

The Somerset Herald. ESTABLISHED 1827. Terms of Publication. Published every Wednesday morning at 12 1/2 o'clock. Price 10 cents. In advance $1.00 per annum. Single copies 5 cents. Advertising rates on application. The publisher is not responsible for the return of manuscripts. The publisher is not responsible for the return of manuscripts.

The Somerset Herald.

ESTABLISHED 1827.

VOL. XL. NO. 35. SOMERSET, PA., WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 24, 1892. WHOLE NO. 1217.

THE FIRST NATIONAL BANK
Somerset, Penn'a.
Capital $50,000. Surplus $7,000.
Deposits received in large and small amounts. Payable on demand. Accounts of merchants, farmers, stock dealers, and others solicited. Discounts daily.
Board of Directors: L. M. H. H. Miller, W. H. Miller, James L. Pugh, Chas. H. Fisher, John R. Scott, Geo. R. Scull, Fred W. Biesecker.

Somerset County National Bank Of Somerset, Pa.
Established 1877. Organized as a National Bank 1890.
Capital $50,000.
Chas. J. Harrison, Pres't
Wm. B. Freese, Vice Pres't
Milton J. Pritts, Cashier.
Directors: Wm. H. Koonitz, John R. Scott, James L. Pugh, Wm. B. Freese, Chas. H. Fisher, Geo. R. Scull, Fred W. Biesecker.

CURTIS K. GROVE,
SOMERSET, PA.
Saddles, Blankets, Carriages, and Harness and Western Work.
Painting Done on Short Time.
Employ Only First-Class Workmen.
All Work Warranted.

It is Your Interest
TO BUY
DRUGS AND MEDICINES
JOHN N. SNYDER,
Sole Importer to
BIESECKER & SNYDER,
Somerset, Pa.
Having opened up a shop in this place, I am now prepared to supply the public with clocks, watches and jewelry of all descriptions, as cheap as the cheapest.

AMERICAN HOTEL.
Owned and Operated by
J. W. SWITZER, Cumberland, Md.
None but the purest and best kept in stock and when drunk become inert by standing, as certain of them we destroy them, rather than to pose on our customers.

Imported Cigars.
Prescriptions & Family Receipts.
REPAIRING A SPECIALTY.
All work guaranteed. Look at my stock before making your purchases.

A. H. HUSTON,
Undertaker and Embalmer.
Caskets and Robes.
A GOOD HEARSE

Eternal Vigilance
Is the price of good health. But with all the attention we may take there are enemies always lurking about our system, only waiting for a favorable opportunity to assert themselves. Scrofula and other impurities in the blood may be hidden for years or even for generations, and suddenly break forth, undermining health and hastening death. For all diseases arising from impure blood.

Hood's Sarsaparilla
Is the unequalled and unsurpassed remedy for the impurities of the blood. It builds up in a perfectly natural way all the weakened parts, vitalizes, cures and purifies the blood. And assists to healthy action those important organs, the kidneys and liver. If you need a good medicine you should certainly take Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Are in the fight of the GREAT REDUCTION SALES.
The "Bee Hive Store" is always to the front and will not be undersold. You will be convinced of this if you step into our store room, examine goods and compare prices. One door north of Postoffice.

RENE AND CLOTILDE.
"Why do you wish to run, Clotilde? My Cousin Pierre is not a wild beast that he should hunt you! On the contrary, he is very good-natured and entertaining and if you will wait till he comes I will ask him to tell you some of his adventures at sea. It makes one's blood run cold to listen to what he has been through."

RENE AND CLOTILDE.
"I have been to the sea, Clotilde, and I have seen some things that will make you shudder. I have seen a man who was as good as dead, and I have seen a man who was as good as a ghost. I have seen a man who was as good as a demon, and I have seen a man who was as good as a god."

RENE AND CLOTILDE.
"I have been to the sea, Clotilde, and I have seen some things that will make you shudder. I have seen a man who was as good as dead, and I have seen a man who was as good as a ghost. I have seen a man who was as good as a demon, and I have seen a man who was as good as a god."

RENE AND CLOTILDE.
"I have been to the sea, Clotilde, and I have seen some things that will make you shudder. I have seen a man who was as good as dead, and I have seen a man who was as good as a ghost. I have seen a man who was as good as a demon, and I have seen a man who was as good as a god."

SEPARATION.
"Why was it, when you changed your place and passed so close beside my chair, that all the life within me thrilled and my pulses quickened when I thought of impulses that were half despair?"

