Cairo, N. Y.—Charles Hoffman, of this place, says: "I have used for a year or more Hunter's Manchuria Bitters, and find they have been very beneficial to me, in fact cured me of Dyspepsia in its worst form." Isaac Hoffman and Frank Reinsle have also been cured of Sick Headache and Dyspepsia by their use. Wessel Salsbury says they have been used by himself and family to great advantage; have cured his daughter of Sick Headache. The bitters seem to be just the medicine for the diseases for which they are recommended.

WALNUT LEAF HAIR RESTORER.—It is entirely different from all others. It is as clear as water, and, as its name indicates, is a perfectly Vegetable Hair Restorer. It will immediately free the head from all dandruff, restore gray hair to its natural color, and produce a new growth where it has fallen off. It does not in any manner affect the health, which sulphur, sugar of lead and nitrate of silver preparations have done. It will change light or faded hair in a few days to a beautiful glossy brown. Ask your druggist for it. Each bottle is warranted. Smith, Kline & Co., wholesale agents, Philadelphia, and the C. N. Crittenden, New York

Our churches were well attended last Sunday.

Now is the time to advertise for the fall trade.

Our band is much complimented for their fine playing.

The place to buy your fall clothing is at J. B. SNYDER & Co.'s.

Vennor promises an abundance of sleighing for the coming winter.

Mr. J. Frost paid his first visit for the season to this section on Thursday night.

The past three or four nights have been uncomfortable cool.

Some of the excursionists from Johnstown and Connellsville, mostly young men, behaved in a very disgraceful manner on our streets on Sunday.

What has become of our agricultural society? Ain't we going to have a fair this fall? are questions that are daily asked us. We give it up.

Overcoats were worn with a considerable degree of comfort in Somerset on Friday evening and Saturday morning. Stove and grate fires were enjoyed.

If you want to increase your business be sure and insert an advertisement in the HERALD. Try this means of increasing your trade and see if we are not giving you good advice.

Everything on wheels was out at the camp grounds on Sunday. There was one continuous stream of people going to and fro from early in the morning until late in the evening.

The potato crop is reported as being very large, and, as a consequence, this vegetable is rapidly declining, and in some localities they are selling at 50 cents per bushel, and a drug in the market at that figure.

Joseph Tressler, of Milford township, was arrested last Thursday on a charge of desertion, and in default of three hundred dollars bail, was handed over to the care of Sheriff Spangler to await trial at the ensuing term of court.

Our streets were thronged with people all day Saturday and until a late hour Saturday night. There was considerable drunkenness and rowdyism, and several free fights were indulged in. A number of arrests were made.

Mr. Marion Ogden, of the reportorial corps of the Pittsburgh Commercial-Gazette, is spending a portion of his summer vacation in Somerset. He is a genial gentleman and a first class newspaper man. The paper which he represents is one of the best dailies in Pennsylvania.

At the Somerset camp meeting, in Ferner's Grove, on Sabbath, the 20th inst., there were between twenty-five hundred and three thousand persons present. Every one seemed highly gratified with the services. Good order and a happy frame of mind were a marked feature of the assembly.

Remember an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure, and therefore see that your yard and alley are kept perfectly free of decayed vegetable matter, and your outhouses and cesspools are thoroughly cleansed. The health of yourself and neighbors should be your first care. Attend to this matter at once.

Our hotels were taxed to their utmost capacity on Sunday. The Somerset House furnished dinner for over two hundred and fifty persons besides their regular guests. Although George was taken slightly unawares, he proved equal to the emergency and served rations out with a liberal hand and in the most improved style.

Mr. "Seldimer" B. Harrison, the genial and gentlemanly clerk of the McClure House, Wheeling, W. Va., spent several days of last week in Somerset visiting his brother, Capt. C. J. Harrison. Sam is one of the boys, and is always sure of a warm welcome from his many friends and acquaintances in this place at any time he drops in upon them.

The concert given in the court house on Saturday evening by Mrs. Lillie Davis and her juvenile class, was a most enjoyable affair. Some of the songs sung by the children were very well rendered indeed. Mrs. Davis has a full, rich voice, well cultivated, and it is always a pleasure to hear her sing. She is a very successful musical instructor, and is greatly liked by all of her scholars.

