REV. A. CAMERON,
Somerset.

The Somerset county Independents don't have "bosses;" they have "Generals."

Col. James M. Reid, of Dunbar, Fayette county, and Mr. George W. Hursh, of Newville, Cumberland county, spent several days of last week in Somerset.

It is just possible that "Fess" saw double the night of the Independent meeting, but we thought he had stopped that sort of thing.

This is the month of agricultural fairs and great political meetings. The indications are that it will be well improved in both re- spects this year.

It was only a few short weeks since that the editor of the Meyersdale Commercial "thanked God that the firm hand of Chair- man Pile still held the reins."

Mr. Jeremiah Wey has moved his sad- dlery into the basement of the Glade House, where he will remain until his new build- ing is completed on Main Cross street.

Quite a number of the Poor Directors from different sections of the State have al- ready put in an appearance for their con- vention, which is to meet in Somerset to- day, (Tuesday).

The brick work on the new school build- ing is finished, and the carpenters are now at work on the roof and belfry. It will hardly be ready for occupancy by the time the fall term opens.

The Democratic papers in this State are engaged in publishing portraits of the State candidates of that party. Some of them are fearful dudes, looking like a darkey with the small pox.

The Independent trudges along as the re- serve of the Democratic army, the latter all the time laughing and rubbing his hands with glee at the sight of his ludicrous figure, and yet kindly merry over the support he gives.

The Meyersdale Commercial twits the HER- ALD for spelling baron with two r's, and in the same item spells Runnymede with one n. You ought to have had the "General" read your proof, Louther. He knows all about Runnymede.

An exchange furnishes the following beautiful and touching epitaph: "Here lies a man whose crown was won by blowing in an empty gun. No sooner in the gun he blew than up the golden stairs he flew, and met the girl on heaven's green who lit the fire with kerosene."

School teachers who are in the habit of pulling pupils' ears should take warning. At a post mortem examination of a Phila- delphia boy who died last week the verdict was rendered that death was caused by pyaemia, which probably resulted from a severe pull on the ear received about a year ago.

Hon. John Hanna, one of the oldest and most highly respected citizens of Somerset county, died at his residence near Harmeds- ville, at 9 o'clock Sunday morning. Mr. Hanna was in the eighty-eighth year of his age, and had filled many positions of trust and honor in the county. His funeral took place on Monday afternoon, and was largely attended.

Ex-Judge Hall and W. H. Koontz ad- dressed the Independent Republican meet- ing at Bedford last week. They are a strong team of typical reformers. The one has just relinquished a fifteen year lease of of- fice at the hands of the Republican party, and the other has held the office of district attorney twice, clerk to the county com- missioners, prothonotary, was a candidate for State Senator and was elected to Con- gress twice by the same Republican party. If they are not entitled to be Independents who are?

Rev. E. A. and Anthony Knupp, of Jef- ferson township, one day last week came across a den of rattle snakes in the moun- tains, and in fifteen minutes' time succeed- ed in killing one hundred and fifty of the varmints. How many more they could have killed they do not know, as there were still quite a large number of live snakes on the ground when the gentlemen withdrew. Judging from the rattles some of them were over twenty years old, while others were not over a year old.

HE WASN'T THERE.—The following card from ex-Associate Judge Daniel Stuffi ex- poses the trick played by the Independents at their recent meeting and sets at least one more honest man right before the people. Judge Stuffi is too good a Republican and too true a man to lend himself to any such base attempt to betray the party which has so highly honored him and whose princi- ples he has so long and ably advocated.

JENNER X ROADS, Sept. 18, 1882.

Editor Herald:—In reading the proceed- ings of the political meetings at Somerset on Court week, that ex-Prothonotaries, ex- Recorders, ex-Commissioners and ex-Asso- ciate Judges were named as Vice Presidents of the Independent meeting. I want to say just here that I was not there, neither did I intend to be, and, therefore, I do not wish that my sentiments be thus misrepresented before the people of Somerset county. This is all at present. DANIEL STUFFI.

