Revenue officers raided an illicit distillery in Monroe township, Bedford county, and succeeded in capturing a large amount of crooked whisky.

The country folks are flooding the town with turkeys and other varieties of poultry to supply the demand incident to the holidays now almost here.

Judge Johnston, the Republican candidate for Congress in the Eighth District of Indiana, was elected by one majority, thus showing the importance of one vote.

There were a great many country people in town Saturday, buying their holiday goods. Our merchants who have been advertising liberally, did a thriving business.

Invitations are out for a select hop at the Somerset House, on the evening of the 20th. It is to be the swell affair of the season. The Royal Italian Band, of Pittsburgh, will furnish the music.

Rev. S. Stouffer will be installed as pastor of the Jennerstown Lutheran Church on next Sunday morning. Rev J. F. Shearer of Somerset, and Rev. A. K. Felton of Stoystown will conduct the services.

The merry jingle of the sleigh bells was heard for the first time this season, Friday morning. The sleighing was not first-class but there were a great many sleds and sleighs to be seen on the streets Friday and Saturday.

Mr. Ed. Rhoads, one of our enterprising liverymen, drives a handsome span of horses, one of which he calls "Independent." When asked why he had given the animal such a peculiar name, he replied, "Because he's a kicker."

The rate from Johnstown to New Orleans over the Somerset & Cambria and Baltimore & Ohio Railroads will be the same during the Exposition as that on the P. R. R., $57.25. The tickets will be good from the time of purchase until the close of the Exposition.

Mr. Will W. Picking, who used to "stick type" on the HERALD back in '74 and '75, but who for the past five years has been engaged in the Custom Brokerage, in New York City, is in Somerset, for the holidays. No one receives a warmer welcome from his old and many friends than does the "Willie P."

Additional assessments have been made upon the stockholders of the South Pennsylvania Railroad Company and the work upon that line will be pushed forward rapidly. The bridge over the Susquehanna river, at Harrisburg, is to be finished by May, and it is said that the road at certain points may be opened by that time.

The coldest snap of the season was experienced at this place Friday morning. The thermometer registered 10° below zero at different points. The mercury clung close to the zero mark all day Friday and Saturday. Saturday night the weather began moderating, and Sunday morning a warm, drizzling rain set in, and continued throughout the day.

Edward F. Alcott, the Ursina lumberman, has orders for three million feet of white oak timber, for building English ships. The timber is all being cut along the line of the Balto. and Ohio road, between Connellsville and Cumberland. It is shipped to England as fast as it can be secured. The price paid is sixteen dollars per thousand, spot cash on the cars here. The order will be doubled if it can be filled within a reasonable time. Several firms are now working on the present order.

The only important change in the running of trains on the Somerset and Cambria Railroad under the new schedule which went into effect Sunday, the 21st is the discontinuing of the 2.40 Rockwood Accommodation, which hitherto connected with the Pittsburgh mail. Under the new schedule Pittsburgh passengers are compelled to leave Somerset at 9.10 a. m. arriving in the city at 2.30 p. m. or by leaving Somerset at 11.59 and waiting at Rockwood until 5.50 will get them to the city at 6.32 p. m. East bound trains leave Somerset at 11.59 a. m. and 5.05 p. m. North bound trains leave Somerset at 7.55 a. m. and 1.25 p. m. Somerset Accommodation arrives at 6.40 and Rockwood Accommodation departs at 6.40.

In reference to the death of Mr. Albert Recke, we last week said in our local columns that he died from the effects of an overdose of rat poison. It now seems doubtful if such were the case. He was at home all the night previous to his death, and a physician was not summoned until about 9 o'clock the following morning. The fact that he lived for fifteen hours after it was supposed that he had taken the poison, would indicate that he had taken very little, if any. We are informed that a post mortem examination was made, but have not learned the result. Mr. Recke was a former citizen of Johnstown, and his remains were interred in the cemetery at that place. Rev Dr. Veight, of the German Lutheran Church officiated at the funeral. Mr. Reck was a careful, business man, and succeeded in accumulating considerable of this world's goods since coming to Somerset.

