

The New Orleans Times may sensibly advise Louisiana Democrats to raise hell and make sugar.

Hon. Glenn W. Scott, of Warren county, this State, has been appointed and confirmed, Register of the Treasury in place of Hon. J. M. Allison deceased.

This latest news from Europe looks as if England and Russia will almost certainly be involved in a war, England is rushing her preparations on a large scale, and is even preparing her reserve force for the field.

When, during the last Presidential campaign, the New York Times announced that Tilden, who was playing the role of a reformer, was a first class fraud, and had systematically cheated the Government out of this income tax, a howl of denunciation went up from the Democratic press, and that journal was threatened with all manner of libel suits.

At the same time Mr. Tilden retained counsel who used every legal artifice to delay proceedings, and every legal technicality to defeat the Government, but the decision has come at last, and the court has ordered Mr. Tilden to account for taxes claimed for the ten years from 1862 to 1871 amounting to $128,142 50 or an increase of $2,603,600.

Tilden being politically dead, the political aspect of the matter has no further interest, except as showing the rashness of the Democracy in attempting to palm him off as a reformer, and all that, into the conduct of public affairs and to point the moral of the present Democratic clamor in Congress for reform, which is equally as hollow as were the professions put forth in behalf of Tilden's honesty.

The Democrats have stolen the seat of another Republican member of Congress. This time it is Mr. Field of Massachusetts, who was ousted.

There was no allegation of fraud or unfair counting in this case; the whole question was as to the fairness of two separate counts of the vote.

The count on election day, when the votes polled each hour were counted, gave Dean (Dem.) a small majority. A recount being demanded, the Board of Aldermen as required by law, had a careful recount made, when it was shown that Field (Rep) was elected, and he was given the certificate, and took his seat.

The House was simply which of these two counts was most likely to be right, the one made during the hurry of the election, or the one made deliberately afterwards. After a vast deal of whispering in the House decided evenly on the question, and Mr. Speaker Randall, contrary to all usage, proved his extreme partiality by giving the casting vote, thus throwing out Mr. Field by one vote.

Eight Democrats possessed of common honesty, voted for Field, while General B. F. Butler cast his vote for Dean, thus feeding fat a personal grudge. It has thus again been made apparent that any Democrat who asks for a Republican seat can have it stolen for him.

That this was to be a reform Congress, run upon the most economical terms, was well advertised by the Democracy, as soon as they found that they would have the control of it. The first thing that was done last year when that body met, was to firmly entrench itself by turning out every Republican officer and installing a Democrat in his place.

Then commenced the retrenchment and economy at as sweeping a rate that soon the Government was brought to nearly a stand still, and the Army and Navy to the starvation point; they cut and slashed at all the appropriation bills, and loudly boasted of the millions they had saved, but when Congress met again this session, the first work it was compelled to do, was to pass deficiency bills, to make good the necessary amounts to keeper (Polk) was made to shoulder the shame and ignominy, when his political friends had brought upon him, in their greed for spoils. A pending appropriation bill more than doubles the force of pages on the floor of the House, increases the number of messengers, doubles the amount of postage allowed to House officers, adds thirty-five per cent. to the folding room for boxing, and $5,000 to that elastic appropriation for "contingent expenses." To keep up the show of reform, while expenses are thus increased in the House, the same branches of the service are pared down in the Senate, until there is scarce sufficient force there to perform the necessary duties. This is retrenchment cannot be denied, retrenchment at the expense of others, while the savings are appropriated to their own use; genuine Democratic retrenchment, that robs Peter to pay Paul, and soon we will have Democratic demagogues, prancing all over the country boasting that their is the party of reform. The Democrats since they have had control of the House, have proven their hypocrisy, and show that had they control of the Government, the profligate days of Pierce and Buchanan would soon be restored. Their pretenses are a sham, and their pratings of economy a delusion and a snare.

Congress has passed and the President approved, a joint resolution providing that the tax on all distilled spirits, deposited in distillery warehouses, may remain in bond three years from the date of the entry of deposit therein, interest to be paid on the amount of the tax, at the rate of five per cent. per annum, after the first year. While this bill is a relief to the distillers having large quantities of spirits in bond, it will create an immense falling off in the revenue, which will necessarily have to be made up from other sources. The revenue collected from spirits last year was over $57,000,000, and it is safe to say that for the next two years this amount will fall off about two thirds.

