EDWARD SCULL, Editor and Proprietor.

WEDNESDAY.....April 26, 1893.

THE people who complain that the pension roll is large should remember that the rebellion was great.

DEMOCRATIC statesmen are beginning to realize how much harder it is to construct a new tariff than to tear down an old one.

THE Legislature that was stolen by the Democrats of New York, has just adjourned. Its most notable act was to double the taxes of the people of that State.

EX-GOVERNOR CAMPBELL, of Ohio, has lately been telling the boys what an easy job it will be to beat McKinley. At the same time he announces that he will not have time to be elected Governor this year.

GOVERNOR PATTISON has appointed Professor N. C. Schaeffer, of Kutztown, Superintendent of Public Schools. Prof. Schaeffer is well known to all the teachers in this county, as he has attended as an instructor at our County Institute on several occasions.

THE Democrats who howl so lustily and tread the earth so arrogantly because of their success in the Presidential election, had better lay to heart the crisp declaration of Lincoln that "All people can be fooled sometime; some people can be fooled all the time, but all people can't be fooled all the time."

To the local Democratic Bosses contending for the control of the patronage we commend the advice contained in one of the verses of an ancient infantile distich:

"Children you should never let your angry passion rise,
Your little hands were never made to tear each others eyes."

AND now there is wailing and gnashing of teeth in the horde of Democratic applicants for Fourth class postmasterships, over the announcement made by Congressman Springer that Postmaster General Bissell said to him "slowly and positively" that the present incumbents would be allowed to serve out the full four years of their term.

WHEN this Administration carries out its proposed "purging of the pension roll" it is to be hoped that it will not overlook the case of Gen. J. C. Black, who is receiving $100 per month for "total disability" but served during Mr. Cleveland's former administration as Commissioner of Pensions, and is now drawing a salary of $5,000 a year as a Democratic Congressman from the State of Illinois.

THE Austrian Government has turned down MAX JUDD, Mr. Cleveland's nominee for Consul at Vienna.

The President deserved this snub for his obtuseness. Mr. Judd was formerly an Austrian subject, and any man not blinded by personal egotism would know that he could not be an acceptable representative to the government he had abjured, and allegiance to which he had foresworn when he became a citizen of the United States.

THIS Administration appears to have a particular animosity to ex-Secretary Blaine's friends and the policy pursued by him while acting Secretary of State under the late President Harrison. Immediately on Mr. Cleveland's assuming the Presidential chair both of Mr. Blaine's private Secretaries were dismissed, and Mr. Robert Blaine and his son (brother and nephew) of the late Secretary, were removed from the positions they occupied, and now comes the report that steps are being taken to abrogate the reciprocity treaties negotiated under the Secretaryship of Mr. Blaine. While the reciprocity amendment was pending the Democrats pretended to be in favor of enlarging our foreign trade, and were enthusiastic in its praise, but now when one country after another has entered into reciprocal trade relations with us, they decry it as worthless and a failure.

But facts are stubborn things. The treaty with Spain has given our wheat growers control of the flour market of Cuba and our exports to that island alone have increased from $18,000,000 to $22,000,000. By the treaty with Brazil, made a little over two years since, they have increased from $126,000,000 in 1892 to $247,000,000 in 1893, and so with Honduras, Nicaragua and all the South American republics, our trade has wonderfully increased. The excuse for this antagonism to reciprocity is that it stands in the way of "tariff reform." This is the merest pretext, because if the McKinley tariff was wiped off the Statute books the reciprocity treaties would not stand in the way. The fact appears to be patent that the proposed abrogation is nothing more nor less than an attempt to take from Mr. Blaine the credit for these beneficial measures.

SAYS the Philadelphia Record, the leading Democratic and "Tariff Reform" journal of this State, "The simple meaning of the elections of 1890 and 1892 is "that the whole protective tariff has fallen under the condemnation of the "American people."

And yet, in the face of this alleged decision of the American people, which brought the present Democratic administration into power, it has taken no step to carry their will into effect. It would naturally be supposed that in its burning zeal to relieve the country of the "robber tariff" that is sapping its life, stealing away the substance of its people, and grinding their faces with burdensome taxation, that immediate steps would have been taken for their present relief, but save a few sounding and empty distribes against the policy of protection, nothing has been done, and nothing can or will be done until the assembling of Congress in December next. Thus one year or more will be dawdled away before the first step towards this loudly trumpeted "reform" is taken. Any one who has noted the slow progress of legislation knows that months will elapse before a bill can be perfected, and that when perfected, it cannot be made operative under six months or a year, necessarily giving business time to adjust itself to the proposed new order of things. Thus, at least one-half the term, possibly more, of this Administration will be run before the much wanted reform can be put upon trial.

