It is published as a fact that two-thirds of the Statesmen who live in the United States began their career as teachers in the district schools.

It is alleged that Captain Mackey of the Erie district will contest the seat of Congressman Scott in the next House, and is prepared to prove that he purchased his reelection.

On Thanksgiving-day a report was circulated in the West that an attempt had been made to kill the President. Some had wanted to create a sensation. This and nothing more.

The Third Assistant Postmaster General says in his annual report that the postal service will soon be self-sustaining again, notwithstanding the reduction in postage made sometime since.

It is asserted that since the first of May last 2,500 Government liquor licenses have been issued in Kansas. The saloons and bars have been closed and the drug stores have taken their places.

General Chase, Clerk of the House of Representatives figures out a Democratic majority of fifteen in the next House, leaving out five members who are not closed with either of the leading parties.

Secretary of the Navy Whitney on Thanksgiving day presented every married man in his department with a five fat turkey. There are about 900 of them and the gift amounted to probably $1,500.

While our legislators are revising the Revenue bill at the coming session, why not stop the section taxing gold watches and pleasure carriages? Not more than one out of ten watches that are carried, and family vehicles are no longer an article of luxury, but are a necessary appendage to every well-to-do farmer's household.

On the eve of the returns the Democrats have two of a majority in the Indiana Legislature which will enable them to elect a United States Senator in place of the present Republican Senator Gen. Ben Harrison. The seat of several Democratic members of the House are contested, and should the Republican constants make good their claims Senator Harrison will be his own master.

Opponents usually make speeches and whoop up for Grover as stoutly as they can, and they are not guilty of offensive partisanship. But just as often they intimate that the administration is not the greatest, and most benign that the sun ever shone upon and presto! off go their heads. Such is civil service reform, with Cleveland as its prophet. Now you see the little joker, and now you don't.

As we now it turns out that Judge Manning our new Minister to Mexico no sooner arrived at the capital of the Aztecs than he went upon a jamboree. Secretary Bayard will have to turn up a cold water Democrat, if such a rare bird is to be found, to represent us at the Mexican capital. Manning being the second of his lieutenants who has brought us into disrepute by a too fervid devotion to the flowing line.

In fighting on the political status of the United States Senate in the next session the Democrats have been choosing Senator Van Wyck of Kansas—who is a candidate for reelection—as an independent with Democratic inclinations. Mr. Van Wyck is now reported as saying, that if he cannot be re-elected he will withdraw rather than see a Democrat elected to the senate from Kansas. It strikes us that Mr. Van Wyck may be safely classed as a Republican.

The next Legislature will have to address itself to the duty of radically amending, or clearly knocking out of the Revenue act of last session. The taxpayers are determined to insist to its inequitable features, the decision of the Supreme Court holding that under its provisions are exempt from taxation, while those held by individuals are subject to tax, and the fact that it raises more revenue than is necessary, and to make it exceedingly unpopular, and to create a demand for its repeal.

Common report has it that, Chairman Cooper, who is also a State Senator, is to be made Secretary of the Commission on the subject of the tariff. This has started a question as to the eligibility of Mr. Cooper, and lawyers and politicians are discussing it with much interest. Section 6, Article 2 of the Constitution seems to be very clear on the subject. It is as follows:

No Senator or Representative shall, during the time for which he shall have been elected, be appointed to any civil office under this Commonwealth.

It is held by Mr. Cooper's friends, that this provision does not forbid a Senator or Representative who resigns, from being appointed to a civil office by the Governor, but that it seems clear that the phrase "during the term for which he shall have been elected," can bear no other interpretation than, the term of four years, and that a resignation does not end the term, for which he was elected. The question is an interesting one, and of course the Governor elect, if he proposes to appoint Mr. Cooper, will first seek the opinion of the ablest constitutional lawyers in the State.

The session of Congress that will begin in a few days will have in its membership an unusually large number of representatives of the majority party, that have been re-elected by the popular verdict. This state of affairs is likely to bring forth reckless and unwise legislation, and a waste of time and be productive of but little useful legislation. There is not likely to be any change of policy on the part of the majority, and a part from the passage of the necessary appropriation bills the session will probably be consumed in thrashing over old straw, particularly on the tariff question. It is apparently an unchanged purpose on the part of the Democratic leaders to destroy the protective system, and nothing but the lack of power on their part will prevent its accomplishment during the present session. The late election has taught these gentlemen nothing, and they are not likely to be any more determined to abide by it, notwithstanding the popular verdict. The Republican minority is freed from all responsibility on the subject of legislation. Its course has been approved by its party friends, and the next members have been returned to the next Congress. It has but to stand fast by the course it marked out during the late session and rest content with the assurance that the Democratic party is fast losing its temporary hold upon the people.

Explosion in a Mine.

WILKESBORO, Nov. 28.—An explosion of gas occurred in the Conyngham shaft this morning. Many miners were killed and seriously injured. The shaft is owned and operated by the Delaware and Hudson Company, and was known to contain considerable gas.

The explosion occurred while the men were getting ready to go to work. About fifty miners and laborers were sitting at the foot of the shaft. Only three or four of them escaped without injury. A number, possibly ten or twelve, were killed, and many others were injured.

The explosion was caused by Cornelius Boyle, a miner, who was struck by a gas-filled chamber, which was filled with gas, with a lighted lamp upon his hat. Many miners were killed or wounded, and the damage to the shaft was considerable.