RENE AND CLOTILDE.
"I have been to the sea, Clotilde, and I have seen some things that will make you shudder. I have seen a man who was as good as dead, and I have seen a man who was as good as a ghost. I have seen a man who was as good as a demon, and I have seen a man who was as good as a god."

RENE AND CLOTILDE.
"I have been to the sea, Clotilde, and I have seen some things that will make you shudder. I have seen a man who was as good as dead, and I have seen a man who was as good as a ghost. I have seen a man who was as good as a demon, and I have seen a man who was as good as a god."

RENE AND CLOTILDE.
"I have been to the sea, Clotilde, and I have seen some things that will make you shudder. I have seen a man who was as good as dead, and I have seen a man who was as good as a ghost. I have seen a man who was as good as a demon, and I have seen a man who was as good as a god."

RENE AND CLOTILDE.
"I have been to the sea, Clotilde, and I have seen some things that will make you shudder. I have seen a man who was as good as dead, and I have seen a man who was as good as a ghost. I have seen a man who was as good as a demon, and I have seen a man who was as good as a god."

RENE AND CLOTILDE.
"I have been to the sea, Clotilde, and I have seen some things that will make you shudder. I have seen a man who was as good as dead, and I have seen a man who was as good as a ghost. I have seen a man who was as good as a demon, and I have seen a man who was as good as a god."

RENE AND CLOTILDE.
"I have been to the sea, Clotilde, and I have seen some things that will make you shudder. I have seen a man who was as good as dead, and I have seen a man who was as good as a ghost. I have seen a man who was as good as a demon, and I have seen a man who was as good as a god."

Reciprocal Favors.
In talking yesterday with Colonel James E. Jones, one of New York's port wardens, it came out that he had been in the United States Army service during the Rebellion with the late General Henry A. Barnum, about whom he told me an incident which came to his knowledge from the General himself. General Barnum was in command of a brigade under General Fitz John Porter at the battle of Hanover Court House. Among the prisoners captured was a Confederate surgeon, Dr. Deshay, who was mounted upon a magnificent white horse. It was the custom of war not to hold surgeons as prisoners, and Dr. Deshay was brought before General Barnum for disposition. Barnum, from him and an excited sergeant was riding it back and forth within plain view of the two men, about a mile apart. The animal was clearly being abused, and when General Barnum greeted the surgeon with courtesy and inquired what he might do for him, Dr. Deshay replied, as he pointed to the animal he had just been riding: "That white horse, which one of your soldiers is abusing, was given to me by my wife, whose pet animal it is, when I came into service. I would rather lose an arm than the horse. General Barnum gave immediate orders for the restoration of the horse to Dr. Deshay, and on closer acquaintance found him such a pleasant gentleman that he went with him to the outer lines of the army, when the doctor was permitted to go back into the Confederate lines."

Evils of Smoking.
He was a pretty old man; that was apparent. His hair was white and his beard was white. He walked with a cane, and he was able to look out for himself and get around reasonably well.

Thoughts to Carry With You.
Strung faith in human beings is the stronger faith in God. When we feel the narrowness of these lives of ours, each in its own small circle, we are consoled by knowing that every star must move within its limits, though space be around it.

Specimen Cases.
S. H. Chifford, New Case, Wis., was troubled with Neuralgia and Rheumatism, his Stomach was disordered, his Liver was affected to an alarming degree, appetite fell away, and he was terribly reduced in flesh and strength. Three bottles of Electric Balm cured him.

How to Tell Them Apart.
"My aunt says I'm so like my papa that she can't tell apart, but I know the difference," said Tommy.
"What is it?" asked the visitor.
"Papa wears suspenders and I don't," replied Tommy.

Was It A Miss?
"And you really think that a miss is as good as a mile?"
"Yess, and a good deal better, for one can kiss a miss, when one couldn't kiss a mile, don't you know?"—Times Dispatch.

Antidotes for the Blues.
No actor has yet attempted the role of a steamship.
"Some machinery is very modest—it prefers to go round in-eggs."
"That man has no small voice," said the disappointed carpenter as he left the hardware store.
"Papa wears suspenders and I don't," replied Tommy.

