And gray was the old well sweep.

Not could coachinen or fastman tell

Why the master stopped in the dusty i To drink at the wayside well,

While from scam and star in the backet's

And heat down to the bucket's brim;

No furrows of time or care had marked The face that looked back at him.

As he stooped o'er the edge to drink,

While from under the brim of the old straw

He swayed with his gloved hands The well-awerp creaking and slow.

The water splashed back below.

He slopped by the wayside well,

He left his carriage alone ;
