can people are not only the most critical judges of fine gems, but are also the largest purchasers. So far as diamonds are concerned, they buy more perfect stones clined to be satisfied with the good general effect of a precious stone, not demanding that perfection required here by the same class of bayers. Twenty years ago $15,000 would have been considered a large sum for any family in this country to have invested in diamonds, while to-day more than one family holds gems valued at $500,000. In 1887 the value of diamonds and other stones imported into the United States was $1,318,617, in 1875 it rose to $5,478,757, in 1884 it was $9,139,-460, and in 1886 it reached 88,250,747. From 1867 to 1886, inclusive the total value of imported diamonds and other stones can be set down in rough numbers at $85,000,000. That fine diamonds hold their value well has been evidenced by sales of collections of gems which were appraised for inventory more than a century ago, when stones, bought by dealers to be sold at a profit, brought astoni safe purchase. Words of Wisdom.

Happiness is where it is found and seldoze where it is sought. Error in itself is always invisible; its inture is the absence of light. Quarrels are only pardonable when we wrangle with our own viciousness. Some people are like a boy's rocking horse; full of motion, but no progress.

Speak little, and speak well if you would be looked upon as a man of merit. He who makes a child happy receives an encore from the angels in the gallery. The pain of life but sweetens death; the bardest labor brings the soundest Circumstances are the rules of the weak;

they are but the instruments of the wise. An open mind, and open hand and an open heart, will everywhere find an open Fretfulness of temper will generally characterize those who are negligent of Reputation is what men and women think of us; character is what God and the angels know of us. It will be found that they are the weakest minded and the hardest hearted men that most love change. True politeness is perfect ease and freedom. It simply consists in treating others just as you love to be treated yourself. Every man who rises above the common level receives two educations. First, from his instructors; the second, the most personal and important, from himself. The way of truth'is like a great road. It is not difficult to know it. The evil is only that man will not seek it. Do you go home and search for it. Employment, which Galen calls "Nature's physician, is so essential to human happiness that indolence is justly considered the mother of misery. God made both tears and laughter, and both for kind purposes; for as laughter enables mirth and surprise to breathe freely, so tears enable sorrow to vent itself patiently. Tears hinder sorrow from becoming despair and madness. OLD HONESTY When private virtue is hazarded upon the perilous east of expediency, the pillars of the republic, however apparent their stability, are infected with decay at the very centre.