Character.
Character is the sum of the qualities which distinguish one person or thing from another. In sentiment being it is generalization of personality. It is the wholeness of personality. Looked at as a result it is the product of all influences used by and brought to bear upon the soul. It is the soul's organism as the body is the organ of the physical life. Like the body it may be undeveloped, mutilated, diseased or dwarfed. Activity it is the whole man working to one end. In physics it is held that all forces have their origin in some common source. Light, heat, electricity and magnetism are different manifestations of the same power. So intellect, sensibility, will, conscience—moral and mental manifestations—find their correlation in character.

Character is quality of person.
It results from endowment and culture. The man with one talent had endowment, but not culture. His fellow servants formed character by using wisely what was entrusted to them. A quality was developed within them, and a man made them. "Thou has been faithful in a few things, I will make thee ruler over many." Therefore to secure divine blessings we must show this abiding faithfulness written on our souls.

Character is stored up moral force.
Infinite beams of the sun are in a pound of coal. So ceaseless efforts and sufferings leave their deposit and store up their moral force in the soul. This character is reserve power, which he depends upon in his strength for the moment and who draws his influence by direct effort alone, like the fabled virgin who took no oil with them in their vessels with their lamps. Character is the "old guard" in the battle of life. It bears the same relation to one's active life that one's capital does to his business. While he works his wages go on; but his capital works for him while he sleeps. So the wise business man ever takes something from his active earnings and stores it away into this permanent fund of power. And he who is instructed in spiritual things makes the sum of his past life as well as the activities of the present his strength. Happy the man who is storing up this secret power.

Character is more than reserve.
It is aspiration for others. The activities of the present are referred to Men measure deeds according to the character behind them. Liberal giving is praised if it comes from a liberal life, otherwise the giver is called a hypocrite. The politician is despised, not because he is amiable to every one, but because he smiles for revenue. It is out of a selfish life, if then we would have credit for good as I said, our works of mercy must come out of a good heart. A good man out of the good measure of his heart brings forth good things, and an evil man out of the evil treasure of his heart brings forth evil things. Be what you say and do, and you will lack nothing of power. It is common to glorify truth as the solution of every question of life. But truth gains its power through character. In some form the truth that Jesus taught must be found scattered through the old religion and history; but they could not regenerate until they were translated into life. "I am the way, the truth and the life," he said. Water is insipid until it passes through the soil and comes forth with the qualities which satisfy the thirsty soul. So truth gains its attractiveness through character. Philosophies may interest the few; but truth incarnate, wrought out in character, will alone draw the multitude.

Character is immortality.
True character is immortality. The activities of the present are referred to Men measure deeds according to the character behind them. Liberal giving is praised if it comes from a liberal life, otherwise the giver is called a hypocrite. The politician is despised, not because he is amiable to every one, but because he smiles for revenue. It is out of a selfish life, if then we would have credit for good as I said, our works of mercy must come out of a good heart. A good man out of the good measure of his heart brings forth good things, and an evil man out of the evil treasure of his heart brings forth evil things. Be what you say and do, and you will lack nothing of power. It is common to glorify truth as the solution of every question of life. But truth gains its power through character. In some form the truth that Jesus taught must be found scattered through the old religion and history; but they could not regenerate until they were translated into life. "I am the way, the truth and the life," he said. Water is insipid until it passes through the soil and comes forth with the qualities which satisfy the thirsty soul. So truth gains its attractiveness through character. Philosophies may interest the few; but truth incarnate, wrought out in character, will alone draw the multitude.

Character is more than reserve.
It is aspiration for others. The activities of the present are referred to Men measure deeds according to the character behind them. Liberal giving is praised if it comes from a liberal life, otherwise the giver is called a hypocrite. The politician is despised, not because he is amiable to every one, but because he smiles for revenue. It is out of a selfish life, if then we would have credit for good as I said, our works of mercy must come out of a good heart. A good man out of the good measure of his heart brings forth good things, and an evil man out of the evil treasure of his heart brings forth evil things. Be what you say and do, and you will lack nothing of power. It is common to glorify truth as the solution of every question of life. But truth gains its power through character. In some form the truth that Jesus taught must be found scattered through the old religion and history; but they could not regenerate until they were translated into life. "I am the way, the truth and the life," he said. Water is insipid until it passes through the soil and comes forth with the qualities which satisfy the thirsty soul. So truth gains its attractiveness through character. Philosophies may interest the few; but truth incarnate, wrought out in character, will alone draw the multitude.