The registration of medical practitioners in Pennsylvania shows that in round numbers there are sixty-five hundred registered physicians and five hundred who have not registered. Of those registered five hundred are graduates of colleges of the regular line and eight hundred and thirty-eight are graduates of any institution, but are permitted to register because they have been in practice since 1871.

In speaking of the passing of the river and harbor bill over the President's veto the Bedford Republican has this to say: The Republicans of our own District will be gratified to know that their representative, General Jacob M. Campbell, was among the number voting against the passage of the bill. General Campbell has always shown the integrity and independence to do right whether it was popular or unpopular and the courage to go before his constituents and give good reasons for his conduct.

The lightning has been doing considerable damage in various parts recently. But the calculation is, we believe, that only one person in twelve hundred thousand is ever struck by the electric current. So no particular alarm need be felt. Persons in exposed situations, under trees, or in a draft are in danger, but care and thought will generally prevent people from being in such situations. Barns, trees, cattle, oil tanks, etc., are frequently struck, and sometimes houses, but not often people. Some years, however, the danger seems to be greater than others, and this year is one of that sort.

Our hackmen reaped a rich harvest on Sunday. They legl everything they could procure on the road to the camp grounds from the spanking four horse teams and large 'bus down to one horse wagons without springs. Their charges were exhorbitant. Twenty-five cents each way or forty cents for the round trip was too much, and although there was considerable grumbling they had more than they could do and were unable to meet the demands made upon them. They drove their teams as though they never expected to drive them again, and still a great many had to walk who would have preferred to ride even if it was a little like the Jew's "smashing"—comprehensive.

DARING ROBBERY.—The past week has scored another daring robbery in Somerset county. This time Samuel Berkley, one of the most estimable farmers of Somerset township, is the victim, and thirteen hundred dollars the amount stolen. The money was kept in a trunk in the room where Mr. Berkey and his wife slept. No one but a little boy of eight years of age lives in the house with them. Sunday night their room was entered, the two old people drugged, and the trunk carried out of the house, where it was rifled of its contents and then thrown upon the wood pile. Mr. Berkey is one of the trustees of the Beam's Reformed church, and $400 of the money belonged to the church. Fifty six dollars of the money stolen belongs to Mrs. Sarah Brown, which Mr. Berkey held in trust for her. Great was the surprise of Mr. and Mrs. Berkey when awakening several hours later than usual on Monday morning they discovered that during the night their room had been entered and they had been robbed. Mr. Berkey has strong suspicions of the guilty parties, and it is hoped they will soon be brought to justice.

A white frost quite visible was reported at some localities on top of the Allegheny Mountains on Thursday morning of last week.

All sportsmen should remember that according to the game laws our State, no squirrel shooting is allowed until September first.

If you want dry goods, glassware, queensware, etc., the place to get them is at J. B. SNYDER & Co.'s.

A little seven-year-old girl, by the name of Barbour, who is spending the summer with her parents at the Somerset House, Monday afternoon fell from a swing and broke her left arm between the elbow and wrist.

FURNITURE.—Coffroth & Co., are now offering the largest and greatest variety of furniture for less money than ever sold before. We positively can and will undersell any one engaged in the business in this county.

Look to your interest and buy where you can to the best advantage, and get pure, fresh goods. In order to insure these two things we would advise our readers to buy their drugs, medicines, etc., at Campbell's 261 Main street. Call on him when in Johnstown, and you will be convinced that what we say is correct.

HARVEST-HOME PICNIC.—The Friedens' Annual Harvest-Home Picnic will be held in Mowry's Grove on September 2nd. Arrangements will be made to carry the provisions of any who may come by way of cars from station to grove. There will be a restaurant on the ground. The public generally are cordially invited.

Let every Republican who possibly can be present at the mass meeting to be held in the court house on Tuesday evening of court. The soldier's candidate for Governor, Gen. James A. Beaver, will be present. Several prominent speakers from abroad will also address the meeting. Turn out, boys, and let's have a regular old timer.

