THE GLORIOUS WEST.

It Has Done Much to Make the Fair a Success.

The Elegant State Buildings of Minnesota and Nebraska—How They Are Furnished and Some of Their More Attractive Contents.

[Special World's Fair Letter.]

Minnesota's State Building and the exhibits which have been placed therein are a great source of pride to all Minnesotans who have visited their state home in Jackson Park. It is located on the avenue leading from the 57th street entrance and faces the south, just opposite the northwest annex of the Fine Art building. A corner lot was secured, thus giving every facility for light and air so much needed after a weary ramble over the city of such "magnificent distances."

In style of structure it follows the design of the Italian renaissance, two stories high, with a mezzanine story in the rear. The frame is of wood covered with staff which makes it harmonize with the majority of state buildings. It covers an area of 80x90 feet, and was erected at a cost of $30,000. The roof is covered with metallic Spanish tiles. But after carefully glancing at the exterior, and noting the chaste and beautiful proportions the wanderer is invited to enter, and at the doorway stands the marble statue of Hiawatha bearing in his arms the lovely Minnehaha.

This was the workmanship of Jacob Ejickle and the money was contributed by the school children of the state aided by the woman's auxiliary board. At the extremities of the uncovered platform at either side of the portico are statues on square pedestals representing the original owners of the country, and early settlers of the state, the Indian on one side, and the pioneer lumberman, with his ax and double oak doors between each of the columns leading to the exhibit room, which is 70x60 feet and used for the collective agricultural exhibit of the state. On the first floor is also a general reception hall 30x30 feet, and opening from this are the office rooms for the convenience of those carrying forward the interests of the state and her visitors.

The panels between the windows in the first hall have been decorated by the counties of the state with grains and corn worked into artistic pictures.

Gage county has been placed at the foot of the stairway, and the map is made of seeds and grain with nuts placed here and there to show the location of the schoolhouses.

Four columns support the center of the room, and each is surrounded by a special industry. The beet sugar industry is one feature of special interest. The double stairway from this hall leads directly to a similar room above of the same dimensions, which is used as an art room. On this floor are located the ladies' reception rooms and parlors. In the reception hall is a center table of oak beautifully carved by Miss Barbour, of Lincoln, in beet design, to represent the industry of that section of the state. A corn flag used as a portiere was made by the women of Blair County, and contains 28,000 grains. A picture of the first homestead taken in the United States is also an interesting historical feature. The women of Nebraska have not neglected the artistic nature and exquisite pieces of decorated china, and needle embroidery have been executed by their hands, and fill cases in their state building.

The building was erected at a cost of $20,000. In addition $5,000 was expended in the interior embellishment, which has been so exquisitely done as to form an attractive picture which leaves a lasting impression.

NANNIE STILL.

Africa's Animal Plant.

An odd looking plant and one which is seldom seen except by travelers along the coast of South Africa, is now on exhibition in Chief Thorpe's greenhouse at the world's fair. This rare African specimen of flora was brought here recently for display, since which time it has been visited by people from all climes who have gazed upon it in wonderment. The name of it is aristolochia elgas sturtevanti. Its peculiarity lies in its strange animal-shaped appearance, very closely resembling one of the deep sea variety, equipped with a heavy coat of mail as a means of protection and a long thin tail, probably used as a tentacle with which to gather food or hold on to its enemies when once within its power.

rifle, on the other. Over the entablature on a raised panel is the word "Minnesota."

The reception rooms present an attractive and inviting appearance. All the rooms of the building are finished in light, pleasant colors and the walls are frescoed in beautiful floral designs drawn by women artists of Minnesota. Brussels carpets cover the floors, and items of the state have loaned all the furniture for the ladies' reception parlors, of rich plush designs in profuse and lavish quantity. The central or main exhibition hall is one of the most attractive resting places in the whole building.

The furniture of the reception rooms for the gentlemen is substantial and elegant. Three rooms have been allotted to their use, reading room, reception room and smoking room, besides the meeting room of the state world's fair commission. The building is abundantly furnished with electric lights and bells, fire-places in every room, which burn fuel gas, and furnish a comfortable warmth during inclement weather. On the first floor, beside the main hall, are rooms for the use of the superintendent, for a check and parcel room, for the newspaper men, and a post office with adjoining room used as a bureau of information.