Character is more than reserve.
It is aspiration for others. The activities of the present are referred to Men measure deeds according to the character behind them. Liberal giving is praised if it comes from a liberal life, otherwise the giver is called a hypocrite. The politician is despised, not because he is amiable to every one, but because he smiles for revenue. It is out of a selfish life, if then we would have credit for good as I said, our works of mercy must come out of a good heart. A good man out of the good measure of his heart brings forth good things, and an evil man out of the evil treasure of his heart brings forth evil things. Be what you say and do, and you will lack nothing of power. It is common to glorify truth as the solution of every question of life. But truth gains its power through character. In some form the truth that Jesus taught must be found scattered through the old religion and history; but they could not regenerate until they were translated into life. "I am the way, the truth and the life," he said. Water is insipid until it passes through the soil and comes forth with the qualities which satisfy the thirsty soul. So truth gains its attractiveness through character. Philosophies may interest the few; but truth incarnate, wrought out in character, will alone draw the multitude.

Character is more than reserve.
It is aspiration for others. The activities of the present are referred to Men measure deeds according to the character behind them. Liberal giving is praised if it comes from a liberal life, otherwise the giver is called a hypocrite. The politician is despised, not because he is amiable to every one, but because he smiles for revenue. It is out of a selfish life, if then we would have credit for good as I said, our works of mercy must come out of a good heart. A good man out of the good measure of his heart brings forth good things, and an evil man out of the evil treasure of his heart brings forth evil things. Be what you say and do, and you will lack nothing of power. It is common to glorify truth as the solution of every question of life. But truth gains its power through character. In some form the truth that Jesus taught must be found scattered through the old religion and history; but they could not regenerate until they were translated into life. "I am the way, the truth and the life," he said. Water is insipid until it passes through the soil and comes forth with the qualities which satisfy the thirsty soul. So truth gains its attractiveness through character. Philosophies may interest the few; but truth incarnate, wrought out in character, will alone draw the multitude.

Character is more than reserve.
It is aspiration for others. The activities of the present are referred to Men measure deeds according to the character behind them. Liberal giving is praised if it comes from a liberal life, otherwise the giver is called a hypocrite. The politician is despised, not because he is amiable to every one, but because he smiles for revenue. It is out of a selfish life, if then we would have credit for good as I said, our works of mercy must come out of a good heart. A good man out of the good measure of his heart brings forth good things, and an evil man out of the evil treasure of his heart brings forth evil things. Be what you say and do, and you will lack nothing of power. It is common to glorify truth as the solution of every question of life. But truth gains its power through character. In some form the truth that Jesus taught must be found scattered through the old religion and history; but they could not regenerate until they were translated into life. "I am the way, the truth and the life," he said. Water is insipid until it passes through the soil and comes forth with the qualities which satisfy the thirsty soul. So truth gains its attractiveness through character. Philosophies may interest the few; but truth incarnate, wrought out in character, will alone draw the multitude.

Character is more than reserve.
It is aspiration for others. The activities of the present are referred to Men measure deeds according to the character behind them. Liberal giving is praised if it comes from a liberal life, otherwise the giver is called a hypocrite. The politician is despised, not because he is amiable to every one, but because he smiles for revenue. It is out of a selfish life, if then we would have credit for good as I said, our works of mercy must come out of a good heart. A good man out of the good measure of his heart brings forth good things, and an evil man out of the evil treasure of his heart brings forth evil things. Be what you say and do, and you will lack nothing of power. It is common to glorify truth as the solution of every question of life. But truth gains its power through character. In some form the truth that Jesus taught must be found scattered through the old religion and history; but they could not regenerate until they were translated into life. "I am the way, the truth and the life," he said. Water is insipid until it passes through the soil and comes forth with the qualities which satisfy the thirsty soul. So truth gains its attractiveness through character. Philosophies may interest the few; but truth incarnate, wrought out in character, will alone draw the multitude.

Character is more than reserve.
It is aspiration for others. The activities of the present are referred to Men measure deeds according to the character behind them. Liberal giving is praised if it comes from a liberal life, otherwise the giver is called a hypocrite. The politician is despised, not because he is amiable to every one, but because he smiles for revenue. It is out of a selfish life, if then we would have credit for good as I said, our works of mercy must come out of a good heart. A good man out of the good measure of his heart brings forth good things, and an evil man out of the evil treasure of his heart brings forth evil things. Be what you say and do, and you will lack nothing of power. It is common to glorify truth as the solution of every question of life. But truth gains its power through character. In some form the truth that Jesus taught must be found scattered through the old religion and history; but they could not regenerate until they were translated into life. "I am the way, the truth and the life," he said. Water is insipid until it passes through the soil and comes forth with the qualities which satisfy the thirsty soul. So truth gains its attractiveness through character. Philosophies may interest the few; but truth incarnate, wrought out in character, will alone draw the multitude.

