Bixby Was Calm.

One of the Bixby children was seized ith a fit of croup the other night. Bixby heard the little fellow's labored breathing, and bounding over the footboard of the bed, yelled "croup!" in about the same voice that the escaped idiot yells " fire !" at the theatre. Then he tried to put his trousers on over his head, but finally got them on wrong side out, and tore into his shirt with it wrong side in front.

"Jump!" he screamed to his wife, "there isn't a second to lose ! Get the syrup of squills! Put on a tub of hot wa ter ! Give him something to drink !--Get hot flannels on his chest instantly ! Hurry, hurry! Don't lie there doing nothing while the child is choking to death ! Fly around to Mrs. Bixby is one of those meek but eminently sensible and practical little women who never get a tenth part of the credit for the good they do in this world.

While Bixby was racing up and down stairs, declaring that nobody was doing anything but himself, Mrs. Bixby quietly took the little suffer in hand.

"Do something quick?" screeched Bixby, as he upset a pan of hot water on the bed and turned a saucer of melted lard over on the dressing-case. " Here, somebody, quick !" he yelled. "Can't anybody do a thing but me? Run for the doctor, some of you. Give the child some more squills. Is there anything hot at his feet? Give him aconite. He ought to have a spooful of oil ! If he don't get relief instantly he'll die, and here there's nobody trying to do a thing but me!-Bring some warm water with a little soda in it. He ought to have been put in a hot bath an hour ago. Heat up the bath-Pa. room. What's on his chest? Has the child got to die because no one will do a thing for him ?"

Mrs. Bixby, quietly and unaided, brings the child around all right, and sits with him until daylight, after she quieted Bixby down and got him to bed. And the next morning he has the gall to say at the office : "One of my little chaps nearly died with croup last night, and I had mighty hard work bringing him around all right, but I did, after working like a Trojan all night. It's a terrible disease, and scares women nearly to death; they fly all to pieces right off. A person wants their wits about them .--You want to keep perfectly cool and not waste a second in hysterics. That's where a man has the advantage over a a woman in managing a case of croup.
