Bre'r Dana's Smile.

There is a constant smile pervading the features of Bre'r Dana, of the New York Son. We violate no confidence in saying that this is not because he anticipates the election of his bosom friend, Geover Cleveland, in November. Bee'r Dana is so much of a philosopher that we believe he will lose no sleep when Cleveland is lefeated. The cheerfichess noted is became the great editor has perpetrated his greatest joke with unusual success.

Ever since the nomination at Chicago the Son has fairly bristled with editorials headed "No Force Bill-No Negro Domination " which have warned the nation in most extravagant language that the people must be saved from the misrule and reination of the harmless colored people of the South. The Democratic candidate is assailed, the Democratic platform is riddled, but at the same time the Sim urges Democrats to vote the ticket to save the helpless people of the South until one would suppose this was Hayti or San Domingo during her bloodlest

And Bre'r Dana laughs and his New York readers laugh with him. They know there is about as much danger from the colored people down South as there destroyed by the tiny band of Sameans that dwell in the South Seas. But down South it was thought that some political capital might be made on this subject and two Democratic Senators from the south joined in a letter asking fiver's Duna subject. On the receipt of this Bre'r Dana almost had a camption fit. It was too good. Did he accept? Not he. He could not let so good an opportunity passby and so he declined in account of "professional engagements" and wrote back suggesting that Scuator Hill be

And the work of the Son in saving the South from negro domination will go no. but the hand book by Bre'r Dana will not appear. We feel sure that the San will continue its work regardless of the effect on the Democratic party. Down in Alabama they are crying for an election bill just now to save them from the lespotism of a few political bosses. In Mississipol there are only eight thousand legal voters among the colored people, owing to the new constitution. In Louisiums the Democrats are talking of indorsing Repulican candidates for Congress on account of the tariff, and in-Tennessee the Alliance people are making it unpleasant for the Democracy.