It is reported from Washington, that the Committee on Ways and Means in the House, propose to reduce the tax on tobacco from 24 to 16 cents per pound, and on cigars from 8 to 5 per thousand. This will be good news to the manufacturers of tobacco and cigars, but here will be another large deficiency in the present revenue, to be made up from some other source.

The Republican State Committee met at Harrisburg on Wednesday last, and decided that the State Convention shall be held at Harrisburg, on the 15th day of May next. In naming so early a date the Committee fully met the requirements of the masses of the party throughout the State. No loitering, trading, or dickering with other organizations was desired. The party wants good candidates, a square unequivocal platform, free from all responsibility for the present condition of National affairs, a fair fight, and it will sweep the State. This must be an aggressive campaign with nobility-shallying. A Pennsylvania policy, the corner stone of which must be protection to home manufacturers and home industry, must be mopped out by the Convention; the campaign must centre on State interests, the party must be thoroughly organized, and ably led, all local jealousies and personal interests must be put aside, the swindling bogus-reform Democracy must be taken by the throat, and the State thoroughly redeemed.

The 15th of May will soon be here, and thereafter with a sound platform and good candidates, we must "push the fighting."

HARRISBURG, Mar. 29, 1878. The past week has been a busy one in the Legislature, especially in the Senate, where work has progressed rapidly and at the same time quietly. The House as usual has been a "bedlam" of noise and confusion, and was disgusted with their unruly conduct and refused to address them on Monday night. The Senate is at least a month ahead of the House in work, and on the principle that the good boy may go out and play while the bad one stays in and work, it has gone home for a vacation of ten days, and have left the House to work in its absence, so that the work of the lower branch may be reasonably well finished when the time for final adjournment arrives, as it must be, before the adjournment of the whole.

When the constitutional limit expires, Sessions of rapid routine work were held in the Senate on Wednesday night and yesterday so that the Senate calendar has been almost entirely cleared of bills. If the House were as active during the adjournance of the Senate, something may be accomplished.

As fixed by resolution, the Senate spent Wednesday afternoon in paying tribute to the memory of the deceased Senator, Hon. David A. Nagle. Appropriate resolutions were adopted and eulogistic speeches were delivered by several Senators. The draped in mourning and a bouquet of fresh cut flowers appears upon his desk every morning.

The following accompanying member from Delaware county, has at last received the merited punishment which the House had the power to mete out to him. On Tuesday Mr. Jackson, of Mercer county, reported from the Judiciary General Committee the following preamble and resolutions which on Wednesday morning were adopted with but one dissenting vote, and that one was cast by mistake.

Whereas, O. F. Bullard, a member of the House, was lately arrested and detained in the jail of Delaware county to await a trial for the offense of embezzlement, wherewith he was charged, and

Whereas, This House did proceed to inquire whether in the said arrest and detention any breach of the privilege of the House had been committed, and

Whereas, The said Bullard was in the order of the House and upon his own request delivered from the custody of the keeper of the jail of Delaware county and produced before the committee of the House of the Judiciary system general, and

Resolved, That O. F. Bullard is hereby expelled from his seat in the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

The House was very anxious to know something about the fugitive Bullard and called on the Sergeant-at-Arms Gaines to tell what he knew about him. The Sergeant said that he had heard of Mr. B. away out in Dacono Territory, and had no doubt that by this time the Pennsylvania legislature would be sending him to the State Prison or some other part of the West. The Sergeant was disgusted with the matter and expressed his determination to withdraw the reward of $500 offered, unless the House took some action by means of which he would be relieved of personal pecuniary responsibility in the matter.

After a second trial the House has again defeated the bill requiring engineers of steam Engines and boilers to take out a license; thus protecting the public from incompetent employees in this line of business. The House has been further smugling itself by tinkering at the present salary system.

Two reform bills are before the House. One which forcibly reminds us of the sacrifices which Artemus Ward was willing to make for his country, and the other which would bill the bill proposed to cut down the salaries of the clerks and employes of the legislature, but leaves the salaries of Senators and members at their present figure. Another bill proposes to cut down the salaries of department heads, and the bill providing for the removal of officers from office for incompetency.

