A Case of Widow Burning.

London Times: A case of suttee, which is unusual in China, although it is regard ed as a great virtue, is reported, from the neighborhood of Foochow. The victim was a young woman, 24 years of age, whose husband died of leprosy early in the year. She was childless, and had none except distant relatives to depend upon for support. She had, therefore, she said, no alternative but to commit this act of self-sacrifice. As soon as her intention became known, she received several invitations to grand banquets, allof which she accepted and enjoyed as if there were to be no seques. After a special feast of this character, she ascended a stage constructed for the purpose. where the village elders came to make their obeisances, each three times, as if she were already a canonized saint. The Ask for signal having been given by firing off a gun, she ascended a scaffold with her hands unpioned, and there, in the sight of all, strangled herself. Her body, was placed in a coffin, which was duly prepared beforehand. It is said that the Emperor will grant a tablet extolling her virtue as soon as the Viceory of the province represents the case to the