P. S.—If any further information is desir- ed on the subject let any one call on me and I will give in detail my political pro- clivities. D. S.

STATE FAIR AND EXPOSITION.—This week the exhibition of the Pennsylvania State Agricultural and the Pittsburgh Exposition societies will open. The entries having closed, the officers of both societies are very much gratified to announce that every avail- able foot of space in the vast building has been taken up and will be filled with ex- hibits of the most interesting character. Every description of machinery will be on exhibition and constantly in motion. Here will be found the ponderous engines, the sturdy brick and tile machine, and from these to the most delicate pieces of mechan- ism engaged in the manufacture of silk and many other beautiful and intricate products. The displays of agricultural implements, silver-ware, jewelry, wearing apparel, etc., will be of the most expensive and beautiful kind. The floral display, both of plants and cut flowers, will be the best ever shown, while the floral designs will be of a more magnificent character than was ever before attempted in Western Pennsylvania. The decorations are decidedly of a superior char- acter, and add greatly to the already attrac- tive appearance of the building.

The display in the live stock department will be immense, and it is asserted that the exhibit of straight horses will be the largest and best ever given in this country, as will be that of the thoroughbreds. There, to- gether with the coach, carriage, harness and fine leather goods, all of themselves make a splendid show.

The herds of short horns, Devons, Jer- seys, Guernseys, Ayrshires, Holsteins and other breeds will be represented by the best stock in the country, filling every stall— including the large number of additional ones erected since last year's show. The dis- plays of swine will include the choicest breeds to be found in this and adjoining States. In sheep the number and quality will be greatly superior to that of any pre- vious year, and will be a decidedly fine showing of all the finest breeds. The poul- try will far exceed last year's display. It will embrace nearly again as many coops and much finer stock. Three persons have entered nearly two hundred coops of as fine birds as were ever shown. This is entirely in addition to the numerous other exhibi- tors. Over one hundred coops will be filled with every imaginable variety of pigeons. In fact, the combined exhibition will be of a character that will gratify the most exact- ing of critics, and show them away with a satisfied and elevated idea of the value and importance of such an exhibition to the en- tire State.

The music furnished will be by the cele- brated Great Western band (18th regiment). Excursion tickets at low rates will be issued by all the railroads, so that everyone will have an opportunity to see the great show, and the last combined exhibition that will be held in this section of the State, as the State society will doubtless move eastward next year, and it will probably be a long time before that institution will again get to Pittsburgh.

THE TWO GENERALS,

Koontz & Coffroth,

Hold Their Conventions and Practically Nominate the Same Ticket.

The Bargain Made. Can the Goods be Delivered?

THE INDEPENDENT PRIMARIES.

According to announcement made many weeks previous Saturday, August 9th, was the day fixed whereon the great reformers of Somerset county, the sore heads, the men who had "grievances," who had been elected to office by the Republicans of the county, or who had been disappointed in their political aspirations were to meet at the various polling places and there deposit their ballots for delegates who, a few days later, were to assemble in convention and place in nomination a ticket that, in No- vember, would "sweep the county like a western cyclone." For days prior to the eventful Saturday, runners were sent out from the "General's" headquarters to many of the large Republican townships, where the Independents were not wont to increase and multiply, to try and hunt up some one with a "grievance," who would come as a delegate to the convention. No runners were sent out from the Democratic Gener- al's headquarters, but winged messengers in the shape of carefully worded letters were sent to the trusted "Coffroth Republicans," urging them to turn out to the primaries, or if no primary was held in their precincts to come as delegates. We have no means of ascertaining the exact number of votes polled, but from what information we have we are safe in saying that in spite of the strenuous efforts made to induce Republi- cans, Democrats and boys to vote there were not over 200 ballots cast in the county, in- cluding those cast by proxy. In over one- half of the voting precincts they were una- ble to hold an election, and in some of the others the only votes cast were those of the delegates who voted for themselves. In two or three townships the proxy business was brought into play, one man casting votes for all the presumed Independents in his precinct.

