

Carrots are scarce. The ladies take to plant skirts. Fresh, pure drugs at Snyder's.

The year crop promises poorly. Harvest time is earlier than usual. Maltum in parvo—the green apple. Picnic plates are having a lively sale.

The shopping dress is mostly brown. Watermelons are only for the wealthy yet. Cakes are concealing new "dumpling" dip.

Champagne mist is a new temperance drink. Canned limes, from California, are a new luster.

Musical instruments at Snyder's drug store. Schrock is headquarters for Tobacco and Cigars.

Violin and violin strings at Snyder's drug store. Trusses of all kinds at John N. Snyder's drug store.

The man moth gossamer is almost too tall for life. See Wm. B. Shaler's advertisement in another column.

Berries of all kinds will be unusually plenty this summer. The circumference of the neck and the length of the arms are always the same.

Flowers have given an inconspicuous place to this year's commencements. These are July good days to avoid recollecting John Barleycorn, or any of his family.

Fancy White Middling, in 140 pound bags, at Schrock's Grocery, Flour and Feed Store.

Throw physic to the dogs. And let it be so soon as you can. A good dose of physic is a sound dose.

Madison Schrock is agent for Chase & Sanborn's choice Rio, Mocha and Java Coffee. Buy it, and use the pure article.

Farmer, buy your Timothy and Clover Seed from Madison Schrock. He keeps in stock the best reconditioned Western Seed.

It is warm enough for dog days, and everybody should muzzles their dogs if they are allowed to roam and lay about the streets.

Extensive preparations are being made for the dedication of the soldiers' monument at Bedford, on July 4th. The orator of the day will be Hon. J. H. Longenecker.

Once 'twas as cool as the beautiful South. And here 't's as hot and as torrid as—well. Those who do not mind hard swearing can tell.

A tramp moving along the Bristol turnpike at a gait which approached a run excited the wonder of the residents until it was found that the cause of his accelerated step was a load of beef that he had distributed.

A recent decision of the court holds that if a man traveling on the road and wishes to go faster than the one in front of him, he has a right to pass, and if he is prevented by the other and an accident should occur, the man obstructing the road will be liable for all damage done.

The inscription on the soldiers' monument in Bedford, to be dedicated next Friday, is as follows: "To all heroes who volunteered to defend and perpetuate the Government of the United States, Bedford county dedicates this monument."

"Excuse me George, but when I saw you a year ago, your face was covered with pimples; it seems to be all right now." "Yes, my dear fellow, I took to Ayer's Sarsaparilla, the greatest blood medicine in the world. I was never so well in my life as I am now."

Mr. George Aman wishes to inform his friends and the public generally that he has again engaged in the butchering business. He will visit the different parts of town every morning. He will have making hot the best of beef, and at the following prices: Steaks, 12c; roasts, 20c.

We are turning out the finest and best Photographs ever taken in Somerset, and at very low prices, when the quality of the work is considered. In addition to Children's portraits, we make all other sizes and styles of Photographs from a card up to an 11x14 size. We are especially prepared to take large family groups in this latter size. Call soon if you want to secure good work.

WELLET'S RIGGERS. A handsomely illustrated book of summer excursion tours to all the principal mountain, lake and seaside resorts has been issued by the R. & O. R. Co., and parties contemplating summer outing would do well to procure a copy of it before completing their arrangements.

The book will be mailed, post paid, upon application to Chas. W. Wetlett, General Passenger Agent, B. & O. R. Co., Baltimore, Md.

No matter what may be the ill you bear from indigestion, a dose of Ayer's Cathartic Pills will cure you without question. Just try them once and be assured; they have much more dyspepsia cured. You'll find them nice and simply worth the price.

Harrison Warner, the old man who left Macombville, Ohio, on April 25, to walk to Baltimore, pushing a wheelbarrow the entire distance, 507 miles, arrived June 26 at Elliott City, 33 miles west of Baltimore. He was cordially received by some of his old Howard county friends.

