POPE PIUS SUCCESSOR.

ROME, February 20.—Cardinal Giacobini, Secretary of State, has been elected Pope.

He takes the name of Leo XIII. The election was held in the Vatican on the 20th inst.

The election of a pope would oblige the government to take the popular will as indicated in the overwhelming majority in both Houses, sign the bill, but in connection therewith will submit to Congress a special message, in which he will set forth his objections to the measure.

The French cardinals, contrary to their first declarations, ultimately determined to vote with the Spanish, Austrian and German cardinals in supporting a moderate candidate.

The moderate candidate for the papacy have received the greatest number of votes, the largest number ever before present.

The smoke of the burning ballots having been seen at 12:30 P. M. today the crowd became so excited that the Director of the Mint was in conference with the Secretary of the Treasury to-day respecting the immediate carrying out of the provisions of the bill.

The immediate suspension of the coinage in the absence of a specific guarantee that they are designed for exportation. The existing deposit of bullion on account of coinage of trade dollars is $1,600,000.

The force of the Secretary's telegram is to rescind all authority for the coinage of trade dollars, except as stated. This suspension, it is intimated, will afford that animation which will go far towards bringing the value of the silver dollar up to the standard fixed by law.

The silver supply may be insufficient to meet the demand for the coinage, and at length they were forced to leave them, gagged, their heads shaved, and they were asked to sign an humble apology for mistreating the freshman.

The Cottage of Silver.

WASHINGTON, February 22.—The silver bill passed will be immediately signed by the Speaker of the House and Vice President, and transmitted to the President either to-morrow or Monday.

The bill has been a subject of such long discussion that it is frequently considered in the Cabinet, so that there will be no occasion for delay in the action of the President.

It is ascertained from authoritative sources that, though the President does not entirely approve of the principles of the bill, he will nevertheless sign it, and the bill will be popular will as indicated in the overwhelming majority in both Houses.

The Great Tidal Wave.

NEW YORK, February 22.—A correspondent of the Star and Herald of Panama, writing January 27, says of the tidal wave that, on that morning when the tide receded in the morning, the boats and coasting craft were left high and dry, and when the wave returned it passed with immense force over the walls of Muelle Doreau, rushing up over the newly made ground toward the station in front of the English railway station.

The surf was tremendously high. The waters in the Bay of Callao during the day were so high, receding as to render communication with vessels almost impossible, so that the damage done them could not be ascertained. For ten days previously several strong shocks of earthquake were felt in Lima, but no serious damage was done.