Some of the exhibits embrace stuffed specimens of the birds and animals of the state. The animals are arranged in glass cases and include a full fauna of the state collected by Mr. Brown, of Duluth. The exhibit of the flora is no less complete and contains between seven and eight hundred specimens of the flowers and shrubs found on the prairies or grown in the hothouses.

The exhibit which appeals most strongly to the pride of Minnesota is the full and complete display of the mineral and building stone resources of the state. The iron exhibit is the largest of any state.

One unique feature which attracts much attention is a paper mache topographical map of the city of Duluth placed in the west end of the building. It is a perfect model of the Zenith city. Two large paintings, the work of Minnesota men, have been prominently hung in the main hall.

One represents the Indian massacre at New Ulm, which occurred in 1862, and was painted by Antoine Gag. The other painting is a representative of Minnehaha Falls, with the lines from "Hiawatha" as a subject which refer to the "laughing water," now household words all over the civilized world. This was executed by Alexis Fournier of Minneapolis.

The most artistic and novel portion of the building is an oriel window placed at the head of the first flight of stairs on the west side.

The window proper is a magnificent stained glass but the archway over the window has inlaid upon it the coat-of-arms of the state, constructed out of heads of wheat. The building was dedicated June 26, when many of the state officers and prominent citizens were present and all united in praise of their state building on the exposition grounds.

The Nebraska state building occupies one of the most prominent positions among all the state buildings in Jackson park. It is located on a corner lot and faces south on a magnificent boulevard which leads from fifty-seventh street. The west front borders on a small lagoon from the lake, and its entrance is shaded by a few of the forest trees which have been allowed to stand in the old park, against the continual strife for space.

The building covers an area of 6,000 square feet and is two stories high. The style of architecture is of the Corinthian order. On the east and west fronts are wide porticos with large white stone steps on all sides, which covers one third the length of the building. Each one is supported by six massive columns twenty-five feet high extending the height of both stories to the cornice. Over each portico and resting on the columns is a large gable, on line with the main cornice, in the pediment of which brought out in bas-relief is the Nebraska state seal, five feet in diameter.

The whole of the exterior is covered with staff made in such designs as to give the different treatments of stone. The cornice is five feet wide with projections supported by medallions and is similar to the cornice of the Pantheon of Rome.

Of the portico are three wide

NEW LIBERTY BELL.

It Is Now in Chicago Where Millions Are Hearing It.

The Columbian Liberty and peace bell, cast to the order of the Daughters of the American Revolution, has arrived at Chicago from the foundry at Troy, N. Y. It is attracting general attention, although not viewed with the same reverence bestowed on the old liberty bell in the Pennsylvania state building.

There are three inscriptions on the bell, one at the top ridge, another in the center and one at the lower edge.

The upper one reads: "Glory to God in the highest; on earth good will toward men."

The central inscription is: "A new command I give unto ye, that ye love one another."

The lower is: "Proclaim Liberty throughout the land and unto the inhabitants thereof."

The bell is one of the finest castings ever made. Not a flaw is in the metal. It is composed of a curious compound of precious and base metals. More than $10,000 worth of old gold and silver ornaments, coins and jewelry were contributed by the patriotic members of the order.

An old cent which was worth $100 from its historical association was contributed. The tone is very sweet because of the quality of the casting and the metal.

It weighs six and a half tons—13,000 pounds. Although it is one of the large bells of the world, it does not approach in size that of the enormous bell at Moscow, which weighs 25,000 pounds.

The bell is 6 feet high and 18 feet in circumference at the mouth. It has a bright lustre of a brassy nature.

Lowered the Coupling Record.

Messrs. Cornelius and Mott, world's champion hose couplers, gave an exhibition on the plaza east of the terminal station at the world's fair before a crowd of about 500 people. The exhibition was interesting and received considerable applause. Out of twelve tests the highest time in the double coupling at one yard was one and two-fifths seconds and the lowest one second. The second at ten yards was lowered by the two men from two and four-fifths seconds to one and four-fifths. Mott holds the fifty-foot record, made at Red Cloud, Neb., July 19. The two men came to Chicago to enter the world's fair contests, which have failed to materialize, and the exposition management allowed them to give an exhibition.

