States noted for their unflagging devotion to Blaine.

SECOND DAY.

CHICAGO, June 4.—It was something after 11 o'clock when the convention was called to order this morning.

Prayer was offered by Rev. Dr. John H. Barnes, of the First Presbyterian church, in the course of which he spoke of the vast moral and political changes which the Nation had undergone, as indicated by the presence of him who now so worthily presided over the convention, and he asked a blessing on the race and the Commonwealth and the cause which that gentleman represented. He prayed that when the convention had dissolved it would have presented to the suffrages of the Nation for the highest office in the people's gift a candidate who, in personal character and in devotion to duty, in loyalty to American institutions, in courage and experience and wisdom, should worthily succeed to the chair of Washington, and thus help the Nation to become not only more prosperous and just and peaceful, but also to be an inspiration and a blessing to the struggling people of mankind.

James A. Gary, of Maryland, presented a memorial, and asked that it be read. It was from the President and Secretary of the State Temperance Alliance of that State, embodying resolutions passed by that body on May 6th last, appealing to the convention of the Republican and Democratic parties to embody a resolution in their platform distinctly recognizing Prohibition, and to nominate candidates in accord therewith, and saying that if neither recognized this principal the memorialists would vote for neither, and that if one of them did so then the ballots of the Alliance would be cast for their candidate.

Mr. Massay, of Delaware, offered a resolution referring to the committee on resolutions a proposition to enlarge the time of the Presidential office to six years, and to render an incumbent of the office ineligible to return. Referred.

A resolution that all delegates should bind themselves to support the nominee, whoever he may be, created warm discussion.

Mr. Plumb, of Kansas, offered a resolution against the ownership of lands in this country by foreigners as a system opposed to the doctrine of the fathers. Referred.

Mr. Hawkins, of Tennessee, offered a resolution pledging all delegates to support the nominee of the convention, whoever he may be.

Mr. Pierce, of Massachusetts, opposed the resolution, hoping that the Convention would not bind its conscience in the manner proposed.

Mr. Winkler, of Wisconsin, also opposed the resolution. It was a declaration on the part of every delegate that he would support the nominee of the Convention, and he thought that no such declaration was necessary.

Mr. Hawkins, of Tennessee, said he had offered the resolution in good faith, and he trusted that no man would be found voting against it. If any delegate was not willing to support the nominee of the convention, he should not participate in its deliberations. [Cheers.] No harm could come of its adoption, and he thought its adoption advisable, in view of certain whispers in the air.

Mr. Knight, of California advocated the resolution, and also alluded to certain whispers in the air, and particularly to the editorial declaration of one of the great metropolitan journals, as a reason why the resolution should be adopted.

Mr. Curtis, of New York, warmly opposed the resolution, and referred in the course of his remarks to the position of the Convention which nominated Mr. Lincoln twenty-four years ago, when a similar resolution was introduced and voted down. He also reminded the Convention [illegible] what was said and done for years [illegible]o, when Mr. Campbell, of West [illegible]irginia, declared that he was a Republican who carried his sovereignty [illegible]nder his own hat, and when, under [illegible]e lead of Garfield, the gentleman [illegible]o presented a similar resolution [illegible]s induced to withdraw it. [Cheers.] [illegible] therefore asked this Convention [illegible]ssume that every delegate was [illegible]honest and honorable man. He [illegible]racterized the resolution as one [illegible]ich was unworthy to be ratified [illegible]a body of freemen [Loud cheers.] [illegible]he Chair decided that, as far as [illegible]sible, the rules of the House of [illegible]presentatives should be followed, [illegible]wing alternate speeches for and [illegible]inst. This ruling was made in [illegible]onse to appeals for recognition [illegible]a two delegates at once, the Chair [illegible]ding in favor of the man who [illegible]ted to speak for the resolution.

[illegible]enator Dolph, of Oregon, moved [illegible]ay the resolution on the table.]

