Since "advice" is the coin you deal in.

To show your face or your name; Be sure you are right in thinking Then bravely your thoughts proclaim.

You object "in behalf of some women, And of gentlemen, also a few." To my somewhat old-fashioned garments,

The fact is, a financial depression Hath obtained in our part of the town,

Which has somewhat a tender relation To frash bonnets, gloves, ribbons, or gown,

Which doubtless "do give one an air," Fearing debt or a care-burdened husband, I have chosen the old ones to wear.

Those wrinkles to me were more precious Than an uncreased robe would have been Since just as we paused at the threshold Of our modest but happy home nest, our bonnie brown eyes opened widely, And mothers can guess at the real Twas four dimpled arms made the