Messrs. Wayne & Berkebile extend a cordial invitation to all persons attending court to visit his mammoth furniture store, opposite the Central Hotel. They have the largest stock of furniture on hand that has ever been offered for sale in the county, and their prices are a surprise to everybody. Call and go through their immense room whether you wish to purchase or not.

HIGHWAY ROBBERY.—Mr. Ed. Daniels, resides in Jenner township and is engaged in the business of huxtering. In Johnstown he finds ready market for everything in the produce line that he is able to gather up. Sunday evening as he was nearing his home on his return trip he was suddenly stopped by three men who ordered him to stand and deliver. He delivered up all the spare cash he had about his clothes, to the amount of some twenty-seven dollars, when he was allowed to proceed on his homeward journey.

MR. EDITOR.—On the 12th of August the neighboring citizens of the Baptist church held a union celebration on the farm of Elder Levi Knepp, as a day of jollification of the good results of the Sunday school held by Elder K. during the summer. A free dinner for everybody was prepared by the ladies of the neighborhood. A large quantity of good things was furnished by the boys, consisting of candies, lemons, melons, etc. Several swings were erected twenty-six feet in length to swing the ladies and gentlemen. Several good lectures were made. Mr. Jonathan Meyers, of Sipesville, gave us a fine Sunday school lecture, for which he has the thanks of the neighborhood.

The annual camp meeting of the Evangelical Association of this district opened at the Association's new grounds on Saturday evening, and will continue over next Sunday. The camp grounds, which were recently purchased by the Association, are situate about three-fourths of a mile north of Somerset, and no more elegant or more suitably located spot could well be found. A high board fence encloses a beautiful grove covering several acres, upon which is a large spring of deliciously cool water. Quite a number of cottages have already been erected, and the grove is dotted with handsome canvass tents. A large covered pulpit is located near the centre of the ground facing south, in front of which are erected benches by the hundreds for the accommodation of the worshippers. Over 3,000 persons were on the grounds Sunday, and never before have we seen so large a crowd behave in so respectful and orderly a manner. The police regulations are admirable, and none but well behaved people are allowed to enter the enclosure. The sermon on Sunday morning was preached by the presiding elder, Rev. Boyer, who has a full, powerful voice, clear and distinct enunciation, well adapted for speaking in the open air. Not one in his vast audience on Sunday morning had the least difficulty in hearing every word of his most masterly sermon. In the evening the grounds were lighted up by torches and presented a most attractive and unique appearance. The sermon in the evening was also a very forcible one, and was appreciated by the large audience. An admission fee of ten cents is charged at the gate, and we understand that something like four hundred dollars was taken in on Sunday. The only draw back of the day was the lack of provisions at the boarding tents. The proprietors were not expecting so large a crowd, and were consequently not prepared for their entertainment. They did the best they could, however, and will not likely be taken unawares again. The celebrated female evangelist, Miss Sarilla Kring, will arrive today, (Tuesday) and will speak several times during the week. We are glad to see that the first meeting on the new grounds and under the new organization is being so successful, and wish the brethren God speed in their work.

It is with feelings of profound regret that we are called on to note the demise of Mrs. Nora C. Maize, wife of Wm. H. Maize, one of the night chief operators of the Western Union Telegraph office, Pittsburgh. Mrs. Maize died on Monday, August 14th, at midnight, her death having for its cause typhoid fever. She was well known in Somerset, the place of her birth, where she passed the greater portion of her life, and it would seem almost like an idle task to recite in these lines her many excellent qualities as a daughter, sister and friend, to those who knew and loved her so well. She was the daughter of Judge Charles Kimmel, of this place, and at the time of her death was in her twenty-ninth year. She was married in 1877, and it seems as though it were but a short time ago since she went to the Distillery shown attended by many friends, for who was there of Somerset extraction who did not esteem and love her! to take upon herself the holy bonds of wedlock. To-day a grief-stricken husband, a motherless child, her kindred and friends, mourn deeply her passing away, just when life was opening up new vistas of happiness. As a daughter she was a child who honored her parents. As a sister and friend she was loving, steadfast and true, ever ready to soothe the burdens of others. For all she had a kindly word and a smile of encouragement. Possessed of a mind characterized by its modest sensibility and a heart overflowing with goodness, she was the friend of all who had her acquaintance. She was known for her piety, and in the devout walks of life was unfailing and unremitting in modestly carrying out the precepts of the Master. In her married life she was a true wife, a tender mother, and the society of her home was ever brightened by her love. That home is now desolate, but to all those who are bowed with grief comes the thought that their loss is her gain, and that she is now in communion with the angels. We join with all in extending to her family our sincere sympathy in this their hour of affliction.

