THE SILENT BOYS IN BLUE.

Has the whole year but one lone day in which our heroes to remember? Shall we, who decked their graves in May, Forget our duty in November?

Spring gave them flowers of purest white, And well they matched each brave, blue suit.

But frosty autumn pleads their right To every loyal freeman's vote. They died, but left for us to see Their battle field should honor stay: The sky around it stars to give Forever blue and never gray!

Men of the South, ye slow the gray? We once forgot, but will remember! Front, rearward, guard, front, rearward, Bounce the North, Hail in November!

REPUBLICAN MEETINGS.

We have counted of a large number of Republican meetings held at different points in the county, but owing to the lack of space we are unable to give full reports of any of them, so hope our friends will be content with the short notices given below.

The study program of Jenner township, from four to six hundred strong, met at Jenner Cross, Oct. 10, for the purpose of holding an old time Republican meeting and of raising the largest vote, with the largest percentage, for the county. The vote was a beautiful one, straight as an arrow and 172 feet long.

His name, Mr. Moran, of Philadelphia, was not introduced, who in a most masterly and eloquent manner, showed the relation between the Republican and Democratic parties, showing in a most convincing way that it is only under the Republican party, and its principles and policy, that the American nation can continue its greatness and power.

Mr. Trent, Esq., of Somerset, was next introduced and delivered one of his characteristic speeches. After speaking about three-quarters of an hour, Mr. Trent was interrupted by the men who had been working for the pole, and now had it ready to be raised.

OUR NEW YORK LETTER.

From Our Special Correspondent. New York, October 18, 1910. There seems to be a determination on the part of the business men to keep up the good work inaugurated on the night of the general election.

The Republicans of the State are making herculean efforts to make their county this fall, and are very confident of success. They are now only a matter of time before the road will be open for traffic.