The evident truth is, that the Democrats having won the proverbial white elephant, are at a loss what to do with it. They know that their victory was not won as pretended, on the sole issue of tariff reform; their counsels are divided on this question, their leaders are at war. "I would" waits upon "I dare not," and with their well known plentitude of promises and paucity of performance they are manifesting their usual cowardice. They want to repeal the McKinley law; they have blusteringly declared that they will do it, and yet, robbed as the people are by it, according to their declarations, they defer to the latest day any action looking to its overthrow. If they felt assured of their position, if they believed, as they assert, that "the whole protective tariff has fallen under the condemnation of the American people," an extra session would have been called long since, and the McKinley bill would be on the high road to its overthrow. The entire country is asking why they don't "Leave off their damnable faces and begin."

South Carolina's Tax Cases.

WASHINGTON, April 24.—The South Carolina tax cases were passed upon by the Supreme Court of the United States to-day, the opinion being delivered by Chief Justice Fuller. It came upon the petition of Sheriff Tyler, of Aiken county, for a writ of habeas corpus to release him from imprisonment under judgment of the Circuit Court of the United States, that he be fined $500 for contempt. He had seized a train on the South Carolina railroad, upon a warrant issued by the State authorities, for the collection of taxes, which were in controversy. The road was in the hands of a receiver appointed by the United States Court, and he was adjudged guilty of contempt for failing to release the property under order of that court.

Justice Fuller read an opinion containing much stronger language than is usually found in such documents, denying the application of the petitioner for the writ. He said the seizure of the property by force was brutal, and could not be defended. The same judgment was announced in the cases of Sheriffs Rises and Gaines, who came to the Supreme Court with Taylor for relief.

Big Steel Firms go Down Together.

The Pennsylvania Steel Company, operating the immense works at Steelton, Pa., Friday went into the hands of receivers, and the Maryland Steel Company, of Sparrow's Point, Md., the entire stock of which is owned by the Pennsylvania corporation, was subject to like treatment on application to Baltimore courts. These combined works are the greatest of the kind in this country, and as the condition of the company was supposed to be exceptionally strong, the news of the difficulties occasioned great surprise.

Among those who were unaccustomed to the intricacies of the financial management of corporations the news conveyed by the early bulletins read like that of a national misfortune, for they believed that the works would be closed and many thousands of work-people thrown idle. The town of Steelton, with its 10,000 persons, is entirely dependent on the prosperity of the company, almost all the bread-winners in that place being employed in the mills. At Sparrow Point is a village entirely created by the works, peopled by several thousand persons who look to the great establishments as the source of their daily bread.

The embarrassment was primarily caused by the stringency of the money market.

A Magnificent Sight.

FORT MONROE, April 24.—At a few minutes after 8 o'clock this morning a small cloud of light smoke floated out above the big yellow forward funnel of the Philadelphia. At the same time, from the funnels of the thirty-one other men-of-war in the Roads came other little puffs of smoke. Gradually they grew in volume until at 9 o'clock the whole fleet was puffing forth like the chimneys of some manufacturing town.

Last night at sunset the Brazilian fleet, consisting of the cruisers Aquidiban, Riradentes, and Republica, came in the Roads and dropped anchor below the English fleet.

At 9:15 o'clock the Philadelphia's anchor came slowly out of the water, and, at the same time, a slight agitation of water at her stern showed that she was in motion. The tide at the time was at its young ebb and the ships of the fleet lay with their noses turned up the Road pointing toward Newport News. The Philadelphia moved up slowly at first and then gathered speed, passing more quickly down toward the westerly end of the Roads. In another moment the Newark was under way behind the Philadelphia. She was followed by the Atlanta. Then came the dandy San Francisco, the Bancroft, Bennington, and Baltimore; then Admiral Walker's flagship—the Chicago—joined the procession. After her came the Yorktown, Charleston, Vesuvius, and Concord.

As soon as the Chicago tripped anchor the big flag ship Blake got under way, and, turning almost on her heels, started down the Roads to assume her position of honor at the head of the starboard column of the fleet.

The other Englishmen got under way at the same time and followed behind the Blake. As the Vesuvius, the last of the American fleet, dropped into line the Hollander—Van Speyck—trailed along after her.

Then came the Germans, with the Kaiserin, Augusta, and the Seadler.

The Philadelphia, at the head of the column, proceeded for a mile, and then, rounding the entire fleet, started down the line. The line following the Blake was composed of, beside English ships, the Russian General Admiral and Reynda; the French Arethus and Jean Bart; the Italian Aetna and Gennani Ratsan, and the rear was brought up by the Brazilian Aquidiban, the Trantes, and Republica.

