

A VISIT TO MY OLD HOME.

BY H. J. MILLER. LAURENCE, Pa., Nov. 5, 1891. Having recently paid a visit to my old home in Queensbury township, Somerset county, and having permitted several of my old friends to write up my trip, if you will allow me space in the columns of the HERALD, I will now try to make good my promise.

This was the first visit I paid to the old homestead for many, many years, and I found the surroundings very much changed. Father gone, mother gone, my brothers all dead, sisters gone, and the old homestead in the hands of entire strangers.

And then I visited the old family grave yard, the city of the silent dead, where sleep the ancestors of the Millers, Stevenses, and with feelings of reverence, and uncovered head I stood before the graves of my ancestors.

It looked Great. Mr. G. S. Clinton placed "Coventry, England" after his name on the Auditor register the other morning. A reporter asked him what he thought of this country in general.

Spots on the Sun. Astronomers have this summer discovered an extraordinarily large number of spots on the sun, and its interior is made of several atmospheric disturbances.

Remarkable feat of Strength. E. P. Kendall gave a remarkable exhibition of his skill and strength with a ten-pound dumbbell in this city last week.

Wonderful Gold. Gold is so very valuable that a piece of it drawn into a wire twenty-five feet in length will weigh only one-tenth of an ounce.

And with that delight we all welcomed the first snow of the season, how our eyes sparkled as we watched those from vapors, those falling blossoms of the sky, cover the earth.

Early in December hoary-headed and white bearded winter would send his three robed and crown'd with mighty snow-banks and yield his scepter of stom and winter tempest throughout the land till the month of April. And it would be hard to compute and measure to the square inch the amount of solid and exhilarating enjoyment it afforded the average schoolboy and girl of forty years ago counting and gliding riding on the hillsides during the dinner hour, at the old school-house by the lane.

SIXTY,000 Reward for a recipe that will enable us to make WOLFF'S ACE BLACKING as such a price that a retailer can profitably sell it at 10c a bottle. This offer is open until Jan. 1st, 1892.

PIK-RON (this is the name of the pain), looks like a tumor and can be removed. One coat will do it. A child can apply it. You can change a pine to a walnut, or a cherry to mahogany; there is no limit to your tricks. All retailers sell.

CHEATING IN HORSE BLANKETS. Nearly every pattern of Horse Blanket is imitated in color and style. In most cases the imitation looks just as good as the genuine, but it isn't the same.