GEN. KOONTZ'S CONVENTION.

At 11 o'clock Tuesday morning the "del- egates," to the number of thirty-five, includ- ing those who had been elected the Saturday previous, those who had elected themselves, those who had been elected by proxy, those who appointed themselves and came with no constituency behind them, and those who came to town on other business and when here were induced to attend the "con- vention," met in the court house, and, we are told, for be it remembered the convention sat with closed doors, and unless one was able to exhibit a sore head, a certificate of having held office, or produce satisfactory proof of having been at least once defeated for office, he was refused admittance, was called to order by "Chairman" George J. Hilbert. Among those present ex- Sheriff Knepper was singled out as the most fitting to preside over their de- liberations, he having held the office of Sheriff for three years, during which time it was the best paying office in the county. As no one else had a "grievance" that would size up to this, he was unanimously elected President. Two young men, not delegates, but with "grievances," were se- lected as Secretaries, and two more, not delegates, but who had recently been de- feated for county offices, were appointed as doorkeepers. After organization the Con- vention spent an hour or more in the harm- less pastime of appointing Committees, and Congressional and Senatorial Conferees. Just who the Conferees were to confer with was not stated, but it is presumed with the two Generals. The conferees having been appointed, the work laid out for the morn- ing session was over, and an adjournment was had for dinner and instructions. During the recess both Generals were waited upon by the members of the Convention in twos and in fours. The "Scientific" General re- newed his pledges and swore a grizzly oath over and over again that if they nominated two of their men for the Legislature he would see that his Convention, which was to meet on the Monday following, would make no nominations and that he would vote every d—d Democrat in the county for their men, providing always that they in return cast the vote of every man with a "grievance" for him, the "scientific" for Congress. The propositions advanced by the "Scientific" General were submitted to General Koontz and he pronounced them good and ordered his delegates to re-assemble forthwith. During the recess a movement was set on foot to nominate Jonas M. Cook and H. J. Blough for the Legislature, but both of these gentlemen refused to accept. The nominations were tendered to several other gentlemen and strenuous and persist- ent efforts were made to have them accept but without avail. A committee was ap- pointed to wait upon the General and re- quest him to come over and name his men. The committee returned with the General who were told made a "ringing speech" and Martin V. Sorber, of the borough of Stoys- town, because he had a "grievance" and Rev. J. L. W. Seibert, of Milford, for with him they hoped to catch the vote of the Evangelical Association, were immedi- ately nominated for the Legislature, and the Regular nominee for Poor House Director, Mr. Jesse Hoover and for Jury Commissioner Mr. Charles Hayman were endorsed. This was done after because there were none of their number who were willing to accept a nomination for these of- fices, or because they wanted to have an op- portunity of voting for at least two men who will be elected. Ex-Associate Judge and ex-Member of the Legislature C. C. Musselman made a few brief remarks after which it is said the convention adjourned with three cheers. The cheers must have been given sub rosa as they were not heard in the offices below. We had almost forgot- ten to state that a very small man, with a very large "grievance," he having been de- feated for district attorney two years ago, was elected Chairman of the County Com- mittee.

GEN. COFFROTH'S CONVENTION.