A Syndicate for Fraud.

The Massey investigating committee of the national world's fair commission has been offered evidence that a syndicate exists which was formed for the purpose of influencing awards and disposing of them for consideration. It is said that national commissioners, prominent officials and members of the awards juries are in the scheme.

Poor Attendance at the Fair.

With the first half of the exposition the world's fair directors are all highly satisfied except in one respect. The exposition is all that anyone could expect, and more than anyone can realize, but the attendance has been miserably small. For various reasons people have not come to the fair as it was expected they would come, and unless there is a wonderful increase in the attendance during the remaining period the managers of the big show will be troubled to pay its debts. That is about all they hope to do now, but they confidently expect to do that much.

A wise man hath his foibles as well as a fool; but the difference between them is, that the foibles of the one are known to himself, and concealed from the world; the foibles of the other are known to the world, and concealed from himself. The wise man sees those frailties in himself, which others can not; but the fool is blind to those blemishes in his character which are conspicuous to everybody else. Whence it appears that self-knowledge is that which makes the main difference between a wise man and a fool, in the moral sense of that word.

The greatest trouble is easier to bear than the known guilt of one sin,

I have had catarrh for twenty years, and used all kinds of remedies without relief. Mr. Smith, druggist, of Little Falls, recommended Ely's Cream Balm. The effect of the first application was magical, it allayed the inflammation, and the next morning my head was as clear as a bell. I am convinced its use will effect a permanent cure. It is soothing and pleasant, and I strongly urge its use by all sufferers.—Geo. Terry, Little Falls, N. Y.

Gentleman (to lost boy)—"What's the matter, sonny; what are you crying about?"

Lost boy—"I've lost my papa in the crowd, and mamma will give him an awful licking if he comes home without me."

Tommy—Paw, I read that a man can stop chewing tobacco by eating candy. Do you suppose that is true?

Mr. Figg—Probably.

Tommy—Say, paw, if a little boy was kept filled up with candy all the time, don't you suppose that he would never want to learn to chew tobacco?

Root and Branch,

the poison in your blood, however it may have come or whatever shape it may be taking, is cleared away by Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It's a remedy that rouses every organ into healthful action, purifies and enriches the blood, and through it cleanses and invigorates the whole system. Salt-rheum, Tetter, Eczema, Erysipelas, Boils, Carbuncles, Enlarged Glands and the worst Scrofulous Sores and Swellings, are perfectly and permanently cured by it.

Unlike the ordinary spring medicine or sarsaparillas, the "Discovery" works equally as well at all seasons. All the year round and in all cases, it is guaranteed, as no other blood medicine is. If it ever fails to benefit or cure, you have your money back. You pay only for the good you get.

Isn't it safer to say that no other blood purifier can be "just as good?"

If it were, wouldn't it be sold so?

THE LIVE-STOCK SHOW.

One of the Most Attractive Features of the Fair.

City People Were Interested in the Cattle Just as Much as Their Cousins from the Country—Bulls and Cows of Noble Lineage.

[Special World's Fair Letter.]

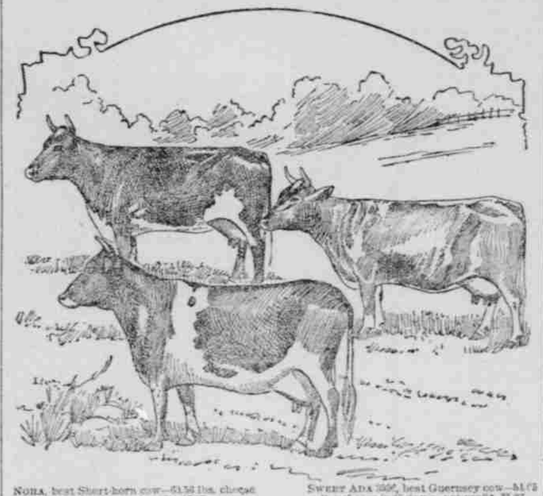
The live-stock show has proved to be one of the most interesting features of the great exposition. Hundreds of thousands visited the barns containing the choicest selection of horses and cattle ever brought together. The horses came in for their share of admiration, but visitors from the country paid more attention to the cattle, the various breeds of which were represented as follows:

