Somerset, Pa., June 16, 1886.

Michael Beam of Berlin, and Joseph Shaffer of Somerset, have been appointed sole Agents for the Excelsior Slate Paint Company. This famous paint is used for painting roofs of all kinds, and is the only one that gives perfect satisfaction. A number of painters are selling an imitation paint in different parts of the county. No person without a certificate from the company can handle the Excelsior Slate Paint. Ask all agents to see their certificates before purchasing. Messrs. Beam and Shaffer expect to visit all parts of the county and will give all an opportunity to have their roofs covered with this excellent paint. We refer, with permission, to John Samuel Snyder and W. S. Mowry, Trustees, Henry Long and David Heiple, Somerset, and to a host of others for whom they have done work. They painted Mr. Heiple's barn last summer, and his house this. They gave the jail stable a dressing, as well as a number of other buildings in this borough, which they would like persons to examine and see for themselves.

It is Beaver for Governor.

Republicans are pleased with the ticket.

The primary is over. Now let every Republican in the county support the ticket.

Elder James Dando, formerly of this place, but now of Salem, Ohio, will preach in the Disciple church on Saturday.

Hon. A. J. Colborn and R. S. Scull left for Harrisburg this morning to be present at the meeting of the State Convention.

Miss Leora C. Hay, who has been attending the Conservatory of Art and Music, at Akron, the past year, returned home Friday.

Mr. Jacob I. Kaufman, of Conemaugh township, who was burned out some time ago, moved into his new house last Thursday, just one day less than three weeks after the conflagration.

Many of the Republican Return Judges who were in Somerset Tuesday in attendance at the convention dropped into the Herald office during their stay here. They were all welcome visitors.

Miss Nannie Weigley, of Schaefferstown, Pa., who is visiting Miss Marian Frease, Miss Jennie Davis, of Stoystown, and Miss Lizzie Casebeer, paid the Herald office a pleasant visit Saturday last. Call again.

The colored brethren, who for the last three or four years have held their annual camp-meeting in Hugus' grove, south of town, will pay us another visit this season. The meeting will commence on the — day of July.

Delegates Charley C. Shafer and W. S. Morgan left for Harrisburg Tuesday morning to attend the Republican State Convention, which meets in that city to-day. They will support General Beaver, who in all probability will be nominated without opposition.

The G. A. R. and Sons of Veterans of Ursina advertise a basket picnic and sociable for July 3d. A match game of ball between the Somerset and Ursina teams will be one of the many attractions. Excursion tickets will be sold from all stations on the B. & O.

Will Meyers, youngest son of Hon. B. F. Meyers, graduated last week from the Harrisburg High School, and stepped right into the position of city editor of the Daily Patriot. He has the best wishes of his many friends in Somerset for a successful career in journalism.

The primary election Saturday, so far as this borough and township are concerned, passed off in a very pleasant and quiet manner. There was considerable electioneering done by the different candidates and their friends, but it was done without wrangling or quarreling.

James B. O'Connor, Esq., has taken down his shingle and gone to Johnstown, where he will continue the practice of the law. "Doc" made many warm friends in Somerset during the several years he resided here, and has hosts of them in the county, whose best wishes go with him for success in his profession.

No candidate having offered for County Surveyor, as provided for by the rules, at the late Republican primary, the County Committee Tuesday recommended that the name of William Baker, of Milford township, the present Surveyor, be placed upon the ticket. It will accordingly be found with the names of the other candidates at the head of our editorial columns.

The lecture by Col. Conwell on Friday evening last, under the auspices of the Somerset Normal and Preparatory School, was a rare intellectual treat. Those who heard his "Acres of Diamonds" at the last County Institute will agree with us that while it abounded in solid chunks of wisdom, illustrated with anecdotes and enlivened with humor it was withal intensely interesting. His recent Lecture on the "Heroism of a Private Life" is fully as good, and some think, better. Nothing was bad but the weather, which was mean enough for anything,—spoiling the receipts and leaving the projectors in the lurch.

Republican County Convention.—The Republican return judges met in convention at the Court House at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning, the judges from almost every precinct in the county being present. The convention was called to order by Acting Chairman Sanner, who, by virtue of his office presided over its deliberations. B. F. Snyder, of Ursina, and C. W. Pugh, of Stoystown, were elected Vice Presidents, and J. C. F. Miller, of Rockwood, Recording Secretary. The Chairman appointed Samuel F. Picking and H. F. Knepper Statistical Secretaries. The returns were opened and counted, as provided for in the rules. The next thing in order being the election of a Chairman of the County Committee for the ensuing year, Captain Samuel Lowry, in a neat little speech, proposed the name of Captain W. H. Sanner. The mention of Captain Sanner's name was received with cheers and loud applause, and he was elected by acclamation. The members of the convention highly appreciated the satisfactory manner in which Captain Sanner had conducted the late primary, and were unanimous in their choice of him as Chairman. Mr. A. F. Demer, of Meyersdale, without opposition, was elected Chairman pro tem. A. J. Hileman, of Somerset, Sam Mier, of Salisbury, and S. P. Pearbaugh, of Northampton, were then elected as the Executive Committee for the ensuing year. The following resolutions, offered by W. H. Miller, Esq., of Quemahoning township, were unanimously adopted by the Convention:

Resolved, That the hearty thanks of this Convention of Return Judges be tendered Capt. W. H. Sanner, the acting Chairman, for his laborious, conciliatory and efficient conduct of the primary canvass.

