John B. Hay THE BLESSEDNESS OF GIVING.

There was nevera golden sunbeam That fell on a desolate place, But felt some trace of its presence That time could never efface. Not a song of ineffable sweetnes That ravished the listening car Then slumbered in silence forgotten For many and many a year.

But a word or a tone might awaken Its magical power anew, Long after the sweet-voiced singer Had faded from earthly view. Nor a heart that was ever weary, Or tainted with sin and despate But a word of teader compassion Might find an abiding there. Vet countless thousands are yearning

For sympathy, kindness and love, And souls are groping in darkness Without one gleam from above. There was never a sunbeam wasted, Nor a song that was sung in vain. And souls that seem lost in the shadows A Savior's love may reclaim.

Then scatter the sunbeams of kinduces, Though your deeds may never be known, The harvest will ripen in glory If the seed be faithfully sown : And life will close with a blessing And fade into endless day, Loke the golden bues of the sunbeam That fade in the twilight gray.