[illegible]r. Hawkins said that as his [illegible]ion had developed so much op[illegible]tion he would withdraw it.

[illegible]r. Ewing, of Pennsylvania, made [illegible] partial report from the Committee on Credentials, to the effect that he hoped to be able to complete the labors of that Committee this afternoon.

Mr. Ewing offered the following:

Resolved, That hereafter, in the selection by district conventions, the basis of representation of the several counties, parts of counties, or wards, be the same as that which at that time prevails in each district respectively, for the nomination of Republican candidates for members of Congress, and wherever a majority of the counties or sub-divisions containing not less than one-half the population of the district shall regularly unite in the call and conduct of the convention, the action thereof shall be valid.

Referred.

Gen. Geo. B. Williams, of Indiana, chairman of the committee on Permanent Organization, reported that the committee on Permanent Organization, had selected Gen. J. B. Henderson, of Missouri, for permanent chairman, and would request the Secretary to read the list of Vice Presidents and Secretaries.

Mr. Charles W. Clisbee, of Michigan was selected as principal secretary.

The report was agreed to.

The chair appointed Galusha A. Grow, of Pennsylvania; George F. Hoar, of Massachusetts, and George B. Williams, of Indiana, a committee to conduct the permanent chairman to the platform.

George Henderson was received with cheers, and spoke as follows:

Gentlemen of the Convention:

We have assembled to survey the party; to rejoice, as we may, because of the good it has done; to correct its errors, if errors there be; to discover, if possible, the wants of the present, and, with patriotic firmness, provide for the future.

[illegible] stands [illegible] abolished, and its [illegible]ial robes [illegible] equal and honorable [illegible]closed P[illegible] up this convention: the public faith maintained, unbounded credit at home and abroad, a currency convertible into coin, and the pulses of industry throbbing with renewed health and vigor in every section of a prosperous and peaceful country. These are the fruits of triumphs over adverse policies gained in the military and civil conflicts of the last twenty-four years. Out of these conflicts has come a race of heroes and statesmen, challenging confidence and love at home, and respect and admiration abroad.

And now, when we come to select a standard-bearer for the approaching conflict, our chief embarrassment is not in the want, but in the abundance of Presidential material. New York has her true and tried statesman, on whose administration the fierce and even unfriendly light of the public scrutiny has been turned, and the universal verdict is, "Well done, thou good and faithful servant." Vermont has her great statesman, whose mind is as clear as the crystal springs of his native State, and whose virtue is as firm as its granite hills. Ohio can come with a name whose history is the history of the Republican party—its chief. Illinois can come with one who never failed in the discharge of public duty, whether in the council chamber or on the field of battle. Maine has her honored favorite, whose splendid abilities and personal qualities have endeared him to the hearts of his friends, and the brilliancy of whose genius challenges the admiration of all. Connecticut and Indiana may come with names scarcely less illustrious than these.

And now, in conclusion, if, because of personal disagreements or the emergencies of the occasion, another name is sought, there yet remains that grand old hero of Kennesaw Mountain and Atlanta. When patriotism calls, he cannot, if he would, be silent, but, grasping that banner to him so dear, which he has already borne in triumph, he will march to a civic victory no less memorial than those of war.

I thank you, gentlemen, for this distinguished mark of your confidence.

The allusions to Arthur, Sherman, Edmunds and Logan were heartily applauded, but when Blaine was alluded to as a man whose splendid abilities and personal qualities had endeared him to the hearts of his friends, and whose brilliancy of genius challenged the admiration of mankind, a storm of applause broke out, and on the stage, the floor, and the galleries men stood up and, waving their hats and handkerchiefs, cheered again and again. The women also took part in the demonstration, and waved their fans and handkerchiefs.

After the first storm of applause had worn itself out, it was again renewed, and once again the enthusiasm was as marked and intense as that which characterized the convention of 1880 at the time of Garfield's nomination. It was fully five minutes before the chairman was able to resume and finish his speech.