At 11 o'clock the whole fleet, in two regular lines passed in review before the thousands on the wharves, boats, and ramparts of the Fort. The scene was so beautiful and impressive that the crowd looked on in silence. It took something to disturb the serenity of the scene, and it was furnished by the little torpedo boat Cushing.

When the last one of the Americans was passing the Fort cheers were heard away down beyond the hotel. The crowd along the way took it up and in a moment the Cushing came like Salvator in the stretch.

The outgoing ships were making about eight knots and the Cushing, which can go twenty-four, caught up and passed them as if they were anchored.

The Nation's Danger.

WASHINGTON, April 25.—To a representative of the United Press President Cleveland said to-night: "The inclination on the part of the public to accept newspaper reports concerning the intentions of those charged with the management of our national finance seems to justify my emphatic contradiction of the statement that the redemption of any kind of treasury notes except in gold, has at any time been determined upon or contemplated by the secretary of the treasury or any other member of the present administration. The president and the cabinet are absolutely harmonious in the determination to exercise every power conferred upon them to maintain the public credit, to keep the public faith and to preserve the parity between gold and silver and between all financial obligations of government.

"While the law of 1890 forcing the purchase of a fixed amount of silver every month provides that the secretary of the treasury in his discretion may redeem in either gold or silver the treasury notes given in payment of silver purchases, yet the declaration of the policy of the government to maintain the parity between the two metals seems so clearly to regulate this discretion as to dictate their redemption in gold.

"Of course perplexities and difficulties have grown out of an unfortunate financial policy which we found in vogue, and embarrassments have arisen from the ill-advised financial legislation confronting us at every turn; but with cheerful confidence among the people and a patriotic disposition to co-operate, threatened dangers will be averted pending a legislational return to a better and sounder financial plan. The strong credit of the country still unimpaired and the good sense of our people which has never failed in time of need, are at hand to save us from disaster."

Krupp's Gift to Chicago.

CHICAGO, April 20.—At the conclusion of the World's fair, the monster Krupp gun, the biggest piece of ordnance in the world, will be presented to Chicago by Henry Krupp and mounted in a fort off Hyde park, permission to build which was to-day given to Colonel Robert T. Rae, of Chicago, by the secretary of war. The fort will be located on five acres of made ground according to the very latest plans of fortifications. The works will be of earth, as stone is no longer of value to resist the terrible assault of modern implements of war.

When the fair is over, the fort will be occupied by the big gun. It can protect Chicago from its north coast to its southern, as expert gunners can obtain an accuracy of marksmanship that will enable them to throw a shot weighing nearly a ton clean through a man-of-war. One shot is guaranteed to send the largest craft afloat to the bottom.

Making Christians.

BOWLING GREEN, Ky., April 20.—A religious wave has swept over Bowling Green and has carried everything before it. The most hardened sinners have become converts and the most interesting results have followed. Sam Jones was hired by some of his admirers to come to this city and rescue it from its depths of sin. For $2,500 he undertook the job, and seems to have earned his money. He preached ten days, and during that time more than 2,400 people made professions of religion, 300 of the number joining the various churches Sunday, and being baptized last night.

Beside the work of converting sinners, the Georgia evangelist inaugurated a great moral wave against the liquor traffic, and for the next twelve months, at least, Bowling Green inebriates will "spit cotton" or irrigate their burning copper-lined stomachs at the town pump, the city council having refused to reissue the saloon men licenses. Two weeks ago the man who would have predicted the saloons of Bowling Green would be closed so soon would have been set down as crazy, and the fact that they are to be closed is the work of the great moral wave which was inaugurated by Sam Jones. There are forty-three saloons in the city.

Two Murderers Escape.

SING SING, N. Y., April 21.—Murderers Thomas Pallister and Frank W. Rohle, both under sentence of death, escaped from the prison here some time during the night. The guards were overpowered, one of them being blinded by pepper thrown in his eyes. The guards were then locked into the cells and their revolvers taken away. The cells of Carlyle Harris and Murderer Osmond were opened and the two invited to escape. They refused. The murderers then climbed to the top of the cells and then to the roof, knocking off the scuttle.

Guards Hulz and Murphy have been suspended, also officers of the guard Glynn and Maher. Glynn and Maher are supposed to make the rounds of murderers, row and all the shops. In connection with the escape of the two condemned murderers, Rohle and Pallister, it leaked out this morning that a brother of Rohle arrived in this city about 10 days ago from Germany with $7,000 which Rohle had inherited. He is believed to have remained in this country and assisted in his brother's escape.