Although he is 89 years old, the long journey and confinement in the wheelbarrow did not seem to have done him any harm. He has had no sleep on the journey and has worn thin and bright the tire on his barrow wheel.

The crop report issued by the Pennsylvania State weather service for the week ending June 21, 1890, contains the following among other things: "With the exception of coal nights the past week has been fine growing weather. Hay making is being actively pushed forward and the yield will be large. The prospects for an average wheat crop continue good. The heads are falling and coloring nicely. Oats have been badly damaged by rust and insects and some crops are damaged at the roots. Potatoes are well but badly infested with bugs. The usual garden and truck crops are very promising. Fruit prospects are not very encouraging."

The voters of this township settled the division of a great majority in favor of division, at an election held on the 24th of June. Very little interest in the result was manifested in Somerset No. 1, where only 133 out of a total of not less than 650 votes were polled. In No. 2, almost the entire vote was polled.

The decision of the voters will likely be confirmed at the next session of court. We would suggest to that honorable body that the new township be named Edin, in memory of the late Col. John R. Edin.

Clerk to the County Commissioners A. J. Hillman is at work on the annual report furnished to the court. From it we learn that the total number of taxables in the county is 10,483; cleared land, 280,778 acres; timber land, 317,545 acres; value of all real estate, $4,362,500; value of real estate, exempt, $4,782,500; value of personal property, taxable, $7,850,120; value of horses over four years of age, 6,965 value, $204,650; not cattle over four years, 10,715; value, $174,042; value of other personal property, $220,000; value of all property taxable for county purposes, $4,782,500; total tax assessed at six mills, $22,433.15 assessed at three mills, $5,788.10; county debt, $25,500.

Somerset borough returns $29,146 in taxes. The latest feminine bonnet is built on the lines of the hat worn by Stanley in Ibsen's A Doll's House.

Miss Ella Vogel is a member of the class to be graduated by the State Normal School at Indiana, this month.

Masons are busily engaged dressing stone with which to repair the ragged old steps in front of the Court House.

The patriotic youths of the village are circulating a petition to be presented to the town council, asking permission to celebrate the Fourth of July with fireworks, rockets and other explosives.

Mr. Ernest O. Koser was a member of the graduating class at Washington and Jefferson College last week. He will enter upon the study of the law in his father's office at age.

Gen. A. H. Coffroth, county Commissioner or Williamson and H. L. Bas, Esq., left for Scranton Monday morning to attend the Democratic State Convention, which meets in that city to-day.

What next? A patent has been secured for feeding imitation maple syrup. Hickory bark is soaked in water and an extract is thus obtained, which, added to cane or glucose syrup, gives it the maple taste and smell.

Chairman P. W. Biesecker was appointed a member of the Republican State Committee for the year commencing January 1, 1891, at the recent State Convention. He is the present member of that body from this county.

It is rumored on the streets that his Honor Judge Iser and several other gentlemen have purchased a tract of half land way between this place and Backwood last May, 1891, at the recent State Convention. He is the present member of that body from this county.

Captain Alex Ogle, U. S. A., accompanied by his wife and family, are in town, the guest of F. J. Koser, Esq., Captain Ogle is stationed at Columbus, Ohio, where he is officially connected with the State University.

It is rumored on the streets that his Honor Judge Iser and several other gentlemen have purchased a tract of half land way between this place and Backwood last May, 1891, at the recent State Convention. He is the present member of that body from this county.

The largest and handsomest stone-crozier in this section of the state is James H. Holderbaum's hardware establishment, and for the last couple of months it has been the busiest place about town. Mr. Holderbaum is one of a large number of dealers in agricultural implements in this county, and up to this time he has sold during the present season 97 machines, 73 mowers, 23 binders and 1 reaper, all of the McCormick manufacture. Mr. Holderbaum had in a stock of four car loads of these machines at the opening of the season and disposed of the last one some time ago. Since then he has been engaged in single orders.

A sad and distressing accident happened at Wolfburg on Friday, Irvine Miller, aged 18, son of James Miller, started out on a school bag, and while on his way to school, he was struck by a horse and thrown to the ground, where he lay for some time before he was discovered. He was taken to the hospital, where he died on Saturday morning. He was a promising young man, and his death is a great loss to his family.

