A REMARKABLE SYSTEM

The Chinese Civil Service That has Out-Lived the Changes of Two Thousand Years

The Chinese civil service is the most remarkable invention of a wonderful people. It covers the whole of the immense empire. It supplies the place of a national education law, and stimulates every active intellect to laborious duty. Every Chinese father hopes that his son may prove a successful student, may pass two, at least, of the public examinations, and become at last a public official. For this he prays. sacrifices, consults the sooth-savers. WHOLE NO. 1810, the geomancers and the fates.