Eliminate the drosses from all of the departments raise the salaries of the working clerks 25 per cent. and it will be found that the gross amount paid by the Commonwealth for department salaries will be decreased at least 25 per cent. in the legislation above mentioned.

After one of the most disorderly meetings of the session the House adjourned yesterday evening until next Tuesday evening.

Eliminate the drosses from all of the departments raise the salaries of the working clerks 25 per cent. and it will be found that the gross amount paid by the Commonwealth for department salaries will be decreased at least 25 per cent. in the legislation above mentioned.

After one of the most disorderly meetings of the session the House adjourned yesterday evening until next Tuesday evening.

Eliminate the drosses from all of the departments raise the salaries of the working clerks 25 per cent. and it will be found that the gross amount paid by the Commonwealth for department salaries will be decreased at least 25 per cent. in the legislation above mentioned.

After one of the most disorderly meetings of the session the House adjourned yesterday evening until next Tuesday evening.

Eliminate the drosses from all of the departments raise the salaries of the working clerks 25 per cent. and it will be found that the gross amount paid by the Commonwealth for department salaries will be decreased at least 25 per cent. in the legislation above mentioned.

Ship Wrecked. LONDON, March 24, 1878.—A report was received here, this evening, that the British mail training ship Eurydice, with 500 men on board, has capsized on the south coast of the Isle of Wight. Soon after the admiral commanding at Portsmouth telegraphed the following particulars regarding the disaster to the commandant of the coast guard at Ventnor: "The Eurydice capsized off Danes Head at half-past 4 o'clock this afternoon in a sudden squall. One boy and a seaman were saved."

Other advices indicate that between 300 and 400 lives were lost. The admiral at Portsmouth, on receiving the news of the disaster, immediately dispatched a steamer to the scene of the wreck. The Eurydice was a training ship for ordinary seamen, under the command of Captain Marcus A. S. Hare. She had on board 500 men, 100 of whom were British marines, and carried four guns. LONDON, March 25.—The following additional particulars of the capsizing of the training ship Eurydice have been received:

At four o'clock in the afternoon, when the wind was blowing from the north-east, a squall struck the Eurydice, and she capsized and sank immediately. The schooner Emma, passing the Eurydice at the time, rescued five passengers, including Lieut. Francis H. Taylor, after they had been an hour in the water. Three of them died, and the survivors of the disaster are Benjamin Cuddiford, a first seaman, and Sydney Fletcher, a first class boy. The following is Cuddiford's statement:

The ship capsized in the squall and snow storm, about four or five minutes after five o'clock in the afternoon, when five miles from Danes Head. There were over three hundred persons on board, all of whom, except myself and Fletcher, were, I believe lost. I was one of the last on the ship. Captain Hare was with me when she was struck, and he was the last to be seen. I was the first to get out of the ship, and I was the last to be seen. I was the first to get out of the ship, and I was the last to be seen.

Mr. Tilden's Income Tax. New York, March 26.—Judge Blatchford, of the United States District Court, gave a decision to-day in the suit of the United States against Mr. Tilden, regarding the income tax. The decision is in favor of the Government, and the tax is to be paid.

Mr. Tilden's Income Tax. New York, March 26.—Judge Blatchford, of the United States District Court, gave a decision to-day in the suit of the United States against Mr. Tilden, regarding the income tax. The decision is in favor of the Government, and the tax is to be paid.

Mr. Tilden's Income Tax. New York, March 26.—Judge Blatchford, of the United States District Court, gave a decision to-day in the suit of the United States against Mr. Tilden, regarding the income tax. The decision is in favor of the Government, and the tax is to be paid.

Mr. Tilden's Income Tax. New York, March 26.—Judge Blatchford, of the United States District Court, gave a decision to-day in the suit of the United States against Mr. Tilden, regarding the income tax. The decision is in favor of the Government, and the tax is to be paid.

Mr. Tilden's Income Tax. New York, March 26.—Judge Blatchford, of the United States District Court, gave a decision to-day in the suit of the United States against Mr. Tilden, regarding the income tax. The decision is in favor of the Government, and the tax is to be paid.

Mr. Tilden's Income Tax. New York, March 26.—Judge Blatchford, of the United States District Court, gave a decision to-day in the suit of the United States against Mr. Tilden, regarding the income tax. The decision is in favor of the Government, and the tax is to be paid.