A census enumerator in Pittsburgh found a young white woman with a black husband about 40 years older than herself. She had a door to her room, a young white man with a black wife of nearly twice his age, on entering the next house he found an Irish woman married to a Chinaman.

Mr. Thomas Galtner died at his residence in this borough Wednesday night, after a long and painful illness. He was 72 years of age, and had been a resident of this place from West Virginia about fifteen years, and had won a large circle of friends here. He was a member of the Presbyterian Church, and was a man of high character and integrity.

On Friday last, belonging to W. W. Phillips, of Bedford township, brought to the house a rabbit a few days old. Little "bunnie" was taken from her, when she immediately disappeared. In a short time she returned with another, and at last accounts was carefully maintaining her new-found family—Bedford Enquirer.

Two more bodies were found at Johnstown Friday. Among those who examined them was Mr. Dwight Roberts, who at once decided that the remains of one were those of his mother, Mrs. Howard J. Roberts. The opinion was confirmed by Mr. Luckhart, the jeweler, who recognized the gold spectacles found with the body as the pair purchased by Mrs. Roberts at his father's store prior to her death.

Mr. Samuel Ream met with a painful accident at the home of his brother-in-law, Mr. John Smucker, in Jenner township, last Tuesday about 11 o'clock. He was leading two horses toward the barn, while a two-year-old colt ran ahead of him. The colt kicked him in the face with both feet, knocking two teeth out and bruising him severely. He was attended by Dr. Lemhart, his injuries are healing rapidly.

Prof. George B. Keim, who has been principal of one of Cumberland's ward schools for the past two years, has accepted an engagement with ex-Senator Stephen B. Ekins to take charge of the grammar school in the family residence, Elkton, Va., during the summer months. Mr. Keim is the less a Pennsylvania and a loyal Republican, and was one of the party from this native county to witness the proceedings of the State Convention at Harrisburg last week.

The latest theory concerning Bright's disease and other affections of the kidneys, is that they are due to the immoderate use of ice water and other chilled beverages. Thirty or forty years ago, a physician named Jones asked their thirst with fresh water from well or pump kidney disease was virtually unknown. Now, however, the general use of ice in every household and saloon and the multiplication of soda fountains, have made it a common ailment.

Dr. Danz, who has been superintending the improvements made in the Germantown Driving Park, assures us that they now have one of the best half-mile tracks in western Pennsylvania. The sharp incline that formerly retarded the speed of racers has been graded down to a gentle slope that is barely perceptible. He has had some excellent hounds which will excite their best efforts. The committee who have the arrangements for the first meeting in charge should receive substantial encouragement from our merchants and hotel people, as they always reap the benefit of a crowd such as a crowd such as is hoped will be attracted here to witness the races.

The voters of this township settled the division of a great majority in favor of division, at an election held on the 24th of June. Very little interest in the result was manifested in Somerset No. 1, where only 133 out of a total of not less than 650 votes were polled. In No. 2, almost the entire vote was polled.

The decision of the voters will likely be confirmed at the next session of court. We would suggest to that honorable body that the new township be named Edin, in memory of the late Col. John R. Edin.

Clerk to the County Commissioners A. J. Hillman is at work on the annual report furnished to the court. From it we learn that the total number of taxables in the county is 10,483; cleared land, 280,778 acres; timber land, 317,545 acres; value of all real estate, $4,362,500; value of real estate, exempt, $4,782,500; value of personal property, taxable, $7,850,120; value of horses over four years of age, 6,965 value, $204,650; not cattle over four years, 10,715; value, $174,042; value of other personal property, $220,000; value of all property taxable for county purposes, $4,782,500; total tax assessed at six mills, $22,433.15 assessed at three mills, $5,788.10; county debt, $25,500.

