Once upon a time there lived beside the Rhine a beautiful young lady. She had a lover who loved her, and whom she loved in return. But after be bad wooed her, not one year, but three-he asked her to marry him; and she, anxious to show her power, merely answered:

"I have waited three years," he said, "but at your bidding, I will wait one more-just one more.' Then he went away and became a soldier, and praise of his bravery filled the land; but the lady was piqued by the thought that he had been able to leave her for even a year; and when he returned she determined to punish him, though all the while sha loved him well.

He knelt at her feet, and took her bands in his, and said : "Lady I have come back to claim