Character is more than reserve.
It is aspiration for others. The activities of the present are referred to Men measure deeds according to the character behind them. Liberal giving is praised if it comes from a liberal life, otherwise the giver is called a hypocrite. The politician is despised, not because he is amiable to every one, but because he smiles for revenue. It is out of a selfish life, if then we would have credit for good as I said, our works of mercy must come out of a good heart. A good man out of the good measure of his heart brings forth good things, and an evil man out of the evil treasure of his heart brings forth evil things. Be what you say and do, and you will lack nothing of power. It is common to glorify truth as the solution of every question of life. But truth gains its power through character. In some form the truth that Jesus taught must be found scattered through the old religion and history; but they could not regenerate until they were translated into life. "I am the way, the truth and the life," he said. Water is insipid until it passes through the soil and comes forth with the qualities which satisfy the thirsty soul. So truth gains its attractiveness through character. Philosophies may interest the few; but truth incarnate, wrought out in character, will alone draw the multitude.

Character is more than reserve.
It is aspiration for others. The activities of the present are referred to Men measure deeds according to the character behind them. Liberal giving is praised if it comes from a liberal life, otherwise the giver is called a hypocrite. The politician is despised, not because he is amiable to every one, but because he smiles for revenue. It is out of a selfish life, if then we would have credit for good as I said, our works of mercy must come out of a good heart. A good man out of the good measure of his heart brings forth good things, and an evil man out of the evil treasure of his heart brings forth evil things. Be what you say and do, and you will lack nothing of power. It is common to glorify truth as the solution of every question of life. But truth gains its power through character. In some form the truth that Jesus taught must be found scattered through the old religion and history; but they could not regenerate until they were translated into life. "I am the way, the truth and the life," he said. Water is insipid until it passes through the soil and comes forth with the qualities which satisfy the thirsty soul. So truth gains its attractiveness through character. Philosophies may interest the few; but truth incarnate, wrought out in character, will alone draw the multitude.

Character is more than reserve.
It is aspiration for others. The activities of the present are referred to Men measure deeds according to the character behind them. Liberal giving is praised if it comes from a liberal life, otherwise the giver is called a hypocrite. The politician is despised, not because he is amiable to every one, but because he smiles for revenue. It is out of a selfish life, if then we would have credit for good as I said, our works of mercy must come out of a good heart. A good man out of the good measure of his heart brings forth good things, and an evil man out of the evil treasure of his heart brings forth evil things. Be what you say and do, and you will lack nothing of power. It is common to glorify truth as the solution of every question of life. But truth gains its power through character. In some form the truth that Jesus taught must be found scattered through the old religion and history; but they could not regenerate until they were translated into life. "I am the way, the truth and the life," he said. Water is insipid until it passes through the soil and comes forth with the qualities which satisfy the thirsty soul. So truth gains its attractiveness through character. Philosophies may interest the few; but truth incarnate, wrought out in character, will alone draw the multitude.

Character is more than reserve.
It is aspiration for others. The activities of the present are referred to Men measure deeds according to the character behind them. Liberal giving is praised if it comes from a liberal life, otherwise the giver is called a hypocrite. The politician is despised, not because he is amiable to every one, but because he smiles for revenue. It is out of a selfish life, if then we would have credit for good as I said, our works of mercy must come out of a good heart. A good man out of the good measure of his heart brings forth good things, and an evil man out of the evil treasure of his heart brings forth evil things. Be what you say and do, and you will lack nothing of power. It is common to glorify truth as the solution of every question of life. But truth gains its power through character. In some form the truth that Jesus taught must be found scattered through the old religion and history; but they could not regenerate until they were translated into life. "I am the way, the truth and the life," he said. Water is insipid until it passes through the soil and comes forth with the qualities which satisfy the thirsty soul. So truth gains its attractiveness through character. Philosophies may interest the few; but truth incarnate, wrought out in character, will alone draw the multitude.