Resolved, That we earnestly commend to the voters of the Congressional and Senatorial districts the candidates selected by the Republicans of this county, as gentlemen in every way worthy of their support.

The closing exercises of the great normal class of 1886 took place in the Opera House last Thursday evening. The weather was unfavorable, yet there was a large audience in attendance. To say that they were pleased would be drawing it mild, indeed; everybody seemed delighted. All the performances were really good. It was a matter of surprise that the young men, while preparing for a teachers' examination, could spare time to prepare and memorize so much original matter, to be delivered before an intelligent and critical audience. Of these, Will Jackson's performance, which was the longest, was also considered the best, but that of J. D. Meyers received the most applause. The ladies, too, all acquitted themselves so well that it seemed difficult to distinguish between good, better and best. Ordinary school exhibitions are apt to be a bore, both on account of their great length, and the mumbling and feeble style of delivery. But in this case the programme was just long enough, relieved as it was by excellent music in the intervals. Nearly all of the performers had been members of the class taught by Prof. Stutzman, the best teacher of reading in the county, to which fact the success and interest of the exhibition were in a great measure owing. The following is the program:

Recitation—"Brier Rose"
Louise Scull.
Reading—"Station Agent's Story"
Jessie G. Ankeny.
Essay—"Shadows of Neglected Opportunities"—Lizzie O. Saylor.
Oration—"Fountain of American Happiness"
J. D. Meyers.
Recitation—"The Last Hymn"
Helen Hook.
Reading—"Her Letter"
Edna E. Baer.
Essay—"A Girl's Trials"
Ella K. Vogel.
Oration—"March of the Anglo Saxon"
W. M. Jackson.
Debate—Question: "Can Arbitration be Substituted for War in Settling National Difficulties?"—Affirmative, H. F. Barron; Deny, Charles F. Livengood. Judges, Rev. J. H. Zinn, J. M. Berkey, J. D. Meese.

By a unanimous vote of the Convention Wm. Baker, of Milford No. 1 was nominated County Surveyor.

By a unanimous vote of the Convention Wm. H. Sanner, of Somerset Borough was elected County Chairman.

Scott Rush, of Ursina, fell down stairs at the St. Charles Hotel, in Pittsburgh, last week and broke his leg.

Miss Fannie Baer, who has been visiting her brother in Streator, Ill., for the past three years, returned home Tuesday.

There will be a basket picnic in the grove near Jenner X Roads, on the 3d of July. A general invitation is extended and a good time promised.

Senator Cameron's wife presented her husband with a bouncing boy one day last week. The Senator is reported as never having appeared so happy in his life before.

Judge White, of Indiana, has instructed the constables of that county to look out for Canada thistles, and to prosecute all persons who harbor them on their premises.

Prof. Ed. C. Heffley, of Berlin, we learn, has located in Connellsville, where he will give instructions in instrumental music. Prof. Heffley recently returned from Germany, where he graduated at the famous Berlin Conservatory.

Editor Herald:—Some time ago I noticed an article in your paper, taken from the Philadelphia Times, which gives the story of the first hanging in Somerset, and states one of the young men connected with it was Hon. Jeremiah S. Black. The article states that it occurred in 1816, but this is an error. It occurred on the 23d day of January, 1827.

Somerset Township Items.

There will be an abundant oats crop this year.

Some of our farmers have already commenced making hay.

Misses Lizzie J. Weller, Kate Gohn, and Grace Risheberger attended the Spring term of the Somerset Normal.

Every business has its drawbacks, and especially is this the case with the horse business. Our farmers have lost a great many spring colts this season, and in some cases the mare with the colt.

Fourth of July Excursion via Pennsylvania Railroad.—In pursuance of its usual custom the Pennsylvania Railroad Company will sell excursion tickets between all principal stations on it's owned, operated and leased lines, on July 2d, 3d, 4th and 5th, good to return until the 6th, at greatly reduced rates. By this arrangement the great national holiday may be spent in visiting friends, or in making pleasant excursions to some of the many points of interest located on the company's lines. The intervention of Sunday gives an additional day to those whose time is occupied by business, and this, with the liberal limit of the excursion tickets, affords opportunity for the enjoyment of a nice holiday trip.

