A DAILY SCENE IN PITTSBURG,

These big crowds have been at the Pittsburg Exposition, now they are going to KAUFMANNS' Grand Depot, where they will save more than enough money in buying their Clothing, Cloaks, Shoes, Hats, Furnishing Goods, etc., to pay for their traveling expenses. Go and do likewise. A word to the wise is sufficient.

went to school to learn reasling, spelling, under a full head of steam, a workman atturihematics, etc., and the training of their tempted to let a car loaded with stone drop manners and morals were left for their down the switch a couple of rods. The car farents to teach. If they were neglected at ran away with the man and did not stop un-To-day there can be seen a marked differ- track and in front of the locamative. The me they would also be neglected at school. till it had gotten half-way across the main ensy in the manners of the average school engineer whistled down brakes and reversed child. And why? Because the training of his engine and had barely time to jump for thanners in our public schools is just as an his life before it went crashing into the car. Important a study in this age as is geography. The fireman followed the engineer as did ar spelling. There are exceptions, of course, the rest of the trainmen and all escaped un- them-likely at bargains and right at home. Our township schools opened Monday, but if you will notice particularly, you will injured. The engine rolled down the bank Mr. Miller has fully decided to sell out, and and that every scholar who attends these into the river and a half dozen freight cars therefore all that is advertised, and much public schools are clean and dressed as well piled on top of it. The cars were broken more will be sold without any reservation. " their parents' means will permit, and into thousands of pieces and the engine was they know when to may "yes, sir" and "no badyly wrecked. The accident will cost the company in the neighborhood of $10,000.