The family of George F. Bar, Esq., of Reading—formerly of Somerset—made a narrow escape from being killed on the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad at the Franklin street station, in Reading Thursday evening. Mrs. Bar and daughters were returning from a drive and were crossing the tracks when the crossing watchman signalled the driver to come on. The latter whipped up his horses, but just then the watchman noticed the fast freight approaching at high speed and lowered the safety gate. This time the train was on the ground and the horses began rearing. The driver pulled the animals back with such suddenness as to cause them to fall close to the tracks as the engine shot by. As soon as the horses fell the driver jumped out over the trestle and held them down by their bridles until the train had passed, thus preventing them from regaining their feet and running away. The ladies jumped from the carriage and escaped uninjured. One of the horses was hurt, and the carriage was damaged.

Francis H. Herr died at the home of his wife's mother, Mrs. N. B. Snyder, in this borough, shortly before midnight, on Tuesday, June 24th, in his 48th year. He had suffered from a complication of diseases several years, which finally terminated in his death. He was the eldest son of the late Joseph Herr, and grew to manhood in this place. When only nineteen years old he was enlisted in the Union army for three years and participated in a number of engagements, including Frederickburg, Chancellorsville and Gettysburg. He was wounded at Gettysburg, and was taken to the hospital at Gettysburg. After the close of the war Mr. Herr secured employment with the Standard Oil Company, and for a period of thirteen years was a resident of Oil City. During his connection with that company he removed to Arizona, where he was employed as superintendent of a mining company. Returning to Pennsylvania, he again entered the service of the Standard Oil Company and was named as one of the best men on the staff at the time of his death. In November of last year he was married to Miss Florence Snyder, who, with his two sisters and six brothers, survive.

The handsome new Evangelical Lutheran Church at Berlin was dedicated to the service of the Lord, Sunday. The dedicatory sermon was preached by Rev. J. H. Menges, of Philadelphia, before an audience that filled the new house of worship to its utmost capacity. $3,000 was raised, which will defray the cost of the building, which cost between $15,000 and $18,000. The same day a beautifully embroidered silk banner was presented to the Sunday-school of the church, having been awarded by the Sunday-school Association of Somerset county. Wm. H. Ruppel, made the presentation speech.

In another column will be found the announcement of the Pennsylvania College, Women of Pittsburgh. One of the leading features of this institution is its beautiful and healthful location in the suburbs of the city, where its students are free from noise and dust, and may enjoy the purest air. The completion of Edinworth Hall, comprising new chapel, commodious class rooms and additional dormitories, has increased capacity and furnished facilities for thorough educational work of the highest order. Terms for boarding and tuition very reasonable.

The next session will open Sept. 10th. Those desiring catalogues should address Miss Helen K. Pelletreau, President Pittsburgh (East End), Pa.

A young son of Daniel Snyder, of Black township, accompanied by three companions, rode from Backwood to the Brethren church in Middletown township, Sunday morning, where a love feast was being held. Two of the boys rode mules and led them in their line around the church. Shortly after the dinner young Snyder got too close to the heads of one of the mules—a venerable and vicious animal—and was dealt a powerful kick in the back which rendered him unconscious. Medical aid was summoned, and it was found that a number of his ribs were badly fractured. He was at once removed to his home.

The largest and handsomest stone-crozier in this section of the state is James H. Holderbaum's hardware establishment, and for the last couple of months it has been the busiest place about town. Mr. Holderbaum is one of a large number of dealers in agricultural implements in this county, and up to this time he has sold during the present season 97 machines, 73 mowers, 23 binders and 1 reaper, all of the McCormick manufacture. Mr. Holderbaum had in a stock of four car loads of these machines at the opening of the season and disposed of the last one some time ago. Since then he has been engaged in single orders.

A sad and distressing accident happened at Wolfburg on Friday, Irvine Miller, aged 18, son of James Miller, started out on a school bag, and while on his way to school, he was struck by a horse and thrown to the ground, where he lay for some time before he was discovered. He was taken to the hospital, where he died on Saturday morning. He was a promising young man, and his death is a great loss to his family.