Mr. Stebbins, of Arizona, presented a resolution to the effect that the appointment of Territory officers by the President of the United States should be from actual residents of such territories. Referred to the committee on resolutions.

A delegate from California presented a resolution to the effect that the commissioner of agriculture be made a cabinet officer. Referred to the committee on resolutions.

A woman-suffrage resolution was presented and referred to the committee on resolutions.

The committee on credentials reported it could not complete its report till afternoon or evening.

The convention thereupon adjourned at 12:20 till 7 o'clock.

EVENING SESSION.

CHICAGO, June 4.—Chairman Henderson called the convention to order at 7:35 P. M., and made the following announcement: Gentlemen, there is a communication in the hands of the secretary from the Committee on Credentials which will be read to the convention.

The secretary read the communication, as follows:

To the Chairman of the Republican National Convention:

The Committee on Credentials have the honor to notify the convention that as important business is occupying the time of the committee, the committee will not be able to report to the convention this evening.

Mr. Curtis, of New York—I hold in my hand a petition of the American Peace Union, which I ask to have referred to the Committee on Resolutions.

The Chair—It will be so referred.

Mr. Matthews, of Illinois—I desire to introduce a resolution which I ask be read to the convention.

The secretary read the resolution as follows:

Resolved, That the Committee on Distribution of tickets be hereby instructed to furnish 500 tickets of this convention, to be given to the veterans who desire to witness the proceedings.

Mr. Matthews—I ask the unanimous consent of the convention to adopt and pass that resolution. It may be observed that there are soldiers here who have come from over one hundred miles to witness the proceedings of this convention, and, to enable them to do so, this resolution is introduced, and I hope this convention will adopt it unanimously.

Mr. Thurston, of Nebraska—I rise to ask a question. I wish to ask in what manner and to what person for distribution these tickets will be issued?

A delegate from Pennsylvania—I will move to amend by adding "and that they be distributed according to representation upon the floor of this convention to the chairmen of the various delegations."

A delegate—I second that motion.

The Chair—before the vote shall be taken, I desire to state that I have just been informed by a member of the national committee that tickets have been issued for every seat in this hall. Is the house ready for the question? All in favor of the adoption of the resolution will say aye; contrary, no. The noes seem to have it. The noes have it and the resolution is defeated. [Slight applause.]

ADJOURNMENT MOVED.

Mr. Long, of Massachusetts—I move the house do now adjourn until 10 o'clock to-morrow morning. [Cries, "at 11."] I will accept the amendment to 11 o'clock.

The Chair—It is moved and seconded that the convention now adjourn until to-morrow morning at 11 o'clock.

Joe Black, For You I Die.

PHILADELPHIA, May 30.—About 5 o'clock last evening an officer of the Seventeenth district found Martha Dean, aged 18 years, of No. 1242 Catharine street, in a stupor at Sixth and Federal streets. Upon summoning a physician it was found that the girl was suffering from narcotic poisoning. An emetic was administered which revived her. She was then removed to the Pennsylvania Hospital. In a satchel which she carried was found a paper on which was written: "No. 239 South Fifth street, "Joe Black for you I die." Joe Black is a young man who keeps a saloon at the address given. It appears that the young couple have been keeping company, and the refusal of the girl's mother to permit Black to visit her daughter induced the girl to attempt suicide. Miss Dean will recover.

An End to Bone Scraping.

Edward Shepherd, of Harrisburg, Ill., says: "Having received so much benefit from Electric Bitters, I feel it my duty to let suffering humanity know it. Have had a running sore on my leg for eight years; my doctors told me I would have to have the bone scraped or leg amputated. I used, instead, three bottles of Electric Bitters and seven boxes Bucklen's Arnica Salve, and my leg is now sound and well."

Electric Bitters are sold at fifty cents a bottle, and Bucklen's Arnica Salve at 25cts. per box by C. N. Boyd.

A Direlict Husband.

