PERCUTOR'S NOTICE.

PRISON. t'scurious, isn't it, Billy; The changes that twelve months may bring. Last year I was at Saratoga, As happy and rich as a king. I was raking in pools on the races, And feeing the waiters with "Ten." And stoping mint-julips by twilight, And to-day I am here in the "Pen." "What led me to do it?" What always Leads men to destruction and crime The profigal son, whom you've read of, Has altered somewhat in his time. As the biblical fellow of old : But when it is gone he fancies Champagne, a box at the opera, High steps while fortune is flush.

The froth that foams for an hour, The dregs that are tasted for years. Last night as I sat here and pendered On the ends of my evil ways, There arose like a phantom before me The vision of boyhood days. I thought of my old home, filly Of the schoel-house that scool on the hill; Of the brook that flowed through the meadow GOODS I can e'en hear its music swell. Again I thought of my mother,

Of the mother who taught me to pray, Whose love was a precious treasure, I saw again in my visions The fresh-hipped, careless boy, To whom the future was boundless, And the world but a mighty toy. I thought of all this as I sat bere, Of my rained and wasted life,

And the pangs of remorse were bitter, They pierced my heart like a knile. It takes some courage, Billy, To laugh in the face of fate, When the yearoing ambitions of manhood Are blasted at twenty-eight. Joliet (III.) Republican.
