

As Christmas approaches the pressure on the po-let becomes more pronounced.

It Speaker Crisp comes to a knotty question and does not know just how to run Congress, there is Tom Reed on a front seat handy.

EVERY line and every sentence of the President's message is notably American. "Stand by the flag" is the order that rings out in every rounded period.

SPEAKER CANN was a private in the Confederate army and was complimented for his bravery. He is the first man below the rank of "colonel" we have heard of in the South since the war.

THE Michigan Democrats want the President to mind his own business and leave Michigan's perrymander alone. That's what the Southern blowers and the law breakers generally ask—to be let alone.

The President favors international bimetallism, but he does not believe in free silver coinage as a means of bringing it about. The mine owners of the West are many of them agreed with him in that opinion. They are not all free silver advocates.

CONGRESSMAN SPRINGER is exposed to preparing and trying to pass an offensive tariff bill like the Mills bill. Mr. Springer was in Ohio last fall and learned the sentiment of the people regarding tariff legislation. He discovered that the Mills brand of tariff reform is not popular.

IT the Democrats and Republicans in Congress were nearer evened up Jerry Simpson might become a great man. As the matter stands he won't amount to "a yaller dog tied to the hind axle of the band wagon." Jerry struck politics in the dark of the moon.

CONGRESSMAN SPRINGER is confident that the defense will have no effect on the "paramount issue" next year. The "paramount issue" has received one black eye since November 1, and if the Democrats are willing to send it into the ring in that condition they should have the attention of the Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals.

THE Republicans of Ohio are making arrangements to give Governor-elect McKinley such an inauguration as has not been in the Buckeye State for many years. Republican clubs from every county in the State, the National Guard, and Republicans generally will go to Columbus January 11 to show McKinley and they are still in fighting trim and ready to keep the State in the Republican column next year.

MESSRS. CRISP, HOUNT, and others in Congress, in reviewing their old-time country and the countrying Messrs. Reed, of Maine, O'Neil, of Pennsylvania, and Holman, of Indiana, showed the spirit that should prevail in Congress. Men can be politicians and still remain gentlemen in the best sense of the word. It was a good start for the new speaker, for which he should have credit.

PRESIDENT HARRISON sounded the death-knell of the Democratic party when he said in his message: "Rarely, if ever before, in the history of the country, has there been a time when the prospects of one day's labor would be so large an amount of those things that enter into the living of the masses of the people." The poor old Democracy have nothing to hope for now—nothing to live for. Prosperity killed it—the prosperity of the country.

THE New York Times thinks Governor Hill and Tammany are on top. It says: "It is not to be denied, therefore, that the election of Crisp is, to a marked extent, a triumph for the element in the Democratic party in this State represented by Mr. Sherman, Senator Hill, and Tammany Hall." It adds: "That this result of the first deliberative action of the Democratic representatives is, in our judgment, full of peril for the party and for the cause that has made the party in the recent past acceptable to us and to the great body of those who have come to its support within the past seven years, we need not say."

NOW that the defeat of Mills has been effected and notice served on Grover Cleveland that the Democratic party is not his private preserves, the next thing in order will be to conciliate the vanquished. Whether that can be done satisfactorily without stirring a fever of revolt in the blood of the victors may well be doubted. The patronage, including desirable committee positions, at the command of the Democracy is very limited. Mr. Crisp could hardly satisfy his own backers if he gave them everything, and if he meets the demands, even half way, of the Militants the cry will go up that he is placing his enemies at the expense of his friends.

JUST at present there is a lull. Both sides can wait for future developments. But the daily press is not in a position to maintain silence. It is not built that way. The newspapers of the mugwump stripe have no occasion to wait. They are immeasurably disgusted. It is said that Sherman Hoar, of Massachusetts, the most distinctive representative of that element, did not vote at all when it came to the actual election of Speaker, and one of his colleagues followed his example. This was the logic of the situation. Whatever else the election of Crisp means it proclaims in a clear tone loud enough to be heard distinctly by every mugwump in the country, that 1892 is not to be a repetition of 1888. If the mugwumps want to come in and be merged in the Democratic party, well and good, but as for allowing the tail to wag the dog again and the party to be cheated out of half the spoils of victory by civil service reform ideas, that's not to be tolerated. If Mr. Cleveland runs at all it must be as a Democrat, simple and nothing else.

THE Democratic press seems to be somewhat bewildered. Evidently the magnates of that branch of the press were not prepared for what happened. Even those who fought Mills the most bitterly did not expect much to win and in an important sense they did not. It was not their victory. They were on the winning side, but only as the fly was on the coach. Never was there a contest in politics which was more exclusively confined, as a battle-field, to the politicians. It would be absurd to say that a public sentiment in favor of Crisp had been worked up, or that the Mills people had attempted to hamstring him by newspaper assaults. The wily politicians met

Typchoia and Diptheria.

The State Board of Health reports touches upon diptheria and typhoid fever in a timely manner. It gives a warning of the contagious character of these diseases and reminds a wide-spread misapprehension as to the contagiousness of typhoid fever.

Diptheria has been unusually prevalent in the past year, and as to this mainly the report says: "While the disease is undoubtedly maintained, fostered and intensified by the filthy conditions which prevail in most of our small towns, yet the principal reason of its widespread existence and its long continuance in neighborhoods is to be found in uncleanliness and communication between the infected houses and the well, and residents of uninfected houses. When we succeed in establishing this fact in the minds of people, and in inducing them to adopt the precautions which it necessitates, we shall have rendered epidemics of diptheria as rare as those of smallpox now are."