Mr. Tilden's Income Tax. New York, March 26.—Judge Blatchford, of the United States District Court, gave a decision to-day in the suit of the United States against Mr. Tilden, regarding the income tax. The decision is in favor of the Government, and the tax is to be paid.

Execution of Fisher. MAVERICK, Pa., March 28.—Thomas P. Fisher was hanged in the corridor of the jail this morning. Fisher was tried and convicted for complicity in the murder of Morgan Powell, a mine boss, at Summit Hill on the evening of March 2, 1875. He was hanged by the neck, and his body was left to rot on the gallows. Fisher was a man of large size, and a more intelligent man than most of his companions. There was a large number of persons present, and the execution was conducted without accident or mishap. Fisher was a native of Pennsylvania, and was a member of the Mollie Maguire Association, and a more intelligent man than most of his companions. There was a large number of persons present, and the execution was conducted without accident or mishap.

Execution of Fisher. MAVERICK, Pa., March 28.—Thomas P. Fisher was hanged in the corridor of the jail this morning. Fisher was tried and convicted for complicity in the murder of Morgan Powell, a mine boss, at Summit Hill on the evening of March 2, 1875. He was hanged by the neck, and his body was left to rot on the gallows. Fisher was a man of large size, and a more intelligent man than most of his companions. There was a large number of persons present, and the execution was conducted without accident or mishap.

Execution of Fisher. MAVERICK, Pa., March 28.—Thomas P. Fisher was hanged in the corridor of the jail this morning. Fisher was tried and convicted for complicity in the murder of Morgan Powell, a mine boss, at Summit Hill on the evening of March 2, 1875. He was hanged by the neck, and his body was left to rot on the gallows. Fisher was a man of large size, and a more intelligent man than most of his companions. There was a large number of persons present, and the execution was conducted without accident or mishap.

Execution of Fisher. MAVERICK, Pa., March 28.—Thomas P. Fisher was hanged in the corridor of the jail this morning. Fisher was tried and convicted for complicity in the murder of Morgan Powell, a mine boss, at Summit Hill on the evening of March 2, 1875. He was hanged by the neck, and his body was left to rot on the gallows. Fisher was a man of large size, and a more intelligent man than most of his companions. There was a large number of persons present, and the execution was conducted without accident or mishap.

Execution of Fisher. MAVERICK, Pa., March 28.—Thomas P. Fisher was hanged in the corridor of the jail this morning. Fisher was tried and convicted for complicity in the murder of Morgan Powell, a mine boss, at Summit Hill on the evening of March 2, 1875. He was hanged by the neck, and his body was left to rot on the gallows. Fisher was a man of large size, and a more intelligent man than most of his companions. There was a large number of persons present, and the execution was conducted without accident or mishap.

Execution of Fisher. MAVERICK, Pa., March 28.—Thomas P. Fisher was hanged in the corridor of the jail this morning. Fisher was tried and convicted for complicity in the murder of Morgan Powell, a mine boss, at Summit Hill on the evening of March 2, 1875. He was hanged by the neck, and his body was left to rot on the gallows. Fisher was a man of large size, and a more intelligent man than most of his companions. There was a large number of persons present, and the execution was conducted without accident or mishap.

Execution of Fisher. MAVERICK, Pa., March 28.—Thomas P. Fisher was hanged in the corridor of the jail this morning. Fisher was tried and convicted for complicity in the murder of Morgan Powell, a mine boss, at Summit Hill on the evening of March 2, 1875. He was hanged by the neck, and his body was left to rot on the gallows. Fisher was a man of large size, and a more intelligent man than most of his companions. There was a large number of persons present, and the execution was conducted without accident or mishap.

Execution of Fisher. MAVERICK, Pa., March 28.—Thomas P. Fisher was hanged in the corridor of the jail this morning. Fisher was tried and convicted for complicity in the murder of Morgan Powell, a mine boss, at Summit Hill on the evening of March 2, 1875. He was hanged by the neck, and his body was left to rot on the gallows. Fisher was a man of large size, and a more intelligent man than most of his companions. There was a large number of persons present, and the execution was conducted without accident or mishap.