Remarkable Growth of Barley.

Wm. H. Miller, of Quemahoning Township, says that on the 28th day of April last he sowed a piece of barley, and as this has been a remarkable growing season the barley grew very rapidly, so that by the 19th of June it was fully headed, and on the 28th of June filled out. Thus it will be seen that in sixty-six days from the time it was sown it had fully matured, ready to ripen. Mr. Miller would like to hear from any one who has anything that excels this rapid growth of any of the cereals. This was grown on land that had been heavily limed and manured, and had been in corn last year. This spring he drilled in two hundred pounds of I. P. Thomas's Tip Top Phosphate per acre.

Our School.

A brief account of the Normal School taught at Stoystown by Prof. Cover and others during the Spring Term.

We have been informed that the school numbered nearly one hundred. The conduct of the students on our streets recommends them to be ladies and gentlemen in every respect. We have visited their Literary Society which we must say was conducted in an able manner. Prof. Cover informed me that during the entire term of school and in the society, a good spirit prevailed, and although the arguments were earnest, the students never showed anger; but a kind and forbearing disposition. The school gave a grand closing entertainment on Wednesday evening, which was highly appreciated. Judging from all a man may observe outside of a school, allow me as a citizen to say that we consider this one of the most advanced and polished normal schools that was ever taught in our borough.

Of Interest to Postmasters.—Postmasters throughout the country are watching a case that is now before Congress with considerable interest. Frank J. Burrows is the ex-Postmaster of Williamsport. On August 2, 1884, his office was robbed of stamps and money to the amount of $4,022. The theft happened at noon, while Mr. Burrows was at lunch, the office being in charge of the clerk, Edward Shay. A boy came to the door and called Shay out and told him that a gentleman outside wished to speak to him. Shay left the office for about five minutes, and in that time the thieves got away with the money. Two other postoffice employes were in the room at the time. The thieves were heard at once, and they said if Burrows would agree not to prosecute and pay a certain amount they would return the stamps. In cases where a postoffice has been robbed the postmaster general has the authority to make good the loss of stamps to the extent of $2,000, but as the loss in this case is greater and was caused by larceny and not burglary, Burrows can only get relief by an act of Congress. Accordingly he presented his claim before the committee on claims last congress. After a hearing the majority of the committee found that Burrows had ample help to protect his money and stamps and that the theft was made possible by carelessness, and it refused to recommend the passage of the act of relief. The minority of the committee, however, were strongly in favor of giving Burrows the relief demanded. At the present session of congress Burrows has renewed his claim, and it is now before the committee.

Barn Raising.—On Thursday, last, Frederick Weller, one of the most successful farmers of Somerset township, raised a large barn on his farm, measuring 50x100 feet. Joseph Auman was the architect and builder. The Kuhs brothers built the fine stone foundation, which is neat and substantial. There were three hundred and thirty persons at the raising, about two hundred and fifty of which were men, and eighty women. The oldest woman was 80 years old, and was lively, and seemed to enjoy this large gathering of friends very much. The table was about sixty feet long, and was loaded down with all the good things of the season. Part of the day was disagreeable and rainy. The people had come to Mr. Weller's to raise his barn, and they knew no halt during the showers, and when the dinner bell sounded the magnificent frame was up and ready for the top plates. After dinner several speeches were made. Then the men put up the plates and rafters, and by supper time the barn raising was completed, and Frederick Weller and many others were taken up bodily and carried about the premises, with cheer upon cheer. Mrs. Weller and her many assistants won the well wishes of all, and they will long be remembered for the good dinner and supper prepared for the occasion.

At the present term of the Criminal Court in Indiana County, Judge Harry White made an important decision on the effect of an Act of Assembly, passed by the last Legislature, relating to embezzlement by tax collectors. Joseph Faloon was collector of taxes for Indiana in 1883. He was charged with failing to pay over collected taxes and indicted for embezzlement. His counsel moved to quash the indictment for the reason that the offense, being created by the criminal code of March 31, 1860, which provides a punishment by sentence "to imprisonment by separate or solitary confinement at labor not exceeding five years, or to pay a fine not exceeding $5000, or both, at the discretion of the court." The defendant's counsel contended this latter act repealed, by implication the criminal code act of 1860, under which the defendant was indicted, and that if the defendant was convicted of the offense charged to have been committed in 1884 he could not be sentenced.

Judge White so held, and delivered an opinion quashing the indictment. It would thus appear that a tax collector can not now be tried and sentenced for embezzlement committed prior to June 3, 1885. The Judge decided this would not have been so if there had been a saving clause to the act of 1885.

