John B. Hay LUCK OF ONE DAY'S FISHING. One morning, when spring was in her teens A morn to a poet's wishing.
All tinted in delicate pinks and greens

Miss Besste and I went fishing. I in my rough and easy clothes, With my face at the sunshine's mercy; She with her hat tipped down to her nose, And her nose tipped—vice versa.

I with my rod, my reel, and my hooks, And a hamper for lunching recesses. She with the bait of her comely looks, And the seine of her golden tresses

So we sat down on the sunny dike, Where the white pond lilles teeter, And she like Simon Peter

And dreamlly watched and waited, But the fish were cunning and would not rise, And the baiter alone was baited. And when the time for departure came