Character is more than reserve.
It is aspiration for others. The activities of the present are referred to Men measure deeds according to the character behind them. Liberal giving is praised if it comes from a liberal life, otherwise the giver is called a hypocrite. The politician is despised, not because he is amiable to every one, but because he smiles for revenue. It is out of a selfish life, if then we would have credit for good as I said, our works of mercy must come out of a good heart. A good man out of the good measure of his heart brings forth good things, and an evil man out of the evil treasure of his heart brings forth evil things. Be what you say and do, and you will lack nothing of power. It is common to glorify truth as the solution of every question of life. But truth gains its power through character. In some form the truth that Jesus taught must be found scattered through the old religion and history; but they could not regenerate until they were translated into life. "I am the way, the truth and the life," he said. Water is insipid until it passes through the soil and comes forth with the qualities which satisfy the thirsty soul. So truth gains its attractiveness through character. Philosophies may interest the few; but truth incarnate, wrought out in character, will alone draw the multitude.

Character is more than reserve.
It is aspiration for others. The activities of the present are referred to Men measure deeds according to the character behind them. Liberal giving is praised if it comes from a liberal life, otherwise the giver is called a hypocrite. The politician is despised, not because he is amiable to every one, but because he smiles for revenue. It is out of a selfish life, if then we would have credit for good as I said, our works of mercy must come out of a good heart. A good man out of the good measure of his heart brings forth good things, and an evil man out of the evil treasure of his heart brings forth evil things. Be what you say and do, and you will lack nothing of power. It is common to glorify truth as the solution of every question of life. But truth gains its power through character. In some form the truth that Jesus taught must be found scattered through the old religion and history; but they could not regenerate until they were translated into life. "I am the way, the truth and the life," he said. Water is insipid until it passes through the soil and comes forth with the qualities which satisfy the thirsty soul. So truth gains its attractiveness through character. Philosophies may interest the few; but truth incarnate, wrought out in character, will alone draw the multitude.

Character is more than reserve.
It is aspiration for others. The activities of the present are referred to Men measure deeds according to the character behind them. Liberal giving is praised if it comes from a liberal life, otherwise the giver is called a hypocrite. The politician is despised, not because he is amiable to every one, but because he smiles for revenue. It is out of a selfish life, if then we would have credit for good as I said, our works of mercy must come out of a good heart. A good man out of the good measure of his heart brings forth good things, and an evil man out of the evil treasure of his heart brings forth evil things. Be what you say and do, and you will lack nothing of power. It is common to glorify truth as the solution of every question of life. But truth gains its power through character. In some form the truth that Jesus taught must be found scattered through the old religion and history; but they could not regenerate until they were translated into life. "I am the way, the truth and the life," he said. Water is insipid until it passes through the soil and comes forth with the qualities which satisfy the thirsty soul. So truth gains its attractiveness through character. Philosophies may interest the few; but truth incarnate, wrought out in character, will alone draw the multitude.

Character is more than reserve.
It is aspiration for others. The activities of the present are referred to Men measure deeds according to the character behind them. Liberal giving is praised if it comes from a liberal life, otherwise the giver is called a hypocrite. The politician is despised, not because he is amiable to every one, but because he smiles for revenue. It is out of a selfish life, if then we would have credit for good as I said, our works of mercy must come out of a good heart. A good man out of the good measure of his heart brings forth good things, and an evil man out of the evil treasure of his heart brings forth evil things. Be what you say and do, and you will lack nothing of power. It is common to glorify truth as the solution of every question of life. But truth gains its power through character. In some form the truth that Jesus taught must be found scattered through the old religion and history; but they could not regenerate until they were translated into life. "I am the way, the truth and the life," he said. Water is insipid until it passes through the soil and comes forth with the qualities which satisfy the thirsty soul. So truth gains its attractiveness through character. Philosophies may interest the few; but truth incarnate, wrought out in character, will alone draw the multitude.

Character is more than reserve.
It is aspiration for others. The activities of the present are referred to Men measure deeds according to the character behind them. Liberal giving is praised if it comes from a liberal life, otherwise the giver is called a hypocrite. The politician is despised, not because he is amiable to every one, but because he smiles for revenue. It is out of a selfish life, if then we would have credit for good as I said, our works of mercy must come out of a good heart. A good man out of the good measure of his heart brings forth good things, and an evil man out of the evil treasure of his heart brings forth evil things. Be what you say and do, and you will lack nothing of power. It is common to glorify truth as the solution of every question of life. But truth gains its power through character. In some form the truth that Jesus taught must be found scattered through the old religion and history; but they could not regenerate until they were translated into life. "I am the way, the truth and the life," he said. Water is insipid until it passes through the soil and comes forth with the qualities which satisfy the thirsty soul. So truth gains its attractiveness through character. Philosophies may interest the few; but truth incarnate, wrought out in character, will alone draw the multitude.