The men at the colliery while the injured men were being taken from the shaft were terrified. A crowd of several hundred people had gathered at the mouth of the shaft among them the miners, mothers, and families of the injured men. As they were taken out of the pit they were brought to the engine house, and the women made desperate efforts to gain entrance. Their entreaties and frantic demonstrations of grief were fruitless, but they were allowed to look on.

As far as possible they were taken to the hospital or to their homes. These men are believed to be fatally hurt.

Terrible Mine Disaster.
WILKESBORO, Pa., Nov. 28.—Shortly after the miners and laborers entered the Conyngham shaft this morning an explosion of gas killed and seriously injured many of the men, and nearly every man in the mine was seriously injured. About 30 men, miners and laborers, were sitting at the foot of the shaft waiting for the inside hoist when the terrible explosion took place, and the men were killed or injured.

Many miners were killed and wounded, and the damage to the shaft was considerable. The explosion was caused by Cornelius Boyle, a miner, who was struck by a gas-filled chamber, which was filled with gas, with a lighted lamp upon his hat.

Cleveland's Tariff Views.
WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—President Cleveland says in reference to the tariff question: "It seems that my views on the tariff have been very much misunderstood. I am not a free trader, nor am I what some call a high protective tariff man. I believe that there is a middle ground upon which we can all stand with perfect regard for the interests of industry and the sufficiency of the revenue."

An Explosion Felt for Miles.
LANCASTER, Pa., Nov. 25.—The powder mill at Plattville, Grant county, was blown up last night. Twelve thousand pounds of powder were in the mill at the time. The explosion was felt for miles.

A Large Barn Destroyed by Fire.
LANCASTER, Pa., Nov. 27.—A large barn owned by Daniel Miller, near "The Buck," this county, was burned last night. Three horses, six cows, wheat, corn and tobacco crops and all the farm implements were destroyed. Loss, $7,000, partially insured.

A FAMILY BUTCHERED.

And Their Bodies Burned—The Murder Revealed by a Son of the Victim.
WILLIAMSBURG, Ky., November 27.—It is developed that the family of eight persons supposed to have been burned to death in Knox county a month since, were murdered, their throats being cut from ear to ear.

The particulars are as follows: The family, whose name was Poe, were said to have had a neighbor whose reputation was bad, they having an illegitimate son aged ten years. Being refused admittance to Poe's house, they became enraged and planned the horrible murder. The murder took place in the night when Mr. Poe was absent. The boy, suffering under a severe chastisement from his reputed father, now tells the whole story.

He says the mother was talking about the murder to several of her neighbors. During the night, when Mr. Poe was absent, the boy, who was a neighbor, went to the house and killed the family.

Don't Go to Pittsburgh

Unless you visit Kaufmann's Grand Depot, the beautiful business block of 13 stores in one, and nearly 60,000 square feet of salesrooms, at the corner of Fifth Avenue and Smithfield Street. It is Smoky City's greatest and most imposing sight. A wonder of modern times! A revelation to the commercial world! The favorite of the masses and the terror of competitors. Think of it! $150,000 worth of Men's and Boys' Clothing, Hats, Caps and Furnishing Goods, Boots and Shoes for all ages of both sexes, as well as Trunks, Satchels, etc. All under one roof, and every article of the latest style and the price the very lowest in the country. But it is principally from an economical point of view that you should patronize Kaufmann's. Manufacturing themselves most of the goods they sell, and buying the balance direct from American and European factories and enjoying all the advantages of a unlimited capital and a long experience, it stands to reason that Kaufmanns can easily undersell all competitors. Country merchants within a radius of several hundred miles from Pittsburgh are buying more or less of their supplies from Kaufmanns, and it is safe to presume that in more than one instance you have personally bought a suit, an overcoat, etc., from the home merchant that the latter bought himself at Kaufmanns, to sell again at a high profit. But why swell another man's pocketbook at the expense of your own? BE WISE! Why pay the high-price home dealer probably 25 to 40 per cent. more than the same identical goods are sold for at Kaufmanns? BE WISE! Wouldn't you rather have the money rattled in your own pocket than in some one else's? BE WISE! Look out for your interests! Do as the dealer does—GO TO KAUFMANN'S GRAND DEPOT. Will it pay? Well, we should think! Why, if you live a hundred miles from Pittsburgh you will save enough money on the purchase of a single suit to pay for your fare both ways. We know of a certain farmer of Indiana Co., Pa., who recently bought some goods at Kaufmanns amounting to $58, and when on arriving home, he compared the prices with those of the local dealer, he found that he had saved just $11.45. This is an almost everyday occurrence. But, if you haven't the time to travel to Pittsburgh, what then? Why, patronize KAUFMANN'S MAIL ORDER DEPARTMENT. A penny postal card will bring you home Kaufmann's profusely illustrated Fashion Catalogue, showing the prevailing styles for the Fall and Winter season, 1886-7, and giving full instructions how to order goods by mail. Nobody should fail to write for this beautiful and entertaining book, mailed free of charge to any address. There is really not the slightest excuse or occasion for anyone failing to patronize this Mammoth Outfitting House. Bear in mind, if you need a suit, an overcoat, a pair of pants, a pair of shoes, a hat, a cap, any article of furnishing goods, etc., then buy it at bottom prices by either going or writing to KAUFMANN'S GRAND DEPOT! 5th AVE. & SMITHFIELD ST., PITTSBURGH, PA. 13 STORES IN ONE. 350 EMPLOYES.
