One on Billy Florence.

"While poker is considered a national game, I must confess," said Billy Florence, the actor, "that I have seen it played chiefly in an international way, i. e., on board British steamships carrying American passengers. I only play cards en route to Europe to pass away time—nothing else, and then I do not gamble. Once, some years ago, I was playing a theatrical engagement in Louisville, Ky., and I was invited to visit and participate in a late supper after the performance was over. Among those who were to be at the supper was Henry Watterson. The theatrical performance was very long and it was near midnight when I reached the bachelor apartments. I had no sooner arrived than I noticed some little excitement among the gentlemen present. It seems that a game of draw had ended and a count was being made of moneys. I had no alternative but to await developments, and they came soon enough. A big dispute arose across the table, and in an instant Watterson was on his feet, pistol in hand, and trying to aim at his antagonist, a well known gentleman. I knew that blood was going to be shed right there, so I jumped up and threw my arms around the editor. Others caught his arm and kept it up so if the pistol were discharged it would only damage the ceiling. The other gentleman was ferocious and, although he was held by strong men, I thought he would break loose every second and fire right into us. Great beads of perspiration stood out upon my forehead. I pleaded with the Kentuckian not to shoot; that he would regret it. The more I pleaded and tried to keep his pistol arm up the more he attempted to break away. Every instant I expected to hear the crack of revolvers and to see the reeling form of a man perforated with a large bullet. I pictured the direful consequences and the blame. The latter would partially, at least, rest upon me, because I was the guest of the evening and the gathering was in my honor. In our struggle to keep the men apart tables were overturned, chairs were knocked down and the money on the table somehow disappeared like magic. Finally I caught Watterson's pistol in my hand; and then the lamentable truth flashed like an electric shock through me, to-wit: I was being guyed and the whole fight was concocted to fool me. The pistol was nothing but a bootjack, one that is small and when folded resembles the shape of a pistol. I was completely taken in, and I need scarcely say that the 'smile' was on me. That was the most exciting game of poker I ever indulged in."

One Vote for Delamater.

Senator Delamater tells an interesting story about his reception at Pottstown. A tall, raw-boned woman, who looked as if she wore the trousers at home, bustled up to him and inquired:

"An' is this the next Governor?"

"I hope to be, madam," was Mr. Delamater's reply.

"I can't vote—but," she slowly added with assurance, "my husband can, and he's o' my way o' thinkin'."

A Head over Three Feet Around.

PORTLAND, IND., Oct. 10.—Elijah Schiborough, who lives near the little village of Powers, this county, is the father of a remarkable-looking child. It is 3 years old and measures 3 feet and 2 inches around the head. In other ways the child is rather small and well formed. It is reasonably intelligent.

Miners Oppose Pattison.

SCOTTDALE, PA., Oct. 10.—The Connellsville coke region is alive with politics. Large numbers of Democratic colliers will support Delamater, reports to the contrary notwithstanding. A prominent Republican to-day showed the Commercial Gazette correspondent a long list of Democrats, scattered throughout the coke regions, who intended to support Delamater and use all honorable means to promote his election. Among a host of reasons they assign for their course is that Pattison when Governor was very antagonistic to the working class. They cite several instances whereing he flagrantly violated his pledges to do work which would tend to better their condition. They related his point-blank refusal to consider a petition signed by over 20,000 miners and other workmen during his administration not to pardon Emil Donor, then doing time in the penitentiary for illegal voting, etc. Donor imported foreign labor into the coke region during times of large strikes. His object of course was to break the backbone of the strike, for which, if succeeding in doing, he would be liberally rewarded by the operators. Donor's work was not only confined to the coke region, but to many other mining districts in the State. Pattison in the face of this extensively signed petition pardoned Donor.

Another instance of Pattison's disregard for the workingman was during a strike in the Monongahela coal region during his administration. A number of miners were arrested for alleged conspiracy against the coal companies. At their trial, although protesting their innocence, the strikers were sent to the work-house. A petition was immediately circulated through Western Pennsylvania and signed by about 5,000 coke workers praying for Governor Pattison to pardon these men. Despite their earnest appeals, the liberally signed petition was not considered and the miners served their full term. The details of this case are fresh in the minds of many miners of this and the Monongahela region.

