THE latest problem under the tuning fork is to find a man six feet two inches high, starts from the end to jump and the other. His first leap is three feet, his second eighteen inches, third nine inches and so on, each succeeding leap being half of the last. How many leaps does he make to get off the log?

TO THE FARMERS!

Make your butter to
W. S. TEMPLE & CO.

They get best prices and pay every farmer who ships to them, and if you wish high prices this season you will do well to ship to them.

THE latest in the line of Meyersdale on Sunday, February 11th, an account of which we published in the last week's HERALD, we learn from the Journal, were $7,000.

The Messrs. Keller's loss was $2,500; insurance $1,200. Johnson & Cline, no loss; $1,500; insured. A. F. Weimer, J. L. Shipley and the G. Miller, Gun Co's, uninsured.

A CORRESPONDENT at East Freedom sends in the following: Two men named Fred. Musser and Daniel Johnson drove a free in Greenville township the other day, and on splitting it open they discovered in the part that was sound seventy-five feet from the ground, a living frog, weighing over a hundred pounds, when measuring. This can be proved by the parties themselves.—Register.

ABOUT one hundred Hungarians are to settle on the line of Saltzburg Bay. These dreadnoughts are tough, of that there is no question, so that they may be useful. The Hungarians are Lutherans, who left their native land for the free and cheap grazing conditions of this. The population however is a threatening, and there are stores, saloons, and a hotel in this strange village; which will probably last until March.

FRANCIS MURPHY, the great temperance orator, has been devoting part of his time to Payne County. At Uniontown, over one thousand persons signed the pledge without counting the children. At the latter place Chief Marshal, popular of the Temple House, closed his bar, sent to the mountains, signed the pledge, and made a speech. At Dunbar a large number of persons were signed the pledge.

WAGONS.

Having recently accepted the agency for the county of the Studebaker Co., I am selling excellent wagons at old shop prices. Call and see them before buying elsewhere.

THE Pittsburgh Dispatch says that Ills Holiness Pope Pius IX. has presented to Bishop Domenec and Tuigg a number of Good Luck, upon which will be written the names of all Catholics in their diocese. Similar leaves have been sent to every diocese in the world, and after the names have been enrolled they will be returned to His Holiness at Rome, to be kept in an immense album. The leaves will be returned to the Eternal City next month, and the album presented to His Holiness in May, upon the fiftieth anniversary of his consecration as a Bishop. Of course it is expected that a pecuniary souvenir will accompany each autograph.

Scarcity of Money.

There is no doubt but the present situation of all kinds of business and industry is generally depressed, and it behooves every family to look carefully to their expenses. Winter is coming on when children are liable to Croup, Whooping Cough, etc. Coughs and colds will prevail everywhere, and Consumption with other Throat and Lung diseases will carry off many. These diseases should not be neglected. Doctor bills are expensive, and we would advise all people to use Dr. Bascom's GERMAN SYRUP. It never has failed. One bottle at 75 cents will keep your whole family well during the winter. Two doses will relieve any case. Sold in all towns in the United States, and by your Druggist. W. BENFORD.

WM. PERSON, a farmer residing near Stewart's station, met with a fatal accident on Tuesday morning of last week. He went out on the farm, taking a horse along to the saloon, etc. Not returning home in the evening, his wife went to look him, and after a short search, found his dead body. The exact manner of his death could not be ascertained, as no one was present when the fatal accident occurred, but it was supposed that he had fallen from the wagon, and the horse, frightened at the body, ran away. Deceased was a member of the Methodist Church, and was highly respected by all who knew him.

Tribute of Respect.

At a regular stated meeting of Somerset Lodge, No. 453, I. O. O. F., held February 10, 1877, the following preamble and resolutions were unanimously adopted:

Whereas, The cold and relentless hand of death has entered the family of our esteemed and worthy member, Brother Jacob Meyers, and severed from time to eternity companionship and well beloved wife, and has gathered her spirit to rest and beauty beyond the dark river, leaving her place dark in the family circle:

Therefore, Resolved, That in her death we are again reminded of the swiftly passing opportunities of life, and the necessity of preparing for death while it is called to us, for the wise counsels, wherein no sorrow is found.

