SENIOR SENATORS, of California, who died last week, left an estate of $25,000. He was a liberal giver to charities and institutions of learning and did a vast deal of good during his life with his enormous wealth.

The "calamity howlers" who have made such an ado over the impoverished condition of Kansas, have suddenly drawn in their horns. Recent returns show that forty-four counties in that State have not a single tenant in their portions.

The New York Press of Saturday publishes an elaborate table showing that since the election of Cleveland, the percentage of securities on the Stock Exchange of that city exceeded a billion of dollars. This is a clearly but a very impressive object lesson.

The city of St. Paul pays the same wages to male as to female teachers, whereas the work is the same. Why every school district in the country does not do the same is something that "no fellow can find out." The quality and quantity of the work, and not the sex, should set the price.

The Republicans of this county are under many, many obligations to the gentlemen Democratic and Republican of Fayette, Cambria and Bedford counties who kindly condescend to make their nominations for us at the primaries of the week.

We commend to our very kind friends for their consideration, the story of the shrewd Yankee, who made a fortune "by strictly attending to his own business."

A WORKMAN struck the New York Standard last night by lightning. He was lying in bed and the lightning struck the chimney pipe, passing on to the bed.

The following are the provisions of the State liquor law of South Carolina, which goes into effect on July 1. Dispensaries are to be established in counties where the majority of the freeholder voters may petition for them.

As to the sale of liquor, the law provides that in the county of Charleston, three in the county of Richland and one in each of the other counties of the State. A commissioner is appointed by the Governor, who is to sell liquors to dispensaries at 50 per cent. profit over cost.

As important an act as the Governor has just approved, is one entitled "An act to require boards of school directors and controllers to provide for the better protection of the health and morals of the school children in their respective school districts."

"SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in general assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That boards of school directors and controllers shall provide suitable and convenient water closets for each of the schools under their official jurisdiction, not less than two for each school or school building where both sexes are in attendance in their respective school districts.

"SECTION 2. Any failure on the part of the school directors or controllers to comply with the provisions of this act shall make them liable to be removed from office by the Court of Quarter Sessions of the county in which the schools are located upon complaint made by the court under oath or affidavit, signed by not less than five taxable citizens resident in the school district in which the school is located."

"SECTION 3. Any failure on the part of the school directors or controllers to comply with the provisions of this act shall make them liable to be removed from office by the Court of Quarter Sessions of the county in which the schools are located upon complaint made by the court under oath or affidavit, signed by not less than five taxable citizens resident in the school district in which the school is located."

463 MEN DROWNED. A Terrible Disaster Details the British Battleship Victoria. Victoria, June 28.—Filing the worst naval disaster in history, the great battleship Victoria, one of the pride of Great Britain, and the flagship of the Mediterranean squadron, went down like a shot off the Syrian coast yesterday, given a death blow by the ram of the German, the Camperdown. Over 450 men found in the 10,000-ton monster a prison house of death or were sucked down in the watery abyss at the ship's final plunge to the bottom.

The disaster happened yesterday afternoon off Tripoli, a seaport on the Eastern Mediterranean, 50 miles north-east of Beirut, Syria, and a short distance from the island of Cyprus. The two vessels engaged in practice maneuvers, the Victoria flying the flag of Vice Admiral Sir George Tryton, commander-in-chief of the Mediterranean fleet.

In some way, perhaps mistaking signals or derangement of steering gear, the Victoria got directly in the path of the Camperdown, which was having a vessel rammed. The broadside of the latter as it bore down upon the flagship, with its terrible ram, were used.

The two ships met with fearful shock, the Camperdown striking the Victoria just in front of the barbette. No ship ever built could withstand such a stroke from 10,000 tons of steel moving at ordinary speed.

An enormous hole was made, through which the water entered in torrents. The Victoria's officers, seeing that there was danger of their ship foundering, gave orders to close the collision bulkheads, so as to keep the water in the compartment in which the collision took place. This was done, but the water tried to enter by the other bulkheads, but was not allowed.

The sea was not to be denied its prey. The waters poured in like Niagara, and before the bulkheads could be closed, the boats cut loose the doomed vessel, with her immense 110-ton guns and heavy top deck armor, turned toward upward like a dead ship. A moment later, with a fearful rattle, she pitched downward, bow first, in 18 fathoms of water. Only 13 minutes elapsed from the time of the first collision to the final sinking.

Amid the whirlpool of waters that swirled and tossed over the spot where the great ship went down, scores of men rose to the surface, struggling for their lives. They were rescued, including Captain Rowe, Commander Pelleot and 15 other officers. Of the complement of 611 men and officers and 407 marines were on board, the number lost is 463.

The Camperdown recoiled from the collision badly damaged, but still able to keep afloat. Captain Johnston one started to get her in the dock.

Frightful Church Panic. St. Petersburg, June 21.—While the ancient church of Romano at Bolognoble, on the Volpa, was crowded with pilgrims from all parts of Yaroslavl, who had come to take part in the annual church procession, a panic was caused by a false alarm of fire which had been raised by some one in order to facilitate his escape. When the firemen arrived in answer to the tolling of an alarm by the sexton they found the door locked. Breaking it in they witnessed a fearful sight. In the mad rush for the exit hundreds had fallen and were trampled upon, while others had been suffocated by the pressure of the great throng of terror-stricken people. The bodies of 126 women and 10 men were taken from the church. Not was this the total number of victims, as several other persons had been killed and 30 fatally injured by leaping from windows 30 feet from the ground.

Berry Keeps the Lead. DOWNING, June 21.—Berry still has a good lead in the cavalry race, and the man who leads him into Chicago will have to do some hard riding. Berry arrived here at 9:30 this morning and rode across the bridge of Illinois at 12:30. His horse is fresh and in excellent condition.

Battlehawk Pace. The Battlehawk Pace, held on June 20 and 21, was a success in every respect. The race was held at a remote distance, one from the other, the approaches or walks thereabout shall be separated by a substantial fence or barrier not less than seven feet in height, and shall be the duty of the directors or controllers to make provision for keeping the water closets in a clean, comfortable and beautiful condition.

He planned the robbery of the Leechburg Bank, and I expect to suffer for one day in September, when the cheese was made, of 10,000 cows. The cheese itself weighs 25,000 pounds, and measures twenty-eight feet in circumference by six feet in height.

The mammoth "mite" stands on a Probingiragran truck, which has been built out of Canada for the purpose of carrying through Great Britain and Ireland after it leaves Chicago. The purchaser is Thomas J. Lipton, a retail dealer in tea and purveyor to the large cities in Great Britain and Ireland.

On the side of the steel hoop which chokes from another, there are two large knobs or trunions by which it is hung when it is being turned upside down. The Canadian Pacific railway has a special train's arrangement of a locomotive from Perth, Ont. It stopped at every station to give the country people a chance to see this cheese. They flock to the stations and view the cheese by the thousand.

The case of the cheese was beautifully painted when it started on its journey, but by the time it reached the fair grounds it bore 10,000 ant-hills. There was not a spot on the 25 by 3 feet of surface two inches square which did not carry some name or names. The mammoth was made in Ontario.

J. A. Rudwick, the dairy expert of the fair, says that the cheese was made in practical charge of the making of the cheese, came to Chicago to see that it was properly installed. Several miles of pipe, according to the report of the dairy expert, were placed down to one not larger than the dimensions of a common soap-bar.

Arrived with the mammoth for decoration of the fair grounds, and was distributed from the different provinces of Canada, and are contributed by over 100 different factories.