A census enumerator in Pittsburgh found a young white woman with a black husband about 40 years older than herself. She had a door to her room, a young white man with a black wife of nearly twice his age, on entering the next house he found an Irish woman married to a Chinaman.

Mr. Thomas Galtner died at his residence in this borough Wednesday night, after a long and painful illness. He was 72 years of age, and had been a resident of this place from West Virginia about fifteen years, and had won a large circle of friends here. He was a member of the Presbyterian Church, and was a man of high character and integrity.

On Friday last, belonging to W. W. Phillips, of Bedford township, brought to the house a rabbit a few days old. Little "bunnie" was taken from her, when she immediately disappeared. In a short time she returned with another, and at last accounts was carefully maintaining her new-found family—Bedford Enquirer.

Two more bodies were found at Johnstown Friday. Among those who examined them was Mr. Dwight Roberts, who at once decided that the remains of one were those of his mother, Mrs. Howard J. Roberts. The opinion was confirmed by Mr. Luckhart, the jeweler, who recognized the gold spectacles found with the body as the pair purchased by Mrs. Roberts at his father's store prior to her death.

Mr. Samuel Ream met with a painful accident at the home of his brother-in-law, Mr. John Smucker, in Jenner township, last Tuesday about 11 o'clock. He was leading two horses toward the barn, while a two-year-old colt ran ahead of him. The colt kicked him in the face with both feet, knocking two teeth out and bruising him severely. He was attended by Dr. Lemhart, his injuries are healing rapidly.

Prof. George B. Keim, who has been principal of one of Cumberland's ward schools for the past two years, has accepted an engagement with ex-Senator Stephen B. Ekins to take charge of the grammar school in the family residence, Elkton, Va., during the summer months. Mr. Keim is the less a Pennsylvania and a loyal Republican, and was one of the party from this native county to witness the proceedings of the State Convention at Harrisburg last week.

The latest theory concerning Bright's disease and other affections of the kidneys, is that they are due to the immoderate use of ice water and other chilled beverages. Thirty or forty years ago, a physician named Jones asked their thirst with fresh water from well or pump kidney disease was virtually unknown. Now, however, the general use of ice in every household and saloon and the multiplication of soda fountains, have made it a common ailment.

Dr. Danz, who has been superintending the improvements made in the Germantown Driving Park, assures us that they now have one of the best half-mile tracks in western Pennsylvania. The sharp incline that formerly retarded the speed of racers has been graded down to a gentle slope that is barely perceptible. He has had some excellent hounds which will excite their best efforts. The committee who have the arrangements for the first meeting in charge should receive substantial encouragement from our merchants and hotel people, as they always reap the benefit of a crowd such as a crowd such as is hoped will be attracted here to witness the races.

The voters of this township settled the division of a great majority in favor of division, at an election held on the 24th of June. Very little interest in the result was manifested in Somerset No. 1, where only 133 out of a total of not less than 650 votes were polled. In No. 2, almost the entire vote was polled.

The decision of the voters will likely be confirmed at the next session of court. We would suggest to that honorable body that the new township be named Edin, in memory of the late Col. John R. Edin.

Clerk to the County Commissioners A. J. Hillman is at work on the annual report furnished to the court. From it we learn that the total number of taxables in the county is 10,483; cleared land, 280,778 acres; timber land, 317,545 acres; value of all real estate, $4,362,500; value of real estate, exempt, $4,782,500; value of personal property, taxable, $7,850,120; value of horses over four years of age, 6,965 value, $204,650; not cattle over four years, 10,715; value, $174,042; value of other personal property, $220,000; value of all property taxable for county purposes, $4,782,500; total tax assessed at six mills, $22,433.15 assessed at three mills, $5,788.10; county debt, $25,500.

