WILL VOTE FOR QUAY

State Senator Thomas Supports the Beaver Statesman.

HIS REASONS FOR SO DOING.

He Refutes the Misrepresentations of the Opposition and Tells Why He Intends to Vote for the Junior Senator's Re-election.

State Senator C. Wesley Thomas, of the Fourth Philadelphia district, can claim the distinction of being the first who will have a vote in the next legislature to publicly declare his intention to support Hon. Matthew Stanley Quay for re-election to the United States senate. Senator Thomas gives his reasons for so doing, and confidently predicts Senator Quay's re-election by a flattering vote.

"If there was ever any doubt of Colonel Quay's re-election to the United States Senate," said Senator Thomas, smilingly, the other day, "I think the result of the popular vote at the recent Republican primary elections removed that doubt. I have never thought there was any question of Senator Quay receiving the support of a vast majority of Republicans of Pennsylvania in this matter.

Handwriting on the Wall.

"The handwriting on the wall is now so plainly and clearly written that no one can mistake it.

"I cannot conceive of any possible broad gauged reason," continued Senator Thomas, "why Senator Quay should not be re-elected. I have read from time to time the various charges that have been made against him, and have frequently made close and careful inquiry concerning them for the purpose of ascertaining the truth. I have done this because I voted for him when he was elected state treasurer, and I also voted for him for United States senator. I shall have a vote in the next legislature upon the question of the United States senatorship, and up to this time I see no reason why I should reverse my vote of five years ago.

"The statement that the junior senator has embarrassed President Harrison in the distribution of the patronage is ridiculous and absurd, and such an idea, to my mind, would be belittling to the present federal administration. I believe President Harrison will be renominated and re-elected, and also believe that Senator Quay will be one of his stanchest supporters.

"So many unreasonable things are said about Senator Quay that, when carefully looked into, they appear as little more than absurdity; for instance, 'That he has driven many able and honest men out of the Republican party, or has discouraged them from taking an active part in politics.' Who are these men? Name me an able and honest man that Senator Quay has driven from the Republican party, which necessarily implies that he compels them to turn Democrat. No able and honest man can be driven from his party by any leader any more than he could be driven from his church by an infidel or from his family by a slanderer.

Never Asked for His Vote.

"I have known Colonel Quay for a number of years, and have served in every succeeding session of the legislature since 1881. I can say that he never asked me to vote for or against a measure during my membership in either branch of the general assembly; in fact, he never asked me, directly or indirectly, to vote for him for United States senator five years ago, and he has not asked me to vote for him at the next session.

"It is frequently said that Senator Quay was not in favor of the elections bill, but this is a mistake, for Senator Quay voted to give the bill consideration according to the plans and policy of the Republican party.

Price of Party Loyalty.

"I presume that if Senator Quay had never accepted the chairmanship of the national committee he would have enjoyed a peaceful and undisturbed career in the senate, but the victory he achieved for the Republican party in 1888 made him the foremost figure in American politics. The Democratic press, acting under the advice of the Tammany leaders, at once observed the necessity for destroying this modern Goliath, and, after careful and considerate review of the situation, determined to undermine the Republican chairman by assailing his personal character. Senator Quay was immediately blamed by a number of Republicans and by part of the Republican press for not answering these charges at the time they were made. It is an open secret that it was his desire to give thorough and exhaustive answer to all the charges made against him, but he was persuaded from so doing by the advice of nearly every Republican United States senator. I have reason to believe that at least a part of his answer had been prepared, but it was suppressed because his fellow senators insisted that it would be unwise for him to pay any attention to such an outrageous, untruthful and unwarranted attack.

"So far as speech making and letter writing is concerned, I notice that the Democratic candidates for president are doing considerable of it. We will better appreciate the silence of Quay in the great battle of 1892, when the enemy will learn the lesson that too much talk is not to be compared with the golden rule of silence."

A PHOTOGRAPH WANTED

Of Some of the Voters at the Recent Republican Primaries.

In endeavoring to explain the recent overwhelming popular vote at the Republican primaries, in favor of Senator Quay's re-election, a rampant anti-Quay organ accounts for the crushing defeat of Dalzell in a manner that must be highly amusing to the friends of the junior senator.

It states that "the workingmen, the soldiers and the farmers all supported Quay." If the workingmen, the farmers and the old soldiers supported Quay, we would like to have a photograph of those that supported the other candidate. Senator Quay's opponent should understand that the workingmen, the farmers and the old soldiers are largely in the majority in this country. Senator Quay has received the indorsement of every county that has voted on the United States senatorship.

A FRIEND AT COURT.

Editor Patrick Tells of the Soldiers' Interest in the Senatorial Canvass.

"Senator Quay's old regiment is unanimous in his support and the veterans generally are strong advocates of his re-election," declares John B. Patrick, editor of the Clarion Republican Gazette. "It is well known to the veterans of the late war that no man is more frequently called upon to assist them before the departments, and no one is found more willing than he to do all that is needed to help his old comrades in procuring their just dues from the government. He receives over a thousand letters a month from the old soldiers of the state and has never failed to not only answer their letters, but to see that the contents received proper attention by the department.

