Did you hear anything drop?

The extra session must go.

The grand old party don't go.

SOMERSET county is always in line.

Can Governor Pattison take a hint?

VIRGINIA was carried by Democratic shot guns.

The Democratic "tidal wave" has gone up "Salt River."

The ten dollar a day Legislature got the grand bonus.

We have carried the skirmish lines. Fall in for the great battle!

Don't Hoyt and the other fellows that sulked, wish they hadn't?

The Democrats made a still hunt, but Chairman Pile made a stiller.

Don't the voters that stayed at home wish they had helped to do it?

PHILADELPHIA'S Committee of One Hundred got a black eye. Served it right.

The Ohio election was an eye opener for the Pennsylvania Republicans.

Bold Ben Butler was effectually downed. One Democratic Presidential candidate the less.

PHILADELPHIA said to Governor Pattison, by 29,000 majority, your extra session must git.

The Democratic Legislature should not stand upon the order of its going, but go at once.

NEBRASKA'S Republican majority is about 5,000. Supreme Judge being the principal officer elected.

The returns so far received from Minnesota indicate the size of the Republican victory to be about 17,000.

The Democratic Legislature got plenty of advice in very loud tones, on Tuesday last. Does it understand?

To the great dismay of the Democrats, Butler announces that he will run for Governor of Massachusetts next year.

The Democrats can beat two Republican parties in this State, easy—but one knocks it out of time the first round.

GOVERNOR PATTISON now knows what he has to be thankful for, and accordingly, on Friday last, issued his thanksgiving proclamation.

DOUBTLESS there are a good many voters in this State, who have reason to believe that they know a good deal more now, than they did last year.

The Democratic extra session farce is still being played at Harrisburg, to very thin houses. Up to date it has cost the taxpayers $495,252.

It goes without saying that the Democrats carried Mississippi. The joint Legislature will stand 130 Democrats to 25 Republicans and Independents.

The One Hundred Bosses of Philadelphia spent $15,000 to elect Pattison, man, Page, and got left. John Kelly's little game won't always win in Philadelphia.

CHAIRMAN HESSE'S Lancaster Intelligence, calls the Independents of last year, "Hogs." This, we presume, because they wouldn't feed on the hogs he threw them.

MARYLAND went Democratic of course. The majority for McLean, (Dem.) for Governor, is 12,009, and the Democratic Legislative majority on joint ballot is 37.

The voters of Franklin County presented their compliments to Secretary Stenger in the shape of a Republican member of the House, vice Sharpe, (Dem.) de'd.

It is the only speech he made during the canvass. Lieutenant Governor Black asserted that "the issue in Pennsylvania is Cameron." Wonder if he thinks so yet?

The Democrats carried New Jersey, as usual, electing Abbott, Governor, by a majority of 6,700. The Senate stands 12 Republicans, 9 Democrats; House, 34 Democrats, 26 Republicans.

The result of the election in Connecticut shows large Republican gains in both branches of the Legislature. The Democrats were completely routed in their strongholds, Hartford and New Haven.

Up till last week the Democratic blowhards claimed Pattison's election as a party victory; they now admit that it was brought about by divisions in the Republican ranks. What an eye-opener a good round majority is!

The Harrisburg Patriot whines the dismissal of all Republicans that have been retained in office under Pattison's administration. This is in accordance with Democratic ideas of civil service reform—keep all our fellows in, but kick the other fellows out.

THE FENCE IS FULL OF THEM.

394; Jeffries, for City Controller, who was opposed by the Committee of One Hundred, has 1,112 majority.

MON TOWN HAT SEARIGHT.

HOWINGHAM, Nov. 8.—The official vote, counted to-day, gives a large Democratic majority for the State ticket than at first estimated, 4,977; Searight, 4,339. In Green county Ingraham got 4,689 Searight, 584, making Ingraham's majority in the district 4,744. This is by far the largest majority ever given to any candidate in the district.

Singular Accident at a Bridge.