Children's Day at the Disciples' Church. What is known as "Children's Day" was observed in the Disciples' church on Sunday evening. The church was beautifully decorated with flowers and rich foliage plants. The perfume of the flowers, the artistic manner in which they were arranged together with the bright, innocent faces of the children, reminded us in some degree of that haven of rest that we all so much desire in the final day. As this day in the church is being more observed every year, it is looked forward to with great interest and pleasure by all. The following was the program:

Opening song, "Shout the Tidings of Salvation" by the Sunday-school; Prayer, by M. J. Pritts; Welcome Address, by Helen Coffroth; Solo, by Annie Samer, "Over the Ocean Hill"; Recitation, "India," by Annie Patton; Song, "From Greenland's Mountains," by the School; Recitation, "The Missionary Men," by George Fleck; Song, "Little Flowers," Infant Class; Recitation, "Good News," by Daisy Vogel; Song, "Twinkling Star," Infant Class; Recitation, "How to Do It," Nellie Harrison; Recitation, "All for Thee," by Jessie Rhoads; Reading, by Annie Samer; Solo, "Ashamed of Thee," by Mrs. W. H. Woolery; Address, "The Children and The World," Elder C. W. Granger; Solo, "Consider the Lilies," by Mrs. May Biesecker.

Long before the hour for the services to begin the house was filled, and at the opening of the services it was packed to its full capacity, and many failed to get in. The exercises were all good, some deserving special mention. The Address of Welcome by Helen Coffroth, and the recitations of Jessie Rhoads, Annie Patton and George Fleck were very good and well received.

The little folks were greatly appreciated. The solos rendered by Mrs. W. H. Woolery and Mrs. May Biesecker were among the pleasant features of the evening. The beautiful sentiments of the songs and the fine rendition of them was received with much interest. One of the eye was dimmed with tears that blinded the start from the sympathetic words of the songs and sweet voices of the singers.

The Address of Elder C. W. Granger was most excellent, and he only to be regretted that all parents of the community did not get to hear it. His subject was "The Children and Their Work." He related how the work of the children began, and the great good that has been accomplished by them; the amount of money received; the number of missions sent out to the churches and schoolhouses built in foreign lands; and the work done at home. The story related by him in regard to the old, yet beautiful song, "Jesus Lover of My Soul" was very touching, and brought tears to eyes that had long been dry, and moved the stoutest hearts.

The statement made, "I would rather be a Heavener in the farthest and driest lands, in the final day when all the people will be judged, than take the place of those who live here and have received Christ, would make men stop and consider, and ask themselves the question, 'What am I doing towards the salvation of my soul?' Am I prepared for death, and the appearing before a righteous God?"

Elder Granger is a forcible talker, pleasing in his manner, and greatly interested in his work, and we predict for him a great reward for his labors. The amount raised for missions by the children and collection was $91.00.

One of the Sullivan Gang. Jacob Atkinson, paymaster of the H. C. Frick Company at the Wynn Coke Works, left on Monday the 11th inst. for a little rest, and arrived at his home in the morning at 12:30. The men were congregated about the paymaster's office waiting for their two-week's salary, but were not near the paymaster's window. Atkinson was counting the money, and had most of it placed in envelopes, each containing $200. He was busy and did not notice a smooth-faced young man approaching the window, until the words "Hands up!" were uttered and a 38-caliber bull-dog revolver confronted him.

The cool young man at the window, taking advantage of the situation, with his revolver in his left hand, shoved the other into the window and secured the pay envelopes containing the amount named above. With the revolver still in his hand he backed slowly from the window, and as he was ready to run into the bushes beyond, he saw that the paymaster was at call for aid, and without a moment's warning, the robber pulled the trigger and sent a bullet through the front window. Another was sent after the first, and the robber escaped by dodging to the ground. The robber was not captured.

WATERBURY, Pa., June 28.—Ferry Donaldson, the young man at the window, taking advantage of the situation, with his revolver in his left hand, shoved the other into the window and secured the pay envelopes containing the amount named above. With the revolver still in his hand he backed slowly from the window, and as he was ready to run into the bushes beyond, he saw that the paymaster was at call for aid, and without a moment's warning, the robber pulled the trigger and sent a bullet through the front window. Another was sent after the first, and the robber escaped by dodging to the ground. The robber was not captured.