	Number.
Shorthorns	233
Herefords	140
Aberdeen-Angus	72
Galloways	78
Jersey	243
Holstein-Friesians	67
Guernseys	49
Devons	71
Ayrshires	129
Red Polls	59
Polled Durhams	59
Dutch Belted	16

Speaking of the color and breeding of the 25 Jersey cows undergoing the dairy test at the fair, W. Gettys said, in the Breeders' Gazette, that "evidently the committee appointed by the American Jersey Cattle club was not influenced by any consideration of the color of the cows when it went to select them, for we find that of the 25 cows 11 of them are broken and 14 of them are solid color. Most of these cows had made previous tests—private or official—of from 14 to 34 pounds of butter in seven days and the average records of both colors were about the same. Of the five Jersey cows holding the first honors in the recent cheese test two of them were broken and three were solid colored; and in scanning the records as they are reported from week to week I notice that a majority of the ten cows leading in milk and butter production are parti-colored. Of the four cows that have reigned successively as Jersey queens in the United States—namely, Landseer's Fancy, Eurotisama, Bisson's Belle, and Signal's Lily Flagg, with their respective yearly butter records of 626 lbs. 14½ oz.; 945 lbs. 9 oz.; 1,028 lbs. 15½ oz., and 1,049 lbs. ¼ oz.—three of them were broken in color, the only solid color being Eurotisama. So that if there was any lurking prejudice against that class of cows as profitable dairy workers a study of private and official tests heretofore made and published, together with the work at the fair, should dispel it. Intelligent breeders did not need this proof, but most beginners in the business are prone to favor solid colors under the impression that they cover better and purer blood."

The Short-Horns were favorites with thousands of visitors. "Of late years," says a writer on live-stock topics, "we have all heard certain 'croakers' bewailing the decadence of the Short-Horn. Old showmen in reminiscent moods loitering about the western show-yards have been the chief offenders in this respect. 'Talk about great lots of cattle,' they would say, you should have seen the Short-Horn shows in the days when Duncan, the elder Renick, McMillan, Spears, the Shropshires, Pickrell, Kissinger, the Browns, Sodowsky, Col 'Bill' King and that crowd were in the ring! Those were shows as were shows! You don't see any such nowadays.' This is of course the old, old story of 'no pies so good as the pies mother used to make:' the almost melancholy spectacle of the passing generation mourning for the heyday of its youth and prime; to whom the glories of other days viewed down the long vista of years shine more resplendent the farther they are removed. It so happened, however, that the chief justice of the tribunal before which the Short-Horn breed was tried at the Columbian exposition—Hon. J. H. Pickrell—was one of the very exhibitors whose exploits in the show-yards of twenty years ago are often quoted by those who can see nothing good in contemporary cattle shows. This being the case it is interesting to note that the exhibitor of old Baron Booth, of Lancaster, Sweepstakes, Breastplate, etc., asserts without hesitation that no such exhibition of the old-time favorites has ever before been made on this continent. It certainly contained a majority of all the best show cattle of the breed now owned in Canada and the states, although a few noted herds both in the Dominion and the west were conspicuously absent. Contrasting it with the greatest recent show abroad, the grand display made by the breed at last year's English Royal, it can only be said to equal, not surpass, the Warwick show. Our cow class was far stronger than the same ring in England, but in aged bulls we can scarcely claim so high an average, although Young Abbottsburn would probably beat any bull in Britain barring New Year's Gift."