EASTON, PENN., Nov. 5.—A singular accident occurred here yesterday morning. The work of placing new ties and rails on the Lehigh Valley Railroad bridge across the Delaware has been going on for some time, and was continued yesterday morning on the two spans on the Jersey side. About 8:20 o'clock the heavy Empire freight for Jersey City was due, and a telephone message was sent to the Pennsylvania side to have her switched on the other track at the cut. It was assumed that this would be properly attended to; but it was not. Along came the train. It was a long one and a pusher was at the rear end. The train was long enough to reach over the bridge and around the curve on sight of the drawing engine. When the danger was seen the engineer of the front engine, a six-wheeled, connecting, heavy Clark locomotive, whistled down brakes and reversed his engine.

But still he went ahead. There was the river below, and it seemed inevitable that the locomotive must go over. The engineer and fireman jumped, and the engine ran off the end of the rail, broke through the timbers of the bridge and turned over at an angle of forty-five degrees, the guides and main pin catching in the girder, while the engine lodged on a little track loaded with ties, jamming them against the next pier. And there hangs the locomotive, firm and immovable. Sunday all day to-day a great force of workmen has been trying to get the big engine out of the fix; but she weighs forty tons with the tank, and there is no means of getting a fulcrum for leverage.

This afternoon she still hangs suspended over the river, and great crowds are watching the workmen, who are, under the direction of prominent officials, endeavoring to solve the problem involved in her release. The usual traffic of the road goes on to-day uninteruptedly, trains running round the wreck on a spur of the bridge.

A Fatal Crash.

COLUMBUS, November 8.—An accident occurred on the Pan Handle Railroad at Rockport, one mile west of Newark, last night. A Pan Handle freight train had just taken a siding, and the brakeman had left the switch standing open, when the Baltimore and Ohio passenger train leaving Columbus at 11 p. m., ran into the freight, making a fearful wreck. Engineer Matthews, of Columbus, and a fireman, whose name was not learned, both of the passenger train, were instantly killed. The other persons involved in the release, they will die. The track was cleared in an hour. In the collision Davis, the engineer, and Frank Powell, the fireman of the Pan Handle freight train, were both badly hurt and it is thought cannot recover. David Wilson, a big game man of the Baltimore and Ohio, was killed. The latter was killed by the train when the Baltimore and Ohio train was killed by John Kennedy.

Fatal Duel in Mexico.

MEXICO, VIA GALVESTON, November 8.—A duel was fought at Chapultepec, outside the city, this morning, between Degheest, of the Mexican National Bank, and Olivier, a French merchant. The latter was killed. Degheest was badly wounded. Swords were used. All parties were well known. The trouble was caused by a dispute over seats at the races on Sunday. The British Minister, two American ladies and Degheest led the seats to promenade. Olivier and two ladies occupied them. A quarrel ensued between Degheest and Olivier. The former called the police and the latter was ejected. The incident caused several challenges to Degheest. He had another arranged for to-morrow. Intense excitement among foreigners.

Horrible Death.

CARLEISLE, Pa., Nov. 9.—The Sentinel of this evening says: On Wednesday afternoon last a little three-year-old girl, daughter of one of the cooks at the poor house, met with a horrible death. Her mother had lifted off the stove a large tin boiler full of boiling coffee, and set it on the floor. The little girl was playing around the kitchen, and was approached by Jake Diller a simple fellow living there. The little girl ran from him, fell against the boiler and was scalded. Her mother had the red-hot, boiling liquid. The girl was actually boiled to death, the flesh coming off the bones in chunks. She lived only a few hours, suffering excruciating agony, until welcome death relieved her.

'Ab's Bazzard's Gang.

READING, Nov. 7.—'Ab's Bazzard and his notorious band of citizens invited another battle with the citizens by perpetrating a series of robberies last night. They were more bold and daring than ever before. It is not believed that the robber chief was badly wounded in yesterday's fight, as he undoubtedly took the part in the robberies last night which were discovered this morning. A rain storm prevailed to-day in the Ephrata hills, and no one specially is after the robbers, although hundreds of citizens are assembled, ready for another battle. Two dozen false keys were found on the hills. Clifford, the captured outlaw, was shot in the groin. He says the plunder is hidden all over the hills. The excitement continues unabated and if the robberies continue the Governor will be appealed to.

His Last Hunt.