The unwashed and unterrified came to town Monday morning in pairs and quickly as possible made their way to their Gener- al's office, where they were greeted with a hearty shake of the hand by the genial "scientific." A majority of them had been seen before hand and told what they were to do. On this class but little time was wasted. After a few jocular remarks they were turned over to the lieutenants, to talk about the weather, but whenever a straight out Democrat, a man who was a Democrat from principle, who owned him- self and was not a party to the bargain and sale that was going on came in, he was quickly whisked into the inner office and was told what was what. The Sena- torial candidates, Messrs. Uhl and Groff, were on the street busily engaged in hob- nobbing delegates as quickly as they were dismissed by the General, and it was not until towards noon that his finely laid scheme was unearthed, and Uhl discovered how basely he had been betrayed and deceived. The General, while openly professing to favor Uhl's nomination had all the while been setting up the pins for Groff and in such a way that they couldn't well be bowled down. Notwithstanding the fact that the General's word had been pledged sometime beforehand that there should be no Legislative ticket nominated, many of his Independent friends were afraid he couldn't carry out this part of the contract and during the morning the light-weight leaders flitted around his office uneasily and talked to delegates whenever they could. Although their work had kindly been done for them days and weeks before- hand there was almost a full set of delegates present at the Convention, which was called to order at 11 o'clock P. M., by Chairman Fisher. We were told by one of the mem- bers of the Convention that the reason for the large turnout was due to the fact that many of the delegates had been paid to come, owing to the General fearing he was going to have some difficulty with the Legislative question. The HERALD reporter was refused a ticket of admission to the Convention, as it sat with closed doors, but we are told that the machine had been well oiled and was in good running order. The General had the work laid out, the res- olutions written and the officers selected be- forehand. Three Congressional conferees, instructed for Coffroth, were elected after which a resolution declaring it inexpedient to nominate Legislative candidates was whipped through before many of the dele- gates knew what was going on. The big part of the work was now over, and the Senatorial question was called up. At this juncture an unexpected bomb was thrown into the camp in the shape of a racy letter from Mr. Uhl, in which he declined to allow his name to go before the Convention and told the immaculate General and his sub- servient henchmen some very plain truths, among others that the members of that body were not free agents, but were acting under instructions from Boss Coffroth. We tried to procure a copy of this letter for publication but Chairman Fisher politely declined to give it us, saying that it had gone fishing. Groff was declared the choice of the Convention for Senator on the first ballot. Chairman Fisher was nominated for Jury Commissioner and George W. Baush, of Quemahoning, for Poor Director. A. H. Coffroth Jr., a nephew of the General's was elected County Chairman for the ensuing year, after which the Convention adjourned. After adjournment the General repaired to his office, where he was quickly called upon by General Koontz and many of his half- breed friends and congratulated upon the "scientific" manner in which he had run his convention and fulfilled his part of the contract up to date. As we said before General Coffroth has sold the solid Dem- ocratic vote of Somerset county on the Legislative question to the Independent leaders the price to be paid in Independent votes for General Coffroth for Congress. The Generals have made their bargain, have fixed their price. It remains for the Dem- ocratic and Independent voters of the coun- ty to say whether they can deliver the goods.

The North American Review for October opens with an article on "The Coming Rev- olution in England," by H. M. Hyndman, the English radical leader, giving an in- structive account of the agitation now going on among the English working classes for a reconstruction of the whole politico-social fabric of that country. O. B. Frothingham writes of "The Objectionable in Literature," and endeavors to point out the distinction between literature which is per se corrupt- ing, and that which is simply coarse. Dr. Henry Schliemann tells the interesting story of one year's "Discoveries at Troy." Sena- tor John I. Mitchell, of Pennsylvania, treats of the rise and progress of the rule of "Po- litical Bosses." Prof. George L. Vose, of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, con- tributes an article of exceptional value on "Safety in Railway Travel;" and Prof. Chas. S. Sargent, of the Harvard College Arboret- um, contributes an instructive essay on "The Protection of Forests." The Review is sold by booksellers and newsdealers gen- erally.

ED. HERALD.—The account as given by your correspondent in last week's HERALD of the meeting of the Independent party on the 6th inst. is correct as far as it goes, but it don't go far enough. It has been ascertain- ed from the most reliable sources that the following resolution was introduced and unanimously rejected:

Resolved, That we heartily sympathize with the seven Democrats on the outside, and that we invite them into the shop to participate in our deliberations.