Speaking of the Hereford breed exhibit the Breeders' Gazette expresses the opinion that the "white faces" never appeared to better advantage than at Jackson park. They were of superb quality. The breed may have sent more phenomenal individual animals into the American show yards at previous competitions. In the case of bulls we certainly believe this to be true. There was no Rudolph nor Dictator at the Columbian. But for ancient Briton the bull classes would not have contained an outstanding type of the Hereford male in his best estate. In average strength, however, it is not probable that a better collection of stock of this renowned beef-making breed has ever graced western show grounds. And they were admired by the public. A Hereford in high flesh and in such bloom as were most of those forward in this class makes a very "fetching" picture. Draw up a regiment of them in line undergoing judicial examination and they fill the eye and satisfy the hand of the butcher as few other cattle can. The show-yard Hereford travels exceptionally near to the ground. He is rarely high on his legs. He is usually wide in his middle, and is more apt to be nice in his shoulders than cattle of almost any other sort. The aged bulls and cows usually show a wondrous wealth of flesh; the yearlings and two-year-old heifers are certain to be seen in admirable bloom, and the calves will be so ripe and full in their neck-veins as to convince the most skeptical of the early-maturing qualities of the breed under proper management.



NORA, best Short-horn cow—61.36 lbs. cheese in 15 days; net profit, 16.27.
SWEET ADA 3506, best Guernsey cow—51.73 lbs. cheese in 15 days; net profit, 15.37.
IDA MARIGOLD 22615, best Jersey cow and champion cow in test—70.92 lbs. cheese in 15 days; net profit, 16.97.

CHAMPION COWS IN THE COLUMBIAN CHEESE TEST.

Fifteen years ago at the Paris exposition Universelle McCombie, of Tillyfour, pulled down honors for the "bonny black doddies," which advertised the Angus breed the whole world round. At that date there was—barring Grant's effort at establishing a colony of black polls in Kansas—no such thing as an Angus interest in the United States; but early in the "eighties" they began coming out into the west and the movement of breeding cattle was backed up by ripe bullocks for exhibition at the Chicago and Kansas City fat-stock shows. Farmers and feeders who knew something in a general way of the renowned "Prime Scots" of the British meat trade were not slow to give the hornless blacks a trial. Shippers finally began getting the steers upon our markets and for several seasons past the Angus beeves have made the record for fat cattle at the Chicago yards. And so it came to pass that a breed which was practically unknown to our people but a few years since had one of the most select (though not one of the largest) exhibits in the yard at the Columbian exposition; had what is admittedly the grandest cow in the show and a herd which may possibly gain for the Aberdeen-Angus interest even higher honors at Chicago in 1895 than Tillyfour bore away from France in '78. In other words the Angus were most decidedly "in it" at Jackson park.

The hardy hornless black skins from the Scottish borders were out in full parade. Never has such a grand lot of Galloways been gathered together in America as faced the judge at the world's fair in Jackson park on August 26. Well might the admirers of the breed be pleased to see such an exhibit and many a stockman who saw the parade was compelled to admit that they were grand blocky, beefy cattle, with hair and hides useful to the animals when alive and most comfortable and durable as robes long after the juicy joints of beef have been enjoyed and forgotten. Galloway breeders may justly feel proud of the display they made and of the quality of the young animals they are breeding.

The pretty Dutch belted cows were especially popular with townspeople who know a nice thing when they see it, without being able, however, of giving a correct opinion about "points." All the breeds exhibited were represented by magnificent animals, leaving altogether one of the most attractive features of the exposition.

CHICAGO TO CELEBRATE.

October 9 Will Be Observed by the World's Fair City.

October 9, the twenty-second anniversary of the great fire, will be Chicago day at the world's fair. Arrangements have already been made to make the celebration the grandest of the exposition. In the forenoon a chorus of 2,000 and bands and orchestra united of 300, will give a patriotic concert, and promptly at noon a salute of cannon will be fired. At 2 o'clock in the afternoon a reunion of the state will occur at the Court of Honor. The march of state, represented by youths and maidens, will be as follows:

CARTER HARRISON, MAYOR OF CHICAGO.

I. Chicago as a guard of honor, represented by youths (one from each ward) bearing shields with coats of arms with the word "Welcome."

II. The original thirteen states, represented by thirteen young ladies, one from each state, in appropriate costumes, preceded by a company of youthful troops in continental uniform.

III. Then follow all the states of the union, each represented by as many youths as there are counties in each state, and bearing the shield of the state. Each group to be preceded by eight or twelve young school girls representing the chief cities, some bearing floral broken hoops above the head, some olive branches and other devices. The standard of the state represented to be borne in front of each group.