As to the contagiousness of typhoid fever, the report says: "This disease, on the contrary, is not spread by direct contact with the patient, but is conveyed to the body as a widely disseminated fact. In an inspection made by the Secretary within the last month a hapless individual who, with several members of his family, had recently suffered from this disease, complained that the neighbors were so afraid that they would not come into the house, and he and his family found it difficult to obtain the necessary food and nursing care. This belief prevails quite widely, and is entirely unfounded. It will be seen, therefore, that typhoid fever is not contagious, only taking the precaution not to eat or drink in the sick room, and to drink no unboiled water."

How to Preserve Potatoes. The French Minister of Agriculture publishes the details of the process in the official Bulletin du Ministère de l'Agriculture for March 1891. The following is a translation of the essential part of the scheme.

1. The method of preservation consists in plunging the tubers, before storing them away, for ten hours into a 5 per cent. solution of commercial sulphuric acid in water; two parts of acid to 100 parts of water.

2. The acid penetrates the eyes to the depth of about one-fourth inch, two millimeters, which serves to destroy their sprouting power; it does not have any appreciable effect upon the skin of the potatoes.

3. After remaining in the liquid ten hours the tubers must be thoroughly dried before storing away.

4. The same liquid may be used any number of times with equally good results.

5. A barrel or tank of any kind will do for the treatment. The acid is so diluted that it does not affect the wood.

6. Chemical analysis shows that potatoes treated by this process are as nutritious and healthful after eighteen months as when freshly dug.

7. Potatoes thus treated are of course worthless for planting.

8. The following is the program for an institute, for the purpose of analyzing, Greenfield, Southampton and Wellenburgh districts, to be held at Pine Grove school house, on Saturday, Dec. 19, 1891.

Farmers' Annual Institute.

The Third Annual Session of the Somerset County Farmers' Institute, which meets in the Court House, January 24 and 25, promises to equal at least, if not exceed, in interest the sessions that have already been held.

Mr. J. T. Allan, one of Juniata county's most active farmers, and lecturer of the State Orange, will talk about "the good time coming here to help to help it, and will prove himself an active 'man of all work'."

Mr. Wm. Fier, Professor of Agricultural Chemistry in the state college, comes to give us light on the "chemical analysis of fertilizers, and the general relation that the science of chemistry bears to the agricultural industry."

A number of ladies and gentlemen of our own county will read papers and discuss questions of special interest to farmers and agriculturists. No work undertaken by any people in the past, has excited more interest than was manifested in the former sessions of our County Farmers' Institute. They are regarded as a means of education that farmers and their families can not afford to miss.

The expenses are met by an appropriation, made by the State to the State Board of Agriculture, and every farmer who wishes to secure his full share of the benefit of this fund expended by the Commonwealth for the special benefit of his class, should not fail to be present.

Application has been made for special rates on the railroad running through the county, which we have no doubt will be granted, as has been the case in the past.

N. E. Farnham, President, Member of State Board of Agriculture. VALENTINE HAY, A. G. KIMMEL, O. S. SLAYTER, M. J. REACH, Executive Committee of Somerset County Agricultural Society.

Northwest Stoney Creek Items. Not having seen anything in the Herald recently from this section of the county, I send you a few brief items:

The Herald is the best county paper, and is subscribed for almost by all the families in old Stoney Creek.

Wegle Brothers have a large contract for making ties for Mr. McKelvey. Their regular output per day is some seventy ties.

Mr. Moses Yoder visiting friends and relatives in the State of Indiana, returned here spending the latter part of the winter. That is right, friend! enjoy yourself.

Mr. A. H. Shullis is the boss hunter in this neck of woods, living largely this season on 27 rabbits, 19 skunk, 11 coon, two gray and five red foxes. This is a pretty good record for old Stoney Creek's best trapper.

The young folks of this school district had a very enjoyable spelling bee at the school house on Tuesday evening, conducted by our genial and good-looking teacher, E. E. Ringle. There was a large attendance, and the test of order prevailed throughout.

BUFAFO BILL. Note! The finest line of pictures ever shown in the county will be owned by Pritz & Kantner on December 31.

Resolutions of the Somerset Ministerial Association. WHEREAS, the closing of Wednesday is now in general among the town churches for the mid-week prayer meeting, and as it is highly desirable that the services be uniform, the following resolutions be adopted, and that all members of the association be notified thereof.

Resolved, That those of the community be respectfully requested and earnestly urged to regard this evening of the week as sacred to congregational prayer, and to order their standards and make their social arrangements that there may be no interference with the services, and that all may be free to attend them.

Resolved, That the service of prayer be observed, and that no service be held in the district church of the town.

It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction. Money refunded. Price 25 cents per tin. For sale by J. N. Snyder, Deadwood, S. D.

Lost Hand's Wrath. SCANTON, Pa., Dec. 11.—Martin Percival, of Prosbury, this day, came home this morning an Ark of Noah of seven years wandering in the West. His wife, convinced by his long absence that he must be dead, had married Ed. Bentley, and Percival found the compassing a pair of twins which had come to the family. He did not take the matter philosophically, but at once accused the couple, sent them to jail this morning in default of bail and took possession of his former home.

Says He Killed 99 Men. MEMPHIS, Tenn., Dec. 10.—Taiton Hall, one of the most desperate of the Kentucky and West Virginia border, was captured here by the private citizens, single and in two to have slain ninety-nine men. Doubtless is an exaggeration, but that he killed a score or more is not denied.
