GOOD WORDS FOR ALL

John B. Hay

In speaking of a person's faults, Pray don't forget your own, Remember those with houses of glass Should neverthrow a stone. If we have nothing else to do Than talk of those who siu;

Yes, brethren, we commence at home And from that point begin. We have no right to judge a man Until he's fairly tried : Should we not like his company We know the world is wide. RANGES, STOVES and HOUSE-FURNISHING GOODS IN GENERAL

Some may have faults, and who has no The old as well as young; Perhaps we may, for aught we know Have lifty to their one.

I'll tell you of a better plan, That I find works quite well; To try my own defects to cure, Ere others faults to tell. And though I sometimes hope to be No worse than some I know,

My own shortcomings bid me tell The faults of others go. Then let us all when we begin To slander friend or foe, Think of the harm our work may do To those we little know,

Remember sometimes curses like Our chickens, roost at home; Don't speak of others faults until We have none of our own.
