in quantity of reading it is unapproached by any other periodical.

It is, in short, the only thoroughly complete and unobjectionable current publication—indispensable because in exhibiting the work of the foremost writers upon all topics of living interest, and as such, its importance and convenience to every American reader can hardly be over estimated. It has always ranked as chief among the eclectics; it has absorbed its competitors, gaining vitality and in the multitude of quarterlies, monthlies and weeklies, it can hardly be dispensed with by any person or family desiring a satisfactory compendium of whatever is of the highest interest or permanent value in the literary world.

For the new year an extra effort is made to all new subscribers, and reduced clubbing rates with other periodicals are also given, by which a subscriber to a remarkably cheap mail can put in possession of the cream of both home and foreign literature. Our readers who are soliciting their periodicals for the year would do well to examine the prospectus. There can hardly be any other way of obtaining so complete or conveniently economical of the best work of the first minds of the time.

DENNIS.

His name was Dennis and the place of his nativity was Cork. He walked into our office on Friday and said:

"Could I git a few days work. I'll work very cheap for you. I has at had a bit of work since I left Harrisburg, and that's two weeks and more; and it 'pears me an any guys couldn't pay me a dollar a day for a little money to help him on to Pittsburg to me friends. My name an all full of holes and my coat all ragged, and maybe ye'es have an old overcoat ye's could give me. Please now for the Virgin's sake give me a little help."

The upshot was so much and we set him. He said he would come some where about town and succeeded in gathering together considerable money. About seven o'clock, coming up street, we saw him sitting in a store with whisky that was in front of him and a glass in his hand. He was a great place for business. Many large manufactories of agricultural implements are located here. The celebrated Champion Mowing Machine Co., Buckeye reaping machines and farm tools, Empire mowing machine every one inventor. Mr. Jacob Snyder formerly of Somerset is one of Springfield's most energetic business men. There is much more of interest that the writer is sorry he could not find time and space for, and can only say, adieu.