PHILLIPSBURG, May 20.—Three years ago Alfred Kinney married Miss Mary Smith, of Guthsville, Lehigh county, Pa. The girl had just budded into womanhood. After living together for some time the young couple moved to Warren Co., N. J., and they were followed by the parents of Mrs. Smith. The husband not long ago became smitten with the charms of Lizzie, a young sister of his wife, and a few days ago both suddenly disappeared. Before leaving, Smith sold all his loose property, even his wife's sewing machine. The runaways have not been heard from since they left.

When the Norwegian farmer's wife begins her dairy in the summer, and the herds have been driven to the upland pastures, she takes special pains in making the first cheese, for it is for Nipen, the old Norse wood and water spirit. The offering is taken in the dusk of evening to a high, bare rock, and left there. Sometimes a sweet cake, in the making of which every maiden must assist, and a can of ale is added to the feast of Nipen. In the morning it is gone, and the farmer's wife is sure that her cows will give down rich milk, that her lambs will not perish in untimely storms, and that her good man's boat on the fiord will bring him safely home. She has given "hostages" to Nipen.

Backland's Arnica Salve.

In England every flower is associated with some saint or religious rite. The snowdrop was understood to mark the feast of Candlemas; the Canterbury bells not only cured throat disease—hence called throat wort—but kept alive the holy memory of St. Augustine; the lily of the valley was understood to have first sprung from the sprinkled blood of St. Leonard, slain in the wood near Hastings, where St. Leonard has since been built. The harebell claims to be worn by none but those who are true. The black spots on the leaves of the common arum, "cuckoo pint," or "wake robin," are due to the same cause that colored the red heart's crimson chest or twisted the crophill's beak, for legends differ as to which of these two birds plucked out the nails from the cross.

A smart young Frenchman thought it would be something worth boasting about if he were to pat one of the lions on the head as it lay so serenely on the hard cage floor. He proceeded to carry out his scheme, but had not more than touched her serene highness' nose until he had his arm drawn in as far as his body would permit. While she munched his hand her mate was clawing the poor fellow's head in an effort to get it through the bars, and finally succeeded in getting his shoulder in and crushing it as a dog would a chicken bone. When at length, by dint of vigorous blows, the brutes released their victim he had fainted, and on being conveyed to the hospital, where amputation of the mangled limb was immediately performed, succumbed, a victim to his imprudence.

A girl or youth who indulges in a perpetual knitting of the brows produces a very ugly wrinkle between the eyebrows, but this may be entirely removed by forsaking the trick. A habit of half closing the eyes, very common with near-sighted persons who do not choose to wear glasses, produces wrinkles at their outer corners. An ill-tempered drooping of the corners of the mouth, brings wrinkles in those positions. No outward application will ever cure this; the effort must come from a strong determination and a resolute avoidance of the cause that produced the ugly effect.

In his Sunday morning prayer, a Wisconsin minister prayed the Lord that such of his congregation as were speculating in wheat might be brought to a realizing sense of their iniquity by loosing heavily. During the next week wheat dropped 9 cents per bushel, and 23 members of the congregation had such cold feet that they couldn't stand still. The week after that there was a meeting of the congregation and the minister's salary cut down from $1,500 to $800.

Opposite St. Louis, in the Mississipi river, floats an island which has been drifting down stream for the last 20 years. Its area is about 100 acres, and it moves quietly along at the rate of eight inches a day. So far it has advanced a mile from the position it occupied 20 years ago.

A whisker dye must be convenient to apply, impossible to rub off, elegant in appearance, and cheap in price. Buckingham's Dye for the Whiskers unites in itself all these merits. Try it.

Reading Aloud at Home.