DEDICATION.—On Sunday, December 14, I assisted Elder N. S. McCallum in dedicating the new Disciple meeting-house at Hooversville. It is an attractive frame structure 30x48 feet, with an additional six-foot recess for the pulpit, stained windows, well proportioned spire, good bell, modern seats, carved pulpit, superior pulpit chairs and communion table, chandeliers of novel design, hanging pulpit lamps with shade reflectors, neatly carpeted, with vestibule, and of good acoustic properties. The builders were Messrs. Jerry Clark and Frank Cressey who proved themselves to be superior workmen. The house, though built for considerably less, is easily worth $2,000. Precious subscriptions and donations amounted to $773, to which it was required to add $1,300 on dedication day. The responses aggregated $1,332.95, making a total of $2,105.95. Members of other denominations, and non-professing christians contributed freely. Considering that the village contains only about three hundred inhabitants, that the Lutherans dedicated a still costlier house but two weeks before, and that the Disciple church has only about twenty-five resident members, the acquittal of all deserves high praise. Of course neighboring Disciple churches, Somerset, Johnstown, Berlin and Daley, were represented, and brought their pocket-books with them. I followed the Sunday work by evening preaching to fair audiences up to Saturday, and Elder McCallum protracts it through this week.

Everything cheap and pretty.

The January number of North American Review is an excellent one. It presents no very famous names among its contributors but it offers a wide variety of unusually readable articles. We are now so safely over the crisis of the presidential election that men of all parties can consider calmly Bishop Huntington's essay on "Vituperation in Politics," and it is to be hoped that what they learn from it will not be forgotten four years hence. Under the title, "The Reunited South," Henry Watterson presents with great clearness the southern and democratic view of the political situation as it now stands. This also is extremely interesting to every citizen, whether he agrees with Mr. Watterson or not. Another question of universal concern, which some think will soon make itself a national issue, is that of labor and its compensation; and Col. Hinton, in "American Labor Organizations," show with what equipment it will take the field. But the article that the literary reader will first turn to is Frederic Harrison's brilliant and incisive discussion of "Froude's Life of Carlyle;" while the religious or philosophical reader will find Courtney's "Socrates, Buddha and Christ," specific statements and quotations of t[he] parallel doctrines that are so often v[ar]ious alluded to. For the scientific reader Proctor discusses learnedly "Herschel's Surveys," and Prof. Le Conte presents explains some curious facts in re[gard] "The Evidence of the Senses." [Dr.] hall's paper on "The Increase of [Pop]ulation" is a successful endeavor to render [the] of figures popularly intelligible.

REPORT OF THE SOMERSET SCHOOLS.

In this report I have little [to] of the previous month in the [Somerset] tistics. The attendance [has] ly the same. Average [attendance] tually unchanged. [Punc]tuality and Tardiness has increased since my last report. I believe fully forty per cent. of the last month's enrollment, at the upper building, have been on the tardy list. Some truancy has prevailed, which I think may safely be put down to the "Skating Rink." Truancy I regard, not as a school offence, but a direct act of disobedience to the parent, which the teacher should report to the parent, and there the teacher's responsibility in the matter ends. This is my view; other educators may differ from me, but I have good authority for my opinion. Tardiness, however, is a school offence, and must be met by school punishment, which should be strengthened by home authority.

I have instructed my assistants to announce a two week's vacation, instead of one week, as heretofore. Christmas coming when it does, on Thursday, seemed to justify the measure. My experience, also, in the schools of Somerset, has shown me that the attendance invariably decreases very much during the week preceding Christmas, and I have already noted the usual diminution during the past week. The progress of the Borough Schools has been eminently satisfactory to me during the month and term thus far. My assistants have my thanks for their efforts.