A Tennessee Plan.

CHATTANOOGA, April 22.—An act was passed be the legislature of Tennessee and since approved by the governor giving authority to State banks to issue a circulating medium. The act requires a deposit of United States, State of Tennessee or county bonds, and currency will be issued for the bank on these securities not in excess of 90 per cent of their market value. The act limits currency to be issued by the State to $25,000,000.

Periodical examinations of banks, redemption of currency and other features of the national banking law are adhered to. The banks must redeem their circulating notes on demand in gold or silver. No county bonds will be accepted where the indebtedness of the county exceeds 5 per cent of the taxable property, and if the county has defaulted any time in years prior on its interest. The circulating medium of a bank is to be signed by the president and cashier of the bank and countersigned by the State comptroller.

He Quits the white House.

WASHINGTON, April 23.—The crowds of office-seekers who have swarmed through the White House at all hours for the last few weeks, have made life miserable for the President and Mrs. Cleveland. Such a thing as privacy was unknown. No callers could be entertained and even the reception of foreign dignitaries have been broken into. To day the President announced that he had made arrangements to prevent this in the future.

He has secured the handsome suit of offices in the War Department, belonging formerly to the Secretary. It is there he will in the future transact all business and receive all callers.

Fat Snaps for Farmers.

From the Reading Herald.

An inventive genius has devised an electrical weed exterminator. It is simply driven along and as it passes it sends an electric current into the weeds which knocks them out in the first round. When to this is added an electric stone picker, an electric potato dropper, an electric milker, an electric pig paralyzer, an electric potato-bug killer and a few things more of the same sort, farming will indeed be a pleasure.

The Caravals are There.

FORTRESS MONROE, Va., April 21.—The three Columbus caravals arrived at 10:30 o'clock this morning in tow of three Spanish war ships, and were received with great thunders of salutes and the display of the flags of the countries represented by the fleets and dropped anchor at the end of the American line of vessels. The day could not have been made more beautiful or the scene more impressive as they came in the Roads decorated from jibboom to tafrail with the flags of Castile and Aragon and Queen Isabella standing out and fluttering in the gentle breeze.

A Train Falls Forty Feet.

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., April 20.—A Huntington and Big Sandy Passenger train, which runs between this city and Ceredo, fell through a trestle this morning and landed in Four Pole Creek, 40 feet below. James McCreery, formerly a conductor on the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad, was instantly k lled. J. O. Humphreys, aged 70, who lives in this city, had his lower limbs injured, but may recover. Several others suffered only slight injuries.

Spring! Spring! Gentle Spring!

So sings the old song. What a vista of pleasure opens before us, and what a thrill of anticipation takes possession of us when we think that it is in our midst! After winter breaks, then watch for innumerable diseases springing up through impure water, etc., and guard against them by having in the home the best stimulant. The "Prince Regent" Whisky is what you want. It is to be had only of McCullough's Half-Century House, 323 Liberty street, foot of Fifth Avenue, Pittsburgh, Pa. Send registered letter or postoffice order for the medical wonder. A full stock of all the best brands of wines, whiskies and champagnes on hand.

News Items.

The President's mail has now reached an average of 800 letters a day. It takes the entire time of five clerks, besides Secretary Thurber himself to dispose of it.

Joseph S. Miller of West Virginia has been appointed Commissioner of Internal Revenue. He held the same position under Cleveland eight years ago.

Mrs. Almira Hancock, widow of Major General Windfield S. Hancock, died at 4:30 p. m. Thursday, at her home in New York city. She suffered for a long time with a complication of diseases.

Mrs. George Fink, wife of a prominent druggist at Irwin, gave her baby half a teaspoonful of laudanum in mistake for some other medicine on Tuesday. Discovering her mistake, two physicians were summoned, but despite their efforts the infant died. The mother is prostrated with grief.

Mail Agent Burrows, who runs between Harrisburg and Williamsport, has been lifted out of the railway postal service. Mr. Burrows grew funny when Mr. Cleveland went to Hog Island to fish and shoot, saying that the place was applicable to the tenant. He has decided not to become a professional humorist.

Ex-Senator James C. Clarke, one of the wealthiest citizens of Greensburg, died Friday morning. He was elected to the Senate in 1876. At the time of his death he was President of the Greensburg Banking Company, and was largely interested in mines and coal lands. He was a member of the Westmoreland County Bar, but never practiced the profession.