Execution of Fisher. MAVERICK, Pa., March 28.—Thomas P. Fisher was hanged in the corridor of the jail this morning. Fisher was tried and convicted for complicity in the murder of Morgan Powell, a mine boss, at Summit Hill on the evening of March 2, 1875. He was hanged by the neck, and his body was left to rot on the gallows. Fisher was a man of large size, and a more intelligent man than most of his companions. There was a large number of persons present, and the execution was conducted without accident or mishap.

Execution of Fisher. MAVERICK, Pa., March 28.—Thomas P. Fisher was hanged in the corridor of the jail this morning. Fisher was tried and convicted for complicity in the murder of Morgan Powell, a mine boss, at Summit Hill on the evening of March 2, 1875. He was hanged by the neck, and his body was left to rot on the gallows. Fisher was a man of large size, and a more intelligent man than most of his companions. There was a large number of persons present, and the execution was conducted without accident or mishap.

Execution of Fisher. MAVERICK, Pa., March 28.—Thomas P. Fisher was hanged in the corridor of the jail this morning. Fisher was tried and convicted for complicity in the murder of Morgan Powell, a mine boss, at Summit Hill on the evening of March 2, 1875. He was hanged by the neck, and his body was left to rot on the gallows. Fisher was a man of large size, and a more intelligent man than most of his companions. There was a large number of persons present, and the execution was conducted without accident or mishap.

Execution of Fisher. MAVERICK, Pa., March 28.—Thomas P. Fisher was hanged in the corridor of the jail this morning. Fisher was tried and convicted for complicity in the murder of Morgan Powell, a mine boss, at Summit Hill on the evening of March 2, 1875. He was hanged by the neck, and his body was left to rot on the gallows. Fisher was a man of large size, and a more intelligent man than most of his companions. There was a large number of persons present, and the execution was conducted without accident or mishap.

Execution of Fisher. MAVERICK, Pa., March 28.—Thomas P. Fisher was hanged in the corridor of the jail this morning. Fisher was tried and convicted for complicity in the murder of Morgan Powell, a mine boss, at Summit Hill on the evening of March 2, 1875. He was hanged by the neck, and his body was left to rot on the gallows. Fisher was a man of large size, and a more intelligent man than most of his companions. There was a large number of persons present, and the execution was conducted without accident or mishap.

Execution of Fisher. MAVERICK, Pa., March 28.—Thomas P. Fisher was hanged in the corridor of the jail this morning. Fisher was tried and convicted for complicity in the murder of Morgan Powell, a mine boss, at Summit Hill on the evening of March 2, 1875. He was hanged by the neck, and his body was left to rot on the gallows. Fisher was a man of large size, and a more intelligent man than most of his companions. There was a large number of persons present, and the execution was conducted without accident or mishap.

Execution of Fisher. MAVERICK, Pa., March 28.—Thomas P. Fisher was hanged in the corridor of the jail this morning. Fisher was tried and convicted for complicity in the murder of Morgan Powell, a mine boss, at Summit Hill on the evening of March 2, 1875. He was hanged by the neck, and his body was left to rot on the gallows. Fisher was a man of large size, and a more intelligent man than most of his companions. There was a large number of persons present, and the execution was conducted without accident or mishap.

Execution of Fisher. MAVERICK, Pa., March 28.—Thomas P. Fisher was hanged in the corridor of the jail this morning. Fisher was tried and convicted for complicity in the murder of Morgan Powell, a mine boss, at Summit Hill on the evening of March 2, 1875. He was hanged by the neck, and his body was left to rot on the gallows. Fisher was a man of large size, and a more intelligent man than most of his companions. There was a large number of persons present, and the execution was conducted without accident or mishap.

Execution of Fisher. MAVERICK, Pa., March 28.—Thomas P. Fisher was hanged in the corridor of the jail this morning. Fisher was tried and convicted for complicity in the murder of Morgan Powell, a mine boss, at Summit Hill on the evening of March 2, 1875. He was hanged by the neck, and his body was left to rot on the gallows. Fisher was a man of large size, and a more intelligent man than most of his companions. There was a large number of persons present, and the execution was conducted without accident or mishap.