Samuel Carney, one of these Washington county miners who was sent to the work-house, will make a tour of the Connellsville region next week in the interest of Delamater. Besides being a miner, Carney is an old soldier. He will explain the circumstances of the conspiracy case and give some timely advice as to how the miners should vote. He resides at Monongahela City.

Joseph Walls, now of the Connellsville region and formerly of the Monongahela region, says "I remember the circumstances of the Washington county miners' case. I will vote for Delamater and will encourage others not to support Pattison."

Daniel Shoup, a miner of Everson, has gone back on Pattison because of his veto of the Soldiers' Burial bill.

Powell Clayton's Vow.

The Republican Convention for the 2nd Congressional district of Arkansas was held on Wednesday. It endorsed the Union Labor candidate, Tom P. Langley. A caucus of the delegates was held in the hall of the Convention. General Powel Clayton being called for, spoke substantially as follows:

"This is a nomination day with the Republicans of Arkansas and of the nation. We are called upon to-day to indicate not only the Republican party of this district, but of the nation. Breckinridge has usurped the seat to which John M. Clayton was elected, and the Congress of the United States has so decided. He now has the audacity to come before the people and ask for an endorsement. I say that such an endorsement will be a lasting stigma upon the Republicans of this district. So help me God it shall never be given him. He is responsible, either directly or indirectly, for John M. Clayton's assassination, and the State of Arkansas will never be cleared from the stain of that murder so long as Breckinridge remains in Congress. I intend to make this campaign the effort of my life. Life was once dear to me, but the time has now come when I can take my life in my hands with perfect resignation, and if I can only succeed in carrying the 20th Congressional district and defeat Breckinridge, I will willingly die in the cause."

"Very bad roads," is the first and last thing you hear, when you meet a man in this section. Be on the look-out Ell or you may have another invitation to go to Somerset at your own expense at next court to show cause why you have neglected your sworn duty. Portions of the roads of this township and some very near this town, have not had a stroke of work done on them this year. It is more than a shame, it is an outrage on the people to be treated thus. Fellow citizens, it is high time for us to look at this important matter from a non-partisan stand point, and elect men to fill it who we know are worthy and will do their duty, instead of men who only seek the office for the small amount it pays.

Large-size package, 50 cents. At all druggists'.

The Earth Trembled.

WILMINGTON, DEL., October 10.—Fifty tons of giant powder exploded at the works of E. I. DuPont de Nemours Company, on the Brandywine, five miles from Wilmington, on Tuesday. Five different magazines exploded in rapid succession. Nine men and one woman were killed, while many others were injured. Fifty houses, occupied by the workmen and their families, were completely wrecked. The explosion is believed to have been caused by a workman who was soldering the covers on kegs of powder. The concussions were distinctly felt as far north as Norristown, in this State, and in Trenton, in New Jersey.

Great barns were lifted from their foundations, immense trees were uprooted bodily and carried across fields, and the earth was blown up and sent flying like a shower of yellow mud over everything for miles about. There is scarcely an object left standing within a radius of 500 yards of the centre of the explosion, while there is scarcely a pane of unbroken glass in any house within three miles.

Good Rules for Winter.

The following rules are worth heeding by those who believe that an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure:

Never lean with the back upon anything that is cold.

Never take warm drinks and then immediately go out into the cold.

Keep the back, especially between the shoulder blades, well covered; also the chest well protected. In sleeping in a cold room establish the habit of breathing through the nose, and never with the mouth open.

Never go to bed with cold or damp feet.

Never omit regular bathing for unless the skin is in active condition the cold will close the pores, and favor congestion and other diseases.

Consumption Surely Cured.

TO THE EDITOR.—Please inform your readers that I have a positive remedy for the above-named disease. By its timely use thousands of hopeless cases have been permanently cured. I shall be glad to send two bottles of my remedy FREE to any of your readers who have consumption if they will send me their Express and P. O. address. Respectfully, T. A. SLOCUM, M. C., 181 Pearl St. N. Y.

Rebuke a Fraud.