Fourth of July at Gettysburg.—A Grand Demonstration on the Field.—The encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic and the reunion of the Third Army Corps at Gettysburg, will appropriately occur on the anniversary of the great battle which was waged on the historic ground 23 years ago. The Pennsylvania Department of the Grand Army of the Republic encamps on the field from July 2d to 7th, and on the 2d and 3d the reunion of the Third Army Corps will be held. During the entire week ceremonies of the most interesting character will be held every day, which will be participated in by the veterans of the fight. It is expected that from five to seven thousand members of the Grand Army of the Republic will be present, including many officers who were engaged in the fight. Generals Sickles, Fitzhugh Lee and Longstreet have accepted invitations to be present and to speak. The meeting will undoubtedly be one of the most imposing demonstrations of modern times, and will be worthy of the presence of every American citizen. To those who desire to get all the points of the battle no better opportunity will ever present itself, for in addition to the number of soldiers who were engaged in the fight, there will be a large number of experienced guides, who will point out to visitors every spot of interest, and give all the information possible as to the events of the memorable days of the battle. For the benefit of the large number of visitors who will be drawn to Gettysburg, the Pennsylvania Railroad Company will sell excursion tickets from all principal stations on its lines east of Pittsburgh and Erie on June 30th, July 1st, 2d, 3d, 4th, and 5th, good to return until the 10th inclusive, at one fare for the round trip.

What Our Neighbors Say.

The Somerset Herald has just celebrated its sixtieth birthday. About half this time the Herald had been under the control of Ed. Scull, Esq., who has made it one of the best and most successful weekly newspapers of the State. Long wave the Herald.—Bedford Inquirer.

The Somerset Herald has reached the sixtieth year of its useful life. To do justice to so important an event it came out in a handsome and becoming new suit of type. The Herald is a very excellent local paper. —Harrisburg Patriot.

The Somerset Herald comes to us this week (60 years old and in an entire new dress. It presents a neat typographical appearance, and is one of the oldest edited journals in Western Pennsylvania.—Petrolia Record.

The Somerset Herald came out last week in a new dress from top to bottom, to celebrate its sixtieth birthday. The Herald is up in years, but it's anything but feeble.—Connellsville Courier.

That old and reliable Republican paper, the Somerset Herald, celebrates its sixtieth birthday, with a bran new dress. Ed. Scull, Esq., that able and fearless editor, has had charge of it for 35 years—and may he live to conduct it for many more to come.—Hollidaysburg Register.

The Somerset Herald last week entered upon its sixtieth volume, and it celebrated the event by appearing in a handsome new dress from head to toe. The Herald is a good paper, and we wish it and its veteran editor, Col. Ed. Scull, continued prosperity.—Huntingdon Journal.

The Somerset Herald with its last issue entered upon the sixtieth year of its existence and celebrated the event by donning a new dress. It has been thirty-five years in the hands of its present proprietor, Mr. Scull, who has made it a vigorous, fearless newspaper, ably upholding the Republican cause for the Somerset "frosty sons of thunder."—Uniontown Standard.

Mack Dickson, of Greensburg, was shot and instantly killed at the Parker House, Latrobe, last Wednesday night by Frank B. Keenan, of the same place. Keenan, with a companion named Rumbaugh, a rough of Greensburg, and C. A. Walton, proprietor of the Parker House, were about to go up stairs when Dixon called to Rumbaugh "to not to let them take him to the garobling room." Keenan turned and asked if the remark was intended for him, to which Dixon replied: "Yes, if you take it that way." Dixon proceeded to divest himself of his coat, when Keenan drew a large self-cocking revolver and fired at Dixon three times in rapid succession, one of the balls entering Dixon's body at a point near his heart and the other two in the abdomen and thigh. Keenan attempted to shoot a fourth time, but was prevented. He then gave himself up and was taken to the Greensburg jail early Thursday morning.

The cause of the tragedy is supposed to have been an old feud of two years' standing. About twelve years ago Dixon hit a man named Beck, of Irwin, on the head with a poker, inflicting a dangerous wound. This was at a dance in Adamsburg, and for the offense he served six months in the county jail. In 1878, while tending bar in Greensburg for his father, he struck one Chisholm, the latter falling on a spittoon and breaking his neck. Dixon was tried, convicted, and served two years in the penitentiary. After his release he returned to Greensburg and entered into business. He did well for about a year, after which he returned to his evil ways and had since been doing but little good. He returned recently from Chicago, where he was engaged as book-keeper for a butterine firm, to testify as a witness in a conspiracy case, and he had intended returning to Chicago Friday. He was thirty years old and was a member of the Knights of Honor, in which order he held a policy of $3,000, payable to his sister, Miss Docia Dixon. Frank Keenan is one of the proprietors of the Fisher House at Greensburg, and has always borne a good reputation. Two years ago he had some trouble with Dixon, since which time he has been in constant dread of him, having frequently learned that Dixon would do him up.
