Now stands confessedly at the head of Philadelphia journalism in all that makes a thoroughly complete, general and family newspaper. It is more complete in its news, in its special correspondence, in its varied contributions on all subjects of popular interest, and in all the qualities of a newspaper for the family circle and for the business man than any of its contemporaries, because its facilities and resources are equal to every want of a first-class path and feature.

"The Weekly Times" has nearly doubled its former large circulation during the part year. Its contributors from week to week are among the foremest men of the nation, and no department of news of literature is alighted in my number on any pretext. It is adapted as well to we men us to many homes, sithough its political intelligence is full and ascirbly real its political editorials free and fear-less, liberal provision is reade for literary, dramatic and musical matters, travels and edwert up, fiction, poetry, fashions and the chronicle of europe bound events. In all these departments the pens of the best williers are commend, while selections from other oursals are made villegam, take and fullness that are unsurpassed.