Resolved, That our sympathies in this our community has lost a faithful and loving wife and mother, the church a kind, sympathizing and affectionate companion, and our absence will leave a fully appreciation, incapacitated in every the grave.

Resolved, That our esteemed brother and his family have our fraternal and sincere sympathy and while those of kind and affectionate nature, and our hope that they may fully realize that they are in the hands of Him who doeth all things well.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be transmitted to brother Meyers, and be also published in our county papers.

Fraternally,
P. C. SANDERS,
S. S. GOOD,
LARUE M. RICHEY.

THE WORTHLESS WIFE.—Some person has described such cranks before high heaven, as it pleased to, may lead to an untimely end. Chances—Too foolish. Result—Forever. It appears that for some time past a number of persons, principally males, have been greatly perplexed by nothing a woman dressed in spotless white approaching them as they passed along the streets after dark. The appearance of this strange visitant are said to most appeared ghost could desire. The faces are long and small upon the ground, the hand and a weird and skeleton-like look, while the eyes are set and steadfast, containing no expression in their depths. This strange being generally appears on some of the less frequented of alleys, away from the glare of the street lamps, and advances upon the passer by with a slow gliding, noiseless movements and hands stretched forth in a supplicating manner. In his appearance was on Saturday night last, when a young man passing along West street between Hand and Union, suddenly beheld it on the opposite side of the street, stopping its course toward him in the old supplicating manner. Now this particular young man is valiant, and after gazing upon the thing from another world, as he supposed, called out hoarsely, "In the name of heaven what do you want?" There was no audible reply to this, but the specter commenced to approach, when the young man screamed, dashed to the left for Mill alley, took to his heels and did most tremendously. Looking over his shoulder after he had gone some distance, he observed the ghost standing in the place he had put so lately vacated, still stretching its hands imploringly around him. This was enough for our young man; firmly believing it was something supernatural he resumed his flight, nor stopped until he was safely locked in his own room. We would suggest that the next person who sees this supernatural being takes what often a grand ball will have on it.

NOTICE.—Blessed are they that expect nothing, for they shall not be disappointed.

Out of the masterpieces of God's cattle, was made out of nothing, and what more sublime subject could I choose as the subject of an essay, out of which I might expect to create something, than nothing.

It is one of the most unfortunate, the most expensive, and the most necessary word in our language. In women's vocabulary it ranks next to that all-important Word, "because," though more general in its use. Ask the school boy, when you hear an unusual noise in his direction, what he has been doing, and he will answer you, nothing.

Ask the young lady, as she sits with heightened color, reading her twenty-four page letter, from an absent lover, what it contains, and she will answer, "Oh, nothing," and surely, if nothing is of such interest to her, it must have an all important significance.

Ask the little girl, whom you find rummaging in the pantry for pickles or candies, what she is doing there, and nothing will be the answer.

You will notice, in all the incidents we have cited, that the word nothing bears hidden meaning, and in many cases is a cloak for a multitude of secrets.

It is better that something should occupy your time, remembering that something attempted is something won, while from nothing, nothing comes. Although nothing seems nothing, yet it is found to be the most difficult thing to do. The idle boys and girls at school, who begin by doing nothing, soon find it impossible, and are led into mischief and its consequent punishment.

The young man who begins life with no aim, and is always found doing nothing, grows weary of it, and is lead by the glare and trivial of sinful pleasure, into forbidden paths of folly.

The young lady who has nothing to do, finds the only escape to be matrimony, and marries the first whiskered candy who makes her an offer, and finds that his pockets and his head contain nothing. And how, as doing nothing, and writing about nothing are so difficult to do, we fully conclude that idleness to nothing is equally uncomfortable, and so from the quicksands of nothing we have drawn nothing, under the brooding wing of the angel of silence we will hide nothing.

J. W. WEARLIND.
