

Will there be an extra session of the Legislature? is a question the Governor says he cannot answer until he can give a consideration to the bills before him.

A Chinese diplomat, who used his post of honor to evade creditors while in the country, is to be executed when he gets home. The Chinese make the punishment fit the crime.

The statistics show that about 3,000 Americans sail every week for Europe. The American tourists were never better than over the continent than they will be this year. They will have many millions of good American money in Europe.

Edison's latest invention, the kinegraph, not only records sounds, but photographs the producer's every gesture. It will be a dangerous machine to have in the parlor when the young man calls to see his best girl.

Not a few years since the Democrats loudly insisted that they would not resume specie payment, and now we have more gold than any other government. These same howlers are now insisting that we cannot make tin plate, and tin plate plants are springing up all over the country. See?

The Board of Education in New York has set down hard on the nobby-pammy business of grown-up women school teachers signing their names Dollie, Susie, Nannie, Lizzie, and other undignified pet names. That's right. Silly, broad-and-butter Misses may be excused for this infantile folly, but dignified ladies, never.

Mr. Scribner has made an interesting experiment as to the time required to print his Philadelphia Record upon paper divested from the tree. This is the record: Chopping one and a half cords of poplar wood, stripping and loading on to the mill, and commencing the manufacture of wood-pulp, twelve hours; manufacturing pulp into paper, five hours; transporting to Boston office, one hour and twenty minutes; setting paper preparatory to printing, thirty minutes; printing 10,000 Records, ten minutes. Total time from tree to paper, twenty-two hours.

While certain crack-brained politicians are howling about an empty treasury and a discredited government, the New York bankers who were in consultation with Secretary Foster a few days since paid a half cent interest on the National Bank circulation, the willingness to accept 2 per cent interest on their bonds shows that the government's credit is good at 1 per cent.

The National Guard of Pennsylvania did itself honor on Saturday last in unveiling a monument which it has erected at Norristown in memory of its late commander, Major General John F. Hartman.

Immediately after the death of General Hartman it was proposed that the National Guard of this State erect a monument to his memory. It is a significant tribute to the war... of this gallant soldier and modest patriot. Pennsylvania had no braver son in the late war for the Union nor one of more exalted fame and purer character than this model citizen soldier. In thus honoring his memory, the National Guard of the State has honored itself.

That good-old-time Democratic paper the Harrisburg Patriot is having a little circus of its own with Governor Pattison. Its principal diversion is poking fun at the Governor's pretensions as a great economist and reformer. Says the Patriot, in a recent issue: "In June, 1891, the first annual Governor Pattison said: 'I am resolved to determine that no far as I can control the matter, my administration shall not cost the people of Pennsylvania one dollar. Why should it? They derive no benefit from it, and the money spent thereon is wasted.'"

And then the cruel journal parades the fact that a few brief days since the Governor signed a bill appropriating $6,000, "as much more than he has ever appropriated for managerial expenses. But the content with this showing up the inconsistency of the Governor in regard to his professions of economy, the Patriot pushes its investigations still farther, and quoting from the bills rendered, shows that $1,107.70 was expended for "goods," these goods having been bought from dealers in wine and liquor, thus throwing a damper on the claims put forward by the ardent temperance advocates of the Governor. Then, in a spirit of virtuous indignation, the outraged journal, with its eyes in fine phreny rolling, exclaims:

"What now do we see? A State treasury wronged for funds to meet its necessities, and $5,250.76 'wasted' upon a protest, and of this $1,107.70 for 'goods' over $300 for refreshments, the 'goods' being wine or whiskey or cigars or all three, and the refreshments consisting of the Lord only knows what."

There is a ludicrous side to this and over much we may laugh. But there is another side, a humiliating and degrading one. The Governor's position, the constant and occasional advances made in politics, the economy in public expenditures, the liberalizing of the State, the promotion of the whisky and cigars, all these things, when taken together, are a disgrace to the name of a Governor. It is a disgrace to the name of a Governor. It is a disgrace to the name of a Governor.

The attempt of the Democrats to steal Connecticut has come to grief. At the late election for Governor in that State the election officers in the town of Stratford refused to count the ballots on which the word "for" preceded the title of the office, as "For Governor," &c., &c. By throwing out these votes a presidential majority of 25 was thus procured for Judge Morris, the Democratic candidate for Governor. The Supreme Court of the State, in an opinion written by Judge

Seymour, who is himself a Democrat, and concurred in by all the other judges, has just called the question—the defendant, Judge Morris. In pursuance of the usual tactics, the Democrats had raised the cry that the Republicans were trying to steal the State; but this decision of the Supreme Court fastens the attempted crime on them. It was the Democratic election officers who deliberately and originally threw out the ballots for Governor on which the word "for" appeared, by which they claimed to have a majority for their candidate, Judge Morris. The result of the contest is not only gratifying to Republicans because of the victory, but because of the exposure of the rascality of the Democrats in their attempt to steal the State.

Crops of the State. Secretary Edge, of the State Board of Agriculture, has issued a bulletin for the May returns.