Rev. L. L. Sieber will hold communion services and deliver his farewell sermon at Lavansville, on next Sabbath, 27th inst., at 10 o'clock a. m. Preparatory services Saturday at 2 p. m.

PEACHES.—Car load choice freestones, to arrive Monday or Tuesday of next week. Send in your orders at once.

A CARD.—Will all persons who are in arrears on their subscriptions to the Stoyestown Evangelical Church, please leave the amount with Dr. G. E. Conrad, or pay to the undersigned, no later than Aug. 30th, 1882.

A. S. BAUMGARDNER.

August 10th, 1882.

Mr. John S. Shafer has taken the agency for the sale of that wonderful natural fertilizer, Fossil Marl, in this county, and farmers who wish to get the best possible fertilizer in the market, and one that will not injure their land, will do well to make a thorough examination of Fossil Marl before purchasing. Call on or address John S. Shafer, Somerset, Pa. Don't forget that it is the cheapest A No. 1 Fertilizer in the market, selling at only $20 per ton. Agents wanted in every township at a good percentage.

A windfall happened Edward Murphy, an old gentleman of this vicinity, last Friday afternoon, in the shape and to the extent of eleven hundred dollars, six hundred of which was in gold coin and the remainder in paper money, part of which was on broken banks. More than a quarter of a century ago, the lucky man bought a number of old building logs and put up a shanty in what is now called East Greensburg, in close proximity to the culvert of the Pennsylvania railroad. Mr. M. continued occupying the building until last week, when he changed his residence to a new frame dwelling which he had recently erected; after which, on the day stated, he commenced tearing down the old structure, and in doing so, one of the logs, many of which had become rotten, broke in two, and out rolled, to the utter amazement of the owner and others, the sum above stated. The money was quickly gobbled up and placed, we understand, in one of our banking institutions for safe keeping.—Greensburg Democrat.

TRIBUTE OF RESPECT.—At a meeting of the Beam Sunday school August 13th, the following tribute of respect to the memory of Flora Elizabeth and Elmer Hays Coleman, scholars of the Beam Sunday school, was adopted:

WHEREAS, It hath pleased God, the Father of us all, in His infinite wisdom, to remove from us our fellow scholars, therefore

Resolved, That whilst we lament our loss, we nevertheless bow in humble submission to the will of God, knowing that what is our loss is their eternal gain and feel admonished to more earnest activity in our Christian calling.

Resolved, That we tenderly condole with the beloved foster family and mother of the children in their hour of trial and affliction and devoutly commend them to Him who orders all things for our good and for His glory.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be handed to the family of the deceased, and that they be sent to the Messenger and the county papers for publication.

The North American Review for September has for its leading article a very forcible presentment, by Dorman B. Eaton, of the evils produced by the practice of levying "Political Assessments." The paper is noteworthy for its striking array of facts, but more so because it will be universally regarded as the ultimatum of a large and influential section of the Republican Party addressed to the party leaders. "Oaths in Legal Proceedings," by Judge Edward A. Thomas, is a discussion of the question whether the interests of morality and of public justice alike, would not be promoted by the abrogation of all laws requiring testimony to be given under the sanction of an oath. Thompson B. Maury, late of the Signal Office, contributes an article on "Tornadoes and their Causes," which, in addition to its scientific interest, possesses the merit of suggesting many practical measures for averting disaster to life and property from wind-storms. "Architecture in America," by Clarence Cook, is marked by a freedom of utterance that is refreshing. In this respect it deserves to rank with Commander Gorringe's celebrated paper on the United States Navy. Augustus G. Cobb writes of "Earth-Burial and Cremation," and J. F. Manning, in an article entitled "The Geneva Award and the Ship-Owners," sets forth the justice of the claims of consignors of cargoes and owners of vessels to indemnification out of the Geneva Award fund, for losses from the acts of Confederate cruisers. The Review is sold by booksellers and newsdealers generally.