This provoked quite an animated discus- sion. The first speaker said as our sympa- thies are with them he could see no solid reason why they shouldn't be admitted. The second speaker, quite overcome, said the only objection he had to their admission was their dishonesty, and their training un- der Boss Coffroth. He called attention to the fact that the caucus had already adopted a resolution affirming their honesty, and by admitting members of a corrupt party they would stultify themselves and bring reform into disrepute. The third speaker pointed out the fact that if they were admitted they could outvote us and thus frustrate all our efforts at civil service reform. This seemed the weightiest argument thus far produced, and many of the members were visibly af- fected. Another speaker, full of suppress- ed emotions, proposed to admit them on probation, when the whole audience bounced on their feet solemnly protesting against converting a reform caucus into a common Methodist meeting, which settled him for the remainder of the evening. After order was restored, one of the older and more ex- perienced—one who had trained under the old Boss in former days—inquired whether the corrupt fellows had any desire to come into a caucus where honesty reigned su- preme, and suggested that the chair appoint him a committee to inquire into the matter, which was done as he requested.

While this discussion was going on with- in the caucus, some of Cameron's tools were around on the outside, with their pockets lined with corruption funds and proposed to set it up. Now when the committee found them they were all behind a board pile tap- ping a keg, and cheering most vociferously for the old Boss, and swearing that if ever Don, the young Boss, would run for office, they would support him to a man. When the committee returned to the caucus shop —very reluctantly, however, as he had full view of the keg—made a report in accord- ance with the above facts, and moved an immediate adjournment. The president, however, first took a vote on the resolution, which was rejected. The meeting then ad- journed, many of the members being en- tirely overcome.

FAIRVIEW ITEMS.—The picnic at this place passed off smoothly. Rev. J. C. Shunk ad- dressed the audience, and after the address some excellent music was furnished by the choir.

J. H. Miller is putting his Blandy saw mill at Roena. He expects to remain du- ring the coming fall. Messrs. J. C. Shunk and I. C. Gorsuch are setting the mill up at Roena. They expect to do a good business. Mr. Gorsuch is an expert sawyer, and will give $50 for the man who can saw more and better lumber in ten hours than he.

Simon Conly, who is employed by Levi Lee in driving a team, says he has hauled 2,000 ties for Mr. Lee.

Mr. Amos Shunk, who has been foreman of the log gang at J. H. Miller's saw mill for some time, has purchased a bee hive, and expects to raise his own honey.

Mr. A. W. Snyder says that Milford town- ship produces more blackberries than any other township in the county, and we have no reason to doubt Mr. Snyder's word, as he visits Milford frequently.

TRIBUTE OF RESPECT.—The following reso- lutions were adopted by Ursina Lodge, No. 868, I. O. O. F., on September 16, 1882:

WHEREAS, It has pleased the Almighty Ruler of the universe in his alwise provi- dence to remove from us by the hand of death the wife of Bro. Andrew McClintock: therefore be it

Resolved, That, while we reverently bow and submit to the will of the Master, we feel the death of Mrs. McClintock, who was an upright and conscientious friend and neighbor, a faith- ful and christian woman.

2d. That we tender to the bereaved hus- band and family our warmest sympathy, conscious that no words of condolence can heal death's wounds, but commend them to the Father of all mercies.

3d. That a copy of these resolutions be entered upon the minutes of our lodge, a copy sent to the county papers, and a copy be presented to the family of the deceased.

JOHN S. HARBAUGH,
B. F. SNYDER,
W. L. KUHLMAN,
Committee.

The Altoona Tribune says: Last Thursday evening Archie Craigg, colored, and Miss Palmer, daughter of M. Palmer, were mar- ried in the Episcopal church, Lewistown, after which they returned to the residence of the bride's parents, where a large number of colored and white friends had gathered to partake of a choice repast which had been prepared for the occasion. The party had just seated themselves at the festal board when a colored lady and gentleman weigh- ing about three hundred respectively enter- ed the room, whereupon the floor suddenly gave way, carrying the entire company, to- gether with the eatables, furniture, etc., to the cellar below, a distance of about eight feet, mixing the black and white together promiscuously. Except one young colored man named Brown, who had his arm dislo- cated, and some others receiving minor bruises, no person was injured. The organ fell upon the bride and a can of ice cream standing in the room alighted upon the groom, causing him to look quite white.