Yours Truly,
A. C. HOLSERT,
Principal of Schools.

SOMERSET, Pa., December 20, 1884.

We are in receipt of a programme from County Superintendent Weller, for the Teachers' Institute, which will open in the Court House next Monday afternoon. If the programme is any indication, the coming week promises to be one well filled with interest and pleasure for the Somerset county teachers. The instructors from abroad are Dr. A. N. Raub, of Lock Haven, Prof. S. A. Baer, of Reading, and Prof. W. B. Hall, of Lancaster. The lecturers are Burdette, Copeland, and last, but not least, Chaplain McCabe. Who has not heard of "Bob" Burdette, and laughed over his funny and witty sayings, and who that has not heard but has a desire to do so. His subject Tuesday evening will be "The Rise and Fall of the Mustache," and if you want to get a comfortable seat, you had better secure your ticket at an early day. Colonel L. F. Copeland will lecture on "Snobs and Snobbery" Wednesday evening, and will delight and entertain his audience. Thursday evening Chaplain McCabe will lecture on the "Bright Side of Life in Libby Prison." We care not what others may say, but we know of no other lecturer whom we would rather hear than Chaplain McCabe. He is an orator; a humorist; one of the most forcible and pleasing speakers we have ever ever heard. His pictures of battle scenes are most graphic and life-like; the story of his capture and imprisonment, is full of interest. The Columbia (Ind.) Commercie says of him:

"We have heard Beecher, Tilton, and other noted lecturers, but we consider the lecture of Rev. C. C. McCabe, D. D., delivered at Central Hall on Wednesday of last week, on "The Bright Side of Life in Libby Prison," the grandest thing to which we have ever listened. The Chaplain held his audience for about an hour and a half, and when he closed we heard but one expression from his hearers, and that was that they regretted that he did not continue much longer. He would have his audience shedding tears one moment, and the next would have them convulsed with laughter. It was just such a lecture, we think, as is calculated to do a great deal of good."

Reserved seat tickets for the three lectures will be on sale at Boyd's drug store, where a plot of the room can be seen. We would advise our readers not to delay in purchasing their tickets, if they wish to secure good seats.

Any person purchasing articles to the value of $1.00 or more from Edward McDowell between this date and the first day of January A. D. 1885, will be entitled to a guess at the whole number of articles in the jar—Peas, Beans & Hickory Nuts—and the person guessing the number nearest to the amount in the jar, after a careful count, will draw the handsome Lady's Gold Watch and Chain worth $65.00 together with the case, now on exhibition at the Jewelry store of E. McDowell, Somerset, Pa.

Another plan for raising money at church sociables has been discovered. It is called a weight sociable and is managed as follows: The ladies are placed on a scale and the names and weight put in sealed envelopes. Each gentleman draws an envelope and opening it he finds the name of the person he is expected to take to supper. Oysters are served. He pays for the same at the rate of half a cent a pound for as many pounds as his partner weighs. These socials will furnish a great deal of amusement.

This, from the Hustonstown, will be important information for our farmer friends: "I will give your readers my remedy for keeping mice and weevil beetles out of my granary. Hang up a few pieces of tarred paper in the granary, and the vermin will not stay. It will also clear mice from the garret of the house. Scatter a few pieces of paper about the garret, and one need not lay awake nights on account of the racing of mice and rats, for they will not stay where tarred paper perfumes the air. Tack it up and hang a few strips inside the henhouse and mice will not stay long even there."

The supreme court of the United States has decided by five justices against four dissenting, that a railroad employe who is injured by the carelessness of a train conductor can recover against the railroad company, since the conductor and the employe, who was in this case the engine driver are not fellow servants in the sense that would free the company from liability to them for the negligence of each other. The conductor was in superior authoritory to them, and therefore made the company responsible to them for his carelessness. This is an important modification of the decisions upon the subject, and will subject railroad companies to liability in many cases in which they have generally been supposed to be free from it.
