But notwithstanding all the benefits which are and may be, with justice, attributed to the county institute in the past, and notwithstanding all the benefits which must accrue to it in the future...

Teachers meet and study under the direction of the county superintendent, assisted by competent instructors for a term of say four weeks.

Such in brief is the normal institute. There are many minor details omitted, but from the above the "running of the machine" may be seen "as through a glass darkly."

The school law of the State provides that a normal school shall consist of twenty-two days actual teaching, but leaves it discretionary with the board of directors to allow or not a district institute to be held alternate Saturdays.

Legislation has enacted that the board of directors shall allow or not a district institute to be held alternate Saturdays. Recently the board of directors of this county has decided to allow such an institute.

My next and last chapter will be headed "Aspirations."

How wicket we am when we sit down and find it over," said Brother Gardner as the voice of the triangle struck the hour of 7.

Any one can see, by a very cursory glance at the teachers of to-day and ten years ago, that there is a vast improvement.

THE LAST OF GUTEAU. The Crank Community Trying to Make Him a Hero.

WASHINGTON, July 1.—Every body is talking about the dead assassin. Most of Guitau's body lies to-night beneath a huge flagstone in the floor of the jail on the side next the eastern branch of the Potomac, but his name is on every tongue.

His brains, now nothing but inert little masses of cellular tissue, rest in a half dozen little jars on the shelves of the United States Medical Museum, in the interval between the microscopic examination of to-day and the examination of Monday.

WHOLE NO. 1618. Guitau was hanged in effigy early yesterday morning in all parts of Philadelphia.

Dr. Hicks, what shall I do, I have lost my paper? I said "Take this," and handed him the manuscript of his prayer. He dropped it and at the same time exclaimed "Ready, glory, and as he did so Crocker dropped his handkerchief, and Guitau shot down through the opening below.
