Three Elephant Stories. Major Rogers had been out shooting, and had discharged all his game, when an elephant made its appearance.

The Liquor Traffic. People sometimes say that "these temperance people are a set of religious fanatics, led by a clergy."

His Escape. A professional note long since related to the writer the following story of his escape from the roughs and outlaws in the mountains of Missouri.

Matrons Against Widows. In the records of the office of the Secretary of State at Columbia, S. C., the following petition, bearing date 1753, addressed to the Governor of South Carolina and signed by sixteen matrons:

The Origin of Ear-rings. The custom of wearing ear-rings is so ancient that it is hard to tell who set the fashion.

The Electric Light and Vegetable Growth. A great pressure was brought to bear upon the managers of the Electrical Exposition to practically exhibit the effect of electric light upon flowers and plants.

Down in Arkansas they still send a boy to mill on horseback. The Arkansas Traveller describes the process as follows:

There are few sights more suggestive of hopeful patience than that of a boy sitting on a bag of wheat that has fallen from his horse. He starts to mill joyously. The great event in the life of a young country boy is to be entrusted with a milling expedition.

A Human Monster. "Wasn't Charley Green up to your horse last night?" asked one young lady of another.

Something Perhaps He Would Eat. Heard a good story on a West End minister one day last week. He is a vegetarian of the strictest order, and in the course of his pastoral career he was invited out to a Sunday dinner by one of the sisters of his flock.

A Huge Whale Ashore. THOMPSON, ME., Nov. 1.—A whale 60 feet long and six feet across the tail, was found on the shore of Mount St. George. It is being cut up and tried out.
