Hundreds of Wolves in a Cave.

A day or two ago a farmer came into Lawrence, Kansas, with the report that he had discovered a cave on his farm that was inhabited by prairie wolves, and from what he could find out they numbered about three hundred. He had killed a few, but the rest would not come out, and he was afraid to enter the cave. Preparations were at once made to raid the den. A large party arrived at the place yesterday morning, and turning the dogs loose one or two of them rushed into the cave and were at once torn to pieces. A force of men then commenced operations, and in a short time dug hole into the cave back of the wolves. Two men entered, and all the dogs that could be found, and advanced on the rear of the mass of animals, who had by this time assembled in the front part of the cavern. The dogs became frightened and beat a retreat, and the men, af-This Powder never raries. A morved of parity, ter firing a few shots, also got out, strength and wholesomeness.