Execution of Fisher. MAVERICK, Pa., March 28.—Thomas P. Fisher was hanged in the corridor of the jail this morning. Fisher was tried and convicted for complicity in the murder of Morgan Powell, a mine boss, at Summit Hill on the evening of March 2, 1875. He was hanged by the neck, and his body was left to rot on the gallows. Fisher was a man of large size, and a more intelligent man than most of his companions. There was a large number of persons present, and the execution was conducted without accident or mishap.

Execution of Fisher. MAVERICK, Pa., March 28.—Thomas P. Fisher was hanged in the corridor of the jail this morning. Fisher was tried and convicted for complicity in the murder of Morgan Powell, a mine boss, at Summit Hill on the evening of March 2, 1875. He was hanged by the neck, and his body was left to rot on the gallows. Fisher was a man of large size, and a more intelligent man than most of his companions. There was a large number of persons present, and the execution was conducted without accident or mishap.

Execution of Fisher. MAVERICK, Pa., March 28.—Thomas P. Fisher was hanged in the corridor of the jail this morning. Fisher was tried and convicted for complicity in the murder of Morgan Powell, a mine boss, at Summit Hill on the evening of March 2, 1875. He was hanged by the neck, and his body was left to rot on the gallows. Fisher was a man of large size, and a more intelligent man than most of his companions. There was a large number of persons present, and the execution was conducted without accident or mishap.

Execution of Fisher. MAVERICK, Pa., March 28.—Thomas P. Fisher was hanged in the corridor of the jail this morning. Fisher was tried and convicted for complicity in the murder of Morgan Powell, a mine boss, at Summit Hill on the evening of March 2, 1875. He was hanged by the neck, and his body was left to rot on the gallows. Fisher was a man of large size, and a more intelligent man than most of his companions. There was a large number of persons present, and the execution was conducted without accident or mishap.

Execution of Fisher. MAVERICK, Pa., March 28.—Thomas P. Fisher was hanged in the corridor of the jail this morning. Fisher was tried and convicted for complicity in the murder of Morgan Powell, a mine boss, at Summit Hill on the evening of March 2, 1875. He was hanged by the neck, and his body was left to rot on the gallows. Fisher was a man of large size, and a more intelligent man than most of his companions. There was a large number of persons present, and the execution was conducted without accident or mishap.

Execution of Fisher. MAVERICK, Pa., March 28.—Thomas P. Fisher was hanged in the corridor of the jail this morning. Fisher was tried and convicted for complicity in the murder of Morgan Powell, a mine boss, at Summit Hill on the evening of March 2, 1875. He was hanged by the neck, and his body was left to rot on the gallows. Fisher was a man of large size, and a more intelligent man than most of his companions. There was a large number of persons present, and the execution was conducted without accident or mishap.

Execution of Fisher. MAVERICK, Pa., March 28.—Thomas P. Fisher was hanged in the corridor of the jail this morning. Fisher was tried and convicted for complicity in the murder of Morgan Powell, a mine boss, at Summit Hill on the evening of March 2, 1875. He was hanged by the neck, and his body was left to rot on the gallows. Fisher was a man of large size, and a more intelligent man than most of his companions. There was a large number of persons present, and the execution was conducted without accident or mishap.

Execution of Fisher. MAVERICK, Pa., March 28.—Thomas P. Fisher was hanged in the corridor of the jail this morning. Fisher was tried and convicted for complicity in the murder of Morgan Powell, a mine boss, at Summit Hill on the evening of March 2, 1875. He was hanged by the neck, and his body was left to rot on the gallows. Fisher was a man of large size, and a more intelligent man than most of his companions. There was a large number of persons present, and the execution was conducted without accident or mishap.

Execution of Fisher. MAVERICK, Pa., March 28.—Thomas P. Fisher was hanged in the corridor of the jail this morning. Fisher was tried and convicted for complicity in the murder of Morgan Powell, a mine boss, at Summit Hill on the evening of March 2, 1875. He was hanged by the neck, and his body was left to rot on the gallows. Fisher was a man of large size, and a more intelligent man than most of his companions. There was a large number of persons present, and the execution was conducted without accident or mishap.

Execution of Fisher. MAVERICK, Pa., March 28.—Thomas P. Fisher was hanged in the corridor of the jail this morning. Fisher was tried and convicted for complicity in the murder of Morgan Powell, a mine boss, at Summit Hill on the evening of March 2, 1875. He was hanged by the neck, and his body was left to rot on the gallows. Fisher was a man of large size, and a more intelligent man than most of his companions. There was a large number of persons present, and the execution was conducted without accident or mishap.