The night pageant will consist of allegorical tableaus and floats representing Chicago receiving the nations of the earth. The floats will be as follows:

I. Float: Chicago, surrounded by the states, receiving all nations.

II. Float: Chicago in 1812, a trading post; preceded by Indians, pioneers and trappers.

III. Float: Chicago in 1837 (the first city election) followed by sons and daughters of actual residents at that time.

IV. Chicago in war.

V. Chicago prostrate. The conflagration.

VI. Chicago in Peace.

Then follow floats of all nations, by actual residents of Chicago, in the national costumes of their respective countries, the whole procession closing with an equestrian cavalcade of Chicago and her sister cities upon gaily caparisoned horses. To conclude, a magnificent display of fireworks, excelling in grandeur and costliness any previous attempts in America.

The entire spectacle, it is perhaps needless to add, is to be given in the World's Columbian Exposition grounds exclusively.

An Exhibit of Swiftest Poisons.

A peculiar and intensely interesting part of the bacteriolgical exhibit is one prepared for the world's fair by Prof. Brieger. It is a collection of the swiftest and most powerful poisons on earth, all gained from the dead bodies of those who fell victims to various deadly bacteria. This class of poisons are termed toxines, toxalbumines or cadaverines. They are exhibited in carefully closed tubes, so that each can be closely inspected. Among them are such deadly poisons—all discovered in recent years—as neurine, betaine, gadinine, textanotoxine, typhotaxine, toxalbumen of cholera, or typhus, cadaverine, obtained from a normal body, etc. There are also in this group two immunizing fluids, i. e., substances that will prevent diseases, such as diphtheria and tetanus. But it must be added that the discoverer of the immunizing fluids, Prof. Brieger, has thus far tested their efficacy only on various animals, not yet no human beings. So far as his experiments go, however, they have proved successful.

A Thing to Be Avoided.

Hobson—Good heavens! Here comes Blithaire. Let's skip down this side street so we shall not meet him.

Dobson (suspiciously)—What's the matter? Owe him money?

Hobson—No. He returned from the world's fair yesterday, and he wants to tell everybody about it.—Puck.

Keep Chickens Strong and healthy; it gets your pullets to laying early; it is worth its weight in gold when hens moult; it prevents all disease, Cholera, Roup, Diarrhœa, Leg-weakness. It is a powerful food digestive. Large cans are most economical to buy.

NOTHING ON EARTH WILL MAKE HENS LAY LIKE SHERIDAN'S CONDITION POWDER

Therefore, no matter what kind of feed you use, mix with it daily Sheridan's Powder. Otherwise, your profit this fall and winter will be lost when the price for eggs is very high. It insures perfect assimilation of the food elements needed to produce health and form eggs.

It is absolutely pure, highly concentrated, therefore used in small doses; no other kind one fourth as strong. In quantity it costs less than one cent each grown fowl a day per year. "Your Sheridan's saved me $40, send six more," says a customer. Sold by druggists, grocers and feed dealers. Be sure every can bears the signature of the firm. Sheridan's Powder is the only kind that will do the work.

If You Can't Get it Near Home, Send to Us. Ask First.

We send postpaid one can for 60c.; Five $1. One large can $1.20, six cans $5, express paid. Sample copy of "the best poultry paper published," sent free. L. B. JOHNSON & CO., 32 Custom House street, Boston, Mass.

Why? Why is Strictly Pure White Lead the best paint? Because it will outlast all other paints, give a handsomer finish, better protection to the wood, and the first cost will be less.

If Barytes and other adulterants of white lead are "just as good" as Strictly Pure White Lead, why are all the adulterated white leads always branded Pure, or

"Strictly Pure White Lead?"

This Barytes is a heavy white powder (ground stone), having the appearance of white lead, worthless as a paint, costing only about a cent a pound, and is only used to cheapen the mixture. What shoddy is to cloth, Barytes is to paint. Be careful to use only old and standard brands of white lead.

"Armstrong & McKelvy"
"Beymer-Bauman" "Fahnestock"
"Davis-Chambers"

are strictly pure, "Old Dutch" process brands, established by a lifetime of use.

For colors use National Lead Co.'s Pure White Lead Tinting Colors with Strictly Pure White Lead.

For sale by the most reliable dealers in paints everywhere.
