On Saturday, November 3d, about 9 a. m. a. ough and ready looking man stepped into the store of Mr. E. G. Henry and asked for obies, after getting which he walked out. Mr. Henry, thinking he was too much in a hurry, began to question him, and learned that he was buying cattle. At this time a we-horse carriage drove up and stopped. Mr. Henry asked the first stranger who the occupants were, what their business was, &c. He said be did not know their busines, but knew the men, who proved to be buying hickens, turkeys, &c., and asked to have their team stabled and fed. The actions of the men aroused Mr. Henry's suspicions, although he said nothing, but kept an eye on them. They kept strutting around with as much importance as though they wanted to buy a farm. About 11 o'clock they had dinner, after which they made their wants known. If appears that one Austin Ravman, with two other men at Ruffsdale, in Westmoreland county, had badly cut up the chief of police, and the strangers said they were the sheriff and constable, and made a search of Mr. P. SUPERVISORS' DUTIES. The Roads Belong to the State, Not to the Township.

In the case of the Commonwealth va. the