"With these facts before us, it is not to be wondered at that he is so well supported by his old comrades. He is one of the very few senators that served in the late war on our side, while those that served the Confederacy seem to be plenty and growing more plenty each year. It will be well for the veterans to see that they have a 'friend at court.'"

McClure's Murderers Sentenced.

PITTSTON, April 7.—News has been received here that Boverino and Villalia, the two Italians cantered with "Red Nose Mike" in the murder of Paymaster McClure, have been tried in Italy, where they fled, and found guilty. Boverino was sentenced to life imprisonment and Villalia to twenty years.

More Mysterious than Egypt.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., April 4.—Judge Davidson, of Danvers, Mass., passed through this city this week on his way home from an extended trip into Central America and Yucatan. The judge has been in that country for nine months and has obtained much valuable information regarding the ancient ruins of Yucatan, especially in and around the famous Uxmal. He left the United States on a trip for his health, but when he got to the southern countries he heard so much of the ruined cities that he determined to try to get to them. The judge says that there is a wonderful field for research in that region, and when a properly organized expedition goes into the central part of Yucatan, there will be found greater mysteries than are in Egypt. He says he was on the border land of the mysterious country, but saw enough to convince him that the earth is not known of those ruins, which have stood for long ages since the first civilized people populated the country.

Mrs. Harrison Ill.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 11.—Mrs. Harrison, the wife of the president, is suffering from an attack of bronchitis. About a month ago she was taken with a rather mild form of the grip, and while at no time was her condition at all serious, she has never fully recovered from its effects and early last week symptoms of bronchitis made their appearance. Dr. Gardner was called in and on Thursday she was so much better, although still confined to her bed, that the president felt perfectly safe leaving her for a few day's shooting. On Friday, however, she was taken worse, her cough and fever increasing in severity. Since that time Dr. Gardner has visited his patient several times a day, and while she is now somewhat better she still has fever and her cough continues.

Blaine Meant It.

WASHINGTON, April 8.—Within the past few days several sensational stories have been circulating regarding Secretary Blaine. Among these stories he was quoted as saying that he had been "hounded" into writing his letter of withdrawal.

These reports have been discredited by the Secretary's friends, and Senator Hall, who stands very close to Mr. Blaine, now makes the following statement regarding the latter's alleged willingness to accept the nomination for the Presidency: "I do not speak for Mr. Blaine, because I have no authority to do so, but I know he stands to-day exactly as he did when he wrote his letter of withdrawal. He has not reconsidered his determination, and he has given no intimation of any intention to reconsider it."

Free Wool Bill Passed.

The Democrats in the House answered the Rhode Island verdict against free trade by voting Thursday to put wool on the free list. It is significant that the orator chosen by the Democratic side to make the closing speech (Mr. Wilson) has recently said in the House that he was in favor of absolute free trade—in favor of substituting the policy of England during the past forty years for the policy of the United states since the formation of this government.

At the conclusion of Mr. Wilson's speech the previous question was ordered and the bill was passed by 192 years to 60 nays.

Not a Republican voted for the bill. Two Democratic members, Babbitt and Miller of Wisconsin, and one Farmers' Alliance man, Otis of Kansas, voted with the Republicans. Forty-three Democratic and Alliance members were absent or dodged. The 192 votes for the bill were all cast by Democrat or Farmers' Alliance members.

Girl Robbers Caught.

SALMON CITY, Idaho, April 6.—An important arrest of one woman and six girls has been made here on the charge of stage robbery. Numerous "hold ups" of the stage have happened near Harvey's ranch lately. Suspicion was directed to the old man Harvey and his family, and the sheriff set about to trap him.

The sheriff with ten men waited in hiding near the place where the robberies usually took place, and when the stage arrived there a short time after six bandits stepped out into the road and stopped it, levelling their guns at the driver. The sheriff came forward and took in the whole gang, which proved to be composed of Harvey's six daughters, who had assumed male attire.

When the arrest was made one of the girls weakened and told the whole storey. She said she never liked the work, and was glad they were caught. They were trained to it by their father and mother, and the proceeds were shipped east for sale so as not to excite suspicion in the country.

Sixteen to One.

EBIE, Pa., April 5.—Congressman Dalzell's United States senatorial hopes in Erie county died to-night at the bottom of an avalanche of Quay ballots. All but three districts have reported and Senator Quay has won sixteen to one. The total vote reported is 4,003, and of this number Quay has 3,767 and Dalzell 236. The latter carried but one district in the county—that in which ex-Congressman Culbertson lives in Girard. To-night Senator Quay's victory was celebrated with a street parade, band music, fire-works and the firing of cannons.

A Suspicion of Poison.

