> Joe Nicely has not spoken to the death watch for four or five days, but when the Sheriff was engaged in testing the death traps in the main corridor Saturday, the guard observed that he pricked up his ears and listened intently for every sound. Oc casionally he places his hands around his throat and suddenly lets them fall to his sides with a shudder that convulses his whole frame. One morning he turned all of his pockets inside out and remarked, " Oh, I thought they were full of snakes." This remark is looked upon with grave suspicion,