SOMERSET, Sept. 15, 1882.

To the Honorable Chief Burgess of the Borough of Somerset:

We, the members of the Woman's Chris- tian Temperance Union of Somerset, recog- nizing that in you is vested the authority to preserve the peace and quiet of our borough, would most respectfully call your attention to the frequent appearance of persons, of late, on the Sabbath, as well as other days, in a state of intoxication; whose conduct is not only frequently annoying and offensive to those who reverence the sacredness of the day, but also a terror to unprotected women who may have occasion to pass them on the street.

We, therefore respectfully and yet most earnestly pray that when such cases occur in the future, that you will promptly exer- cise the authority in you vested, thus mak- ing the law as it ought to be—a terror to evil-doers and a conservator of the morals of the community.

If it continues getting much cooler, over- coats must soon come to the front.

Last week quite a number of our young- sters enjoyed themselves at the big show in Somerset.

We have had no frost during this season, and neither do we care about having one any ways soon.

First September frosts, next mild October, then dull November, and last of all Decem- ber's snow frosts.

As improvements are being almost daily made in modern inventions, so are improve- ments being made on the respective farms in this vicinity.

We expect, some of these days, to see a wonderful railroad constructed along the Laurel Hill creek, and we would accordingly advise you all to keep a look out for it.

Our city boarders, like those of Somerset, have concluded to return to their homes, but we are still prepared to entertain all who may purpose coming here to spend a Fall vacation.

Since nothing has lately been said with regard to the success of our sportsmen, we would advise them to wake up, and at once proceed to open fire upon the game of the forest, of which there is an abundance.

One of our young gents recently invested a portion of his surplus capital in a fine new organ. He has also purchased a No. 1 book- case, and we doubt not that he intends to further invest in the purchase of some val- uable books, in order to become either a lawyer or a Congressman—or both.

As the coming winter season is to be an unusually severe one, as predicted by Prof. Henry G. Vennor, the Canadian weather prophet; and while investigation is being almost constantly made, in all directions, would not some daring, thoroughgoing ad- venturer undertake to discover a few more coal mines, or about two or three for every farm in this vicinity, so as to provide an un- usually large quantity of this valuable min- eral, as well as to somewhat reduce the rates at which it usually sells.

VANDERBILT.

The best stock of heating and cooking stoves in the county are to be seen at the hardware and tin store of John H. Miller. They will be sold very cheap.

Go to Wayne & Berkebile's to buy your furniture—the cheapest place in the State, Main street, opposite the Central Hotel, Somerset, Pa.

FOUND.—On the road between Daniel Col- man's and Berlin, a red morocco pocket- book. Owner can have it by proving prop- erty and paying charges. Address John N. Meyers, Somerset, Pa.

Parties desiring to purchase new stoves or wanting old ones repaired, will do well to consult John H. Miller at once, so as to avoid the rush and inconvenience that al- ways accompanies the first cold snap.

H. H. Smith, representing the Bittner factory of Brothersvalley township, visited Somerset the other day with a large line of their famous goods. H. H. is a jolly, good boy, who reports business as unusually good, and says that one firm has offered to take all the goods they can manufacture.

The Democratic county conventy held here on Monday was detained for a short time to give delegates an opportunity to visit Wayne & Berkebile's commodious furniture store on Main street, opposite Central Ho- tel, Somerset.

Mr. John H. Miller has added a 5 and 10 cent counter to his already large store. It is surprising the large number of beautiful and useful articles that can be bought at this place. Call and see it before the choic- est pieces have been purchased.