LANCASTER, April 7.—Ada R. Ebersol, a 10-year-old girl, formerly of Lancaster county, died suddenly at Dalton, O., last month, and her body was brought to her old home and interred. This morning A. G. Martin and J. M. Ginrich, of Bachmanville, Lebanon county, uncles of the girl, went to Lancaster to notify the District Attorney of their belief that the girl had died from poison, and to ask for an investigation.

The girl had recently inherited a considerable estate, which is believed to have prompted her murder. The body will be examined.

Lalage—I don't care how homely my husband may be so long as he is good.

Viola—I don't care how bad my husband may be so long as he is homely. I don't want any other women running after him.

They positioned her feet and positioned her head, And Oldsweed her back till 'twas smarting and red, Velvet nudes, stickers, pain-killers and salves, Chloro's grandma declared it was nothing but "nervously"
And the poor woman thought she must certainly die,
Till "Favorite Prescription" she happened to try.
No wonder he praises so loudly their merit,
She grew better at once and was well in a week.

The torturing pains and distressing nervousness which accompany, at times, certain forms of "female weakness," yield like magic to Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It is purely vegetable, perfectly harmless, and adapted to the delicate organization of woman. It allays and subdues the nervous symptoms and relieves the pain accompanying functional and organic troubles.

It's a legitimate medicine—an invigorating, restorative tonic, a soothing and strengthening nervine, and a positive remedy for "female weaknesses" and ailments. All functional disturbances, irregularities, and derangements are cured by it. There's nothing like it in the way it acts—there's nothing like it in the way it's sold. It's guaranteed to give satisfaction in every case, or the money paid for it is promptly refunded.

God Owns the Church.

A small New Yorker, while on a visit to his aunt, who lives in a New Hampshire town, was taken to church and Sunday school. As he entered the church his aunt said:

"Now, Georgie, you must remember to be very quiet while in church. You know that it is God's house, and he would not like it if you did not behave well."

The young man heeded this admonition and was quiet as a lamb.

Later he was taken into the Sunday school room. Then again he was cautioned.

"You must be very good while you are in here, Georgie," said the aunt, "because Elisha Brown, the superintendent, does not little people who make a noise."

Again the caution was well received, and young George was a model of propriety.

When he reached home his mother inquired how he had liked the church and if he had been a good boy.

"He behaved beautifully," said his aunt, and the mother was much pleased.

Young George said nothing just then, but a little later he amused everybody by remarking, "The church belongs to God, but the Sunday school belongs to Elisha Brown."—Chicago News.

Unexpected Information.

Billy Florence, the actor, when in Chicago related with no little unction the following tale:

"It occurred to me a number of years ago," he said. "I was on my way with my company from New York. On the train I had struck up an acquaintance with a pretty little miss just entering her teens, and it was not long before we became fast friends, although neither of us knew the other's name.

"Just before we rolled into Chicago I caught her looking very intently at me, and I asked her what she was thinking about. She blushed as if detected in a guilty act, but upon my repeating the question she said hesitatingly.

"'Nothing very much, sir. I was only thinking how much you looked like somebody.'

"'Who is it?'

"'Oh, I don't like to tell you,' she replied. I again asked her to tell me the reason.

"'Because,' she replied, 'he is not a nice man. He is only an actor, and his name is Billy Florence.'"—Chicago Post.

Away From the Wall,

Where shall we set the bed? Away from the wall, and so arranged that we may go all around without moving it, for health's sake and convenience in making. Physicians tell us that it is very unhealthy to sleep near the wall, on account of dampness for one thing; and another thing more serious is that one's breath is thrown back to be inhaled again. An instance is related where a severe morning headache was cured (permanently) by simply moving the bed from near the wall into the middle of the room.—Good Housekeeping.

Colored Parsons Excited.

BALTIMORE, Md., April 8.—The colored movement denouncing outrages in the South has reached Baltimore. Some 500 colored ministers, of all denominations, responded to a call sent out for them to meet at Bethel Church. The object of the meeting was explained by reading a printed communication from St. Louis, stating that a movement had been started in that city to get all the colored ministers in this country to unite, and on May 31, meetings are to be held protesting against the lynching, shooting and hanging of colored people in the South.

After a short discussion a committee was appointed to act on the communication. The committee submitted a report indorsing the resolution, with the exception that Sunday, May 29, be the day of the meeting in place of May 31. Speeches were then made, and Rev. W. M. Alexander said: "There is something coming, and before it does come we want the people of this country to understand our position thoroughly on this matter as Christians, and when the conflict does come I am satisfied it will be in the right."

Rev. C. W. Mossell said: "If this thing cannot be settled amicably it will then have to be settled with the sword, until one or the other is exterminated, and the man who is not willing to cast his lot with the others as an offering on the altar is not worthy of being called an American citizen."

Death in A Hen's Peck.

EASTON, Pa., April 8.—Mrs. Catherine Jones wife of Thomas O. Jones, a slater, residing near Bangor, is dead under peculiar circumstances. A few days ago a setting hen pecked one of her fingers. Blood poisoning set in and the hand swelled up to double its natural size.

The poisonous fluid had permeated the system and death followed. Mrs. Jones was aged forty-eight.
