Jogging His Memory.

A clerg man in Iowa relates the folowing anecdote, which, as he says, ought to be a hint to all couples about to be married. A lady called upon him and announced her name as Mrs. M-, a widow living in a distant part of the state. Her husband had been killed in the civil war, and she had applied for a pension. But it was necessary for her to prove her marriage. This she had not been able to do, as her marriage certificate was lost, and all the witnesses except the minister himself were dead. She had come a long distance to get the minister's evidence, insisting upon it that he was the person who had performed the ceremony. "But I do not remember anything about it, madam," said the minister, afer carefully listening to the weman's tory. "I have married hundreds of people in the last twenty years, and I cannot recall your case at all." "Why, you must remember that even-he had left every cent of his money at "Now, don't you remember that after the ceremony he came up to you as if to hand you the regular fee, and then, instead of doing that, he stammered and blushed, and finally asked you to lend him five dollars with which to pay his hotel bill, promising to return the money the next day. Manure made in the winter should, made, on the land where it is to be used It is a fact that cannot be controverted, and has been abundantly proved, both by reason and practice, that manure never worth more than it is the day it is made. Nothing is added to it, but usual y much is lost from it by lapse of time. Except on steeply-sloping ground, the manure is safe from all danger of loss, and it is put where it will do the most good when it is spread on the land direct from the stable. There is no more hauling of it, and if it is raised upon all that s dissolved from it goes into the soil, just where it is wanted. Hence it is a he manure and spread it as soon as a wagon-load is gathered.
