REPUBLICAN NOMINATIONS.
STATE.
ELECTORS AT LARGE.
Thomas J. Ryan, Lewis Pugh.

JUDICIARY.
JUSTICE OF THE SUPREME COURT.
JAMES T. MITCHELL, of Philadelphia.

Don't neglect to attend the primary, Saturday.

The public debt was reduced $1,638,000 in May.

The Bourbon nose harmonizes with the loud language.

Bandana may rhyme with Indiana, but it will not ring the vote of the Hoosier State.

Mrs. Logan is an active champion of General Alger, her husband's old friend, for the Presidency.

Lately advised from Chicago as to the effect that the name of the child may be Chancery Mitchell Dewey.

It is any man's fight at Chicago, but it looks as though John Sherman had a tight grip on the longest pole.

General Sheridan is slowly but surely gaining strength. His ultimate recovery is now confidently looked for by his physicians.

Walt Whitman is critically ill at his home in Camden, N. J., with progressive paralysis, which has made him an invalid the past fifteen years.

Assistant District Attorney Samuel A. Boyce, of Philadelphia, has been succeeded as clerk to the chief clerk by William M. Gearhart, board of directors of the state department.

Some of the wise ones predict that the ticket to be nominated at Chicago this week will be Harrison and Morton, or Alger and Phelps. A good guess would be Blaine and Harrison.

Governor Weaver is determined to show his contempt for the superstition regarding Friday as hangerman's day. He has announced his determination never to fix an execution on Friday.

It is reported that the President does not approve of the constant reference to the ticket of "Harrison and Cleveland." When people begin to spell it with a small c the dissatisfaction will increase.

The Rev. Dr. Freeman Clarke left recorded the following interesting text: "In extemporaneous preaching sermons are apt to make their energy too long. Twenty minutes is long enough, and the speaker who exceeds that limit spoils the effect of his sermon."

Pittsburgh region iron mills and mills of the Mohawk Valley are closing on account of Democratic agitation, and yet the Democrats had the cheek to put into the St. Louis platform an expression about business being paralyzed by doubt, and to charge it to the wicked Republicans.

Both sets of delegates from Virginia and the District of Columbia will be given seats in the National Convention without the right to vote until the election has been decided. The Mahone men have been placed on the roll, thus making the opposing delegates the contestants.

The suit of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company against the Sixth Penn. has had its beginning. When the end will be no one can tell. The hearing has been continued till fall. Those in authority assert that this will in no way interfere with their going ahead and constructing the road.

The Platform Committee at Chicago will not, like that at St. Louis, slobber and drink over the platform for two days and nights, and then come out with something that they can not explain. It will be a clear, ringing document for protection that a man can read and understand as he runs.

The Republican conference of the 24th Congressional District who were in session at Pittsburgh all of last week, adjourned Friday without having made a nomination. They will meet again on the 18th of July when the probabilities are, Col. J. M. Reid, of Fayette county, will be nominated.

Commerce has practically stopped work for the Chicago Convention. So many members of both houses are absent that no legislation can be put through if objection is made. Besides political courts, who so prevents any attempt to take advantage of convention sessions for partisan purposes. This is one of the credible features of our political life.

The Democrats have adopted as their flag the red bandana handkerchief which for a long time has been a conspicuous feature of Mr. Thurman's personal equipment. Had Mr. Thurman been placed at the head of the ticket this would have been more appropriate. As it is the Democracy have placed their colors at the rear instead of in front.

President Cleveland has gone back on his promises, violated his pledges, and to-day stands nominated for a second term by means of the very machine that he denounced so vigorously three years and a half ago. But at that time he had no beautiful and amiable wife who was delighted at the attempt to take advantage of the old stand for four years more.

Mr. Henry Watterson, a member of the committee on resolutions of the Democratic National Convention, and a recognized leader in the party, made use of the following language in discussing the proposition to endorse the President's message on the tariff question: "The President's message has committed the party to free trade, and any declaration that is not in accord with the message will discredit the party." We commend the avowal of Mr. Watterson, that went without question in the committee, to those Pennsylvania editors who persistently labor to make believe that the Democratic party is not a free trade party.

GATHERING OF THE CLANS AT CHICAGO.
Delegates all at Sea.—An estimate of the vote on the First Ballot.

CHICAGO, June 16.—Delegates and friends of the various candidates are struggling in from almost every section of the country. The activity around the hotels affords evidence that the excitement is at a high pitch before many hours. The supporters of General Alger are pouring in heavily, and are the friends of Harrison, and there are more activity about the Michigan and Indiana headquarters than at any of the others. The Harrison men are only slightly out of the port balloting this morning to the effect that a trace had been detected between their ranks and those of the other party.

Whether the Californians will persist in nominating and supporting Blaine is still the question of the hour. They say they will not have brought into conference the National Blue Association for the purpose of giving the boom the advantage of organization. The managers of the other booms are hoping that California people will listen to their counsels before next Wednesday. They are also hoping that the Maine man alone. That they will do this, however, is extremely doubtful.

A dispatch was received at the Leland tonight saying that 2,000 Blaine supporters from various points in Kansas would meet on special trains on Friday morning to take a flag with the inscription "Blaine by Acclamation." Blaine contingents are also expected from other points, and altogether there will be plenty of outward demonstration. It is expected that there will be more than 200,000 men at the headquarters of the delegations, while Gresham will get the balance.

CHICAGO, June 18.—The incident of the day, apart from the noise of the brass bands and the waving of the flags, was the arrival of the delegation from Ohio, and the declaration of the Depey men that they are in the fight to win.

