When Calvin S. Brice takes his seat, New York will have three representatives in the United States Senate.

Skating and sleigh-riding are relics of other years, before the north pole was tampered with.

The coming year is likely to be a good one to advocate the English idea that "no water is highly prejudicial to health."

Two girls heading their way East on a freight train, were observed at Greenburg, seated on the ledge between two baggage cars.

The young King of Spain is out of danger. Liberal principles, however, appear to be tightening their grip upon his throne.

Prof. G. M. Phillips, principal of the West Chester State Normal School has declined to be a candidate for State Superintendent of Public Instruction.

The fact that a law suit was brought against her husband so pressed upon the mind of a laboring woman that she made two attempts to take her life.

Applicants for liquor licenses at Pittsburgh are applying for both wholesale and retail licenses, in the hope that they will get one or the other.

The demand for hunting is likely to soon exceed the supply if many of the States follow the patriotic example of Massachusetts. The State of that name has voted to restrict all cities and towns in the State to fly an American flag on the school houses within their limits.

With the new Democratic Governor of Ohio favoring the Australian ballot system and the other Democratic States following the example of Massachusetts, the State of that name has voted to restrict all cities and towns in the State to fly an American flag on the school houses within their limits.

Gov. Green of New Jersey says: "It is the constitutional right of every citizen to vote for whomever he sees fit for an elective office." The Democrats of the South will take issue with the Democratic Governor of New Jersey on that proposition. They hold that the citizen has the constitutional right to vote only for Democrats.

Secretary Blaine and his family will have the sympathy of a great many of his fellow citizens in his latest bereavement by the death of his son and official assistant, Walker Blaine. It is thought that the Secretary lost a brother, a short time since. Mr. Blaine was an able attorney and rendered valuable assistance to the Secretary of State during his short official career.

In the year 1850 Judge Lynch caused the execution of 135 people in the United States, and 139 of these were in the Southern States. This is a black record for the South, ruled by white men alone, where negroes are not allowed even to vote. If this is the law and order of a community ruled by white men, it might be a good idea to see what kind of record could be made where all the citizens are allowed to take part in the government.

All the newspaper manufacturers and democratic druggists who are clamoring for a tariff reform cannot alter or do away with the fact that under our present protective system a day's work in any one of a hundred branches of industry brings to the man who performs it a compensation which represents more food, clothing, and fuel than can be obtained by a similar day's work in any other civilized country on the globe.

The Lancaster News Echo calls attention to the singular fact as regards the organization of the Republican party it has chosen a candidate for the office of Governor from a single county that was then Republican in politics, or that gave the candidate a majority of its votes. Curtin, from Centre; Geary, from Cumberland; Hartranft, from Montgomery; Hoyt, from Luzerne; and Beaver, from Centre, were all from Democratic counties.

The new Republic of Brazil has taken an advance step in regard to citizenship which it may regret in the future. It has issued a decree declaring all foreigners residing in Brazil on November 15, 1889, citizens of the republic, except on a declaration to the contrary made within the proper municipal authority within six months after the publication of the decree. When the republic of Brazil becomes as popular as that of the United States, it may not care to have all foreigners recognized as full-fledged citizens the moment they land and begin to manifest an interest in the government.

The majority and minority reports of the committee appointed by the Legislature of West Virginia to act upon the Governor's contest are in, and may be expected to be made the subjects of protracted debate, though a Democratic majority in both houses hardly can be expected to do less than to vote for the seating of the Democratic claimant. It seldom is otherwise in any Northern State where the Democratic party has a majority; it never is otherwise in a Southern State.

But the debate will form part of a campaign of education, the final result of which can not be ascertained until the next election. It will be strange if the Republican party do not carry the next Legislature of West Virginia by such majorities as will put it out of the power of any cabal to thwart the wishes of the people as expressed at the ballot. There are 123 victories that are worse than defeats, and such the victory won by Governor Fleming in the name of the Democracy may prove to be.

"PAPER PENNSYLVANIA" is what some Democratic journals delight to designate the pensions granted to the men whose courage and endurance during the war were so much to be ascertained until the next election. It will be strange if the Republican party do not carry the next Legislature of West Virginia by such majorities as will put it out of the power of any cabal to thwart the wishes of the people as expressed at the ballot.

Everybody who is old enough remembers these promises. And they are not forgotten. But it has lately become the fashion to discredit the soldier who went to the front and the soldier who stayed at home.