It takes 350,000 votes in Wisconsin to elect nine members of Congress. In Georgia, South Carolina, Alabama and Mississippi 370,000 votes send 20 members of Congress to Washington.

This is a potent reason why every Republican in Pennsylvania should go to the polls on November 4 and by swelling the Republican majority administer a stinging rebuke to the bulldozers and their sympathizers, and thus strengthen the hands of the Republicans in Congress so that they may pass a law to enforce honest elections.

It is, therefore, not only the Republican ticket in Pennsylvania that we wish to elect this fall. It is our duty to emphatically endorse the patriotic and common sense course of the House of Representatives.

A WORD ABOUT CATARRH.

It is in the nervous membrane, that wonderful semi fluid envelope surrounding the delicate tissues of the air and food passages, that Catarrh makes its strongnold. Once established, it eats into the very vitals, and renders life a long-drawn breath of misery and disease, dulling the senses of hearing, paralyzing the power of speech, destroying the faculty of smell, tainting the breath and killing the refined pleasures of taste. Insidiously, by creeping on from a simple cold in the head, it assails the membranes and envelopes the bones, eating through the delicate coats and causing inflammation, sloughing and death. Nothing short of total eradication will secure health to the patient, and all alleviatives are simply procrastinated suffering, leading to a fatal termination. Dr. McClellan has by a treatment, local and constitutional, made the cure of this dread disease a certainty, and has never failed. Even when the disease had made frightful inroads on delicate constitutions, hea ing, taste and smell have been recovered, and the disease thoroughly driven out.

A LIFE OF EXPERIENCE.

The Doctors have had a whole life of study and experience in their profession, and they enjoy advantages that fall to the lot of but few. After attending a full course in the medical colleges and graduating with highest honors, they were not content to stop there, but have since attended other colleges and several times reviewed the whole profession; have also traveled extensively for the purpose of improvement, having visited the best Medical Colleges, Hospitals, Dispensaries, Eye, Ear, and Lung and other medical and surgical institutions on both continents; traveling thousands of miles both by land and sea; spending thousands of dollars; improving every advantage within their command, and devoting the best years of their lives to become THOROUGHLY FAMILIAR with the profession in all its branches.

EXAMINATION AND CONSULTATION FREE TO ALL.

CHRONIC DISEASES

The Doctors treat no acute diseases, but make an entire specialty of chronic and long standing diseases. Cases given up by other doctors and pronounced incurable they most desire to see. The Doctors have treated over 15,000 cases in Ohio in the last twelve years many of which had been given up as incurable, some to be blind, others dead, and a large number to be unable to walk, but behold! now they See and Hear, and many are started on the high road to health and recovery each day.

The Doctors are surrounded with the largest collections of the instruments ever imported to this country for examining and treating all diseases of the Head, Face, eye, Ear, Throat, Heart, Lungs, Stomach, Liver, Kidney, Bladder, Skin, Brain, and Nervous System, Cancers, Tumors, Piles, Scalding, Old Sores, Fits, Paralysis, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Impure Blood, Sick Headache, Debility, Depression of Spirits, Diseases of Children, Hereditary Diseases, etc., etc., and in fact, all long standing and chronic Diseases.

TO MIDDLE-AGED MEN.—There are many of the age from 40 to 60 who are troubled with frequent evacuations of the bladder, often accompanied by burning or smarting sensations, weakening the system in a manner that the patient cannot account for. On examination of the urinary deposit a ropy sediment will be found, and sometimes some small particles of albumen will appear, or the color will be a thin or milkish hue, again changing to dark or turbid appearance. Such are many men who die of this a disease, ignorant of the cause.

"Some lives are like Horse shoes the more worn the brighter." Busy wives who use SAPOLIO never seem to grow old. Try a cake.

A complete wreck of domestic happiness has often resulted from badly washed dishes, from an unclean kitchen, or from trifles which seemed light as air. But by these things a man often judges of his wife's devotion to her family, and charges her with general neglect when he finds her careless in these particulars. Many a home owes a large part of its thrifty neatness and its consequent happiness to SAPOLIO.

Grocers often substitute cheaper goods for SAPOLIO, to make a better profit. Send back such articles, and insist on having just what you ordered.