Character is more than reserve.
It is aspiration for others. The activities of the present are referred to Men measure deeds according to the character behind them. Liberal giving is praised if it comes from a liberal life, otherwise the giver is called a hypocrite. The politician is despised, not because he is amiable to every one, but because he smiles for revenue. It is out of a selfish life, if then we would have credit for good as I said, our works of mercy must come out of a good heart. A good man out of the good measure of his heart brings forth good things, and an evil man out of the evil treasure of his heart brings forth evil things. Be what you say and do, and you will lack nothing of power. It is common to glorify truth as the solution of every question of life. But truth gains its power through character. In some form the truth that Jesus taught must be found scattered through the old religion and history; but they could not regenerate until they were translated into life. "I am the way, the truth and the life," he said. Water is insipid until it passes through the soil and comes forth with the qualities which satisfy the thirsty soul. So truth gains its attractiveness through character. Philosophies may interest the few; but truth incarnate, wrought out in character, will alone draw the multitude.

Character is more than reserve.
It is aspiration for others. The activities of the present are referred to Men measure deeds according to the character behind them. Liberal giving is praised if it comes from a liberal life, otherwise the giver is called a hypocrite. The politician is despised, not because he is amiable to every one, but because he smiles for revenue. It is out of a selfish life, if then we would have credit for good as I said, our works of mercy must come out of a good heart. A good man out of the good measure of his heart brings forth good things, and an evil man out of the evil treasure of his heart brings forth evil things. Be what you say and do, and you will lack nothing of power. It is common to glorify truth as the solution of every question of life. But truth gains its power through character. In some form the truth that Jesus taught must be found scattered through the old religion and history; but they could not regenerate until they were translated into life. "I am the way, the truth and the life," he said. Water is insipid until it passes through the soil and comes forth with the qualities which satisfy the thirsty soul. So truth gains its attractiveness through character. Philosophies may interest the few; but truth incarnate, wrought out in character, will alone draw the multitude.

Character is more than reserve.
It is aspiration for others. The activities of the present are referred to Men measure deeds according to the character behind them. Liberal giving is praised if it comes from a liberal life, otherwise the giver is called a hypocrite. The politician is despised, not because he is amiable to every one, but because he smiles for revenue. It is out of a selfish life, if then we would have credit for good as I said, our works of mercy must come out of a good heart. A good man out of the good measure of his heart brings forth good things, and an evil man out of the evil treasure of his heart brings forth evil things. Be what you say and do, and you will lack nothing of power. It is common to glorify truth as the solution of every question of life. But truth gains its power through character. In some form the truth that Jesus taught must be found scattered through the old religion and history; but they could not regenerate until they were translated into life. "I am the way, the truth and the life," he said. Water is insipid until it passes through the soil and comes forth with the qualities which satisfy the thirsty soul. So truth gains its attractiveness through character. Philosophies may interest the few; but truth incarnate, wrought out in character, will alone draw the multitude.

Character is more than reserve.
It is aspiration for others. The activities of the present are referred to Men measure deeds according to the character behind them. Liberal giving is praised if it comes from a liberal life, otherwise the giver is called a hypocrite. The politician is despised, not because he is amiable to every one, but because he smiles for revenue. It is out of a selfish life, if then we would have credit for good as I said, our works of mercy must come out of a good heart. A good man out of the good measure of his heart brings forth good things, and an evil man out of the evil treasure of his heart brings forth evil things. Be what you say and do, and you will lack nothing of power. It is common to glorify truth as the solution of every question of life. But truth gains its power through character. In some form the truth that Jesus taught must be found scattered through the old religion and history; but they could not regenerate until they were translated into life. "I am the way, the truth and the life," he said. Water is insipid until it passes through the soil and comes forth with the qualities which satisfy the thirsty soul. So truth gains its attractiveness through character. Philosophies may interest the few; but truth incarnate, wrought out in character, will alone draw the multitude.