KINGSTON, O., Nov. 9.—Matthew Whalen, one of the most prominent citizens of this county, met with a fatal accident while out with a party of friends hunting for a fox. He was crossing a roadway made of rails when he tripped and discharged his gun. The contents entered his legs and shattered them terribly. Before his comrades could reach him he died to death. He was married only ten months ago.

A MOST TERRIBLE CALAMITY.

A Portion of the Capitol Falls.

FOUR WORKMEN INSTANTLY KILLED.

MADISON, Wisconsin, November 8.—The roof and south wall of the south wing of the Capitol extension fell with a tremendous crash at 1:40 o'clock this afternoon, killing four persons and injuring many more. The noise of the fall was heard throughout the city. At first people could not understand what caused the terrible sound and ran to their doors to make investigation. The news soon spread that the south wing of the Capitol had fallen in and buried many of the workmen in its debris. Then women and children gathered by the hundreds, and in a short space of time the Capitol park was filled with an excited crowd. The Madison Hook and Ladder Company was at once called out. Though the work of rescuing those caught in the rubbish was of a dangerous nature, nevertheless the men set to work with a will, and in the end of an hour every man was accounted for.

TERIBLY MANGLED.

Bernard Higgins, of Madison, one of the killed, was found partially buried in a heap of large stones and mortar. His skull was fractured. His extremities were buried in the rubbish and badly bruised. Near Higgins' body and under several feet of stones were pieces of iron pillars, was William Edgar. The debris was removed as fast as possible, and his body was soon found in a completely crushed condition. The skull was badly broken, the brain oozing therefrom, and many bones in the body broken. Michael Burke, of Madison, a mason, was fatally injured under a heap of rubbish and iron beams. He died soon after he was removed.

The accident occurred just after the men had gone to their work, and it is only gazed that out of the 80 men employed in the wing were not caught in the falling mass. Five workmen had just been called from the room in the basement where the debris is deepest and were on the point of returning when the whole thing came in.

John Gillen, a laborer, of Madison, who had charge of the horse used in the basement in hoisting materials, saw the roof begin to fall and he rushed to the top of the building, and in doing so escaped injury, though the horse came out the worse for wear.

WHAT THE CONTRACTORS SAY.

The contractors of the extension are Bentley and Nowlan, the former of Milwaukee and the latter of Janesville. Nowlan was asked as to the probable cause of the accident, but refused to make any statement, saying that he did not give any thought to the loss as there was nothing to consider in comparison with the lives lost. The real cause of the terrible accident is somewhat uncertain, but the most plausible theory is that the heavy iron pillars supporting the roof of the second story balcony, cast in with the concrete, and which rested, thus pulling the roof of the entire wing to cave in. These columns were made of large pieces of boiler iron rolled into circular form, stovetop fashion, the joints not being bolted together.

Tripple Tragedy.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 8.—A fearful tragedy was enacted to-day at the farm house of H. Clay McGee, 10 miles south of the city. His children on returning home from school this afternoon found the lifeless bodies of their father, mother and sister lying upon the floor. McGee evidently had killed his wife, shooting her in the breast with a shotgun, shot his daughter in the back, and then completed the horror by going to an upper room and swallowing a dose of morphine. The house had two ladies occupied there. A quarrel ensued between McGee and Olivier. The former called the police and the latter was ejected. The incident caused several challenges to Degheest. He had another arranged for to-morrow. Intense excitement among foreigners.

Fire at Charleston.

CHARLESTON, November 12.—A fire broke out this afternoon in Hayne street, in Wilbur's clothing manufactory, spreading to Robertson, Taylor & Co.'s, wholesale grocers. Both buildings were gutted. Ludwig's bag factory adjoining was damaged. The loss is estimated at $100,000. Eight men, who were employed in Wilbur's factory, most of whom jumped from the third story. Ellen Heron was killed and Susie Bond mortally injured. Mary Wolf was badly burned, but may recover; Maggie Quinisk and Annie Tyler were badly hurt but will recover. The fire spread rapidly. Loring Green is supposed to be burned in the building. A little boy named Lighthouse jumped and was caught unharmed. Only the eight persons named were on the third floor. The fire broke out under the stairway of the second floor, cutting off escape, and the fire spread rapidly. The persons on the second floor escaped with difficulty.

Dragged to Death by a Frightened Cow.