TOPEKA, KANSAS, August 8, 1882.

ED. HERALD—Having spent some time in this thriving western city—the capital of the State—a line may interest your readers. Topeka has 20,000 inhabitants, and is growing very fast. We had the pleasure of seeing the first experiment made in throwing water from the new Water works. According to programme, hose was attached to all the water plugs on the main streets, and at a given time, 10 o'clock to-day, a large number of water spouts could be seen ascending higher than the highest buildings, and as the water descended to the streets and pavements in spray, beautiful miniature rainbows could be seen on the sidewalks, and in an instance a rainbow could be seen on a street car which had halted near one of the streams of water.

At this time the hotels are crowded with delegates to the Republican convention which is to convene to-day at 4 p. m. The temperance people are pushing Governor St. John for a "third term," while the delegates who are blessed with "red noses"—former hard drinkers—are bitterly opposed to St. John and "third termism." Perhaps some of the learned legal profession of Somerset could explain why a "red nosed" Kansas delegate should so bitterly oppose Governor St. John having a third term, as St. John is a great temperance lecturer, and, by the way, when he makes a speech he don't pander to the whiskey element lest he loose a vote, and is not the kind of a politician that would have a keg of whiskey concealed in every back shed and stable near the polls on election day.

The foundation is just being laid for the main wing to the State capitol building. The building, when completed, will resemble the National Capitol at Washington. We noticed a large number of relics that were on exhibition in the Kansas and Colorado building at the centennial exposition. Many of your readers will remember the "big hill" of corn that stood near the entrance of that building. We remember plucking a few grains of corn from it from which we afterwards raised several very large specimens. Well, that old veteran hill of corn is to be seen in the capitol building at Topeka—the cobs minus any corn.

"The flags of all nations," which floated from top of the Kansas-Colorado building at Philadelphia can be seen here in a large glass case but they are badly moth eaten. A fine agricultural collection as well as mineral and stuffed animals and birds, many of them that were seen at the centennial State building, are here.

Occasionally an Indian of the Shawnee tribe is seen riding into town clad in the traditional leggings and loose dress or coat made of some material of flashy color, his hair hanging down his back in a long plait, and as he passes his white acquaintances salutes them with an abrupt "how."

Fruit is plentiful in Kansas this season. Farmers in the Republican Valley are offering to contract peaches at 25 cents per bushel.

We noticed Topeka has quite a number of colored policemen. The colored people of Kansas have been pushing their claim to have a congressman at large.

MAC.

Our well-known townsman, Mr. Daniel Flick, has lately received quite a curiosity in the shape of a new musical instrument. It is known by the somewhat euphonious name of an "organette." At the request of Mr. Flick, a number of our young gentlemen, as well as several visitors who are spending the summer here, paid a visit to his establishment on Saturday evening, and made an examination of this most recent production of the inventive spirit of the age. None of the party had ever seen the instrument, nay, even heard of it, although one of the gentlemen who was of a studious turn of mind, stated that he had seen it commented upon in a high scientific periodical. Mr. Flick, who has made an especial study of the "organette" and has thoroughly mastered the principles by means of which its intricate mechanism is rendered susceptible of producing beautiful melodies, took great pleasure in explaining to his visitors how a modest looking box with a row of wooden teeth attached to a cylindrical block of wood, set in revolution by means of an ingeniously contrived crank, could make the circumambient air thrill with delightful music. The toothed cylinder acts upon a long strip of perforated paper, the perforations varying in size according to the length of the notes—the strip of paper moving synochronously with a subsidiary cylinder. As Mr. Flick proceeded with his exceedingly comprehensive explanation of the merits of the "organette," he was greeted with exclamations of wonder from those present, and all joined in marveling that such a simple yet withal ingenious source of melody as the "organette" should not have been known in Pittsburgh, Cincinnati, Wheeling, and other centres where the charms of music are appreciated.

