The Latest Cave-in

HAZLETON, July 1.-Between 3 and 4 o'clock this morning an immense cave in occurred on the Lehigh Valley Railroad at No. 8 Stockton Breaker. The first alarm was given by a miner employed at the slope, and throngs of people hastened to the spot. The cave-in is about 300 feet long and 160 wide. When the accident occurred there was a tereible crash and the shock was felt for some distance. Three tracks, on one of which were two trucks loaded with lumber, were swallowed up by the falling in of the carth. Telegraph and telephone poles and wires. and in fact everything in that immediate vicinity, went down with one sudden crash. The Anchor freight train was due about an hour later, and precautions were at one taken to have the train signaled and stopped. before it could reach the scene of the accident. The freight train, having been signaled, remained at Stockton, where the freight was unloaded from the cars and delivered to those of the Hazleton merchants who felt inclined to hand it by team to the town. All trains from North and South were delayed for some time, and the 6.05 train did not leave the depot at this place at all. An excursion under the auspices of several of the Sunday schools was postponed until some future date. This excursion would have been a very large one, and the accident or urring so early as it did probably prevented a new track was commenced on the north that point within a day or two.