The wheat crop of 1891 will be considerably above the average for the past twenty years. The growth of straw is also very heavy and will be above the average for the past ten years. On undrained and wet fields the condition of the crops reduces the average considerably. Owing to poor crops in Europe the probabilities are that at least 200,000,000 bushels for European deficiencies. The indications now are that the crops of 1891 will bring more money per bushel than that of 1890 or 1889.

The crop of hay has been shortened by the unusual dry weather of spring and early summer. Timothy will be fully up to the average of the past twenty years. Early planted potatoes will lose much by the failure to sprout regularly, later plantings will give a better crop. The crop of corn will barely carry us over until that of 1891 is ready for use, and the gap has been bridged over by importations of early potatoes from Bermuda and the Southern States.

Owing to short pasture the livestock of the State is hardly up to the average condition. Cows not fed grain on pasture, are thinner than at this time last year. Feeding cattle on pasture have not done as well as during average years. Horses, hogs and grain-fed animals are up to the average condition.

The crop of apples will be fully up to the average; small fruits, except strawberries, will prove a good crop; raspberries, blackberries and small fruits ripening at about the same time will give a normal large crop. Early cherries have been injured in some sections of the State; late cherries will yield better than last season.

During the last twenty years the breeders and owners of the State have lost from $25,000 to $50,000 annually from outbreaks of Texas spotted fever. Last week Secretary Edge perfected arrangements in Pittsburgh for the stockyards by which the United States Inspector there will prevent Southern and Texas cattle from mingling with other stock. Each animal will be carefully examined and tagged, and if necessary it can be traced back to the herd in which it was fattened.

Washington. Washington, June 15.—The Commissioner of Pensions was today asked for a statement in regard to newspaper dispatches from Chicago concerning the pension claim of Mrs. Elizabeth T. Harrison, widow of the President's brother, Archibald J. Harrison, lieutenant colonel of the Twenty-seventh Indiana Volunteers. These statements set forth that the pension was granted upon the declaration that Lieutenant Colonel Harrison's death resulted from consumption, which he contracted while serving his country in the field. That the claim was forwarded to Washington and placed on file in the pension office early in President Arthur's administration, and that it was backed by General Harrison and many other politicians of note the commissioner of pensions refused to allow it.

Earthquake Continue. ROW, June 8.—Advice from Santa Calaveras and Fresno, two of the towns in Northern Italy that were visited by the earthquake yesterday, show that the inhabitants are terror-stricken and have taken to the fields for safety.

The subterranean rumblings continue, and occasionally slight shocks that those who were in the city at the time of the earthquake yesterday. The people are in dread of necessarily seeing the earth opening and swallowing them.

The damage done at the two places mentioned is much greater than was indicated in the first report. The towers were nearly entirely destroyed by the severity of the shocks. A commission appointed by the authorities to examine the houses which were not thrown down by the undulations of the earth have made a hasty investigation, and report that at least three-fourths of the houses are in such condition that public safety demands that they be pulled down and dispatched to both places to assist the authorities in clearing the streets of debris, in throwing down dangerous buildings, and in rendering such assistance as they may be called on to give.

Crime of a School Boy. BOSTON, June 5.—Walter C. Hens, 11 years of age, was arrested to-day charged with attempting to set fire to the Emerson School on Poplar street on Monday afternoon. The boy is a pupil at the school, and had been called upon, which was denied. Soon after a strong smell of smoke in the basement attracted the attention of the master of the school.

Swift Retribution. Swift retribution overtook a murderer as he was fleeing from the scene of his crime in West Mass. At a late hour last Tuesday night the dead body of Miss Mary Emerson, spinster, seventy years of age, was found in a closet in her isolated farm house. Finger marks about her throat showed that the old woman was strangled here. She was found about the premises to show a motive for the crime. A German, who had been employed as a farm hand, had disappeared in a most unaccountable manner, and a suspicion naturally rested upon him. At 5 o'clock yesterday morning the discoverer on the Charles River bridge undertook to investigate the cause of some disturbance of the cops upon which the bridge moves, and found the body of a man crushed out of all semblance of humanity.

The shapless mass was carried to the morgue, and later the clothing was identified as that of the missing farm hand, for whom the Dedham police was searching. It is believed that he walked from West Dedham, a distance of about twelve miles, during the night, and at the approach of daylight crawled under the bridge to escape detection, assuming that the police would be on the lookout for him. When the bridge is closed there is a comfortable room beneath the bridge, but when the draw is opened this space is entirely filled by the draw.

He was charged with the murder of a woman, and was sentenced to the State Penitentiary, but was released on parole. He was lynched by a mob of about fifty men, and his body was found hanging from a tree.

A Counterfeit Arrested. WILKES-BARR, June 7.—At an early hour this morning several agents arrested Benham Palmer, who is a horse dealer, and travels over the state, disposing of his stock in a dishonest manner.

It has transpired that he was an assistant to the famous James H. Flood, a notorious counterfeiter, who has served several terms in the penitentiary, and was arrested in New York on Saturday by the secret service agents, who are now on their way to Pittsburgh with Palmer. The money was really brought from Commodore M. T. Townsend, and in default of $3,000 he was committed to the Bradford county prison. The search of Palmer's premises brought to light a complete counterfeiter's outfit.