WATERBURY, Pa., June 28.—Ferry Donaldson, the young man at the window, taking advantage of the situation, with his revolver in his left hand, shoved the other into the window and secured the pay envelopes containing the amount named above. With the revolver still in his hand he backed slowly from the window, and as he was ready to run into the bushes beyond, he saw that the paymaster was at call for aid, and without a moment's warning, the robber pulled the trigger and sent a bullet through the front window. Another was sent after the first, and the robber escaped by dodging to the ground. The robber was not captured.

WATERBURY, Pa., June 28.—Ferry Donaldson, the young man at the window, taking advantage of the situation, with his revolver in his left hand, shoved the other into the window and secured the pay envelopes containing the amount named above. With the revolver still in his hand he backed slowly from the window, and as he was ready to run into the bushes beyond, he saw that the paymaster was at call for aid, and without a moment's warning, the robber pulled the trigger and sent a bullet through the front window. Another was sent after the first, and the robber escaped by dodging to the ground. The robber was not captured.

WATERBURY, Pa., June 28.—Ferry Donaldson, the young man at the window, taking advantage of the situation, with his revolver in his left hand, shoved the other into the window and secured the pay envelopes containing the amount named above. With the revolver still in his hand he backed slowly from the window, and as he was ready to run into the bushes beyond, he saw that the paymaster was at call for aid, and without a moment's warning, the robber pulled the trigger and sent a bullet through the front window. Another was sent after the first, and the robber escaped by dodging to the ground. The robber was not captured.

WATERBURY, Pa., June 28.—Ferry Donaldson, the young man at the window, taking advantage of the situation, with his revolver in his left hand, shoved the other into the window and secured the pay envelopes containing the amount named above. With the revolver still in his hand he backed slowly from the window, and as he was ready to run into the bushes beyond, he saw that the paymaster was at call for aid, and without a moment's warning, the robber pulled the trigger and sent a bullet through the front window. Another was sent after the first, and the robber escaped by dodging to the ground. The robber was not captured.

WATERBURY, Pa., June 28.—Ferry Donaldson, the young man at the window, taking advantage of the situation, with his revolver in his left hand, shoved the other into the window and secured the pay envelopes containing the amount named above. With the revolver still in his hand he backed slowly from the window, and as he was ready to run into the bushes beyond, he saw that the paymaster was at call for aid, and without a moment's warning, the robber pulled the trigger and sent a bullet through the front window. Another was sent after the first, and the robber escaped by dodging to the ground. The robber was not captured.

WATERBURY, Pa., June 28.—Ferry Donaldson, the young man at the window, taking advantage of the situation, with his revolver in his left hand, shoved the other into the window and secured the pay envelopes containing the amount named above. With the revolver still in his hand he backed slowly from the window, and as he was ready to run into the bushes beyond, he saw that the paymaster was at call for aid, and without a moment's warning, the robber pulled the trigger and sent a bullet through the front window. Another was sent after the first, and the robber escaped by dodging to the ground. The robber was not captured.

WATERBURY, Pa., June 28.—Ferry Donaldson, the young man at the window, taking advantage of the situation, with his revolver in his left hand, shoved the other into the window and secured the pay envelopes containing the amount named above. With the revolver still in his hand he backed slowly from the window, and as he was ready to run into the bushes beyond, he saw that the paymaster was at call for aid, and without a moment's warning, the robber pulled the trigger and sent a bullet through the front window. Another was sent after the first, and the robber escaped by dodging to the ground. The robber was not captured.

WATERBURY, Pa., June 28.—Ferry Donaldson, the young man at the window, taking advantage of the situation, with his revolver in his left hand, shoved the other into the window and secured the pay envelopes containing the amount named above. With the revolver still in his hand he backed slowly from the window, and as he was ready to run into the bushes beyond, he saw that the paymaster was at call for aid, and without a moment's warning, the robber pulled the trigger and sent a bullet through the front window. Another was sent after the first, and the robber escaped by dodging to the ground. The robber was not captured.