The voters' biggest job, Mr. Quay, has lost his interest in the contest. He has lost his delegation will do a vote as you please business in the convention this week. The Colonel himself is for Sherman, but owing to some obligation to Philadelphia he will be compelled to abstain from the fight.

The vote for the Philadelphia Mayor will not have a duplicate outside of his city people, and even they are not sure. Charles Emory Smith is the back of the Philadelphia Mayor. He has already added the vote of the rank and file of Senator Quay, who, much against his will and with a wily face assumed it, and tried to induce Chairman Cooper, the political orphan of Delaware, to give the honor.

CHICAGO, June 17.—Mr. Carnegie was interviewed at York today. He said that Blaine could be President any day if he liked. Mr. Carnegie repudiated Mr. Chamberlain's assertion that Americans did not favor Mr. Garrison's Irish policy and expression of opinion that Mr. Morley had not been challenged. Mr. Chamberlain in the house of commons to name two prominent Americans who did not favor that policy. Americans, said Mr. Carnegie, were not disposed to deal with nations and their chiefs as if they were the people when it was something else. He declared that the fisheries treaty would never be ratified.

The last week has been one of unmitigated anxiety to each and every member of the party, and now that the journey is almost half finished regret is expressed on every side that Clay Castle is drawing so near to that Great Britain is such a small place after all. Since leaving Cranston on Tuesday we have reached through some lovely landscape scenes in the world. A broad, smooth and oak-shaded chesnut, the grand North road ledges to the right and the left with green hedges, with here and there a glimpse of lakes glistening white with the sun, and a field of flapping poppies, with now a view of a butte and sandstone and background only in passing through England in this way, conveying to the eye an impression of a wide and open country. It is not till we have reached the head of the Chesnut that we begin to feel the difference between natives of the shires. Blaine is still very reticent about the movement which, as American citizens indicate, is the most important of the time. It is not till we have reached that effect has come from Mr. Blaine, or even from Mr. Carnegie. I have not the slightest doubt that if nominated Mr. Blaine would accept.

It will be a Shut Down.
PITTSBURGH, Pa., June 17.—The most important resolution that has yet come from the Amalgamated Association Convention was adopted at yesterday's session. It is that the manufacturers firmly believe that the depressed condition of the business does not permit the signing of the Amalgamated Association's card as presented. It is the best interest of both employer and employee to agree to a three month's shut down. The resolution was adopted by a large majority. It was expected that the matter would not come from the lips of delegates, but it was held over until next week.

A three months' shut down would mean a cessation of business such as has not been experienced in years in Pittsburgh and the West. It would mean the temporary throwing out of employment of 14,000 Amalgamated men and thousands of others, indirectly, at the factory fires. Pittsburgh and the Shenango and Mahoning valleys. There would be a big decrease in freight traffic, as there would be a falling off in the shipments of ore, limestone, pig iron and the finished products to export.

It would also mean an entire suspension of work in the Connelville region and the throwing out of employment of 8,000 men there also.

When it is laid out to-day that a three months' shut down was talked of on account of the depressed condition of business the Mills bill was assailed everywhere in the city. It was argued that the Democratic party throughout the country would lose thousands of votes through a practical proposal which was the result of the policy of the Cleveland administration. Congressman Daboll said when told of the threatened shut down: "It is no more than could be expected, and I am sure that it would be for the benefit of the business. It is the depressed condition of the business is due to that bill.

More Crucifers for the Navy.
WASHINGTON, June 16.—The naval appropriation bill will be reported to the House in a few days. It contains an appropriation for two steel cruisers of 3,000 tons each, to cost not over $1,200,000 each, to run nineteen knots per hour; one steel cruiser of 3,200 tons, to run twenty knots per hour, to cost not over $1,500,000; and one of 3,200 tons, to cost not over $1,500,000. The general appropriations $25,000 is provided for the League Island Navy Yard.

A Plague of Locusts.
CHICAGO, June 14.—Dispatches from points in Northern Iowa and Western Illinois report the appearance of swarms of seventeen-year locusts. Professor Riley, of the United States Entomologist, who is present in Chicago, when asked about the locusts said that a well-known brood exists this year, and that this is the first time since 1874 in which a large portion of Illinois and Iowa. In reply to a question as to whether the grasshoppers are to be destructive this year, the Professor could not express a positive opinion. One thing he felt sure of, however, that they will not be as numerous as they did between the years 1873 and 1877.

10,000,000 BET ON A RACE.
Kidwood Wins the Suburban Handicap in Fast Time.

New York, June 14.—The Suburban race and won today, and like last year, it resulted in a surprise. Fully 10,000,000 people bet on the race of the Crown Prince Jockey Club to win the race of all races in this country. It was the opening day, and this, too, availed the crowd considerably, for the Suburban race track of the Eastern States is only a few miles from New York. It was the opening day, and this, too, availed the crowd considerably.

When the time for the starting of the great race arrived, the crowd began to grow restless. They waited impatiently for the race to come out, and when they did the throng gave vent to its feelings by cheering. At last the race was on. As usual, Crown Prince, Prince Frederick Charles, and the Crown Prince. Under the Crown Prince's command were the two Barrier army corps and three Prussian regiments, and two cavalry divisions—over two hundred thousand men. He had the honor of striking the first blow by falling upon the French at Weissenburg on August 14, and two days later assaulting Metz. He was a general in the Duke of Magenta's hosts to tumble back partly upon Strasburg and partly upon Chalons.

The Crown Prince was given the duty of pursuing the Duke of Magenta toward Chalons. With the Prussian army he was followed by the Duke of Magenta's hosts to tumble back partly upon Strasburg and partly upon Chalons.