Reading aloud in the family, says Edward Everett Hale, is the best possible way to break in, and always proves a persuasion and temptation. There is a long period when a boy or girl does not read so easily but that the progress itself is a burden. If you will read to him then he will be very grateful to you, and you will form an appetite which he will never be rid of. I knew a mother of a family who read the Waverly novels aloud five times as her children became old enough to hear. The hour after tea belonged to the boy or girl who was, say 9 or 10 years old. The boy or girl had, so to speak, the right to hear mamma or somebody else read aloud. Well, you can read aloud any Waverly novel in a month, if you read an hour and a little more every evening. In the two years when each of these children claimed the privilege, which their mother's perseverance gave them, they would read, each of them, with her, 20 of the best of these stories. They would talk them over with her. Probably they would not have read them alone. But by the time those two years were ended, and another child had the turn, the habit of reading and the love of reading were fully formed.

His Slippery Glass Eye.

"The Squire," says the author of "The Hoosier Schoolmaster," "wore one glass eye and a wig. The glass eye was constantly slipping out of focus, and the wig turning around sidewise on his head whenever he addressed the people of the Flat Creek District." Sad spectacle. Parker's Hair Balsam preserves and promotes the growth of the natural hair. It also restores the natural color to hair which has faded, or become gray. Clean, elegant, beneficial, highly perfumed. 6-11.

On a very stormy night in December, 1883, a pilot boat containing twenty-two persons struck on a bank within sight of those on shore. Among those in the boat were Dr. Richard Sumner, who died recently at the age of 86, in Liverpool. Even the hardy fishermen feared to put out until Mr. Sumner, who was of splendid physique, six inches in height and of great strength, slung a bottle of rum round his neck stripped off his clothes, tied a sender line round his body and plunged into the seething waves. He reached the vessel, poured some rum down the throat of each half dead man, and so encouraged them that when the boat arrived they were saved. He received the Royal Humane Society's gold medal.

I have used Ely's Cream Balm for Hay Fever, and experienced great relief. I most cordially recommend it as the best of all the many remedies I have tried. T. B. Jenks, Lawyer, Grand Rapids, Michigan. Price 50 cents.

One of the wealthiest citizens of San Francisco effected his escape from a band of Mexican desperadoes through a knowledge of telegraphy. They carried him to an abandoned hacienda, and with mocking cruelty set him at their table to feast, before, as they told him, they killed him. The prisoner recognized among his captors an old companion, also an operator, who had gone to the bad a little time before. The recognition was mutual, but neither dared address the other. The captor's quick wit improvised a sound out of his knife and fork, and while to the others he appeared playing with them, his cry for assistance was read and understood by his old time companion. They formed in this way a plan of escape, which was successfully carried out.

Didn't Need Any Lawyer.

Old Dan had used his neighbor's fence as firewood, and was accordingly brought before the court to answer for the same. "Have you any lawyer for defense?" asked the Judge, as Dan took his place. "No, sor, I hab not," replied the negro. "Kase yo' know, jedge, 'taint de fence what needs a lawyer, hit am dis po' niggah dat am in for it; I spec' you better pint one for him."

A Startling Discovery.

Mr. Wm. Johnson, of Huron, Dak., writes that his wife had been troubled with acute Bronchitis for many years, and that all remedies tried gave no permanent relief, until he procured a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs, and Colds, which have a magical effect, and produced a permanent cure. It is guaranteed to cure all Diseases of Throat, Lungs, or Bronchial Tubes.

Call at C. N. Boyd's Drug Store and get a free trial bottle of this certain cure for all Lung Diseases. Large bottles $1.00.

A young poetess says she "told her secret to the sweet wild roses." She was very imprudent. When the sweet wild roses "blow" she will wish she had kept her secret to herself.

Umbrellas are regarded as personal property in Delaware. A man has just been sentenced in Wilmington to pay the cost of prosecution, $6 fine, one hour in the pillory, twenty lashes and three years in New Castle Jail, all for stealing an umbrella.

Terra cotta dogs for lawns and gardens are always in demand. An amusing case is recorded of a man who possessed a life-like animal of this pattern, upon whom he was regularly taxed every year, the assessor having no doubt of the genuineness of the dog. The man paid the tax without a word, and when remonstrated with by a friend, said it was the cheapest dog he ever possessed, as it ate nothing, kept tramps off his premises and never got him into trouble by biting anyone.

