

HOW I LAID A GHOST

BY J. E. LEE

One morning I received a message from a friend asking me to meet him in the evening. His family had been recently disturbed by certain mysterious noises, respecting which he wished to ask my advice. I waited upon him at the time appointed, when he told me he had only been in the house about a week, and that but recently he had passed it from its former occupant.

My convenience, and commenced the perusal of my book. I depended on the gas for sufficient warmth in the cool hours of the morning, as the heat of the fire might induce me to sleep while I was waiting for the morning paper.

The following is an extract from the Hon. Thomas Russell's address at the Massachusetts club's commemoration. My first acquaintance was made with him in November, 1856, in the Republican headquarters, and, in a few days, he was in trouble.

Some boys and girls have an idea that money can do almost anything, but this is a mistake. Money, it is true, can be a great deal, but it cannot do everything. I could name a thousand things that it cannot do. It was meant for good.

Some boys and girls have an idea that money can do almost anything, but this is a mistake. Money, it is true, can be a great deal, but it cannot do everything. I could name a thousand things that it cannot do. It was meant for good.

Dr. T. C. Brannon, writing in the Therapeutic Gazette for July, 1880, makes the astonishing statement that during his life thus far he has been afflicted with nearly forty felons, and claims for this reason to be able to speak with authority as to their treatment. If he had said that he had been the victim of four or even fourteen felons, his experience could not fail to have commanded attention, but when one reads of forty felons having afflicted one man in a short life-time, one's faith receives a severe shock.

MRS. LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND. For all Female Complaints. This preparation, as its name implies, consists of the most delicate and healthful ingredients.

JOHN F. BLYMYER, DEALER IN Hardware, Iron, Nails, Glass, Paint, OILS, & C. & C. Eyes! Eyes! Eyes! If you wish to preserve your sight get a pair of Spectacles or Eye Glasses that suit you.

At a glance we could see that the idea suggested was impracticable, and it was abandoned without further search.

At a glance we could see that the idea suggested was impracticable, and it was abandoned without further search.

At a glance we could see that the idea suggested was impracticable, and it was abandoned without further search.

At a glance we could see that the idea suggested was impracticable, and it was abandoned without further search.

At a glance we could see that the idea suggested was impracticable, and it was abandoned without further search.

At a glance we could see that the idea suggested was impracticable, and it was abandoned without further search.

At a glance we could see that the idea suggested was impracticable, and it was abandoned without further search.

At a glance we could see that the idea suggested was impracticable, and it was abandoned without further search.