Mr. C. B. Litinger, Johnstown's clever gen- man, visited Somerset last week to make ar- rangements with a number of our business men to transfer goods from one Johnstown railroad station to another. He came re- commended by a number of the best busi- ness men of Johnstown, who bear strong testimony as to his promptness and reliabil- ity. Parties desiring his services can address him by postal card at Johnstown. All charges moderate.

Wm. H. Hay, of Elklick, a delegate to the Democratic convention held in this place on Monday, bought a fine book-case and secre- tary from Wayne & Berkebile, Main street, opposite Central Hotel, Somerset.

The Board of School Directors of Jenner township will employ fifteen competent teachers for the ensuing term on September 28th. Wages $30 and less.

By order of the Board,

J. J. SHAFFER,
Secretary.

Morrison & Bro.'s Cough Syrup, Lini- ment, Horse and Cattle Powder have, by their goodness, gained a large sale. The size and price suits me. Also try Bum- stead's Worm Syrup.

To Republicans, Independents and Dem- ocrats—We have just received the biggest lot of full marble top, walnut chamber suits ever brought to Somerset county, which we have reduced twenty per cent. in price. Come to see us—opposite Central Hotel Main street, Somerset.

Look to your interest and buy where you can to the best advantage, and get pure, fresh goods. In order to insure these two things we would advise our readers to buy their drugs, medicines, etc., at Campbell's 264 Main street. Call on him when in Johns- town, and you will be convinced that what we say is correct.

H. Heffley has just received and placed on his counters the largest and best selected stock of clothing for the fall trade ever brought to this section, and now offers bar- gains never before heard of in Somerset. Don't forget to call at his store if you wish to secure more goods for less money than he had at any other store in town.

The finest line of furnishing goods to be found in this section is at the store of H. Heffley. His stock cannot be equaled, and is offered at such remarkably low prices that all wishing to purchase cannot fail to secure a bargain, both in price and quality of goods. By giving him a call and inspecting his stock you cannot fail to purchase.

FARMERS LOOK HERE.—As Fossil Marl contains two and a half times as much pot- ash as the same quantity of wood ashes, there is no crop where its application shows such immediate and marked results as on grass or clover, and every farmer knows the great value of a good soil. It sells for $20 per ton or 32 per sack of 200 pounds. Par- ties from any part of the county can get it by addressing JOHN S. SHAFER,
Somerset, Pa.

CHANGE OF SCHOOL BOOKS.—The school board of Somerset township have ordered the introduction in the township schools for the coming term the following named books: Eaub's grammar, Buckwalter's spellers, Swinton's geography's and Robinson's arith- metics. I have the exclusive handling of these books, and have them now on hand at introductory prices and exchange. I want to get the new books out and the old ones in promptly, and parents and pupils will do well to exchange before the opening of the schools.

WALNUT LEAF HAIR RESTORER.—It is en- tirely different from all others. It is as clear as water, and, as its name indicates, is a perfectly Vegetable Hair Restorer. It will immediately free the head from all dandruff, restore gray hair to its natural color, and produce a new growth where it has fallen off. It does not in any manner affect the health, which sulphur, sugar of lead and nitrate of silver preparations have done. It will change light or faded hair in a few days to a beautiful glossy brown. Ask your druggist for it. Each bottle is warranted. Smith, Kline & Co., wholesale agents, Phil lphia, and sale C. N. Crittenden, New York

I would respectfully inform my friends of Somerset county that I have opened a new drug store at 232 Main Street, Johnstown, Pa., where I would be pleased to see them. My stock consists of Pure Drugs, Chemicals, Patent Medicines, Dye Stuffs, Perfumery and Fancy Goods generally. At this season I would call attention to the insecticides, such as Pure Paris Green, Pure Powdered White Hellebore, Persian Insect Powder, etc., When in need of anything in the drug line come and see me or write for prices. All inquiries cheerfully answered.