Character is more than reserve.
It is aspiration for others. The activities of the present are referred to Men measure deeds according to the character behind them. Liberal giving is praised if it comes from a liberal life, otherwise the giver is called a hypocrite. The politician is despised, not because he is amiable to every one, but because he smiles for revenue. It is out of a selfish life, if then we would have credit for good as I said, our works of mercy must come out of a good heart. A good man out of the good measure of his heart brings forth good things, and an evil man out of the evil treasure of his heart brings forth evil things. Be what you say and do, and you will lack nothing of power. It is common to glorify truth as the solution of every question of life. But truth gains its power through character. In some form the truth that Jesus taught must be found scattered through the old religion and history; but they could not regenerate until they were translated into life. "I am the way, the truth and the life," he said. Water is insipid until it passes through the soil and comes forth with the qualities which satisfy the thirsty soul. So truth gains its attractiveness through character. Philosophies may interest the few; but truth incarnate, wrought out in character, will alone draw the multitude.

Character is more than reserve.
It is aspiration for others. The activities of the present are referred to Men measure deeds according to the character behind them. Liberal giving is praised if it comes from a liberal life, otherwise the giver is called a hypocrite. The politician is despised, not because he is amiable to every one, but because he smiles for revenue. It is out of a selfish life, if then we would have credit for good as I said, our works of mercy must come out of a good heart. A good man out of the good measure of his heart brings forth good things, and an evil man out of the evil treasure of his heart brings forth evil things. Be what you say and do, and you will lack nothing of power. It is common to glorify truth as the solution of every question of life. But truth gains its power through character. In some form the truth that Jesus taught must be found scattered through the old religion and history; but they could not regenerate until they were translated into life. "I am the way, the truth and the life," he said. Water is insipid until it passes through the soil and comes forth with the qualities which satisfy the thirsty soul. So truth gains its attractiveness through character. Philosophies may interest the few; but truth incarnate, wrought out in character, will alone draw the multitude.

Character is more than reserve.
It is aspiration for others. The activities of the present are referred to Men measure deeds according to the character behind them. Liberal giving is praised if it comes from a liberal life, otherwise the giver is called a hypocrite. The politician is despised, not because he is amiable to every one, but because he smiles for revenue. It is out of a selfish life, if then we would have credit for good as I said, our works of mercy must come out of a good heart. A good man out of the good measure of his heart brings forth good things, and an evil man out of the evil treasure of his heart brings forth evil things. Be what you say and do, and you will lack nothing of power. It is common to glorify truth as the solution of every question of life. But truth gains its power through character. In some form the truth that Jesus taught must be found scattered through the old religion and history; but they could not regenerate until they were translated into life. "I am the way, the truth and the life," he said. Water is insipid until it passes through the soil and comes forth with the qualities which satisfy the thirsty soul. So truth gains its attractiveness through character. Philosophies may interest the few; but truth incarnate, wrought out in character, will alone draw the multitude.

Character is more than reserve.
It is aspiration for others. The activities of the present are referred to Men measure deeds according to the character behind them. Liberal giving is praised if it comes from a liberal life, otherwise the giver is called a hypocrite. The politician is despised, not because he is amiable to every one, but because he smiles for revenue. It is out of a selfish life, if then we would have credit for good as I said, our works of mercy must come out of a good heart. A good man out of the good measure of his heart brings forth good things, and an evil man out of the evil treasure of his heart brings forth evil things. Be what you say and do, and you will lack nothing of power. It is common to glorify truth as the solution of every question of life. But truth gains its power through character. In some form the truth that Jesus taught must be found scattered through the old religion and history; but they could not regenerate until they were translated into life. "I am the way, the truth and the life," he said. Water is insipid until it passes through the soil and comes forth with the qualities which satisfy the thirsty soul. So truth gains its attractiveness through character. Philosophies may interest the few; but truth incarnate, wrought out in character, will alone draw the multitude.

Character is more than reserve.
It is aspiration for others. The activities of the present are referred to Men measure deeds according to the character behind them. Liberal giving is praised if it comes from a liberal life, otherwise the giver is called a hypocrite. The politician is despised, not because he is amiable to every one, but because he smiles for revenue. It is out of a selfish life, if then we would have credit for good as I said, our works of mercy must come out of a good heart. A good man out of the good measure of his heart brings forth good things, and an evil man out of the evil treasure of his heart brings forth evil things. Be what you say and do, and you will lack nothing of power. It is common to glorify truth as the solution of every question of life. But truth gains its power through character. In some form the truth that Jesus taught must be found scattered through the old religion and history; but they could not regenerate until they were translated into life. "I am the way, the truth and the life," he said. Water is insipid until it passes through the soil and comes forth with the