But it was not until Mr. Flick set the machinery in motion that the amazement of the spectators reached its climax. Amazement, however, was quickly succeeded by delight as the delicious strains of "Baby Mine" swelled upon the silent evening air.

As Mr. Flick wound the crank with a careful hand and an honest appreciation of the beautiful, a strange dreamy sense of calm stole over his devoted auditors. Beginning with a soft, tender prelude that suggested the gentle dulcet sighing of the south wind through a bed of violets, the concords gradually swelled into a grand fortissimo burst of melody, and the bewitching cadences of the theme unraveled themselves like a string of fairy pearls, gleaming with the matchless fire of genius, holding the artistic, or rather æsthetic senses of those present rapt with admiration. When they had, in some degree, recovered from the sensuous and dreamlike beauties which Mr. Flick called forth from the "organette," he favored them with the "Moonlight Waltz," then "Come where my love lies dreaming," "Lanigan's Ball," a selection from "Parsival," and quite a number of other popular melodies. At the suggestion of one of the party that the residents of Somerset should be given an opportunity to enjoy the lovely music of the "organette," Mr. Flick very kindly consented to give some of the citizens a serenade. Accordingly the party adjourned to the street, and repairing to the residences of several prominent citizens, the "organette" was placed on a stand, and by the refulgent rays of a dark lantern, Mr Flick again wound the crank of the latest musical curiosity, and those who were the recipients of the compliment in the shape of a serenade were aroused from their slumbers by strains of melody which one gentleman subsequently said reminded him of the music of an Æolian harp.

All expressed themselves as being intensely delighted with the "organette," and look forward with feelings of pleasure to another musicale at which the "organette" shall be the piece d'resistance.

Mr. Flick having made an especial study of the "organette," he is of course thoroughly conversant with its parts, and his explanation of the mechanical process whereby the instrument keeps perfect time, is at once interesting and edifying to all who appreciate the importance of correct time in music.

Straws show which way the wind blows. "Hello, Fisk, another new suit! Golly, what are you doing now?"

"Why, Jonas, I am doing what I always did; why?"

"Oh, nothing; only you always wear made up suits, and I see now you have a regular custom made suit. Thought you had got into better business. Ha, ha, ha! Fisk, let me tell you something, have you been at J. B. Snyder & Co.'s lately?"

"No."

"Well, I was in there a few weeks ago and I was surprised; there was no clothing in the store at all. I asked J. B. whether they were going to quit the clothing business. He says yes, summer clothing, and told me to call in a few days and see some new suits that they had made to order, special. Well, I went there a few days after, then I was surprised to see the piles of clothing, all new and the latest styles, and all the best makes of cloth, Harris, Sterling, Bullocks, Carnels, etc. Say, Fisk, why is it those fellows never have any old suits on hand? The other merchants have piles and piles of old clothing laying around for years, and of course they always try to sell you the oldest thing in the house."

"Well, Jonas, the reason I buy from J. B. Snyder & Co., is because I can save from 10 to 25 per cent., and that, as you say, they never have any old clothing they try to stick you with."

The above is a fair sample of the talk you generally hear, and we can say there is more truth than poetry in it.

THE DISTINGUISHING CHARM.—A delightful lingering of freshly gathered flowers and spices is the distinguishing charm of Florentine Cologne.

Morrison & Lyon's Cough Syrup, Liniment, Horse and Cattle Powder have by their goodness, gained a large sale. The size and price suits me. Also try Ramsdell's Worm Syrup.

BEAUTY RESTORED.—The beauty and color of the hair may be safely regained by using Parker's Hair Balsam, admired for its perfume, and dandruff eradicating properties.

I would respectfully inform my friends of Somerset county that I have opened a new drug store on the Main Street, Johnstown, Pa., where I would be pleased to see them. My stock consists of Pure Drugs, Chemicals, Patent Medicines, Dye Stuffs, Perfumery and Fancy Goods generally. At this season I would call attention to the insecticides, such as Pure Paris Green, Pure Powdered White Hellebore, Persian Insect Powder, etc. When in need of anything in the drug line come and see me or write for prices. All inquiries cheerfully answered.