EASTON, November 8.—A two-year old son of John Marshall, of Bangor, met with a terrible death at that place yesterday. A daughter of Mr. Marshall aged about 13 years, had been in the habit of leading her father's Alderney cow to water. Lately she was taking water from a well with a strap. Yesterday she took her little brother with her and fastened one end of the cow's strap to the child's arm. After they had gone some distance the animal became frightened and ran away, dragging the little fellow over the ground after her, breaking one of his arms and otherwise injuring him so badly that he died within ten minutes after the occurrence. The cow must have stepped on the boy, as the imprint of her hoof is on his breast.

A Storekeeper Riddled with Bullets.

ALGONA, Iowa, November 10.—While G. Miles, of Wright County, was closing his store last night, he was fired upon by two masked men, with the evident intention of robbing him. The storekeeper was wounded, and one entering his store and another lodging in his thigh. Two others broke both his arms. At last a constable Miles was still alive. The excitement over the event is marked. A posse is in search of the assassins.

A FEW WORDS OF SEASONABLE COUNSEL.

SUBMITTED TO THE PEOPLE OF SOMERSET AND VICINITY.

We do not desire to fish for your patronage by loud and dazzling advertisements. We only want to point out in a few homely words the advantages to be gained by you in visiting our Establishment before making your purchases for the season. We have a better selection than you will find in any other store. Our stock of Mens', Youths' and Children's Clothing, Hats, Caps, and Furnishing Goods, is the largest in the City of Johnstown. What can be of greater advantage to you in buying than this? Again; has it not sometimes happened, when you have bought goods and taken them home to the calm inspection of yourselves and friends, that you have discovered them to be unsatisfactory. Yet another reason why you should come to us, as we exchange the articles or return the money in full when goods are brought back within 10 days of purchase. Further, all goods sold by us are faithfully represented as to quality and the prices are marked in plain figures on each lot. There is only one price to all, and your children can buy of us with equal safety as yourselves. In proof of our good faith, we give a legal guarantee with each purchase. What can be more straightforward than this?

LAST, BUT NOT LEAST,

Our prices are far lower than at any other Store in Johnstown.

These are no idle assertions. We are satisfied of the truth. We want you, also, to be convinced, therefore judge for yourselves. Test our statements. We are assured it will be to your advantage as well as to ours.

Don't visit Johnstown, then, without calling in at

This Year's Corn Crop.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 12.—The November report of the Department of Agriculture gives the local yield per acre. In October the final report of the condition of corn, which averages 78, was interpreted to mean a product of 1,600,000 bushels. The average yield per acre appears to be 23 1/10 bushels, 14 bushels per acre lower than the yield of 1882. This gives a result practically identical with that of October. On the acreage reported in July, 63,339,000, the exact figures would be 1,577,000,000 bushels. In the revision of the season's returns this result will not be materially changed. The product will therefore be about 40,000,000 bushels short of the previous crop, notwithstanding the increase of area. The potato crop is large, amounting to 175,000,000 bushels.

Mormon Converts from Abroad.

CHICAGO, Nov. 11.—A company of Mormon converts passed through this city to-day on their way to Utah, in charge of several elders and high priests. The converts were watched very closely while here, lest the attractions of the city should bring about a change of heart. The converts are of various nationalities, and are mostly of the middle class. They were taken care of by the Mormon community here. Recently the District Attorney who prosecuted them wrote to Governor Cleveland, stating that when the case came before him it was a young lawyer with few briefs. Flushed by recent political preference and being ambitious of making a record, he did these men wrong when he did not hope to expiate in this world. The physician who made the postmortem examination, he wrote, reported to him that the old man died of lingering consumption, and the slight violence that he suffered at the hands of Sherwood and Howard had not the remotest connection with his death. The Prosecuting Attorney requested the physician, who was his personal friend and irresponsible, to never make the result public, and immediately drew up papers charging the prisoners with murder in the first degree.

Both Robbery in Pittsburgh.

PITTSBURGH, November 8.—It is evident that a gang of expert thieves is working in this locality. This week three extensive robberies have been committed. The boldest one was the breaking open of the safe of Samuel Schultz, a storekeeper, a few miles from the city, early this morning.