Execution of Fisher. MAVERICK, Pa., March 28.—Thomas P. Fisher was hanged in the corridor of the jail this morning. Fisher was tried and convicted for complicity in the murder of Morgan Powell, a mine boss, at Summit Hill on the evening of March 2, 1875. He was hanged by the neck, and his body was left to rot on the gallows. Fisher was a man of large size, and a more intelligent man than most of his companions. There was a large number of persons present, and the execution was conducted without accident or mishap.

Execution of Fisher. MAVERICK, Pa., March 28.—Thomas P. Fisher was hanged in the corridor of the jail this morning. Fisher was tried and convicted for complicity in the murder of Morgan Powell, a mine boss, at Summit Hill on the evening of March 2, 1875. He was hanged by the neck, and his body was left to rot on the gallows. Fisher was a man of large size, and a more intelligent man than most of his companions. There was a large number of persons present, and the execution was conducted without accident or mishap.

Execution of Fisher. MAVERICK, Pa., March 28.—Thomas P. Fisher was hanged in the corridor of the jail this morning. Fisher was tried and convicted for complicity in the murder of Morgan Powell, a mine boss, at Summit Hill on the evening of March 2, 1875. He was hanged by the neck, and his body was left to rot on the gallows. Fisher was a man of large size, and a more intelligent man than most of his companions. There was a large number of persons present, and the execution was conducted without accident or mishap.

Execution of Fisher. MAVERICK, Pa., March 28.—Thomas P. Fisher was hanged in the corridor of the jail this morning. Fisher was tried and convicted for complicity in the murder of Morgan Powell, a mine boss, at Summit Hill on the evening of March 2, 1875. He was hanged by the neck, and his body was left to rot on the gallows. Fisher was a man of large size, and a more intelligent man than most of his companions. There was a large number of persons present, and the execution was conducted without accident or mishap.

Execution of Fisher. MAVERICK, Pa., March 28.—Thomas P. Fisher was hanged in the corridor of the jail this morning. Fisher was tried and convicted for complicity in the murder of Morgan Powell, a mine boss, at Summit Hill on the evening of March 2, 1875. He was hanged by the neck, and his body was left to rot on the gallows. Fisher was a man of large size, and a more intelligent man than most of his companions. There was a large number of persons present, and the execution was conducted without accident or mishap.

Execution of Fisher. MAVERICK, Pa., March 28.—Thomas P. Fisher was hanged in the corridor of the jail this morning. Fisher was tried and convicted for complicity in the murder of Morgan Powell, a mine boss, at Summit Hill on the evening of March 2, 1875. He was hanged by the neck, and his body was left to rot on the gallows. Fisher was a man of large size, and a more intelligent man than most of his companions. There was a large number of persons present, and the execution was conducted without accident or mishap.

Execution of Fisher. MAVERICK, Pa., March 28.—Thomas P. Fisher was hanged in the corridor of the jail this morning. Fisher was tried and convicted for complicity in the murder of Morgan Powell, a mine boss, at Summit Hill on the evening of March 2, 1875. He was hanged by the neck, and his body was left to rot on the gallows. Fisher was a man of large size, and a more intelligent man than most of his companions. There was a large number of persons present, and the execution was conducted without accident or mishap.

Execution of Fisher. MAVERICK, Pa., March 28.—Thomas P. Fisher was hanged in the corridor of the jail this morning. Fisher was tried and convicted for complicity in the murder of Morgan Powell, a mine boss, at Summit Hill on the evening of March 2, 1875. He was hanged by the neck, and his body was left to rot on the gallows. Fisher was a man of large size, and a more intelligent man than most of his companions. There was a large number of persons present, and the execution was conducted without accident or mishap.

Execution of Fisher. MAVERICK, Pa., March 28.—Thomas P. Fisher was hanged in the corridor of the jail this morning. Fisher was tried and convicted for complicity in the murder of Morgan Powell, a mine boss, at Summit Hill on the evening of March 2, 1875. He was hanged by the neck, and his body was left to rot on the gallows. Fisher was a man of large size, and a more intelligent man than most of his companions. There was a large number of persons present, and the execution was conducted without accident or mishap.

