PHILADELPHIA, Pa., September pelled to be inexorable. 23.—The hight of the day's enthusiasm over the presence of the Republican candidate for the presidency was reached in the evening, when a procession of 50,000 uniformed men, with flaring torches, streaming banners and strains of music passed in review before the Union League Club to do himhonor. The city was in such a delirium of excitement and enthusiasm as was never before seen. With darkness, on all the streets leading toward the like of the seen.