WATERBURY, Pa., June 28.—Ferry Donaldson, the young man at the window, taking advantage of the situation, with his revolver in his left hand, shoved the other into the window and secured the pay envelopes containing the amount named above. With the revolver still in his hand he backed slowly from the window, and as he was ready to run into the bushes beyond, he saw that the paymaster was at call for aid, and without a moment's warning, the robber pulled the trigger and sent a bullet through the front window. Another was sent after the first, and the robber escaped by dodging to the ground. The robber was not captured.

WATERBURY, Pa., June 28.—Ferry Donaldson, the young man at the window, taking advantage of the situation, with his revolver in his left hand, shoved the other into the window and secured the pay envelopes containing the amount named above. With the revolver still in his hand he backed slowly from the window, and as he was ready to run into the bushes beyond, he saw that the paymaster was at call for aid, and without a moment's warning, the robber pulled the trigger and sent a bullet through the front window. Another was sent after the first, and the robber escaped by dodging to the ground. The robber was not captured.

WATERBURY, Pa., June 28.—Ferry Donaldson, the young man at the window, taking advantage of the situation, with his revolver in his left hand, shoved the other into the window and secured the pay envelopes containing the amount named above. With the revolver still in his hand he backed slowly from the window, and as he was ready to run into the bushes beyond, he saw that the paymaster was at call for aid, and without a moment's warning, the robber pulled the trigger and sent a bullet through the front window. Another was sent after the first, and the robber escaped by dodging to the ground. The robber was not captured.

WATERBURY, Pa., June 28.—Ferry Donaldson, the young man at the window, taking advantage of the situation, with his revolver in his left hand, shoved the other into the window and secured the pay envelopes containing the amount named above. With the revolver still in his hand he backed slowly from the window, and as he was ready to run into the bushes beyond, he saw that the paymaster was at call for aid, and without a moment's warning, the robber pulled the trigger and sent a bullet through the front window. Another was sent after the first, and the robber escaped by dodging to the ground. The robber was not captured.

WATERBURY, Pa., June 28.—Ferry Donaldson, the young man at the window, taking advantage of the situation, with his revolver in his left hand, shoved the other into the window and secured the pay envelopes containing the amount named above. With the revolver still in his hand he backed slowly from the window, and as he was ready to run into the bushes beyond, he saw that the paymaster was at call for aid, and without a moment's warning, the robber pulled the trigger and sent a bullet through the front window. Another was sent after the first, and the robber escaped by dodging to the ground. The robber was not captured.

WATERBURY, Pa., June 28.—Ferry Donaldson, the young man at the window, taking advantage of the situation, with his revolver in his left hand, shoved the other into the window and secured the pay envelopes containing the amount named above. With the revolver still in his hand he backed slowly from the window, and as he was ready to run into the bushes beyond, he saw that the paymaster was at call for aid, and without a moment's warning, the robber pulled the trigger and sent a bullet through the front window. Another was sent after the first, and the robber escaped by dodging to the ground. The robber was not captured.

WATERBURY, Pa., June 28.—Ferry Donaldson, the young man at the window, taking advantage of the situation, with his revolver in his left hand, shoved the other into the window and secured the pay envelopes containing the amount named above. With the revolver still in his hand he backed slowly from the window, and as he was ready to run into the bushes beyond, he saw that the paymaster was at call for aid, and without a moment's warning, the robber pulled the trigger and sent a bullet through the front window. Another was sent after the first, and the robber escaped by dodging to the ground. The robber was not captured.

WATERBURY, Pa., June 28.—Ferry Donaldson, the young man at the window, taking advantage of the situation, with his revolver in his left hand, shoved the other into the window and secured the pay envelopes containing the amount named above. With the revolver still in his hand he backed slowly from the window, and as he was ready to run into the bushes beyond, he saw that the paymaster was at call for aid, and without a moment's warning, the robber pulled the trigger and sent a bullet through the front window. Another was sent after the first, and the robber escaped by dodging to the ground. The robber was not captured.

WATERBURY, Pa., June 28.—Ferry Donaldson, the young man at the window, taking advantage of