Execution of Fisher. MAVERICK, Pa., March 28.—Thomas P. Fisher was hanged in the corridor of the jail this morning. Fisher was tried and convicted for complicity in the murder of Morgan Powell, a mine boss, at Summit Hill on the evening of March 2, 1875. He was hanged by the neck, and his body was left to rot on the gallows. Fisher was a man of large size, and a more intelligent man than most of his companions. There was a large number of persons present, and the execution was conducted without accident or mishap.

Execution of Fisher. MAVERICK, Pa., March 28.—Thomas P. Fisher was hanged in the corridor of the jail this morning. Fisher was tried and convicted for complicity in the murder of Morgan Powell, a mine boss, at Summit Hill on the evening of March 2, 1875. He was hanged by the neck, and his body was left to rot on the gallows. Fisher was a man of large size, and a more intelligent man than most of his companions. There was a large number of persons present, and the execution was conducted without accident or mishap.

Execution of Fisher. MAVERICK, Pa., March 28.—Thomas P. Fisher was hanged in the corridor of the jail this morning. Fisher was tried and convicted for complicity in the murder of Morgan Powell, a mine boss, at Summit Hill on the evening of March 2, 1875. He was hanged by the neck, and his body was left to rot on the gallows. Fisher was a man of large size, and a more intelligent man than most of his companions. There was a large number of persons present, and the execution was conducted without accident or mishap.

Execution of Fisher. MAVERICK, Pa., March 28.—Thomas P. Fisher was hanged in the corridor of the jail this morning. Fisher was tried and convicted for complicity in the murder of Morgan Powell, a mine boss, at Summit Hill on the evening of March 2, 1875. He was hanged by the neck, and his body was left to rot on the gallows. Fisher was a man of large size, and a more intelligent man than most of his companions. There was a large number of persons present, and the execution was conducted without accident or mishap.

Execution of Fisher. MAVERICK, Pa., March 28.—Thomas P. Fisher was hanged in the corridor of the jail this morning. Fisher was tried and convicted for complicity in the murder of Morgan Powell, a mine boss, at Summit Hill on the evening of March 2, 1875. He was hanged by the neck, and his body was left to rot on the gallows. Fisher was a man of large size, and a more intelligent man than most of his companions. There was a large number of persons present, and the execution was conducted without accident or mishap.

Execution of Fisher. MAVERICK, Pa., March 28.—Thomas P. Fisher was hanged in the corridor of the jail this morning. Fisher was tried and convicted for complicity in the murder of Morgan Powell, a mine boss, at Summit Hill on the evening of March 2, 1875. He was hanged by the neck, and his body was left to rot on the gallows. Fisher was a man of large size, and a more intelligent man than most of his companions. There was a large number of persons present, and the execution was conducted without accident or mishap.

Execution of Fisher. MAVERICK, Pa., March 28.—Thomas P. Fisher was hanged in the corridor of the jail this morning. Fisher was tried and convicted for complicity in the murder of Morgan Powell, a mine boss, at Summit Hill on the evening of March 2, 1875. He was hanged by the neck, and his body was left to rot on the gallows. Fisher was a man of large size, and a more intelligent man than most of his companions. There was a large number of persons present, and the execution was conducted without accident or mishap.

Execution of Fisher. MAVERICK, Pa., March 28.—Thomas P. Fisher was hanged in the corridor of the jail this morning. Fisher was tried and convicted for complicity in the murder of Morgan Powell, a mine boss, at Summit Hill on the evening of March 2, 1875. He was hanged by the neck, and his body was left to rot on the gallows. Fisher was a man of large size, and a more intelligent man than most of his companions. There was a large number of persons present, and the execution was conducted without accident or mishap.

Execution of Fisher. MAVERICK, Pa., March 28.—Thomas P. Fisher was hanged in the corridor of the jail this morning. Fisher was tried and convicted for complicity in the murder of Morgan Powell, a mine boss, at Summit Hill on the evening of March 2, 1875. He was hanged by the neck, and his body was left to rot on the gallows. Fisher was a man of large size, and a more intelligent man than most of his companions. There was a large number of persons present, and the execution was conducted without