Fourteen workmen lost their lives at Milwaukee, Friday, in the fierce storm which lashed Lake Michigan. They were employed in the construction of the new water works intake tunnel, being engaged in bricking up a shaft in the crib 3,000 feet from the shore. The hurricane swept away the frail structure which had been built upon the top of the crib to shelter the men and dashed them into the seething lake.

Mr. Wanamaker recently appointed a Republican to succeed a deceased postmaster at Taylorsville, Ill., who had only a few months to serve. Mr. Springer, of Illinois, inquired this week of the Postmaster General whether the Republican would be entitled to a four year's term and Mr. Bissell replied that the term of the present incumbent would be continued to run for four years from the date of his appointment.

A. E. Hoyler, a telegraph operator at the A tower, near Johnstown, fell from a freight train on which he was riding home Thursday night and was ground to pieces. A singular circumstances is that a few years ago he had written a letter which was printed in a local paper, telling how he, on going a few nights ago, saw what he thought to be a man walking toward him, when it disappeared, at the exact spot where he was killed.

The last official act of President Harrison was to sign a bill granting a pension of $50 a month to the widow of Charles Grymes McCawley, late commandant of the United States Marine Corps. The House of Representatives was already in the Senate Chamber when the bill, with its companion, was placed before the Secretary. Sending word to the President to wait five minutes, Clerk Platt rushed it through in the quickest time on record.

Postmaster General Bissell has issued a notice to all postmasters that there is now in operation in the Government building, on the grounds at the World's Fair, a branch of the Chicago post office, known as the World's Fair station. This station will make regular collections and deliveries and transact all business pertaining to a first-class postoffice. Persons intending to visit the Fair can, if they so desire, have their mail addressed to the World's Fair station.

James W. Burton, a prominent farmer and stock-raiser residing near Coal Center, just below Brownsville, mistook his mother-in-law, Mrs. Letitia A. Troy, for a burglar, Tuesday night, and shot her dead. Burton had drawn a large sum of money out of the Brownsville bank which he intended to take with him to Chicago to buy cattle. His wife had informed him that they had been troubled by some person prowling about the house at night. He loaded up a double-barreled shot gun and placed it along side of his bed. Early in the morning, hearing a noise, he got his gun and stationed himself at the head of the stairway. He heard the person enter the kitchen, then the sitting room, then come to the foot of the stairs. Burton, sure it was a burglar, fired both barrels. He was horrified to find that he had shot his wife's mother. The first shot had blown off the top of her head, and the second entered her side; either would have proven fatal. Burton is almost distracted, and friends fear he will lose his mind.

News From the State Capitol.

By a strictly party vote the House decided to unseat Mr. Baker, of Montgomery county, and the seating in his stead of Farmer Taggart.

The Legislature has thus far sent to the Governor 26 bills. Of these seventeen were approved, two vetoed, one withdrawn and six await action.

The Governor has vetoed the bill authorizing school directors to collect from their districts the actual expenses of attending the triennial convention to elect a county superintendent.

Lancaster county is the only county in the State having a law providing that the legal adviser of the Board of County Commissioners be elected by the people, and this week a bill was introduced in the House to repeal this law and permit the County Commissioners to choose their own solicitor.

Representative John Cessna, who is over 70 years old, was seized with an attack of vertino Friday evening at the Commonwealth Hotel while he was conversing with ex-Governor Curtin. The two political veterans had been dining together and calling up old reminiscences, and Mr. Cessna seemed to be in the enjoyment of perfect health. As they were about turning down stairs, Mr. Cessna's face turned pale and he lost control of his limbs. In a twinkling Governor Curtin seized and prevented him from falling, at the same time summoning people in the hotel to come to his rescue. Senator Snyder, who is a doctor, tendered his services, and the member from Bedford was placed on a sofa. He soon rallied and was taken to his room. At a late hour his condition was improved. Mr. Cessna had a similar attack about six months ago, and during the past two years has several times suffered from a similar cause.

A NEW BALLOT BILL.

Senator Baker and the Elections Committee have hatched out a new Ballot Reform bill. The provisions of the bill, in so far as it differs from the present law, are, briefly, these: Certificates of nomination may be filed by political parties that have polled 2 per cent. of the vote at the last election. Nominations for Representatives, and also for township and borough officers, are to be filed with the County Commissioners, who will print the ballots for all elections. Except in townships and boroughs, nominations will not have to be made so long before the election; and there will be less time for objections and more for printing. The number of ballots is cut down one-half, and that of specimen ballots even further, while the residences of candidates will be omitted. This will result in smaller ballots, and a great saving in printing and transportation. Ballots are to be printed in party columns, as before; but the confusion due to the group system will be avoided by requiring each name voted for to be marked separately, except in the case of Presidential electors.
