This Summer Sabbath Day !

We thank thee, Lord, for one day To look heaven in the face ! The poor have only Sunday; The sweeter is the grace. Tis then they make the music That sings the'r week away. Oh, there's a sweetness infinite In the poor man's Sabbath Day!

'Tis as a burst of sunshine A tender tall of rain, That set the barest life a-bloom Makes old hearts young again. The dry and dusty roadside With smiling flowers is gay ; 'Tis open heaven one day in sev-

'Tis here the weary pligrim, Doth reach his house of case; That blessed house called "beautiful And that soft chamber, "peace." The River of Life runs through his dream, And the leaves of heaven are at play He sees the golden city gleam, This shining Sabbath Day!

The poor man's Sabbath Day

Take heart, ye faint and fearful. Your cross with courage bear So many a face now tearful Shall shine in glory there : Where all the sorrow is banished The tears are wiped away: And all eternity shall be An endless Sabbath Day !

The hound was repeated, more distinct this time. The mother instinctively bounded away a few paces; the fawn started up, with an anxious bleat; the doer turned; she couldn't leave it.

The New Orleans Times says; anxious bleat; the doe turned; she came back; she couldn't leave it. She bent over it, and licked it, and seemned to say, "Come, my child, we are pursued; we must go." She walked away towards the west, and the little thing skipped after her. It was slow going for the siender lega, over the fallen logs and through the rasping bushes. The doe bounded in advance, and waited; the fawn scrambled after her, slipping and tumbling along, very groggy jet on its legs, and whining a good deal because its mother kept always moving away from it. The fawn evidently did not hear the hound; the little innocent would even have looked sweetly at the down at the favore would even have looked sweetly at the down at the down at the fawn in a helpless sort of way.