Champion Grain Drill.

The Champion of the World has a positive force feed for grain, grass seed, and fertilizer. Will sow from the smallest amount of fertilizer or lime, up to 50 bushels per acre. Has a special device for planting corn plants two rows at a time, and puts in all the fertilizer the farmer may wish. Don't buy before seeing this Drill. Manufactured at Oswego, N. Y.

ACME PULVERIZING HARROW, CLOD CRUSHER and LEVELER.

The only complete pulverizer and leveler in the world. All wrought iron and steel. The front coulters turn to the left, and rear to the right. By this arrangement the whole surface of the ground is cut, lifted and turned. The coulters work like so many small plows, and do not tear up sod or rubbish. Can be adjusted in an instant by means of the lever, to work deep or shallow. The principle of the Acme is to cut, lift and turn—pulverize clods, and level uneven surfaces. It will pay any farmer to come 10 miles to see the Acme and its work. It is the only implement that can do the work thoroughly in hard or tough soil, or newly plowed sod.

Brown Stallion, Sixteen hands, weighs over 1,200.

CHALREY,
Bay Stallion, fifteen hands high, weight 1,150.

The above horses will stand at my Stables this season from April 1st to July 1st. Parties wishing to breed from a draft stallion cannot go amiss, as the get from Strathearn is second to none. I will show his get against those of any other horse in the Co. at my farm, Size, and Smoothness of Make-up.

The Trotting Stallions above named need no comment, as their produce has stamped them as among the best in the State. Some of these get are trotting low in the 20's now. One of Alhambra's fillys was sold to a party in Portland, Maine a few weeks ago. Insurance for the above, $25. Parties having lost colts by either of my horses can breed back at half rates.

I have also on hand and for sale the Celebrated Self-oiling Shuttle Farm Wagon.

A Blood Purifier, which is highly recommended for all forms of Scrofula, Humors, Pimples, Boils, Salt Rheum, Ulcers, Sores, Tetter, Erysipelas, Itch, Ringworm, Tumors, Carbuncles, Rolls, and Eruptions of the Skin, or other results of impure state of the blood.

To cure these troubles the blood must be purified, and toned to a healthy and vitalized condition. Ayer's Sarsaparilla has for nearly forty years been regarded as the most powerful and reliable alterative that can be obtained. It is a concentrated extract of the best remedial roots found in the vegetable kingdom, and is so combined as to secure the greatest curative effect. Its ingredients are perfectly harmless, and it may be taken by the youngest child or most delicate woman, as well as by the strongest man. It is very pleasant to the taste, and is easily administered to children. It is the only vegetable remedy existing which will answer the purpose of calomel, regulating the action of the liver without producing the least salivation. Those who have suffered from the long victim to the evil effects of mercury or blue pills, will find in Ayer's Sarsaparilla a perfect substitute. It will open the bowels in a proper and wholesome manner.

There is nothing like Ayer's Blood Cleanser for the cure of all disorders of the Stomach, Liver, Bowels, Kidneys, and Blood, or the nervous diseases. Headache, Dizziness, Low Spirits, Biliousness, Fever, and all derangements of the internal viscera. A thorough regulator it has no equal in the world.

The amount of attention is worth more than a pound of cure. Ayer's Pills, while they will not cure old-standing and chronic complaints, like those of the best preparations of medicine ever employed to the sick. You can avoid severe attacks of acute disease, such as Cholera, Small-pox, Typhoid, Bilious, Spotted and Intermittent Fevers, by keeping your blood pure, and your digestive organs in healthy action. Health depends altogether upon the condition of the blood.

Be sure to get Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Prepared by DR. J. C. AYER & CO., Lowell, Mass. Sold by Druggists everywhere. Price $1, six bottles for $5.
